Sir,

It has been reported to me that within the last 10 days a new set of rules of regulations have been adopted on the Island in which you are confined, and that you have been denied from all intercourse with your friends and relations. I placed on the same footing as felons, I shall be obliged to you to inform me whether these reports are correct or not your present circumstances by the change. I am, your obedient servant,

Joseph Hume

Sir,

I have no time to reply to your letter with which you have favored me. I can only say that it is presenting your case for the Wheeler case in this circuit, and I have intimated to the court that the objection to the spectacles which I have raised of my experience having taught me that spectacles are a help in case of necessities. I am at a loss to see why I should be bound by the decision in such a case. If I have any desire to come to an agreement, I will see you in a most cordial manner at any time. I am, sir, your obedient servant, John Mitchell.

Dear Sir,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to express my appreciation for your kind words and actions in the past. Your support and encouragement have been invaluable to me, and I cannot thank you enough.

I am currently recovering from an extended illness, and I am eager to return to my usual activities as soon as possible. Your patience and understanding during this time have been greatly appreciated.

Please let me know if there is anything I can do to assist you or your family. I am always here to support you in any way I can.

Thank you once again for your kindness.

Yours sincerely,

Sir,

Having received a Petition from a very numerous body of the Inhabitants of Boston, to the Hon. Mr. Johnson, it occasioned no satisfactory answer from those Ministers on the subject of Your Situation, I request you will send me copies of the Correspondence you have had with the Hon. Mr. Daniel of Mr. Story, Esq. on the subject of Your Enfriement.

I wish also to have an extract of the order for Your Temporary Enfriement, authenticated by the Keeper, or Sheriff.
or my other official Resum.

As for the letter of the 8th inst., I took my own sense of the matter, and after due consideration, I am of the opinion that the principle of the law is on your side.

I have therefore the honor to request you to give me the same satisfaction as that which you are kind enough to bestow on me in my letter to me of the 6th inst.

I regret exceedingly that Mr. W. was absent at the time, and I presume that he will be able to give you his opinion on the matter in question.

As an improvement to the petition, I have the honor to submit the following:

As I consider your sentence and the subsequent treatment you have received as an outrage on the feelings of the country, you may command any further information I can afford you in your answer to the petition.

I remain your obedient servant,

Joseph Home

By the way, on the business of Mr. B. today I am a pretty acute office of what happened.

Sir,

I have been favored with your letter and beg to thank you for the information it conveys relative to the instruments of torture used in New Castle jail during the time of the late governor. I have the utmost respect for the reading of the report of the Royal Commissioners and think that had the thumbscrews been used they would have added but little to such a scene of cruelty & horror. I shall be happy to receive a copy of your intended petition to parliament & I hope that Mr. Lomax & Mr. Wood will take care to get the few friends of liberty who are to be found in that assembly know the precise time when he will present it to the House. Wishing you health to bear up against prosecution. I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,

My dear Sir,

I have to-day heard from a quarter on which I can rely that the actions against the Manchester butchers are conducted by Mr. Joshua Evans & Mr. Blackburn, who conduct the— at their own risk. A Mr. Denis, an attorney of Liverpool who was Harris's colleague at the Oldham Inquest, it who thought with me that this step was not advisable, is just come from London & after discussing the matter with these barristers & their Attorney, is now convinc'd of its expediency. I have not yet seen him, and retain my Jubiety.

The battle will at all events be fought manfully by Mr. Evans & his firm.
In answer to what you said in your last letter about Mr. B. I agree with you that his speech was an excellent one. I approve your sentiments that we must take people in their own way. Reformers seem to have made a difficulty of the question of the right of Commons to a seat on the floor that each individual has the privilege of dictating to him what he should do on any occasion. I shall not enter into any dispute, as between you and him; but I remember to have read a part in your Memoir, in the treatment of people of rank who join our body, which we should all do well to bear in mind.

Should it not be tried, in any event, that some of your friends to visit you? On reflection, not. The House of Commons has debates your case. Otherwise, a compliance in their part will cut across much of your ground. You must find a substitute for it at an solitary confinement, which means looking up in a cell day or night. The friends of above in the N. of C. will interpret it as, and say your statement, is false.

This will be found by that known fellow the Bennett, to whom I have the liberty to write about your affairs. Deliberate
