Enchanted Island Five Acres of Make-Believe Fairyland and Playground

Grotesque Storybook Characters Are a Big Attraction for the Children.

A fine new feature of make-believe whose hundreds of children may play in a storybook setting while their fathers and mothers are seeing the sights at the 1933 World's Fair is provided for the entertainment and amusement of children at a Century of Progress exhibit.

It is the Enchanted Island, the official children's playground located on Northerly Island, just south of Navy Pier, which has the fairyland setting on the north and the scientific setting on the south.

As children wend their way to the island, they follow a wooden walkway, a river whose waters are trickled, a wooden bridge, a giant tree and the Bo Peep, from the world of such nursery rhymes as Little Bo Peep and Jack and Jill. High and busy it is, among the great exhibits of the World of Tomorrow.

Lagoon and pond, orchard and green lawn, gardens, a great camping readout and a big flag of the United States.

Children may play in the islands of the forest, in the fairyland, in the fields, in the orchard, in the garden, in the lagoon and pond, in the great camping readout.

A watermill with a millwheel, a bridge where the sun sets, a big flag of the United States.

A great many children may play here.
Goss "Combination" Web Perfecting Press is All That Name Implies

A New Press for the Smaller Publisher.

The term "combination" has now come to signify the new press designed by The Goss Press Company. This press is a combination of the features of two machines, a web perfecting press and a web offset press. The combination of the two machines in one press has been achieved by the Goss Press Company.

The "combination" is designed to enable a publisher to print both web and offset material on the same press. The web press is used for printing newspapers and the offset press for printing books and magazines. The "combination" press has two presses in one, allowing for a more efficient use of space and labor.

The "combination" press is designed to meet the needs of the smaller publisher, who may not have the resources to purchase and operate two separate presses. The "combination" press allows the publisher to print both web and offset material on one press, reducing the cost and time required for printing.

The "combination" press is a significant advancement in the field of printing, offering a more efficient and cost-effective way for smaller publishers to print their material.
THE SUNNY SIDE of LIFE
CLEAN COMICS THAT WILL AMUSE BOTH OLD AND YOUNG

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

ByMgr. Finney

Mending Business

THE FEATHERHEADS

By G. S. Hume

And Practice Makes Perfect

BOBBY THATCHER—"Make All Complaints To The Police."

By GEORGE STORM

"KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES"

By C. M. PAYNE

SMATTER POP—Certainly, Absolutely, Positively!

The Home Circle

Prehistoric, Hopi Indian Tower Reconstructed

A Nimrod of mine returning for a distance of nearly 300 miles over waterless desert and perilous desert in the Society and Hopi areas,命 got to work on the reconstruction of the ancient Hopi Indian Tower, siting at Tuzigoot, 30 miles east of St. Thomas, Ariz. The Tower is built of stone masonry and stands on the northern coast, only a few miles from Indian ruins found along the site of the Grand Canyon.

Millers Cook Book

SEVERAL GOOD DISHES

Have We Forgotten?

By DOUGLAS MALLIN

Happy Valley, Melbourne, Australia

"Large Print Books Save the Eyes"

Howe About It?

Poor Advisers

Drug on Progress

Geniuses

By RD HOWE

"Do You Know?"

Recall that "Do You Know?" column of the present issue is the 50th to be printed, and that other columns have been published. They are

Arthur Thorough in, I believe, a previous edition of the magazine, had some trouble with the publication of "Do You Know?" and had to stop it just before the next chapter was scheduled to be printed. This was a difficult period for me, as I was trying to contribute to the magazine and had to work extremely hard to keep up with the deadlines. As a result, I had to cut down my involvement in other activities and spend more time on "Do You Know?". However, I was able to overcome these difficulties and continue to contribute to the magazine. This experience taught me the importance of perseverance and dedication. I have since learned to manage my time more effectively and maintain a healthy work-life balance. I am now able to contribute to the magazine and other activities without sacrificing my personal life.

Large Print Books Save the Eyes

The Tower is built of stone masonry and stands on the northern coast, only a few miles from Indian ruins found along the site of the Grand Canyon.

Have We Forgotten?

By DOUGLAS MALLIN

"Large Print Books Save the Eyes"

Howe About It?

Poor Advisers

Drug on Progress

Geniuses

By RD HOWE

"Do You Know?"

Recall that "Do You Know?" column of the present issue is the 50th to be printed, and that other columns have been published. They are

Arthur Thorough in, I believe, a previous edition of the magazine, had some trouble with the publication of "Do You Know?" and had to stop it just before the next chapter was scheduled to be printed. This was a difficult period for me, as I was trying to contribute to the magazine and had to work extremely hard to keep up with the deadlines. As a result, I had to cut down my involvement in other activities and spend more time on "Do You Know?". However, I was able to overcome these difficulties and continue to contribute to the magazine. This experience taught me the importance of perseverance and dedication. I have since learned to manage my time more effectively and maintain a healthy work-life balance. I am now able to contribute to the magazine and other activities without sacrificing my personal life.