Biographical Note

Julie Saville was born on August 30, 1947, one of three children. She grew up in several southern cities during the 1950s and 1960s, including Tuscaloosa, Little Rock, and Memphis.

Saville earned a bachelor's degree in History from Brandeis University in 1968 and a master's degree from Yale University in 1975. In 1986, she completed a PhD in History, also at Yale University. Saville taught at the College of Charleston, the University of Virginia, and the University of Maryland before accepting a professorship at University of California San Diego in 1986. In 1994, she was hired as an Associate Professor in the History Department at the University of Chicago.

Saville's research focused on plantation societies in the southern United States and the Caribbean from the 18th to the 20th centuries. She was particularly interested in changes to daily life during the era of trans-Atlantic slave emancipations, labor history, and popular forms of political expression. Her 1994 monograph, The Work of Reconstruction, examines changing social, political, and labor relations during and after the American Civil War and won the Avery O Craven Award in 1995. Saville was also the author of numerous publications, journal articles, and edited volumes.

Julie Saville died on December 16, 2023.

This collection contains Professor Saville's professional papers, including her correspondence with colleagues and other historians; manuscripts and publications; research notes on labor and agriculture during and after the American Civil War; copies of archival documents; lectures given at academic conferences; syllabi and teaching assignments; microfilmed archival documents; and oversized posters and awards. Materials date between 1960 and 2014. The bulk of materials in the collection date between 1970 and 2009. The collection contains copies of archival documents dating primarily from 1860 to 1880.

Series I, Correspondence, contains Saville's personal and professional correspondence from 1981 to 2010. Materials remain in their original groupings and are arranged roughly chronologically.

Series II, Writing, is divided into two subseries:

Subseries 1, Book Reviews, contains Saville's book reviews and is arranged chronologically.

Subseries 2, Academic Work, includes Saville's undergraduate papers, doctoral dissertation, book manuscripts, and articles. Materials are arranged chronologically.

Series III, Research, is divided into three subseries: Research Notecards; Research Binders on 1860s Sources; and Research Subject Files. The series includes copies of primary sources, research notes, citations, and correspondence from the research Saville conducted for her doctoral dissertation, "A Measure of Freedom," and her subsequent book, The Work of Reconstruction, from the 1970s to the 1990s.

Series IV, Teaching, is divided into two subseries:

Subseries 1, Advising, contains Saville students' qualifying exam preparation materials and ungraded student papers. Documents are arranged alphabetically by the student advisee's last name.

Subseries 2, Teaching, includes Saville's syllabi, lecture notes, class readings, and ungraded student assignments. Materials are arranged roughly chronologically.

Series V, Academic Conferences and Lectures, contains materials from conferences and invited talks Saville attended. Materials are arranged chronologically.

Series VI, Writing by Others, includes publications not written by Saville. Materials are arranged alphabetically by title.

Series VII, Audiovisual, contains Saville's collection of microfilmed research materials and cassette tapes. Materials are arranged in their original order. Researchers will need to consult with staff before requesting the microfilm or audio recordings.

Series VIII, Oversize, contains oversize posters, archival documents, and awards. Materials are arranged chronologically.

Series IX, Restricted, includes admissions documents, student correspondence, and graded student work. These materials are restricted for 80 years from the date of record creation, and are arranged chronologically.

Series III: Research

Series III, Research, is divided into three subseries: Research Notecards; Research Binders on 1860s Sources; and Research Subject Files. The series includes copies of primary sources, research notes, citations, and correspondence from the research Saville conducted for her doctoral dissertation, “A Measure of Freedom,” and her subsequent book, The Work of Reconstruction, from the 1970s to the 1990s.

Subseries 1, Research Notecards, contains Saville's hand- and type-written notes on archival sources, citations, and index preparation materials. Notecards remain in their original groupings and order.

Subseries 2, Research Binders on 1860s Sources, contains materials were previously housed in binders. Materials are labeled and grouped according to the names of their original binders.

Documents in Box 10 and Box 11 were grouped into 4 binders labeled "Ab-Ba," "Bf-Co," "E-W," and "Cs-Y," and were each arranged alphabetically by county name; they maintain their original labels and order. Materials detail labor and living conditions for Black women and men in South Carolina in the mid- to late-1860s.

Materials in Box 12 and Box 13 were previously housed in 5 binders.

Box 12 contains materials from the binders labeled "Aiken-Heyward" and "Jennings-BTW Newsp./Period" (represented in the finding aid as "Jennings-N/P"). Materials under "Aiken-Heyward" contain Saville's notes on various individuals, arranged alphabetically by last name. Materials under "Jennings-N/P" contain Saville's notes on individuals' papers as well as her notes on memos, reports, census records, and newspapers. Materials on individuals are arranged alphabetically by last name. Materials that are not grouped by individual included notes on memos, reports, census records, newspapers, and periodicals; they remain in their original order.

Box 13 contains materials from two binders labeled "GLC-SC" and "File & Other Notes," as well as one unlabeled binder. Materials under "GLC-SC" were grouped under 3 dividing labels: "GLC", "Free Labor," and "SC." Notes relate to labor and living conditions for Black women and men across the south, particularly Georgia and South Carolina, during the mid- to late-1860s. Materials under "File & Other Notes" contain Saville's notes on primary sources and citation lists. Materials from the unlabeled binder include photocopies of and notes on primary sources including newspapers and correspondence.

Subseries 3, Research Subject Files, contains Saville's subject files, including data and statistics, copies archival documents and secondary sources, research notes and notebooks, and correspondence with archive staff. Files are arranged alphabetically by subject.

Folders are titled according to the following format: "Saville's original title in quotes" or content title (dates of source material if applicable and available) – description of contents – original archive if applicable and available, date of record creation.
