

34

Majesty

No more majestic monument has been builded by God than Mount Rainier, known to the Indians of old as Tahoma, reproduced at the Washington State Exhibit
CENTURY OF PROGRESS EXPOSITION Chicago, 1934

RED CEDAR SHINGLES MAKE THE PERFECT ROOF

DURABILITY is happily blended with true Beauty in the roof or side-wall of Red Cedar Shingles. The lovely, dignified, weather-mellowed Red Cedar Shingles that one sees on thousands of America's better homes are never garish nor cheap-looking—whether they are applied in their natural multi-colored shades or stained to meet the individual taste of the owner.

The Retail Lumber Dealer in your town will recommend Red Cedar Shingles, for he knows from years of experience that no other roof covering offers the same satisfaction. You'll find the price surprisingly low. And to get the very best Shingles, insist on the Certified Label shown here—your protection and assurance that they've been carefully inspected and graded.

Through the long winters, tons of snow are heaped on the Red Cedar roof of the famous Paradise Inn, skiing headquarters at Rainier National Park; and this same roof has withstood equally well the attacks of the summer sun.

CERTIFIED SHINGLE

THIS LABEL CAN ONLY BE USED ON
NO. 1 GRADE
THESE SHINGLES ARE GUARANTEED
BY THE MANUFACTURER
INSPECTED FOR—CERTIFIED BY RED CEDAR SHINGLE BUREAU
TO MEET ALL THE QUALITY REQUIREMENTS OF COMMERCIAL STANDARD C.S. 31-31 FOR RED CEDAR SHINGLES AS ISSUED BY
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

100% Edge Grain Heartwood 100%

INTERESTING SHINGLE LITERATURE SENT FREE . . . Address
RED CEDAR SHINGLE BUREAU • 4409 Stuart Building, Seattle