

Miss Mary Taylor
Rue de Strasbourg St. Martin 88 à Paris.

La Fayette

Miss Mary Taylor's kind note has reached J<sup>d</sup> La Fayette too late for him and his family to hope they may still find the ladies in town; He fears these lines may not arrive in time; But begs them to accept his, Mr. de La Fayette's, and the whole family's best respects and wishes, with the most affectionate compliments for their health to whom he will write in a few days; He hopes Miss Taylor's indisposition will not suffer from the journey.

June 17th 1829

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

