

Office of The Tribune,

New York, Aug. 28 1864

My dear Sir - It was my own stupidity, a forgetfulness, I find. I should have written to your brother's house, as Mr.
Bowditch says he authorized me to do. He has sent me a bill for $500, so I need not trouble you further in the matter, apologizing for having troubled you at all.

We are holding conferences to Chicago. If they nominates Seymour - which is not impossible - Lincoln was with a chance left; if Mr. Chilton, if correct in any direction. With your we have a trace on left's own towers, for they were there many

- accidently of course - I know the service will over with your own hands to in Constitution; as if left will not take us at any price, then Seymour and Lincoln. Which is a change of course.
Mr. Bowditch

New York, July 27, 1861

My dear Sir - It was my own intention to have written to you before this, as Mr.
Newbold says he will do it for me. He has been a little busy with his work but I shall write you as soon as possible. I am very truly yours
S. H. Gay

has still a chance left; if McClellan, & result is very doubtful. With & former we have a peace on Jeff's own terms, be they what they may,
- re-establishment of Slavery, & Slavery legalized all over & North with amendments to & Constitution; or if Jeff. will
Southern independence. Which is a cheerful prospect.

Yours truly,
S. H. Gay
