Colonel R. M. Douglas, of this city, who was appointed a delegate to attend the Catholic Congress at the World's Fair, made a splendid speech while out there on corporations and taxation. We have read with pleasure the entire speech published along with a villainous cut of the Colonel in the Chicago Herald. The speech shows much thought and is full of valuable suggestions. The Patriot congratulates our able townsman.

Address delivered at the dedication of the cemetery at Gettysburg.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate— we can not consecrate— we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add.
or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Abraham Lincoln.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the governed.

When a long Train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their Future Security.

Such has been the patient Suffering of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to assert their Rights.

The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States.

Indeed, it is remarkable, that during the whole of this Quarter of a Century the States have been pushing on to this point of no Return; while the King of Great Britain has been carrying on a War ofusurpations at home, in which he has attempted to enslave us.

But should a way be found by which all this evil be removed, and the United States be left intact at peace, friendship, and respect, unite and stand firm.

These United States are now under the Gouvernment of the United States of America.

May the Star-spangled Banner long wave o'er our land to Arise, You are a Declaration of Independence, and a Standard of Liberty for all Men.

John Hancock
President
