

MANSFIELD, OHIO.

August 25, 1891.

Hon. A. H. Pearl,
My dear Sir:

I am at a loss whether to attend the meeting at Ruggles' Beach on Saturday next. I do not know precisely by what route to get there, whether it is a political meeting or not, what kind of a speech is expected of me, and whether there will be sufficient attendance to justify my going so far.

I go to-day to Van Wert and to-morrow to Paulding, and could get to Ruggles' Beach on Saturday if it is really important, but do not wish to add to my labors in a canvass that is going to be pretty severe on me. I will return here on Friday and will then be glad to have your answer.

Very truly yours,

John Sherman.

MADE IN U.S.A.

[Faint, illegible handwriting in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

[The right page of the document is blank, showing only the texture and color of the aged paper.]