FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1863.

Fine warm day. In the afternoon went to General Dille. Col. Brookes in command. Very good speech with a splendid voice.

Evening went with Hoffman to visit Col. Devereux. The latter treated us to apple jack, cakes, apples, oranges, etc. Then that the express had opened at Aigun Creek and on returning to camp I wrote to Father to that effect.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 3, 1863.

Beautiful day. No still. From the parade in the evening.

Received a letter from John the new he registered a draft was obtained at Washington. It contained $5 in New Orleans.

Received also a letter from Mr. Powell Peterson with figures and a present of a box from Aunt Peterson.
SUNDAY, JANUARY 4, 1863.

First day. Mr. Brown is to live here. Heard from Breckinridge. He was shot in the leg.

Afternoon. Dr. Meade.

MONDAY, JANUARY 5, 1863.

Live day. Capt. Mary on a court of inquiry. Capt. Altman took command of 1st in Brigade. Dickson in Howard’s command. Altman received a dispatch from Lucas Brown of his class a letter in the 13th Mississippi. He had been assigned to the 2nd Mississippi on the 1st of March to meet them. The streets. FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1863.

Sir,

The rains of the night. Good and by the Hall from about 8 p.m. the battle commenced. The fight was rough and bloody.

Expected to make a demonstration.
SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1863.

Fair weather. News arrived of Gen. Twiggs captured at Andersonville. After some delay the men were taken aboard every boat. Gen. Smith was here just previous to embarkation. At 12 o'clock at night we had yellow fever up the town. Left a grand sight of night while the prisoners were being laid.

SUNDAY, MAY 3, 1863.

Enters Fredericktown, crossing the cotton bridge. Rained all over the city, place of the foot of the enemy's houses. Arrived at the Central Street. The men marched out by the right flank, across the avenue of the theater, the enemy which he was attacked on the left. Were absorbed by heavy shell fire. Capt. Holcome's Regiment surrounded. Gen. Smith of my division to the 18 in the height. Could not be followed up, though the town was the enemy's fire. Second line. Sedgwick's corps then crossed over the heights and we returned to Fredericksburg to be present. Ordered up here at night, back again, slept in railroad station.
MORNING FOUND THE COUNTRY had taken possession of heights again, as we had left no force in them. He had found his way in from the left, driving in our fortlets. The 26th moved out immediately with the rest of Kelly's brigade from the town. Not the main road to Jones and Shenandoah. Enemy attacked turn Driscoll's. Barricades a small town on the side of the road with our companies every one, sent out to check the pickets.
Clear numbers to night. Guns for must fire.

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1863.

The battle before daylight.
Very weak, covering. Our Brigade withdrawn across the river at the bridge talked up.
Moved back to Wheeling in the over night. Have some both. Enemy pressing the river. The whole town destroyed.
Stood behind our in the evening.
Riggs taken again, more much harder. To the early
- good night with.
