THE CALUMET CLUB.

ONE OF THE LEADING CLUBS OF CHICAGO, WITH TERRIFIC ACCOUNT OF ITS NEW CLUB HOUSE.

Club life is a development of modern civilization, and as such has gained immensely, not only in its approved methods, but also in the estimation of those who have been inclined to consider it an exclusive and a somewhat eccentric form of recreation. The club, as a social institution, is thoroughly established, and so organized that its admittance and participation are limited to persons of mature age and social standing. The Calumet Club, which is situated on the north side of Michigan Avenue, is the one that has been the subject of much discussion. It is the one that has been in operation for the last few years, and is the one that has been the most successful. It is the one that has been the most popular. It is the one that has been the most successful. It is the one that has been the most popular. It is the one that has been the most successful. It is the one that has been the most popular.

ple have given the subject. Decoration of our day and cannot be, on account of the complicated life we lead, an art of perfect quiet and harmony, such as the ancients practiced. But it may become an art of strong effects, and although it is still slightly barbaric in its modes of execution and wild in its tendencies toward unlimited originality, it has the great redeeming feature of being a new effort, with no guide beyond the artist's taste and reason; with the widest of scopes as compared with the groove into which it had run, and without a tradition back of it. It may for these reasons be productive of a new chapter of art, and may some day, without copying the forms preferred by the ancients, recognize the excellency of their laws, without which no art can flourish.

The Hammond Library.

THERE is now nearing completion in Chicago a building which, when finished, will be a model for not only those devoted to similar purposes, but for all public structures. This is the Hammond Library, the gift of Col. Hammond to the Chicago Theological Seminary, and will contain the library of that institution. It consists of two stories and basement, and fronts upon Ashland avenue, opposite Union Park, immediately joining the Carpenter Hall and Seminary.

The front, which is composed of stone and pressed brick, with terra-cotta ornamentation, is neat and well designed. The structure, as a whole, is of the most substantial character, and the interior absolutely fire-proof. The floors, which are supported upon iron columns inclosed in porous terra-cotta, are framed on twelve-inch iron girders and eight-inch iron beams four feet eight inches from centers. The space between the beams is filled in with hollow tile arches covered on top with three inches of concrete. The roof trusses are of iron, eight feet centers, and these in every part, including principals, struts and ties, are completely covered with porous terra-cotta. The roof trusses support the iron purlins, space sixteen inches from centers. Between these are laid porous terra-cotta tiles, upon which a layer of cement is spread, bringing all to an almost roof covering, which is slate, is laid at the surface and secured by nailing through.
The Calumet Club Building.

As the future home of the Calumet Club of Chicago is now ready for the decorator and furnisher, a perspective view, from a drawing by the architects, Messrs. Burnham and Root, and a description of the main architectural features is presented in this issue.

The walls cover a corner lot, 82x130 feet, and are of plain and moulded Chicago pressed brick, the latter brick being in original designs especially made for this building. A meagre use of terra-cotta adds to the decoration of the walls. All the bearing walls are of brick. The roof is of slate, high, isolated in style, but with none of the features of the Mansard. The plan of the interior is very commodious. The entrance hall is about 22x50 feet. The three large rooms to the left of the main hall, which form the card room, library and dining room, are each 35x78 feet. The billiard room and café, which are to the right of the main entrance, are together 38x78, and the dimensions of the assembly room, directly above these, are the same. Connecting these large rooms are the small card rooms and dining rooms. Between the second and third stories is the entresol story, which is included in the height of the assembly room and large card room. The club bed rooms occupy the east half of the third and fourth stories. The stairways, which are not included in the dimensions of the main hall, are arranged in a wide center with two side flights, with a large straight landing, upon which are wide groups of windows decorated with stained glass, including cathedral, opalescent and jeweled glass. There is an elegant passenger elevator, besides one for freight, connecting with each floor.

It is the intention to give to this club house an interior decoration and furnishing in keeping with the wealth its owners represent. Stained glass will be largely used, representing the best English antique and American opalescent stained glass, and the frescoing is in the hands of one of our best artists.

The building is situated on the northeast corner of Michigan avenue and Twentieth street. It will cost $150,000, not including the cost of lot or furniture. The latter, it is estimated, will figure about $25,000 additional.
THE CALUMET.

A Detailed Description of the Newly Completed Club-House.

Arrangements of the Interior—A Model of Convenience and of Beauty.

The building at the northeaster corner of Eighth avenue and Twentieth street that is being constructed for the Calumet Club, and which a short time ago rapidly approaching completion, will be in nearly every respect one of the finest edifices of the kind in the city. Something over a year and a half ago the plans for the new structure were laid by Messrs. Burnham & Root, the well-known architects, and no important change in the general plan was broken, and the active work of construction was begun. In the construction of the building, the architects were assigned the duty of superintending the decorating and furnishing of it, and the members of the board who have knowledge of the work they have performed have made it prove them satisfactory in every detail. The building occupies a lot 138 by 60 feet on the corner staked with the main entrance on Twentieth street.

The general treatment of the Twentieth street front is a screen between two projecting pavilions, high-pitched, giving the building somewhat the appearance of a French chateau. It is difficult to describe the decorative style of the building, except as far as the main entrance is concerned, as the use of periodical Heard and in originals, marble, terrazzo, and the frescoes on the mantels will bring the building under the general style of the French Renaissance.

The first story will be filled with offices, the chief feature of these rooms being the large reception room, which will be a spacious ante-chamber, a large sitting room, a music room, and a dining room. The rooms on the first floor are lighted by windows on the north and west sides, and are entered from the street through the main entrance.

The second story will be occupied by the principal apartments of the house, and will contain the smoking-room, the billiard room, the private rooms, the men's and women's dressing-rooms, and for the men's dressing-rooms, the men's dressing-rooms.

The third story will be occupied by the bedrooms, and will contain the women's dressing-rooms, the reception room, and the men's dressing-rooms.

The fourth story will contain the library, the art gallery, and the music room.

The fifth story will be occupied by the attic, and will contain the servants' quarters.

The sixth story will be devoted to the attic, and will be occupied by the servants' quarters.

The Balcony.

Six feet wide, which encircles the bay which overlooks Eighth avenue. This balcony will be in a position to command a view of the streets of the city, and will be furnished with a sitting-room, a dining-room, and a bedroom. The furniture will consist of large tables and chairs, both of light design and elegant workmanship. The center of the bay will be the main entrance on Twentieth street, and the balcony will be entered from the main entrance on the second story.

The third story will be occupied by the bedrooms, and will contain the women's dressing-rooms, the reception room, and the men's dressing-rooms.

The fourth story will contain the library, the art gallery, and the music room.

Chicago, April 7.

This anticipated inspection of the Calumet Club-house by the members, this week, was postponed indefinitely. A portion of the ceiling in the club room fell to the floor, and plasterers are busy at work repairing the damage and inspecting the other ceilings with a view to ascertaining the cause of the trouble. On the whole the view seems to be a springing for Chicago from the service.

P. R. N.
In the case of one perpendicu lar house, the steps are guarded by stone ramps, broken by permeable tracery and terminating in a wide platform before the door. The stone is, as far as the wall of the house is concerned, in small blocks of various colors, from delicate French gray to ivory yellow. This variety gives to the wall a rich play of color, and of itself creates an element of genuine pleasure.

In the residence of Sidney Kent, Esq., the entrance is recessed between two projecting bays, which are connected by a moulded elliptical arch at their face lines. Here the entire house, which is a translation in brick of the period of Francis I, is enriched with carved mouldings and panels of terra cotta; with moulded jambs of brick, and with diapirs formed of various combinations of pressed and moulded bricks. The doorway proper is well back in shadow, and has on each side narrow lights of glass set in a grille of old brass. Passing along the street we see here and there a stray gable or bay, flowering upon an alien soil, and nurtured as yet by unfavorable conditions, but with something of the thriftiness of its native climate,—thriftier sometimes, for about their newly painted woodwork and fresh looking tiles and slates hangs a spick and span look which a little age will do well to tone down.

In all of these cases there exists a spirit which has begun to characterize the general aspect of our streets. Not one in a hundred houses (built with any pretense to design) is decorated with the effusive productions of the carpenter's jig saw. The latter type is ob-rich in deep browns or reds which obdurate and do not challenge the occupant of the room.
are used those colors and effects most suggestive of freshness and sweetness, combining at the same time, with these qualities, the richness and warmth best surrounding an ideal dinner.

So in each room, we find something of what should be ideally expressed,—the harmony and tone tending to inspire sentiments fitting the place. In every place is also accentuated the fact the house is a home, and that the art is "household." Even in buildings of a semi-pub-luc nature, such as club houses, something of the same spirit may be seen; so that on crossing their threshold from the more exciting and exacting outer life, one enters the atmosphere of quietness. In the large hall-way of one of our clubs,— the size of which is necessarily very great,—there is arranged a wide and deep chimney corner, where complete seclusion may be gained. In this hall, and in general throughout the club, the decoration is rather homelike than clublike. The chimney corner referred to is built of red pressed and moulded bricks, the hall floor being of red tiles, and the fireplace proper, bronze and black marble. Here, when the fire is lighted, is a focal center of light and apparent warmth. Similar effects, but more pronounced in their domestic quality, are constantly seen in dwellings.

In private houses, in both walls and mantels the use of red brick is often a source of exceedingly good effect.
In a hallway, for instance, where less minute detail can be used than in other rooms, a mantel constructed of brick is often particularly good. The tone of color blends admirably with the brown oak, and generally with such warm and strong coloring as is most characteristic in these entrance rooms.

In halls so arranged as to become virtually reception rooms, the staircase is generally designed with some kind of screen at the bottom; or else the steps are turned so that the side of the string and rail is presented to the door.
This makes the effect of the stairs itself much better, showing as it does, a decorative panel, while the landing agement, in the furnishing and decoration as well; the pose and function of each room is carefully considered; only in the matters of tables, chairs, etc., but in the color general aspect of the room. In the hallway is mani-the depth of glowing color and and uncolored lighter at tone more

THE CALUMET CLUB.

NINTH ANNUAL REPORT.

To the Members of the Calumet Club:

In presenting their ninth annual statement the Board of Directors congratulate the members upon the favorable exhibit of the affairs of the Club for the past year. Calumet Club bonds to the extent of $2,500 have been purchased since the last report, making a total of $12,500 now owned by the Club, and there still remains a balance to the credit of the sinking fund of $3,042.16, to be invested in bonds whenever offered.

The principal social features of the year were the Old Settlers' Reunion, May 20, 1886; the Musical, tendered the Club by Mr. John G. Shortall, October 28, 1886; the Art Reception, held in the assembly room, December 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1886, which was visited by over 5,500 members and their invited friends, of which the ladies numbered over 4,700; and the Reception given by the President and Directors, January 27, 1887.
The Club is indebted to various members for the generous loan of many valuable paintings which adorn its walls.

The thanks of the Club are due to members of the Commercial Club, of this city, for the presentation of the excellent and valuable portrait of Major-Gen'l Henry Dearborn, painted by Gilbert Stuart, which is now in possession of the Club.

During the year death has deprived us of the following members: W. M. Tilden, John A. Logan, John L. Peck, H. W. Phillips, J. M. Holliday.

Respectfully submitted,

George N. Stiles, H. J. Macfarland, Secretary. President.

George L. Otis,
Treasurer.

THE Board of Directors beg leave to submit herewith, for your consideration, statements of the Secretary and Treasurer for the half year ending September 30, 1883:

The total membership of the Club, at the date of the last report, was 630. The number of members admitted from April 1 to September 30, 1883, was 97. The total membership on September 30, 1883, as shown by the Secretary's report, was 724. Of this number, 702 are regular members, 19 non-resident members, and 3 are honorary members.

In the half year covered by this report, death has taken from the roll of membership three members:

HON. THOMAS HOYNE, N. C. DRAPER, LYMAN BLAIR.

The Club took possession of its present quarters on April 14. On April 30 your President gave a reception, at which there were present 1,100 persons.

On Thursday evening, May 18, a reception was given to the "Old Settlers of Chicago," which was attended by 700 "Old Settlers" and Club members.

On August 6, the Club tendered a reception to the American Society of Microscopists and the State Microscopical Society of Illinois, which was attended by upwards of 400 persons.

The expense of the "Old Settlers" reception was $775.88. That of the reception to the Microscopists, $265.60, being a total, as shown by the Treasurer's report, for receptions during the last half year of $1,228.88.

Since taking possession of our new quarters, the number of visitors has greatly increased. The following comparison may be made: From October 1, 1882, to April 1, 1883, the number of visitors to the Club House was 240. From April 1, 1883, to September 30, 1883, the number of visitors was 1,740. This latter number does not include such distinguished guests as His Excellency the President of the United States and party, and Lord Coleridge and party. The "Old Settlers" and invited guests at private dinners are also not included in the above statement as to visitors.

The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer show a very decided increase in the volume of business done by the Club.

The gross profit on wines and liquors, during the time covered by this report, has been 11.2 per cent. The gross profit on cigars has been 99.77 per cent., or an average gross profit, on wines and liquors and cigars, of 10.12 per cent. This is below the rate per cent. of profit of former years. The appreciation of the advantage of purchasing nearly at cost, as is believed is shown by the members in the great increase in these departments of the business of the Club.

The restaurant has been in operation since the removal of the Club to its present quarters. The Secretary's report shows a loss of $222.74. The amount received from the Cashier—$5,565.59—attests the fact of a demand for a restaurant in the Club, and may be taken as a pledge of its ultimate success. It is doubtful if the time during which the restaurant has been operated has afforded it a fair opportunity to demonstrate its success. The period of time covered has been that season of the year when least patronized, and when there is known to be the greatest waste in supplies.

In the Secretary's statement no credit has been given the restaurant for any portion of the profit on wines and liquors and cigars.

Your Board of Directors are unanimous in their opinion that there is no feature of the Club more to be relied upon in the future, in developing and maintaining the position to which the Club is justly entitled by reason of its membership and its present Club House and furnishings, than its restaurant.

The statement of assets and liabilities submitted herewith will show the financial condition of the Club on September 30, 1883.

The expense of operating the Club from April 1 to September 30, 1883, as shown by the Treasurer's report, has been $36,126.05. The estimated expenses for the six months ending March 31, 1884, as submitted by your Superintendent, is $34,200. The income from every source, exclusive of initiation fees and semi-annual dues, is estimated at $6,000. Of this latter sum, it is estimated nearly one-half will be realized from the rental of rooms in the Club House.

To maintain the present standard which the Club has attained, renders it necessary for it to take action respecting the increase of the semi-annual dues of its members. The amount to be provided for from this source, for the half year ending March 31, 1884, is $28,200.

Your Board of Directors have given careful consideration of the amount asked for the current half year. The estimate submitted makes no provision for receptions of any kind by the Club. It has not been thought proper for the Board of Directors to add an estimate for expenditures beyond the actual necessities of the Club.

In conclusion, it is believed that the Club will find such sympathy and support among its members, that it will be kept in the future, as in the past, where it deservedly belongs—the pride of its members and a credit to the city.

By order of the Board of Directors,

W. S. KNIGHT, Secretary.

CALUMET CLUB.

REPORT.

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE CALUMET CLUB:

The Board of Directors submit herewith for your consideration, statements of the Secretary and Treasurer for the year ending March 31st, 1884.

These reports show the Club to be out of debt and in a prosperous condition, with $8,686.19 assets in excess of one year ago.

The present annual dues have been found sufficient to meet the increased expenses of the Club, and enabled the use of initiation fees received subsequent to Nov. 1st, 1883, for the purchase of "The Calumet Club Building Association" Bonds, of which the Club now owns $3,500.

The Club has been in possession of its present house for a year, and its use by the members is best shown by their attendance, which from October 1st, 1883, to March 31st, 1884 inclusive, has been 20,982; an average of 115 each day.

Death has taken from our membership during the past year the following:

THOMAS HOYNE, N. C. DRAPER, LYMAN BLAIR, J. CONDIT SMITH.
THEODORE J. SCHNEIDER, HENRY M. HOW.

Respectfully submitted.

C. J. BLAIR, W. S. KNIGHT, EDSON KEITH,
Treasurer, Secretary, President.

FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The Board of Directors submit herewith, for your consideration, statements of the Secretary and Treasurer, for the year ending March 31, 1883.

These reports show a very large increase in the volume of business done by the Club.

There have been admitted during the year, 138 new members, and present indications are that the future increase will be proportionately large.

But twelve gentlemen have availed themselves of the privileges of non-resident membership.

We feel assured that a slight effort on the part of the regular members would make this feature a pronounced success.

Death has taken from us, during the year, three valued members:

NELSON LUDINGTON,  F. J. SMITH,  THOMAS L. PARKER.

The Regular Annual Reception was given to the "Old Settlers of Chicago," on Thursday evening, May 18, 1882, which was largely attended by both "Old Settlers" and Club members.

Delays have occurred upon the New Club House, and the date set in the last Annual Report for probable occupancy has long elapsed. We feel safe in stating, however, that by the time these reports are in your hands we will be established in our new quarters.

We wish to publicly express our thanks to the members who have so generously remembered us in their donations of books. It is probable that for a few years to come, no large amount of Club funds can be used for library purposes. We shall therefore be dependent in this matter upon the generosity of the members, and trust that through their liberality we may at no late day have, at the least, a well appointed reference library.

Respectfully Submitted,

HORACE WILLISTON,  CHAUNCEY J. BLAIR,  EDSON KEITH,

Secretary,  Treasurer,  President,

Dear Mr. Smith,

I am pleased to inform you of your selection as a member of the Sigma Club. I wish you every success in your future endeavors.

Yours sincerely,

[Signature]
The members of the Calumet Club who desire its affairs conducted in the same prudent and conservative manner that has placed the Club in its present high and successful condition respectfully present the enclosed ticket for Officers and Directors, to be voted for at the annual election, May 1st (Monday evening next), from 4 to 9 o'clock, and feel assured that the ticket will meet the approval of all conservative members.

The business record of the candidates presented, their entire fitness for the respective positions, together with the experience acquired by them in organizing the Club and furnishing its present house, warrant the belief that they are more competent than gentlemen who are untried and have had less experience.

The coming year will be the most important in the history of the Club, as, during the official term of the new Board of Directors, the new house will be furnished and opened, and this fact should cause every member to vote and elect a Board whose past record is a sufficient guaranty of a careful and conservative management in future.
The members of the Committee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, in the interest of high and successful cancer chemotherapy, have declared a public call for the annual meeting of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, to be held at the Hotel Statler on October 3, 1938, at 8:00 A.M. and held through Friday, October 6, 1938, at 12:00 noon.

The purpose of the meeting is to present the progress of research in the control of cancer, with the hope of securing funds to support the research work. The meeting is open to all, and the agenda includes discussions on the latest developments in cancer research and treatment.
May 1st, 1882.
