Welcome to the D’Angelo Law Library faculty newsletter.

Law Library webpage
Note the new banner on the Law Library webpage (http://lib.uchicago.edu/e/law/). It is part of a revision of the University of Chicago Library’s webpages to unify the Library’s web presence and harmonize with the University’s visual identity initiative (see http://identity.uchicago.edu/).

Forthcoming Books
The January 2010 Forthcoming Books is attached.

Copyright and Chalk
The University of Chicago Copyright Information Center (see http://www1.lib.uchicago.edu/copyrightinfo/) has information on copyright restrictions as they apply to course packets and to Chalk course websites. The Library recommends linking to licensed resources, where that is possible, to avoid paying copyright fees. I am happy to provide links for your Chalk pages – just email me the citation(s) you need.

Reprints
The Library keeps an archive of reprints of faculty publications; please send us two reprints of each article you publish, if you have them. We also use these for displays of faculty scholarship in the exhibit cases in the classroom wing.

Research guides on the D’Angelo Law Library webpage
We are in the process of migrating the research guides on the library webpage to a new, more user-friendly format. See http://guides.lib.uchicago.edu/dangelo for examples. If you would like a subject-specific research guide for use in connection with a particular course, let me know; we’d be happy to provide one.

Westlaw OnePass
I hope that most of you have changed your Westlaw password to Westlaw’s new OnePass system. If you have not, or have had trouble with the process, give me a call. Your old password will not work after January 31.
Cheers,
Margaret
