UTILITY RATES UNDER THE CODE.

The business of regulating rates of utility companies is one of the most important of the new Code. As originally drafted the Code limited the action of the commission to the fixing of rates on the basis of the principles enunciated by the court in the case of the Chicago Electric Light Company, which case the commission is now about to rule upon. The case involved the question of the reasonableness of the rate of interest charged by the company on mortgages. The court held that the rate of interest charged by the company was unreasonable and that it should be reduced. The commission is now about to rule upon the case and is expected to fix the rate of interest on the basis of the principles enunciated by the court.
