

A 8

Albany February 18th 1842.

My dear Bishop

O

I am your debtor for two very interesting letters, but I am sure I need not apologise for want of punctuality in my correspondence.

Your last letter was conclusion with Mr W. as your verbal explanation was to Mr Greely, I acquiesce cheerfully because I am sure that the triumph of the principle is certain, and when you concluded to give you a part to the details my responsibilities in regard to them ceased. I am quite satisfied that you reason wisely although if you were a secular person you could easily see directly what is now requiring to be given except by indirection. I have only one word to say now on the matter - and that is that when the bill comes up on the remonstrances appear here I want you to send an intelligible and concise letter from here with Mr Davy. Your letter is desiring of as you indicated and it may be well to give this the same direction as my last.

I give you my hearty thanks for the personal kindness which you permitted to influence your determination. I am poor in words of acknowledgment for benefits but I cherish them I trust forever. Very sincerely and respectfully,
The Right Rev. Bishop Hughes. William H. Sewall

