IN CHICAGO!

CLIMATE and location, supplemented by constant vigilance and earnest effort by its citizens and its public officials, have made Chicago one of the most healthful of the large cities of the world.

Chicago’s death rate in 1933 was the lowest in its history—9.7 per thousand of population. In the thirteen American cities of more than 500,000 inhabitants it ranked third.

Chicago won second place among the same cities in the 1933 Inter-City Health Contest sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce. It stood third in the same contest in 1932.

Chicago, on the latest available figures from the twenty-nine cities of the world with more than 1,000,000 population, stands third, only Detroit, Michigan, and Sydney, Australia, reporting lower death rates.

In reducing diseases over which control is possible Chicago ranks first in the world, according to figures from these major population centers.

This great health record has been achieved through the combined efforts of Chicago’s citizens and its health authorities. More than 1,000 persons are employed regularly by the Board of Health, under the direction of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president. The board spends annually about $2,000,000 to safeguard the health of the city’s residents and its visitors.

CHICAGO WATER EXCELLENT

Chicago drinking water, taken from the depths of Lake Michigan several miles from shore, is of the highest quality.

Dr. Frank Jirka, Director of the Department of Health of the State of Illinois, says:

“Chicago water, from the standpoint of purity, is excellent. Proof of this comes from tests conducted under the standards adopted by the United States Government Public Health Service. Chicago water not only meets rigid standards but exceeds them tenfold. The water is almost absolutely pure and wholesome.”

Outstanding facts about Chicago’s health in 1933 are:

- No cases of disease traceable to milk.
- Lowest typhoid fever rate in history—only 78 cases and 12 deaths for the entire year.
- Lowest diphtheria rate in the city’s history—154 cases and 9 deaths.
- Lowest maternity and infant death rate in the city’s history.

CHICAGO CLIMATE ENJOYABLE

Breezes off the lake cool Chicago while other parts of the country swelter.

Chicago’s normal maximum temperature for three summer months is 78 degrees, a record envied by other important cities of the country.

Chicago’s sunshine record in 1933 exceeded that of Los Angeles.

No matter what you regard as the best kind of vacation amusement, you’ll find it in Chicago.
CHICAGO...THE VACATION CENTER

Even if you never went near the great 1934 World's Fair you could still spend a glorious vacation in Chicago. Its facilities for amusement and entertainment are unexcelled anywhere in the world.

Chicago has—

250 golf courses.
30 miles of lake front and bathing beaches.
8,000 acres of parks and playgrounds, containing facilities for every out-of-door sport.
500 miles of boulevards and wide streets.
The best of baseball, racing and other professional sports.
Hundreds of theaters, roof gardens, amusement parks and night clubs.
Many great museums, libraries, churches, universities and other cultural institutions of world-wide interest.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Your 50-cent admission ticket (25c for children) entitles you to:

Eighty-four miles of free attractions, including all important exhibit buildings—Hall of Science, General Exhibits, Electrical, Motor, Federal States, Foreign Governments, and nearly 100 others. There will be many free events daily, including wild animal shows, symphony concerts, sporting events and other spectacles. All comfort stations are free this year. There are free picnic grounds. There are about 75 concessions and side shows with admission prices of 5c to 25c.

Last year's show was only a "curtain-raiser." The 1934 Exposition far surpasses anything of its kind that has ever been staged. Come early, come often and have a good time.
