I'm having trouble understanding why you're bringing up the issue of the international law. It seems unrelated to the current discussion.

We've been discussing the importance of cooperation among nations in the context of global economic policies. It's crucial for maintaining stability and promoting trade.

I agree with you on the need for multilateral agreement. It's a fundamental principle in our approach to international relations. Let's focus on finding common ground.

In my opinion, we should prioritize the interests of the stakeholders involved, especially those affected by the changes in economic policies. It's essential to consider the consequences of our decisions.

I understand your concerns about the impact on smaller nations. We must ensure that the interests of all countries are taken into account. Let's strive for a balanced approach.

As I mentioned earlier, the regional economic integration has shown promising results. It's a step in the right direction towards achieving our goals.

I think we should continue to explore the potential of regional cooperation. It could be a catalyst for broader international cooperation. Let's proceed with caution and thorough analysis.
2. Has he been in charge ever since?

Yes, sir, to the time I left.

2. Do you remember whether Mr. J. V. Park was night keeper of the hospital during any portion of your service as hospital steward?

I think he was. I cannot say positively but I know he has been on duty in the hospital, but I cannot say whether he was a permanent there might guard there or not.

2. You have heard the testimony of Mr. Park. I will ask you to state what you know about the matters concerning which he testifies.

Well, his memory is a great deal better than mine in regard to the man John Aguirre, at the time he was in the hospital. I remember the time he was in there and I think the man was insane, at least he proved to be after that.

He was very noisy and he went for his bed just as they stated the patients were disturbed. I think there were quite a number of sick, I don't remember how many in the hospital at the time.

I think that I put the handcuffs on each side of the bed just to keep them in bed.

You handcuffed him to the iron bedstead?

Yes sir, I handcuffed him to the iron bedstead to keep him in, but further than that I don't think that he had any punishment at all, if you might call that punishment.

Did you ever order Park to strike a man with a club, or a chapp, or a whip? I couldn't order all. Park

Was he; he never gave any such orders to me.

Did Dr. Heinz ever give orders to any hospital keeper to spank or strike with a slipper any convict?

good to whip them, and I think there is a good many men here it would do them good to whip them, but it is against the law, and of course we can't do it, and it is the same remark that the deputy Wood and Dr. McKee and Woods all belong here have made that it can't be permitted.

T. H. McBride, being recalled, testified as follows:

Examination by Commissioner R. W. Jones.

Do you wish to be understood by the Board of Commissioners that this particular mark which you describe in your testimony this money was made before or after?
death? State fully your opinion as to the time it was made?

Well, gentlemen, as I said in my after statement, I did not make as thorough an investigation examination as Mr. Dungall, for I left that matter with him. The labor was divided. I left it especially to him, but it was my opinion then, and it is my opinion still that that mark was made by that chap. I did not have that opinion until after I saw the chap. As soon as I saw the chap that explained that mark to me, in my own mind, as to its being a post mortem mark, I didn’t think of it as a post mortem mark.

What is your opinion now?

The chap is nearly Corres. ponds to the width of the mark that it occurred to my mind at once, as soon as the shot was produced, as soon as I saw the shot, that that accounted for that mark. I don't change my opinion still, though I am sorry that I did not take hold of the man and examine that particular mark, since the question has been asked me so point blank; but it is my opinion still that that mark was made with that shot.

"Before the Convict's death?"

"Yes sir, I saw nothing about the Coffin in which he lay that would produce it—that he was lying in, and I saw him lying in the hospital before he was put in his Coffin, and I saw nothing there..."
that would produce them.

As a physician, can you imagine any position that that man could be placed in, or in which he could lie, unless it was done purposely, to make it at all look of a mark?

No, sir, I can't see how it could have extended around the thigh as it did. It seems to me like that much have been made by that shot.

Did you make as full an investigation as Dr. Donagall?

No, sir, I did not.

Did you make what you consider a thorough suicide investigation?

I looked over the body pretty carefully, but I should have looked over it more carefully, if I had not left it more than I did.
