They speak jest as at the top of the action. We both go to — and — — wrote —

In — minutes May came to us and said Jane sent her wish that if we boys would come to two. I came and went with three days.

She asked about Mrs. Jones and said she wanted 35.

Dear [Name],

In the court to an elderly woman, he used to stand at the door. He paid a price for all of this around the house to be careful of those around that we now might be safe.

You know you two are all right. I always got you two safe straight. I don't want to get fired up.

I was keenpling to indulge in prostitution for a price of 3.

He took us to his room in the 4th fl. of a light-colored house named the Johnson's. His wife said she had a few dollars but she did not want to make a disturbance. He said he would go down and get the money. He went away and he came back with a couple of dollars.
The text seems to be written in cursive and is a bit difficult to read, but it appears to be a narrative. It starts with the word "unwritten" and continues with various sentences and phrases. The handwriting is quite legible, and the content seems to be a personal note or letter. The text contains elements that suggest a conversation or a story, with references to names and actions that might be part of a larger context that is not fully visible in the image.
From now I was free to indulge in prostitution for some of the girls. We met in a room that contained several girls all dressed in chemises. We lined up, and they moved ahead.

When we were done, I went back to my room and decided to go to sleep.
And you will do the best you can to help me. I will do my best to help you. We must work together to find a way to be happy and successful.

We stayed about 11:30 AM and Bill sent at a table where we had a few drinks of gوفي and a sandwich plate.

I talked to a man who was only heavily built and who said he was 45 years old. He seemed nervous, fidgeted and regarded me as the money order. He had been in the beer business for many years and dealt along those points. I laid some money on the table and he pointed at the man in front of him to me.

I said something I did not want to get caught but then we decided to have a drink. Then Perhaps. He said I should go back to my hotel be would have to settle this one separate.

I went back to the table. She wrote down as in Perhaps, 3 ½, and I had all money. I told the contemplation. She then wrote on the check and

and the bill. Potatoes would not keep and was that he would take off the service.

I was now appointed to examine in prostitution for two or three myself, and I saw how the usual facts were true. I also said that I would take care of no further ground, and if you please to go, I look at the girls while I wrote outside.

A couple of minutes after the meeting, I heard from the Police as usual the news. It went up in the Pan and we sold all back to the station. We identified ourselves a line of girls.
