old, and of Jewish appearance.
I heard the girls utter such words as 'A shviv and Mr. Pollard, and then he went out.'
I counted about 15 girls amounting to 25 men patrons. I saw a waiter, about 6 tables and a piano, upon which was piled towels, and from which I saw several girls rise, as they went back near with men.
The girls were dressed in negligés.

We all entered together and seated ourselves at a table.

We were solicited to buy drinks by a waiter named R, V & X, and Mr Pollard had beer. Mr Beckwith had a sloe gin fizz and I got a gingerale highball. For which Mr X paid the waiter 425 plus a 20¢ tip.

My drink tasted strongly of whiskey. I tasted Mr Beckwith's drink, and found some gin. I tasted Mr Pollard's beer and it tasted like real lager beer.

I saw 2 sailors leave as we entered. A man whom I know entered with a man and a woman. My friend insisted upon me buying a drink. They ordered a rum and beer, for which I paid 90¢ plus a 10¢ tip to the waiter.

My friend said that the mayor of the town was present, and that if I wanted to wait he would introduce me.

As I was anxious to leave I did not wait.

About 775 people were present. The dancing was very suggestive.

On every table that I could see was what appeared to me to be, wine, tea, and highballs.

Also on every table were small brown empty bottles.

Mr. R and Mr. Beckwith danced with 2 patrons.

The minstrels danced with patrons and the would also pass the hat around during their songs.

Special Report
West Hammond and Burnham

Investigating

We arrived in West Hammond at 11 30 P.M. Stopping in two saloons we made inquiry as to where we could find some girls, we were told that the houses were closed by the government.

Driving up to a policeman we saw standing on the sidewalk, Inv. R. got out of the machine and asked him whether we could find a sporting house. The policeman told him and all of us to go back where we came from.

Inv. X. and myself stopped and talked to a number of men on the street, and they all told us that the government had closed up all the sporting houses.

The saloons closed at 12 o'clock, and from all appearances West Hammond was a quiet respectable town.

We then drove to Burnham, arriving at 1 a.m., and stopped in front of "Filtty Four." (Nos. 1 to No. 14). All was in darkness.

standing in front of No. 11 and No. 12. X and myself got out and inquired of them as to why the places were closed, and they told us that the government had closed them all up.

I tried the doors of Nos. 14 & 15 and found them locked. The entrance leading up to No. 12 was boarded up.

We talked to a man who said he was the watchman for the street. He told us that we might find some girls at Coney Island. He also said that the girls might be back in Burnham soon. When we asked him where we could get a drink, he offered to sell us two bottles of Edelweiss beer, which X bought. Pagen 50c.

We then drove to the Burnham Inn where we all entered at 11:30 p.m. and stayed till 1:30 a.m. About 20 men and 11 women were present. The waiter said they were only selling soft drinks of which we ordered around.

Arriving at Coney Island X and myself entered at 1:30 a.m. and stayed 15 minutes. About 100 men and 10 women were present.

Continued draft of special report of Investigator U. on Woodham and Burrougham. Saturday May 11th 1918

We were only able to buy soft drinks.

We then drove to the Arrow Head Inn, X. and myself entered at 12am and stayed 20 minutes. There were about 30 men and 6 women present. We were able to buy soft drinks.

At above Cabaret looked as tho they were "sick". The wild life which we found May 4th had gone. The once active waiter stood with folded arms. The dance floors were deserted, and around the few tables occupied, were men who looked as tho they were drinking poison instead of straight gingerale and grape juice.

Gentlemen:

I herewith tender my resignation as an investigator for the Committee of Fifteen. This resignation is on account of the conduct of Mr. Goldhirsh, our chief of staff, which I wish to report as follows:

While in his company, and with investigators V. X., Lue! Buekewich, and Mr. Oollard, and while returning from Burnham Sunday morning May 15th at about 4:30 a.m., Mr. Goldhirsh held in his lap, and kissed continually, and behaved in such a manner with a woman whom we picked up, and who said she was not a prostitute, that it was necessary for me to apologize to both Lue! Buekewich and Mr. Oollard.

From what I know of this woman from what I heard of their conversation, from what I know of what the rules and avises of the Committee of Fifteen are, from what my understanding of the conduct of a gentleman is, I will say that same was unnecessary.

I wish further to state that while in his company in two poolrooms on two occasions he displayed with his coat off a gun which hung from his belt.

I wish also to state that his way of investigating is such that I am afraid to work with him.

His manner of giving orders, his conversation, and general conduct is such that I am humiliated, confused, disinclined, and disgusted.

I regret very much in being forced to resign for the above reasons, and I trust that the Committee will help me all they can to secure another position.

saw to be operating as a house of ill-fame.

As I rang the bell, the buzzer sounded. The bell unlocked the door leading upstairs.

X went upstairs, while I stood on the stairs halfway between the first and second floors.

I heard X and a woman talking. I recognized the voice as that of Edna Osgood. I heard her say, "Who is your friend down stairs, go on and tell him to go away, and then you can come back; but I will not let two men in at a time."

I also heard her say that she had just been put out of this last place, and that she had to be careful.

I also heard her say to Mrs. X., that she could come back any time; but to be sure and each her self first.

Saw to be operating as a house of ill-fame.

In response to our knock, the door was opened by a woman, known to me as May, and who is the same woman I spoke on my previous visit, April 29th 1918, at which time I secured evidence.

She invited us in and said "Boys it's this a fine day to jazz."

When I asked her what she charged she said $1.00.

Hattie, colored woman.

Says to be apparently operating as a house of ill fame.

We found three young colored men standing at the door which leads into the flat.

Mrs. V. asked them if Hattie lived there and they said "yes."

They were soon admitted by a colored woman who appeared to be the keeper. When we asked for "Hattie" she told us that she only allowed colored men in. She also said that she and her husband were afraid to let white men in.

Another colored woman came to the door, who Mrs. V. called Hattie.

Hattie is the same woman I saw.

At 3638 to date of Nov. 25th 1917, at which time I secured evidence.
Natter said that she was willing to go out with us if we wanted to jazz.

When I asked what she charged for a jazz she said $2.00.

Investigating

In company with Mr. Wallace I entered at 12:05 a.m. We seated ourselves at a table in the west end of the South room.

We ordered 7 lemon seltzers for which I was charged 40c.

About 100 people were present. On the tables within my view I saw what appeared to me to be glasses of beer.

Besides the orchestra a women entertainers sang. The dancing was very suggestive.

Louis Weiss was active in receiving and seating patrons.

A man who said his name was "Birch" and who gave me his card which read "Mr. Alfred Edward Birch" and who said that he was the floor manager came to us and asked if we were being taken care of.

I asked him if he showed take care of us some Sunday and he said
"Sure" come in any time after 70 in on a Sunday.

I told him that I had been going to a place where I could get a hotel and good drinks. He told me that he could fix me up.

We left at 12:35 a.m.

Investigation

We seated ourselves in the west end of the middle room, and ordered sandwiches and 2 bottles of beer. The beer was served from brown bottles and poured into glasses (one glass to each of us). This beer tasted like real logan beer. It was served by waiter No. 4. (Colored)

Shortly after we were served, the head waiter talked to waiter No. 4 and pointed to our table. Soon Louis Wees and 2 men who appeared to be floor managers had a talk with the head waiter and waiter No. 4.

We ordered another round of beer and found same to taste like "near beer." The waiter refused to sell us highballs, saying they sold soft drinks only.

Louis Wees appeared to be very nervous and watched our table continually. I saw one second lieutenant seated at the table but did not see him drinking
I also saw 2 sailors sitting at different tables with women companions. I saw one of the sailors drinking what appeared to me to be a ginger ale highball.

There was about 125 people present.

The dancing was very suggestive.
