O HIO realizes that there are forty-eight states and four territories in our Union, and that each state or territory has some superlative advantages when compared with the others. Each state has its distinctive plants, animals, birds, and other natural resources. The state's economy is based on agriculture, manufacturing, and services.

Quito obviously, any information desired as to Ohio will be furnished by attendance at the exhibit, or secured by them for visitors as far as may be possible. Exhibits in every city of the State have provided descriptive literature relating to their respective communities for those who ask for it, and will gladly supply additional and more detailed data upon request.

Principally, Ohio desires to be a good host—to carry on and even to go beyond the honored traditions of her past for hearty welcome and wholesome cordiality. The most we can ask is that you visit our state; know our people and the particular advantages which may be ours; understand our farms and factories; products and processes; and delight in both our relics of the past and promise for the future.

Such contacts and acquaintances are our sure roads to friendship and to progress.

This is the thought, the hope and the wish of the people of Ohio, expressed to all the world's people through the

O HIO COMMISSION TO A CENTURY OF PROGRESS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

Chicago—May 28th to November 1st, 1933.

Published in 1934 by the OHIO COMMISSION to A CENTURY OF PROGRESS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

Published in 1934 by the OHIO COMMISSION to A CENTURY OF PROGRESS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

Published in 1934 by the OHIO COMMISSION to A CENTURY OF PROGRESS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

Published in 1934 by the OHIO COMMISSION to A CENTURY OF PROGRESS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

Published in 1934 by the OHIO COMMISSION to A CENTURY OF PROGRESS INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.