Dr. Harper,

Dear Sir,

The Chicago Alumnae of the University of Chicago have decided to gather all the text and reference books possible, and to rent these to students who are endeavouring to support themselves. The Alumnae therefore ask you to put into their hands the books that you are willing either to give or to loan for a specified time. The books may be given to any member of the committee, left at the Faculties Office, or sent to Miss Grace Darling, Green Hall. The committee ask you to consider this request as promptly as possible.

The Alumnae will appreciate the favor if you will send any student needing the aid an address with a note to a member of the committee. The books will be given out in the Y. Fr. B. C. in Powell Hall from twelve to one and from three to four on the first two afternoons of the quarter.

Dr. W. R. Harper, President,

The University of Chicago.

My dear Dr. Harper:

Some time ago you expressed a willingness to have some of the university songs printed if the Class of 1902 would hold meetings for the practice of singing the university songs. We have called such a meeting for next week Friday afternoon.
After we have held two or three meetings, and the class is able to take the lead in several of the university songs, we will endeavor to hold some Thursday forenoon "sings" at the chapel hour.

As has been often suggested new songs are needed, and we will get committees at work. At present we have printed copies of the new football songs written last quarter. Enclosed you will find copies of "Alma Mater" and "1893" which appear to be the best of our songs. If you could have slips printed containing these songs, so that we could use them by Friday, it would help out in the singing movement very materially.

Yours respectfully,

Herbert E. Fleming

Dr. W. W. Harper, President,
The University of Chicago,

My dear Dr. Harper:

Some time ago you expressed a willingness to have some of the University's officers present at the dinner of 1909, which means that you have gotten used to having more than one meal per day. We have taken the liberty of sending a note as a matter of form. After we have held two or three meetings, we shall probably be able to take a form which is less official and more intimate, but I assure you that we shall always be glad to have your presence at any of the University's functions. We shall look forward to your coming with particular pleasure, as the dinner of 1909.

Yours very truly,

Fred...
My Dear Dr. Harper:

Two of our graduates—one a graduate at the last convocation, the other at the December convocation—both strong men—came to me the other day and wanted to know why the University did not make an effort to place graduates in positions other than teaching. I told them that I thought you had in mind some plan which would meet this need and that as soon as possible it would be put into operation.

I learned the other day that Prof. Slaught was going away for a year. He is getting the work of the Board of Recommendations for Teachers in excellent shape, but these other allied student interests are not provided for, namely: active effort to provide work for needy students, to keep track of former students, to assist the graduates to positions in business and professions, and to attract new students to the University by means of attractive circulars, etc. Of course, all of these are being looked after but not in a unified way. As far as I can see the Board of Recommendations is doing the only definite and active work for the students. Since Prof. Slaught is going away, why would this not be a good time to unify all these interests which I suggested to you in a recent plan?

Prof. Hart, speaking of the "Greater Harvard" in the last Harvard Graduate Magazine, says:

"Perhaps the time has come when some effort ought to be made to prepare a general register of all persons who have been students of Harvard for a period however brief. After all the strength of harvard is not merely in her distinguished sons, but in the thousands who are doing well their small part, even in obscure and forgotten men who, nevertheless, have never lost their impress received at Harvard.

If the University can, now— in its very beginning, bind to it by every possible tie the large number of students who go out from its halls, graduates and non-graduates, twenty-five years hence they will be a tower of strength to the University.

This can not be done by scattering these closely related duties among a half dozen departments— giving them to officers of instruction who make the work secondary to their teaching. The work is important enough to call for the best efforts of a live active man— one who will study the situation, get acquainted with the students, attend educational conventions, visit schools, work among business men— having before him at all times the purpose of helping outgoing students and attracting and aiding incoming students. The work can never be done second hand, by stenographers and assistants. The man who has charge of the work and makes the recommendations to positions should be personally acquainted with the one he recommends.

My experience in working my way through the University, my acquaintance with the efforts of our graduates to find suitable employment after graduating, and the numerous requests which come to me from students who want to attend the the University, but cannot without some assistance, convinces me that some such plan as I outlined to you a short time ago is not mere theory.

very truly yours,

Mayo Fesler

Dr. Paul Monroe,
Teachers College, New York City.

My dear Mr. Monroe:—

I have your letter of March tenth. I am sorry that you have secured Gross of Boston. He has done more to injure the University of Chicago in the east than possibly any other one man, but I suppose it is too late to make a change.

Wishart and Mead are both good. Please do not ask Lorimer or Henson, but if possible get Canfield. Willis of the younger alumni would be a splendid fellow.

We do not wish to emphasize the Baptist side of the matter. Of course you will regard my letters as strictly confidential.

Yours very truly,

My dear President Harper:

The list of speakers we have secured for the banquet on the 21st., aside from the tentative promise of Dr. Gilman, are: Professor Seymour and the Rev. H. B. Gross of Boston, together with Mr. Wishart and Mr. Meade of the younger alumni. We were unable to secure either President Taylor or President Faunce, and also a number of clergymen representing the older alumni. If you can make any further suggestions, we should be very glad to have them. I have thought of proposing either Dr. Lorimer or Dr. Henson, who are now in the city, and perhaps Dr. Canfield of Columbia; and if there is still room upon the list, Mr. Willis of the younger alumni, who is now on the Evening Post. President Butler will be out of the city at that time or I should have suggested him earlier. Will be pleased to have any suggestion you may care to make.

I am,

Very truly yours,

Paul Monroe.

My dear President Harter:

I am informed that the Department of the Interior is considering the future status of the Bureau of Indian Education and that the President of the United States is about to issue a proclamation establishing the Messner and Williams Mission as a separate entity. We are unable to escape the influence of the former Mission, and also a number of established institutions that are attached to it. If you can make any further suggestions, I should be happy to hear from you. I have spoken of broadcasting the idea of the departure of Dr. Harrison and the new to the city and have asked the President of the University of Illinois at the request of the president, and I have been unable to receive a reply to a letter I wrote to the medical school. I am now on the point of departure and it is impossible for me to leave the city. I will be pleased to have any suggestions you may be able to make.

Dear President Harper:

I was very glad indeed to get your letter of the 14th. and only regret that I did not have it sooner, for the ideas expressed there meet my most cordial approval, and if I had known that I should have such backing I certainly would have insisted upon them. But you understand that the Executive Committee yet is composed for the most part of the men representing the old university and most of them are ministers. And yet I am convinced that the success of the Association will depend upon the support of the Alumni of the new university, and that that only can be gained by a change of emphasis from the religious associations to one dominantly upon the university associations. The selection of Gross was a matter with which I could have nothing to do especially, since the matter was suggested by his brother-in-law, Professor Bristol. We will be able to avoid the choice of either of the two ministers last mentioned, and if possible I will get Dr. Canfield. Meanwhile I have secured Professor Elmer E. Brown of the University of Chicago, to represent the educational aspect of the University work.

My Dear Dr. Harper:

You asked me to submit to you a proposition, stating for what consideration I could take up the work of secretary of the Board of Appointments. I have thought over the question seriously for two days and have made investigation of the work in Mr. Slaughter's office, with which I was already somewhat acquainted.

The proposition which I make is based upon the following facts and conditions:

I. My own observations and the testimony of the clerk show that Mr. Slaughter, for the past six months, has averaged from four to five hours per day in the office, besides no inconsiderable time devoted to devising plans and drafting circulars. During the next six months much more work will be required than heretofore, even if the appointments are confined, as at present, to teachers.

II. I should not be satisfied to limit the work to its present scope. I should want to provide for recommending students to positions in the business and professional world. This field will all have to be developed, circulars will have to be sent out, personal acquaintance with heads of departments and of firms will have to be formed, and an extensive correspondence carried on. As much time ought to be given to this phase of the work, for the first year at least, as to the recommendation of teachers.

III. I should want also to make some provision for recommending to minor positions of all sorts, such of our undergraduate students as must have opportunity for self-help in order to carry on their university work. This would relieve somewhat the ever-increasing demand on the Registrar's office for University Service. The ability of students, thus aided, to pay tuition would soon be a source of income sufficient to meet the entire expense of main-
Chicago

I am willing to accept the position for the year, July 1, 1902—July 1, 1903, giving three-fourths of my time to the work, for $900.

For the next three months, April 1—July 1, I will give as much time as is necessary to become thoroughly acquainted with the details of the office, so that I can take full charge July 1, for $100. This means that I will have to give up a part of my university studies for this quarter.

If my proposition meets with your approval I shall be glad to take up the work, for I feel that there are vast possibilities here for developing a neglected but important field of university activity and influence.

Very truly yours,

My dear Mr. Eaton:-

Mr. Fessler has just shown me a copy of a letter which you are sending out to the New England alumni. This is splendid. We appreciate very much indeed your interest in this matter, and I hope that something may be accomplished. I am sure that it will be. I shall look forward with great satisfaction to the meeting next spring. It will be very pleasant to have a Chicago Alumni Club in Boston, and I will try to have something to say which will interest New Englanders in the Club. I am returning you herewith the letters of Anderson, Wood and Mable. These are very interesting.

Wishing you great success, I remain

At the meeting held at the Parker House, Boston on April 15th, the formal organization of the New England Alumni Club of the University of Chicago was successfully completed.

It was voted that the present officers of the Harvard Club should act as the officers of the new Club for the ensuing year.

It was also voted that the New England Club should be an Alumni Club, but that it should be within the discretion of the Executive Committee to invite the Alumnae to any special meetings to which it should seem wise to do so.

The annual dues to be expended for stationery, mailing notices and so forth, were fixed at one dollar payable to the Secretary.

President Harper has promised to meet with us at our first annual dinner next year.

Very truly yours,

My dear Feeder:

This is a copy of a letter which I shall ask Hales, as Secretary, to send out today to all the Alumni located here. I enclose it as I thought you would like to know of our progress. I shall take advantage of this letter of a member who I have seen recently.

Very truly yours,
May 31st, 1902.

My dear Mr. Fesler:

I shall be glad to have you say to the Executive Committee next Monday night for me, that I am profoundly impressed with the importance of the scheme relating to the daily. Nothing, in my opinion, has had a more deadening effect upon the student life than the fact that the only student paper was in the hands of an individual student, and further, the fact that we have had no daily. The Association has an opportunity to do the University a great service. I am sure that with a serious effort the money can be obtained. I shall be glad to join in the effort to secure it. It is the time to make a great step forward, and it is a time for the alumni to give us a boost.

Yours truly,

W. R. Harper
My Deir Dr. Harper:

The Executive committee of the Association meets next Monday night to discuss the proposition to buy the University Weekly. Can't you write me a letter expressing your belief that the Association would be doing a fine piece of work if they got this paper out of the hands of an individual and put it on a good business basis? I am going to meet with pretty strong opposition in the matter. I should like to see it go through.

Very truly yours,

Mayo Tesler.

President William R. Harper,

Dear Sir:

Your Circular letter to the Alumni seems so much like a personal invitation, to be present at the Convocation Convocation. I feel moved to write you an expression of my sincere regret not to be able to be present this year. I would enjoy most of all the Alumni Breakfast to which you and Mr. Harper so kindly and hospitably invite us. Such an invitation must make every Alumni feel that he belongs to a great University Household, where a welcome always awaits him.

Doubtless you will always remember me as the second man to take the Ph.D. in The University, and the first to take it in the Ogden School of Science. Those two years in the new-born University are I shall always look back to with pleasure. They are among the best of my life.

Yours very truly,
My Dear Dr. Harper:

You suggested that we should move the Board of Appointments office out into the large waiting room next to your office. There are some very serious difficulties which will arise from having the office so public.

1. The Secretary will be annoyed by all sorts of callers and questioners.

2. There will be no privacy for consultation with applicants and Superintendents looking for teachers; nor for dictating confidential letters.

3. The files of confidential blanks will have to be left near my desk, where they will be subject, more or less, to the prying eyes of the curious.

4. The fact that the office is in such a public place will detract materially from its dignity in the eyes of school and college men who come seeking teachers.

May I suggest a remedy for all these difficulties, which will put the office near Mr. Shepardson's office where we can be of much assistance to each other? The remedy is this:

Partition off a small room just north of Mr. Shepardson's office, make an entrance on the east side, and place the large drawing of the campus on the north wall of this little office.
Chicago, June 18, 1900.

My Dear Dr. Hatcher:

You suggested that I should write you a letter of appreciation for allowing me into your office to take notes. There is a number of matters which I wish to point out to you personally. I believe that the office will be expanded by adding an area of offices and extensions.

The Secretary will be required to fill several of the empty areas and additional answering machines will be introduced.

The planning for the expansion of the office has been completed to date, and the new desk areas will be ready for use next year.

The theft of confidential papers will be a problem to be dealt with quickly.

The loss of essential materials will be prevented.

The fact that the office is in such a quiet place will also prevent the need for additional space.

The new office will provide a greater efficiency and prevent the loss of essential materials.

I submitted a report of all these difficulties, which will be of interest. The reason for this is to save space in the office.

I wish to express my appreciation for the effort you made in the expansion of the office.

The campus of the north will be little office.
There will still be ample room for the large table and the waiting room. Mr. Parker has estimated the cost of partitioning off this space at $84.00.

Such an office would materially increase the efficiency of the Board and especially of the Secretary of the Board. I trust this can be done by July 1, when I am to take charge of the office.

Very truly yours,

Mayo Fesler.
There will still be ample room for the lecture tables and the cabinet.

If possible, please estimate the cost of constructing all this space at $800.

Such an office would materially increase the efficiency of the Board and especially on the Secretary of the Board. I trust that can be done if I may say so, the cause of the College.

My dear President Harper: Permit me to thank you for the honor of kind invitation for next Monday evening, and to express regret that I cannot come. My dear Mr. Pike:-

I have read with the greatest possible interest your letter of December 7th. It is full of good things and I bespeak for your administration of the Alumni Club the greatest possible success. You may be very sure that we shall do all we can to co-operate with you in every way. Send in your suggestions and we will do all we can to meet you even half way. I congratulate you upon the splendid opportunity before you to render a real service to the University. Suppose we arrange sometime for an interview and then we can take up these various matters.

Yours very truly,
Chicago, Dec. 7, 1903.

Dr. William R. Harper, President,
University of Chicago,
City.

Dear Mr. President:

At a recent meeting of the Alumni Club I had the honor to be elected president of that organization, and I write you at this time to put myself at your service, as an Alumnus who is exceedingly proud of his Alma Mater and willing to do all that is in his humble power to promote its interests.

I have already put myself in close touch with Mr. A. E. Bestor, secretary of the Alumni, and have also talked with Dr. Richardson in a general way relative to my desire to get in as close touch as possible with the administrative powers of the University.

Last week I entertained at luncheon a number of the more prominent Alumni who are located in the city, and informally discussed with them certain plans for strengthening our position in the University and adding to our usefulness as a University institution. At this meeting I was agreeably surprised to find that every man present had some excellent suggestion to make for the betterment of the Club's present status. Now that the University has been so generous as to give us a splendidly appointed room for our exclusive use, we feel that the time has come for the Club, as a club, to take a more prominent place in University life. We feel that we should have some voice - and that an influential one - in many University matters that pertain to the life at the University.

Among other suggestions, I desire to call your attention to one that I think deserves immediate consideration, viz., that some representation of the Alumni Club be given in the organization of the Athletic Board of Control. There is no need for me to point out to you the advantages of this proposition. The great majority of the University athletes belong to or are identified with the Alumni Club rather than with the Alumni Association as a whole. The most active members of the Alumni Club are old athletes of the University. Almost every University in the country gives to its Alumni an important place on this influential board, and I believe that it would benefit all concerned if the Alumni Club should have such a representation on the Chicago Board.

Dr. William R. Harper - 2 -

It may interest you to know that I have planned to call a meeting of the Club for the second Saturday in January, the meeting to be held at the Reynolds Club, and to be preceded by a dinner at the Commons. At this meeting, which is to be a strictly informal rally of all the Alumni, it is planned to have as many discussions concerning the future of the Club as possible. Many good spirited criticisms have come to me concerning many matters of common interest, and reforms have been suggested, which I believe could be readily made with benefit to the University.

I have it in mind to make an arrangement with a café down town, the College Inn preferred, whereby, once a week, or once in two weeks, on a Saturday noon, an informal meeting of the Alumni Club could be held. The idea is to bring the men that work in town in closer touch with one another socially from time to time, and promote better fellowship between them.

If at any time you have any suggestions to make that will have any bearing on the Alumni Club's place or part in the University life, I would esteem it a great favor if you would communicate with me at your earliest convenience.

Yours very respectfully,

Charles Summer Pike

Dear Dr. Harper:—

Enclosed please find a statement of the account of the Maroon. On the memorandum slip you will notice a division of the account. The item, "Prior to October 1st, $524.70", is the amount which Mr. Fleming is trying to raise by subscription. The balance of $462.79 has accrued since October 1st and is all overdue. I understand that they have a bill in the hands of the Auditor for $100.00, which will go to the credit of this amount.

Pres. Harper goes to Boston to attend meeting of the New England alumni of the University

April 1904.
March 28th, 1904.

Mr. Franklin W. Johnson,
Coburn Classical Institute, Waterville, Maine.

My dear Sir:—

I am in receipt of your letter of March 21st. It is not certain that I shall be able to be in Boston on April 2nd, but in any case it would be unwise for me to undertake to attend a dinner on Saturday evening after having attended the alumni luncheon Saturday noon. As perhaps you do not know, I am just out of the hospital after an operation of a very serious character. It is entirely questionable whether I ought to make the trip to Boston, but inasmuch as my coming has been announced, I feel under some obligations to go. I assure you that it would give me the greatest possible pleasure to be present at the meeting of the alumni of Coburn Institute, but in my present state of health I am afraid it would be unwise.

Yours very truly,

W. R. Harper
March 21, 1904,

President William R. Harper,
University of Chicago.

Dear Sir:—

I notice that you are to be in Boston April second at the meeting of the New England Alumni of the University. On the evening of the same day at six o'clock the Massachusetts Alumni of his school are to hold their annual dinner at the Westminster, Copley Square. Considering the close connection which our Wittenberg institutions have had with Chicago University, it occurs to me as possible that you might be willing to be our guest on that occasion if you have no other imperative engagement for that hour. We are on your list of accredited schools and have on our faculty a graduate of your University. On your own faculty are several of our graduates.

While from our geographical situation, it is not likely that many of our students will go to Chicago for undergraduate courses, I hope there may be some who will do so.
In your graduate departments you have had several of our students and now have at least one.

It may interest you to know that William Mathews, P.B., who was professor of rhetoric and English literature at the old Chicago University from 1862 to 1875, will be present at the dinner.

Assure you that it would afford us great pleasure to have you as our guest on this occasion. May I ask you to advise me, in case of the American Book Company, 43 Summer St. Boston, whether it will be possible for you to be present.

Yours very truly,

Francis W. Johnson

Mr. Charles S. Pike,
1436 Marquette Building,
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Pike:

A new committee of Alumni who are also members of the faculty has lately been appointed. The purpose of this body is to originate and report any measures which it deems would make for a closer and more active relation between the Alumni and the University. Several questions have already been sent me for the action of this body; such as (1) making the Secretary of the Alumni a member ex officio of the Congregation; (2) making the Secretary of the Alumni a member ex officio of the Board of Athletics; (3) the abolition of the tax for attendance at the meetings of the Congregation (the $1.00 charged as rental for a cap and gown).

No doubt there are other important matters which should come. Have you on behalf of the Alumni body which you represent any questions for this Committee? I shall be glad to hear as soon as possible any suggestions you may have.

Yours faithfully,
Mr. Chairman, Etc.

A new committee of Alumni who are free of the Faculty and Faculty have been appointed to prepare this body to organize and report any progress which it seems would make for a closer and more active relation between the Alumni and the University.

Several suggestions have already been sent me for the action of this body, such as (1) making the Secretary of the Alumni a member ex officio of the Co-education; (2) making the Secretary of the Alumni a member ex officio of the Board of Trustees; (3) the abolition of the tax for attendance at the meetings of the Co-education; (4) charged as rent for a cap and gown.

No doubt there are other important matters which should come. Have you any report of the Alumni body whom you represent and desire for the Committee? I shall be pleased to hear as soon as possible any suggestions you may have.

Yours faithfully,
My dear Mr. Flint:

I read your letter of October 19th with great interest. The points which you make are certainly suggestive. We must keep in mind that we have over three thousand Alumni and that this is a very good nucleus. Surely we would need to select a time which would suit the teachers. I am sure you will give this matter your careful consideration.

Yours very truly,

W. R. Harper
Dr. William R. Harper;

My dear Dr. Harper,

This is answer to the two notes from you concerning the Committee on Alumni Relations.

To the first, let me say that I have notified the members of the committee that I am collecting and arranging questions for its action, and that I shall hope to present a report from this committee at the next meeting of the Congregation.

You ask also for a tentative definition of the service of the committee. I enclose mine.

I note your suggestion for an fiftieth anniversary. Such a celebration would be an extremely interesting one, and I shall study with increased interest the event at Columbia. Against one attempting such a celebration there occurs to me one objection, which may, upon examination, prove to be nothing. I mean the comparatively small number of our alumni and the consequent difficulty of getting a sufficient number together.
The weight of this objection could be approximately determined by (1) a study of the geographical distribution of our alumni; (2) by a study of the attendance at the Columbia anniversaries for the purpose of determining what proportion of our alumni we could fairly count on. We need also to bear in mind that a large percentage of our alumni are teachers, and that the terms of year in the celebration would need to be considered carefully for them.

Yours faithfully,

Nath Flew

Yours very truly,

Mr. Nott Flint,
The University of Chicago.

My dear Mr. Flint:

I appreciate the point you make in your letter of November 2nd. My own opinion, however, is that we ought to go forward and do the thing that should be done without reference to possible trouble that would arise. Personally I should anticipate none.

I think that if Miss Addams comes to the University the women of the University and from the University should take a distinct interest and that something special and definite as well should be done, but of course if the women should not wish to do this, we should not ask them to consider it.

Yours very truly,
CHICAGO Nov. 2, 1904.

Dr. William R. Harper;

Dear Mr. Harper,

I have been considering your suggestion to use the occasion of Miss Adams' address at the December Convocation for a special gathering of our Alumnae, and I find against it what to my thinking is a major objection. Unless Miss Adams' address is to be to women or on some subject directly concerning them, I conceive it might be remiss for the University to mark the division in the Alumnae just now, and merely because Miss Adams is a woman. If, for instance, any members of the Alumnae should still feel bitter over the so-called "Segregation" measure, we could understand how such members might not only refuse to lend their presence but also how they might use their influence to prevent others from attending a gathering which, to them, might seem to introduce the principle of "segregation" into the ranks of the Alumni. You will, however, be in a better position than I am in to estimate the importance of this objection; or, what is better, you may know of some good way for putting it to the proof.

Yours faithfully,

Watt Flint

Mr. G. H. Congdon,
Sac City, Iowa.

My dear Sir:

On behalf of President Harper I desire to acknowledge the receipt of the True Republican containing your analysis of the DeKalb County vote. Every evidence, such as you furnish, that our Alumni are interesting themselves in politics and taking a leading place as students of current events, is gratifying. The University wishes you prosperity and thanks you for your remembrance of it.

Yours very truly,

Secretary to the President.

Mr. G.W. Congdon,
Sec. City, Iowa.

My dear Sir:

On [partial text illegible] of President Harper I address to you.

I acknowledge the receipt of the Iowa Republica's report which accompanies your letter of July 29th. I am interested in the development of the University, and am anxious to see that its needs are met.

Yours very truly,

Secretary to the President.

Chicago Dec. 19, 1904

Dr. William R. Harper:

Dear Dr. Harper,

At the beginning of the present quarter you wrote me expressing the hope that there would be a report from the faculty alumni committee at this meeting of the congregation. For the following reasons there is no report.

Only three measures came up for the action of this committee: (1) the recommendation that the Secretary of the Alumni be ex officio a member both of the Congregation and of the Board of Athletics; (2) the funding of some suggestion that will promote a larger alumni attendance at the Congregation — many of them being probably kept away by virtual tax of a dollar charged on tickets by the necessity granting a cap and gown; and (3) the suggestion you made do to the feasibility of making the 1905 celebration at Chicago entirely
Chicago, Feb. 18, 1940

Dear Mr. Headfather,

At the recommendation of the President, I have the honor to report the following:

1. The Association is a voluntary organization of students, and as such is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Corporation. However, it does receive financial support from the Corporation and is expected to cooperate with the Corporation in its endeavors.

Therefore, it is recommended that the Association be considered a constituent part of the Corporation.

Sincerely yours,

an affair of alumni.
These three measures disperse themselves as follows:
The first is a measure that must win its way in the alumni organization before my committee has some say in it. The second measure has already been referred to some committee of the congregation, and the third needs much further consideration and study before any report on it is possible.

If we had been able to hold the meeting of prominent alumni members with you present, as you suggested early in the quarter,
I think we might have found other business for my committee.

Yours faithfully,

Matt Flint.

P.S. If you have any further ideas as to the third measure or any official information as to the writing of the Columbia celebration this year
I should be very glad to hear from you.
