My dear Browning:

Will Mr. Browning permit you ^{to} be a little Baccalaureen? I have asked Mr.
Bayard Taylor (the American writer) to dine here at 7 1/2 before 7 on Friday next - If he cannot come then to breakfast here, at ten, on Friday morning. None one else is coming. I have told him (my lure!) that I would try to get you to meet him. - ~~+~~

What do you say? I have always thought Laurie to be the model of heroism - but if you will come, I will set you up in his place.

Always your faithful

I think it probable that he will come & dine here.

I am sorry to hear that you are not satisfied with the present state of the Bank's affairs. I have already written to the Directors and to the Bankers, and I am sure that they will do every thing in their power to give satisfaction to all parties concerned. I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
