

Springfield, Nov. 11th 1842-

Dear Sam.

Yours of the 10th Oct., enclosing five dollars was taken from the office in my absence by Judge Logan who neglected to hand it to me till about a week ago, and just an hour before I took a wife - Your other of the 3rd Inst. is also received - The Forbes & Will case, of which you speak has not been brought up as yet -

I have looked into the Doman & Lane case, till I believe I understand the facts of it, and I also believe we can reverse it - In the last I may be mistaken, but I think the case, at least worth the experiment, and if Doman will risk the cost, I will do my best for the "biggest kind of a fee" as you say, if we succeed, and nothing if we fail - I have not had a chance to consult Logan since I read your letter, but if the case comes up, I can have the use of him if I need him -

I would advise you to procure the Record and send it up immediately - Attend to the making out of the Record yourself, or most likely, the clerk will not get it all together right -

Nothing new here, except my marrying, which is to me, as matter of profound wonder -

Yours forever. A. Lincoln

Sam Marshall

John Brewster