To the President
University of Chicago

Dear Sir,

This Association has been asked by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace to take charge of two trips which will be made under its auspices through the United States, one, in the Fall, by Mr. Langdon-Davies, a former president of Cambridge Union and now in the service of the Garten Foundation, and another, in the Spring, by Mr. Norman Angell, the author of "The Great Illusion.

It is the wish of the Endowment to bring Mr. Angell into touch particularly with boards of trade, chambers of commerce and associations of bankers, manufacturers and merchants, but he would appeal also to academic audiences. The special object of Mr. Langdon-Davies will be in speaking before Labor Organizations, colleges and clubs. The expenses of these gentlemen are to be defrayed by a grant from the Carnegie Endowment and no charge is contemplated for their addresses.

Would you be willing to turn over this letter to some member of the university who might be kind enough to let me have a short list of persons throughout the state with whom I might appropriately correspond with regard to arrangements for an address by them?

Would the U. of Chicago care, if convenient arrangements could be made, to have Mr. Davies and Mr. Angell speak before it? If so, and if you could let me know the dates which would be most convenient, I should be very glad, a little later on, to submit for your approval a tentative itinerary which should include Chicago.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Keppel:—

In the absence of President Judson I acknowledge your letter of August 12th. I believe the appearance of Mr. Langdon-Davies and Mr. Norman Angell at the University of Chicago can easily be arranged under the auspices of one of the University departments, or it it seems more desirable in view of their subject, under the auspices of the Kosmopolitan Club, an active organization of students. The best University lecture hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 4:15 P.M. The autumn quarter begins October 1st, and the last good lecture date would be December 12th. Examinations are held the following week. The winter quarter begins Friday, January 2d, and the last good date would be March 13th. The spring quarter begins Monday, March 30th. No great attention to lectures can be secured during the spring quarter, and especially late in the spring quarter. I have not indicated the usual national holidays in this program.

As to other places for appearance in Chicago, I suggest the Chicago Sunday Evening Club, which affords an audience of about 2,000. The President is Clifford Barnes, 10 S. La Salle St. The Chicago Peace Society might be willing to undertake a program of engagements for your speakers. The Secretary is Mr. Charles E. Beals, 30 N. La Salle St.

May I suggest also that you communicate with the following:

Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, President of Armour Institute, 3300 Armour Avenue, and Pastor of Central Church;

Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Lincoln Center, Oakwoods Boulevard, Chicago;

Professor Graham Taylor, of the School of Civics and Philanthropy;

President A. W. Harris, Northwestern University;

President E. J. James, the University of Illinois, Champaign, Illinois;
President George E. Vincent, the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota;

President Charles R. Van Hise, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

Sincerely yours,

Secretary to the President

President Harry Pratt Judson

My dear President Judson:

As you doubtless know, the Pan American Division of this Association is exerting itself to aid in the dissemination of knowledge among the American republics regarding each other with a view to the establishment of cordial international relations. Recently I concluded an extensive trip through South America, during which it was my privilege to meet educators and to visit universities, colleges, normal schools, etc., in Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay, Chile and Perú. Everywhere I observed awakening interest in our history, literature, institutions, industries and life. It is not necessary to call your attention to the existence of a similar interest in the United States concerning the other countries of America.

I accumulated a thousand or so photographs, many of them of educational institutions, during my trip, and I have had some eight hundred lantern slides made from the most available of them since my return. These I expect to use in connection with lectures in the universities and colleges in the United States.

As the complement of the Latin American half of this scheme, I am now attempting to collect photographs and lantern slides of some of the leading and typical universities and colleges of the United States, for use by myself when I make another visit to South America, and by others who may be cooperating with us in this general undertaking of fostering intellectual understanding and interpretation.

Mr. Eugene Vann of Brown University, who has spent a number of years in South America, is expecting to make a trip shortly through a number of the southern countries. He is now making up two lectures that he expects to give extensively during his trip. In one of them he will describe the rise, organization, ideals and method of some of our most notable universities; in the other, the general features of some of our more important technical and scientific schools.

In the first of these lectures he will naturally include the University of Chicago, I write therefore to bespeak your cooperation with us to the extent of supplying some twenty lanterns slides or photographs of the University of Chicago that will show groups of buildings, grounds, interiors, classes and groups of students, in short, whatever will give such an idea of the University as you would like to have presented in a foreign country. If you do not have the slides or photographs, will you kindly indicate how we may be able to secure them.

When Mr. Vann shall have finished with the slides, he will return them to me for use for myself or others.

Very truly yours,

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
FOR INTERNATIONAL CONCILIATION

PAN AMERICAN DIVISION

[No. 1, 8. 1.]

MEMORANDUM

The American Association for International Conciliation is ready to go ahead with further important steps, following the recent visit of Mr. Robert Bacon to the leading capitals of South America, to develop closer intellectual and cultural relations between the peoples of the United States and of other American republics.

A special bureau of information has been opened in the headquarters of the Association, at 407 West 117th Street, New York, through which will be freely furnished information for the guidance and assistance of those who may wish to come from other countries of America to the United States for study or for travel.

The number of students coming from the different republics of America is increasing from year to year, and it is the desire to offer all who come for the purpose of either general or professional education every possible facility in choosing that educational institution best suited to their needs and purposes.
With a view of spreading in the United States a wider knowledge of the life and institutions of other American republics, a personally conducted visit by a small group of representative men and women, chosen from educational institutions in different parts of the United States, is being planned, with the hope and belief that those who make up this group will become centers of information in their respective communities concerning the countries visited by them.

It is particularly hoped that it will be possible to make arrangements to invite representative savants of the different republics of America to visit the United States, and, through public meetings, through lectures before universities and other learned bodies, and through personal association, to broaden and strengthen the ties of friendship and goodwill which so abundantly exist between men of light and leading in all America.

It is anticipated that soon satisfactory arrangements may be made under the auspices of this Association for a visit to the United States by a group of representative men and women, chosen from educational institutions of other American republics.

It is expected that those who make the trip, as suggested above, will leave New York in June, and visiting Brazil, Uruguay, Argentine, Chile, Peru, Panama, and possibly other countries, will return early in September. It is thus arranged so that the trip will fall chiefly or wholly within the ordinary vacation of educational institutions in the United States, and within the regular academic year of the institutions of the countries which it is hoped to visit.

It should perhaps be added that hitherto the tide of travel and relations has been around the world from east to west, and it is thought that now, by visits of this kind, a complementary tide of travel and relations from north to south and south to north may be built up.

The scope of this letter is to address the matters referred to in the conversations we had on the 5th of March. It seems necessary to provide an overview of the current state of affairs and to outline the steps that need to be taken to resolve the issues at hand.
