Dear Sir

I do not see what advantage it would be to bring suit as to note as I see there is nobody on them but the Holdemans - Mr Peter was proposing his suit I went to Mr. Toulsey's office where they were drawn and quite. He promptly refused to secure any bond but his bail J. M. Collesse wished him to include John Collesse, but he would not, saying again that he want adhere to his first determination.

I wonder then the one laid over with the protest was not secured. It was not among the transactions - It seems to me every body has place in public confidence in Peter which he has shamefully abused.
