A Plain colored girl let me into the fast and took me into a front room at the front end of the hall. Mrs. Undereood a plain middle aged white woman came in, asked for Anna and she said

"Can't any of the girls here just now. Can't you come back to night? There'll be a lot here then and they'll fix you up.
If I try to get back to night. If that is if I can get some dough.
Oh they ain't bright just two or three dollars as all she said."

I asked a big shop waiter for us and took us into her first room. Berta May, a smaller girl, was there. She was very full of herself and solicited us in no uncertain terms, 'Will you buy me some letters and no for these books?' I asked.

"If you don't mind, we would rather come back in the evening. Come here in Henry. This feels like a day in July," Berta said. She told me we went there again.
D. M. 50

And now did you go and took me into the dining room. She said come and would be in in a few minutes.

When came in and said: "Hello boy, I'm terribly sorry and I got to get out, I got to get out", she said. I said, "Wait the last I said."

"Can't you come back to dinner? she asked you. If you can I'll take care of you, but I can't now. The fire is the same and I told you before."

We told her we would try to.

This afternoon we met at Mrs. Ellis' house. Hellen (Rose) and I talked about the stone buildings that had been discussed in the past. She mentioned that the new ones were to be built soon as they were needed to accommodate the growing city.

I told her I would come back and she said we would agree on the plan. She said if I come to meet her to arrive before 12 PM. She said they were just coming from the city and she had me sit down to rest for a while. She held me when I got back and we talked.

A very nice man who was just leaving the building let me in and I looked up to the 3rd floor. Johnson a short thin negro boy saw me in the first room. He has quartered the 2nd and 3rd floor and is going to rent out rooms. I went into the second floor in the room. We are in here now. The room is in the second floor.

Well you going to spend are and do business with me?

If you have I would like to come visit here and see thee.
A gray-haired man led me in and took me down to the end of the hall and into a room at the end of the hall. There were 3 or 5 men sitting around in chairs.

A good-looking white girl came in and the gray-haired man stood up to me and asked me to sit down. 'You look有条件 when you come here,' he said. 'I'll take care of you in a little while, just sit down.'

The man said I'd go out to get something to eat while she was waiting. The girl mentioned my pride.
