My dear President Judson,—

The plan which I venture to enclose has been sent me from Paris, with a request that I organize support for it in this country. As a first step, I hope to secure the formal cooperation of the heads of some American universities, as an honorary committee. President Eliot and President Lowell have kindly given me theirs; and President Lowell authorizes me to say that I ask for yours with his cordial approval. There is hardly any need to add that I shall eagerly welcome any advice which you may be willing to send me, even though — as I hope may not be the case — you are not disposed to allow the use of your name.

Sincerely yours,

The play which I venture to enclose has been sent me from Paris with a request that I organize support for it in this country. As a literal step I hope to secure the formal cooperation of the heads of some automobile manufacturers as co-sponsors committee. President Eiffel and President Cauillié have kindly given me their consent; and President Lavoisier authorization. I beg of you that I hear from you with the greatest promptitude.

There is hardly any need to say that I am most sincerely welcome any advice which you can be willing to send me on this subject - as I hope we may be the case - you also not disposed to allow the use of your name.

A Plan for Founding an American University House in Paris.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

In spite of a wide-spread admiration for French culture and an increasing recognition of the value of French intellectual methods, American students have so far not availed themselves to any great extent of the advantages offered by French universities and schools for advanced study, with the single exception of the Ecole des Beaux-Arts. Efforts are now being made by the French Universities to spread a knowledge of these advantages in the United States and to bring them within the reach of larger and more various groups of American students. Clear and complete descriptions of the various schools and courses of studies are to be widely disseminated, formalities of enrolment, &c., are to be simplified, the needs of Americans are to be studied and met; in a word, access to French culture and training in French methods of thought, research and achievement is to be made easier. A considerable increase in the number of Americans studying in France is consequently probable. It has appeared to a certain number of American friends of France that a parallel effort should be made not only to further these attempts to bring about closer intellectual relations between the two countries, but to provide American students with certain advantages that would greatly increase the value and pleasure of their stay in France. It is essential that some organization should exist to furnish full information to young American men on their arrival, to help them not only to lose no time in settling down to their studies, but to provide them with the means of finding suitable accommodation in French families and bringing them rapidly into contact with their fellow-students, American and French, with their professors, and with all persons intercourse with whom would widen their
In spite of a wide-spread realization for reasons obvious and uninteresting, American authors have acknowledged the nature of France's intellectual heritage. However, one cannot escape the significance of the advancements in the United States and to strive more within the grasp of foreign and more novel trends of America.

American authors attempt to describe the influence of America's history in shaping any part in a work, to amplify the need of America's role in the writing of the nation. For many, America's influence in the history of the world cannot be understated. American authors in France is considered significant and appealing to a certain number of American authors of France that have attained international importance.

We are not only to expect poetic attempts to gain more after international recognition between the two countries but to promote American standards with caution that much glory has increased the value and presence of French culture in America. It is essential that some organization should be found to make American men or people strong to stand firm and to face on time setbacks and to fight against the urge to produce their own...
outlook and give them a fuller understanding of French civilization. So far little has been done to bring about closer relations with French life generally. The most effectual way of meeting these various needs has appeared to the undersigned to be the foundation in Paris of a House for American students which would be at once a new intellectual link between the two countries, a meeting place for Americans and such Frenchmen as pursue common aims with them, a centre of American influence in France, and of French influence among Americans.

(Note:—Provisions already exist for female students, so this plan for the present concerns only men. It is hoped, incidentally, that closer social relations among French students may thus be developed. B. W.)

II

The scheme has received the cordial approbation and official patronage of the Minister of Public Instruction, of Mr. Lucien Poincaré, Directeur de l'Enseignement Supérieur, of Mr. Liard, Recteur de l'Université de Paris, and of all the heads of the special schools and provincial Universities. Hopes are entertained that the State and City of Paris may find possible to grant the land on which the Maison shall be built.

A provisional suggestion of what it might contain, subject to all modifications, is submitted below:

1. A permanent enquiry office to provide all information on all schools, courses of study, special opportunities available to American students, &c. not only in Paris, but throughout France. Lists of families corresponding to the various requirements and means of students would be established by a responsible committee, also a registry and directory of American students in France.

2. A library containing above all French and American books, reviews and newspapers, a reading room and a social room.

3. A restaurant which would enable the members to find at a low cost wholesome meals and to invite friends.

4. Rooms for debates, social meetings, lectures by notable Frenchmen or Americans, art exhibitions, etc.

5. Offices where students could be received by their Professors and enter into more intimate relations with them than is now possible.

6. A certain number of chambers for the accommodation of students on their arrival until they have found suitable quarters, for research students, exchange professors whose stay is short, etc.

7. Facilities for exercise and recreation, tennis and fencing courts, swimming and shower baths, lockers, etc., might be annexed to the House.

8. Courses in elementary spoken French might be organized for the benefit of members, and a directory kept of approved instructors in French and English.

III Memberships, Ways and Means, General Organization.

A. MEMBERSHIP. 1. Memberships shall be of four classes:

a) Resident

b) Non-Resident

c) Life

d) Honorary

a) Resident. All male American students studying at the Faculties and special schools or engaged in research work in France are entitled to become Members of the House. A full list of these may be drawn up (Faculties of Law, Medicine, Theology,

All graduates or students of recognized American colleges, Universities, and schools of higher training, and other Americans eligible to admission to the French institutions mentioned above, are entitled, after the usual forms of election, to enjoy the privileges of the House when in Paris.

All resident members to pay an annual fee of ten dollars (50 francs). Extra fees for the keeping up of tennis-courts, etc., for courses in French or other special advantages. In special cases, fees may be remitted.

b) Non-Resident. Such Americans non-resident in France as may be elected. All non-resident members to pay an annual due of five dollars (25 francs).

c) Life. Americans resident or non-resident in France who, after election, shall pay one thousand dollars.

d) Honorary. All professors of French Universities and special schools to be ipso facto Honorary Members of the House; eminent French scholars, artists, musicians and men of letters may be elected Honorary Members.

B. WAYS AND MEANS. An American Committee to be formed in Paris for the study of ways and means. Such committees to form:
1. A small acting Committee.
3. To enter into negotiations with American Universities and associations for furthering friendly intercourse between the two countries, and with all persons likely to interest themselves in the realization of the scheme.
4. To further the creation of a central committee and Local Committees in the United States.
5. To centralize and expend all funds collected.
6. To build up and organize the American House and fulfil all duties connected with it until such time as an efficient Committee for the administration of the House shall have been formed.
7. To consider how far and under what conditions any of the facilities of the House may be extended to women.

C. GENERAL ORGANIZATION. The Acting Committee to constitute a small fund to cover running expenses during the period of study and propaganda.

An appeal to be made by means of this general statement and personal action: First, to the leading American Educational Institutions. Secondly, to all Americans likely to take interest in the scheme. Thirdly, to the Press in order to widely disseminate a knowledge of the nature and ends of the Foundation. Fourthly, to authors, editors, publishers and the public, for gifts of works of reference and books bearing specially on French and American history, literature, art and science.

In order to make more evident the utility of the foundation, and to meet present needs it would seem advisable to proceed as soon as possible to the opening of an information bureau and such parts of the American House as could rapidly be organized on a small and inexpensive scale.

My dear Mr. President:

I have the honor to inform you that the French Government, through the French Ministry of Education, has undertaken to cooperate with the American University Union in an endeavor to establish an American University Union in Paris, on similar lines to the American University Union in the United States. The French Government has appropriated funds for this purpose, and the American University Union has been invited to take part in the enterprise.

My dear Sir:

I am writing to introduce to you Mr. M. J. GREBER, a member of the Committee on plans for a "Cité Universitaire" at Paris, and given by the Minister of Public Instruction a mission to the United States "to examine with the President of the American University Union and the Presidents of the American Universities" the means for carrying out this plan.

I have the honor to remain, Mr. President,

H. P. Judson, Esq.
President,
University of Chicago,
Chicago, Ill:

My dear Mr. President:

I have been sent over by the French Ministry of Education to study the possibility of the co-operation of the American Universities to the erection of dormitories and student's club for the students of the University of Paris on grounds especially appropriated by the French Government for that purpose.

Professor Paul Van Dyke gave me the enclosed letter of introduction to you and I would have been very glad to go to Chicago to meet you if my stay in this country had not been too short to permit me to do so. Consequently I must limit my visits of the American Universities to the Eastern cities and I must go back to France the 25th of this month.

If you should have the opportunity of coming to New York before that date I would be delighted to see you then. I have had several conferences here with Professor Cunliffe and Professor Duggan so as to create a special committee of the American University Union to make a complete survey of the question and to communicate with your Paris Executive Committee. The principal end of my present trip is to see different organizations of dormitories and student's clubs, and I would appreciate very much if you could have plans and literature sent to me regarding the Chicago dormitory system. I know that generally the universities have booklets showing the plans of the dormitories and the students buildings, and I hope that it will be possible for you to give me such documentation.

I beg to enclose also a copy of a letter by which the minister appointed me to this study.

With many thanks in advance for your kind attention to this matter, pray believe me

Dear President:

I have been asked by the French Ministry of Education to report the possibilities of the cooperation of the American universities to the study of the University of France, and that of the French universities to the universities of America.

Your Excellency, I have the honor to present this information to you, with the hope that it may be of service to you.

I have heard of your interest in the study of science, and I believe that this study could be extended to the study of arts and letters.

I would be grateful if you could tell me how I can contribute to this cooperation.

I am looking forward to hearing from you.

My dear President Jordan,

I am today giving a letter of introduction, by me to Mr. Creber, the Ministry of Public Instruction in America, to discuss with the President of the American University Union and the Presidents of the American Universities the new plan of the University of Paris for a "Cité Universtaire," started by a donation of 10,000,000 of francs by Mr. Delcassé de la Fromont. The proposition is that the different nations having students at Paris should build colleges in this Cité. Mr. Adams and I have drawn up a careful report on the pros and cons of this place, which we hope will lay before the Board of Trustees the elements of Judy ment. Don't hesitate to send this report by this same mail to our Secretary, Prof. Caniff.

This matter coming to head yesterday in the midst of our busiest dawn, has rather overwhelmed us in efforts to catch the mail. It is late and I have sent both our secretaries

MEMORANDUM REGARDING THE PLAN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PARIS TO CONSTRUCT A SERIES OF DORMITORIES FOR FRENCH AND FOREIGN STUDENTS TO BE CALLED THE "CITÉ UNIVERSITAIRE"

THE PLAN

On October 26th, the Director and assistant Director of the Union, at the invitation of M. Appell, Rector of the University of Paris, attended a meeting of the Commission charged with considering a plan for the construction on a large plot of land on the site of the present fortifications, of a series of dormitories for French and foreign students.

Monsieur Deutsch de la Meurthe has given ten million francs to construct the French building or buildings designed to house 350 men and women students. The French Government has given the University of Paris a plot of land worth 14,000,000 francs.

The University of Paris is ready to assign plots of land within the Cité Universitaire to such foreign nations or societies as wish at their own expense to construct dormitories for students of the nations to which they belong.

This plan will shortly be brought to the attention of American educators likely to be interested. Monsieur Greber, who, on the MEMORANDUM REGARDING THE PLAN OF THE UNIVERSITY

OF PARIS TO CONSTRUCT A SERIES OF DOMESTIC RESIDENCES FOR FRENCH AND FOREIGN STUDENTS TO BE CALLED

"THE "VIEUX UNIVERSITAIRE"

THE PLAN

On October 28th, the President and Executive Director of the University, the President of the University of "Vieille" University, and the President of the Commission, met with the officers of the Paris government to plan the construction of a large block of land on the site of the present "Vieille Universitaire," to accommodate French and foreign students.

Monetary expenses for the purchase of land were given ten million francs to construct the "Vieille Universitaire." The Foreign Government has given the University of Paris a block of land worth 100,000 francs.

The University of Paris is ready to select a location for a new campus within the "Vieille Universitaire" to expand its facilities and accommodate the increased student population.

This plan will be carried out under the supervision of the French Government, who, on the occasion of the Council of the University, to be interested in the part of the French Ministry of Public instruction, will be accredited to the American University Union in America, and to various American College Presidents, sails for the United States on October 29th, on the boat which should carry this letter.

The Director and Assistant Director do not wish here to express any personal opinion, but to present briefly certain considerations pro and con.

ADVANTAGES.

The plan for the Cité Universitaire has alluring features, apparent at a glance, and which need not be enlarged upon.

It will promptly afford such American students as wish to live in it comfortable rooms, baths, and tennis courts, etc., at a modest figure.

As regards the housing problem, we should here say that the Union has, roughly speaking, solved this problem for Americans. All students who ask the help of the Union can find tolerable quarters. Scores of students have been placed to their satisfaction in French families, and many other scores of students have, with the aid of the Union satisfactorily settled themselves in pensions.

The housing problem which thus does not exist—certainly not in any acute form—for Americans, may still remain a problem for students of nationalities which have no organization to look after them.

Such a grouping would hardly seem the likeliest way to plunge our students into a French atmosphere, and to bring them into daily and close contact with the French language and French ways of life and thought.

DATE OF REALIZATION OF THE CITÉ PLAN.

It is the desire of the University of Paris to begin leveling the fortifications not later than the spring of 1922. There are, however, at present points still to be adjusted between the University of Paris and the City of Paris which may cause delays, and speed is not the distinctive characteristics of French ministries and bureaux.

What is more, we do not know that any nation except the French, and perhaps the Canadians, have any definite plans for building. It may well be many years before the Cité as planned comes near realization. The fact that 15 years are to be allowed by the University of Paris for each nation to raise the funds and build indicates that rapid realization is not expected.
Such a programme would certainly seem the Healthiest way to place our students into a French environment and to provide them into daily and close contact with the French language and French way of life and thought.

DATE OF REALIZATION OF THE CITY PLAN

It is the pleasure of the University of Paris to begin immediately the construction of the new Law School to be situated between the University of Paris and the City of Paris which may come to leave a long and clear in the Administrative Organization of France ministries and agencies.

What is more we do not know that any action except the listing and perhaps the canvassing have any definite plans for the University of Paris to have any action to raise the funds and public initiative for raising realization at least expected.

DANGEROUS POINTS IN THE CÎTE PLAN.

In case any American individual or institution considers taking up the project of the Cité Universitaire, certain questions should be clearly settled in advance:

1. Is the Cité Universitaire to be open only to students at French institutions of higher education? If so, will it be open only to students of French State (Federal Government controlled) institutions? If limited to such institutions, students of such important establishments as the Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques (much frequented by Americans), the Institut Catholique, and many others, which are not state schools, would be excluded.

2. Would art students, often not graduates of colleges, be admitted?

3. Women students cannot be neglected. Would it not, of course, be necessary, if the Cité plan were to be adopted, to erect one dormitory for men, one for women? American co-educational institutions would have to keep this situation in mind. The proposed plan of the International Federation of University Women for a Women Students residence club in the rue de Chevreuse, Paris, should be remembered in this connection.

4. If a dormitory were built, would Americans be willing to dwell in it in the midst of non-French foreigners, and far from the University, libraries, laboratories, ateliers, the life of the Latin Quarter and the City of Paris in general?
DANGER POINTS IN THE CITY PLAN

In case any American individual or institution considers taking up the project of the City University, certain questions should be clearly settled in advance:

1. Is the City University to be open only to citizens of France?

The establishment of higher education only to students of French State (Federal Government controlled) institutions. If limited to such institutions, education of such important establishments as the Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques (now renamed as American) and the Institute Catholique, and many others, which are not state schools, would be excluded.

2. Would art students often be graduates of colleges?

If art students cannot be neglected, women to vote?

Of course, be necessary, if the City plans were to be adopted, to accept one contribution for men and women, for American education.

The position of the University Federation of Universal Women for a program of educational opportunities for universal women for a woman's education, which is true for the de genereuse, female, spanning.

be remembered in the connection.

A contribution will fulfill Americanism be willing to contribute if in the writer of non-scholarly publications, and let the University's interest, important, support the life of the Latin Quarter and the City of Paris in general.
We believe the above statement presents the obvious advantages of the Cité plan, and certain complications and disadvantages which must arise in considering it.

_BEARING OF THE CITÉ PLAN ON THE UNION._

If dormitories for Americans are built on the fortifications, far from the Sorbonne and other institutions of learning, it is certain that the demands on the Union as a workshop and study will at once become heavier, for students who formerly lived near the Sorbonne and could return to their rooms between lectures to work will fall back increasingly upon the facilities offered by the Union.

As a clearing-house and bureau of information, in its function of adviser in academic and other student problems, as a center for reunions, and lectures, as a meeting-place for French and American students, professors, as a liaison agent between French and American universities, the Union, on account of its central situation and for other reasons, will, in the event of the building of a dormitory in the Cité Universitaire, have the same calls upon it, and will fulfill just the same functions as before.

Respectfully submitted,

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE BOARD.

Gentlemen,

Monsieur Greber who has been visiting this country in the interests of the proposed Cité Universitaire at Paris submits the enclosed interim report. He requests that consideration of the scheme be deferred until he has had time to confer with the authorities in Paris, to whom he will present the results of his enquiries here with a view to the revision of the scheme as originally presented. I have had two or three interviews with him, and he has also seen President Butler, President Hibben, President Lowell, Mr. Thompson, Professor Nettleton and Dr. Duggan. He proposes to return to New York in the spring, and it is hoped that he will be able to attend the May meeting of the Union Board of Trustees, so as to present the revised scheme in person. There seems to be no necessity for immediate action.

Yours faithfully,

J.W. CUNLIFFE
PROGRAM OF THE PROPOSED
"CITE UNIVERSITAIRE DE PARIS"

The French Government represented by the Recteur of the University of Paris has appropriated 72,500 acres of ground for the creation of a group of dormitories for the students of the University of Paris and other government and assimilated schools of the metropolis.

The grounds are located on the former fortifications of Paris between the Porte d'Orleans, Porte de Gentilly at the South of Parc de Montsouris. There are several direct connections with the different schools of the University by street cars and buses and also a station of the Paris Subway and a station of the railroad Luxembourg-Seeaux at the grounds. The distance from the grounds to the school district is about a mile.

First:-- Of these grounds, twenty-two and a half acres (blue area) will be used for building purposes; (a) the dormitories with study rooms, bath and showers, distributed in separate pavilions of varied size and height, erected in planted grounds. (b) the general services such as restaurants, recreation rooms, library, lecture rooms, administration building, etc. to be built on the same grounds and directly connected with the playgrounds and athletic fields described hereafter.

Second:-- A total area of about fifty acres (yellow space) corresponding to the military zone or zone non Aedificandi is proposed to be occupied by a part which will include a few low buildings such as covered swimming pools, tennis courts and other shelters or structures necessary only for the use and the maintenance of the park and playgrounds.
These grounds will be the property of the Cité Universitaire for the private recreation of the students.

The railroad line from Luxembourg Station to Sceaux crosses the grounds and divides them into two parts of 56 and 16.5 respectively, the first one being reserved to the men's group and the other to the ladies group. Of the latter 6.75 acres will be occupied by buildings and planted courts and 9.75 acres by the ladies private park.

The ladies will be admitted to the general services and to the playgrounds of the men's group at certain hours which will be fixed later in the details.

The total acreage for building purposes has been acquired by the French Government for the University of Paris from the City of Paris for the sum of francs 13,500,000 with the obligation for the city of delivering the grounds levelled and ready for building including street work. The University of Paris will take care of all building operations and upkeep of the properties of the Cité Universitaire. The renting of the rooms including privilege of the use of the general services will be operated under the control of the University of Paris by a Société Immobilière created on the co-operative plan.

A gift of francs 10,000,000 made by Monsieur Deutsch de la Meurthe provides for construction and upkeep of 350 students rooms, including servants or 400 persons altogether. It is calculated that this number of population may occupy about 3.6 acres and that the balance 13.7 acres may accommodate about 2,000 additional people, after deduction of the area
by the general

Should this mean

of about 15 acres.

It was origin

groups of dormitories f
by the general services.

Should this number be insufficient, two other addition-plots or a total of 12.5 acres could be appropriated to give room for another 1,500 people, with an extension of the park
of about 15 acres.

It was originally proposed to build the different groups of dormitories for French and foreign students separately, each nation having its special group, and the appropriation of ground necessary for each different group would have been made under a separate agreement between the University of Paris and the representative of each of said nations. But this was entirely opposed to the ideal of a Cite Universitaire where all students must live together, the foreign students coming to Paris to profit to the utmost of French life. Consequently it seems more advisable to organize the Cite Universitaire on the co-operative plan divided in as many shares as rooms wanted by each group of students, with the understanding that the value of the share would include construction of rooms, general services, layout and upkeep of park and playgrounds.

The direction of the co-operative society would be controlled by the different groups of students in proportion to the number of shares owned by each of them.

These studies will be prepared immediately and a definite agreement could be reached while the City of Paris is preparing the grounds, i.e. before the first of January, 1923.

The conclusion of this short note is that a joint committee could be created here which would include representatives of the American University Union, the Institute of Intern-tional Education and the American Council on Education, and act as Advisory Committee for the further study of the programme of the Cité Universitaire. This Committee would communicate with the Paris Executive Committee of the A.U.U.

I would propose as technical adviser to represent me here in that committee Professor Paul Cret of the University of Pennsylvania who is a well known French Architect and is already technical adviser of several universities in this country.

On my return to Paris I will act similarly with the Executive Committee of the A.U.U. as being appointed on the Technical Commission of the University of Paris for the preparation of the plans of the Cité Universitaire.

Jacques Greber,

Dear President Judson:

After conference with representatives of several universities and with officials at Washington, it has been decided to call a meeting to consider the organization of an American University Union in Paris to meet the needs of our undergraduates and graduates during the period of the war. The meeting - to which you are invited to send a delegate - will be held at the University Club, New York, next Friday, July 6th, at 5 P.M.

The plan for the union has developed out of the decision of the Yale Corporation about a month ago to establish a Yale Bureau in Paris. The number of inquiries regarding it, the offers from other colleges to co-operate, and the special interest of the officials of the Red Cross and of other governmental agencies, soon led us to see that the plan should not be confined to any single American university. This opinion was confirmed by the action of the American college men in Paris, who on June 17th sent the following cable to the undersigned:

"Meeting representatives eight universities proposed union provide headquarters Paris all American college men. Does Yale prefer independent headquarters or should our Alumni Association enter union?"

To this the following reply was sent:

"Approve Yale uniting in headquarters with other colleges, but desire therein separate accommodations for Professor Nettleton, University's representative. Urge postponement detailed plans until I cable next week after Washington conference, arranged before receiving cable at request Red Cross and other universities."

In the meantime Professor Nettleton, who had been appointed the head of the Yale Bureau, has been in conference with officials in Washington and various other agencies, all of whom heartily favor the idea of the Union and believe that some organization of representatives from American collegiate institutions should be formed to secure its prompt establishment.

A cable received on June 28th, reading as follows, shows that the various alumni associations in Paris can be counted upon for hearty co-operation:

My dear Dr. Judson:—

I do not doubt that you are thoroughly well aware of the work for college men in service abroad which has been started by the American universities under the name of "The American University Union in Europe".

According to the latest advices received from America, about thirty colleges have joined this movement and, as the name of Chicago does not appear on that list, I thought I would drop you a few lines regarding the movement.

The American colleges and universities which have joined this movement have appointed nine Trustees consisting of:

- Secretary Stokes, Yale University (Chairman)
- President Goodnow, Johns Hopkins University
- President Finley, University of the State of New York
- President Hutchins, University of Michigan (Vice Chairman)
- President Graham, University of North Carolina
- Trustee Henry B. Thompson, Princeton University (Treasurer)
- John Sherman Hoyt, Columbia University
- Secretary Pierce, Harvard University (Secretary)
- Dwight Morrow, Amherst University.

The Red Cross is officially represented by Mr. Morrow.
The Y.M.C.A. by Mr. Hoyt
The University Club of New York by President Finley.

These Trustees have appointed as Executive Committee
Dr. van Dyke of Princeton, Prof. Nettleton of Yale, Prof.
Vibbert of Michigan, Mr. Hyde of Harvard and myself.

There is also an Advisory Committee consisting of representatives from the resident Paris Alumni of the different colleges.

The Executive Committee is establishing an American University Club where men coming back from the front can have the comforts and the homelike atmosphere of an American Club, where they can meet men with kindred interests and where they will be less exposed to the temptations of a great city.

At the same time many of the larger colleges will maintain offices or bureaus in charge of men representing their own college, whose duty will be to keep track of all men, to be of any service it possibly can be to them, either

My dear Mr. Jefferson:

I do not hope that you are thoroughly well aware of the work for colleges now in progress even although you have seen part of the statement by the American University Union in France.

According to the recent actions taken by the American University Union in France, American students and faculty members have joined this movement and, in consequence, several American colleges are either not expected or not interested in the movement. I think it would be to the advantage of American education and university students if we join this movement and support the American University Union.

The American University Union has been formed to support the American University of the United States, the American University of France, and the American University of Germany. The Union is composed of faculty members of American universities, and its purpose is to promote the interests of American students abroad.

The American University Union has taken a number of actions to support the movement, including the publication of a statement and the organization of lectures and discussions. I believe that we should join this movement and support the American University Union in order to promote the interests of American students abroad.

The American University Union has also taken a number of actions to support the movement, including the publication of a statement and the organization of lectures and discussions. I believe that we should join this movement and support the American University Union in order to promote the interests of American students abroad.

The American University Union has also taken a number of actions to support the movement, including the publication of a statement and the organization of lectures and discussions. I believe that we should join this movement and support the American University Union in order to promote the interests of American students abroad.
When they are at the front or in Paris, to look out after them when ill and to be the means of communication with their parents at any time.

Our experience already has shown us the desirability of this movement and that we are doing something which cannot be done either by the Red Cross or the Y.M.C.A.

As I said before, I do not doubt that you know all about this movement but perhaps a word from an old Chicago man who is right on the spot and who is engaged in this field of usefulness will be of interest to you and those whom you represent.

I sincerely trust that not only will Chicago join in the movement but that it will establish a bureau in Paris to look after the interests of its own men; and lest you have the idea that I might be a candidate for such a position, let me say that as I am Assistant Director of the Union I cannot, in accordance with the Constitution, officially represent any college.

Mr. Anson Philips Stokes of Yale University is the Chairman of the Board of Trustees and will be able to give you further information.

Please accept the very kindest regards and warmest wishes from one of the early students of the University.

My dear Mr. Parker:

The University of Chicago is one of the members of the American University Union in Europe. The Paris headquarters of the Union are at the Royal Palace Hotel. The Assistant Director in Paris is Mr. Van Rensselaer Lansingh, a graduate of our Colleges in 1896. He has written me, suggesting that we have a bureau for the University of Chicago in connection with the Union, a thing which I believe several institutions have already done. I am wondering whether you would have time to drop in and look the matter over, and make a suggestion as to the advisability of establishing such bureau, and also as to what would be involved, financially and otherwise. We ought to have one of our alumni if possible in charge of it, and Lansingh writes that his duties are such that he could not do that. Leslie would be the ideal person to undertake it if it is in any way practicable.

I hope that you find your work interesting, as I know it must be absorbing. We are all well here. The University shows a decrease in attendance of only a little over 12%, instead of the 20% which we had estimated.

My dear Mr. Judson:

I have your letter of October 23d. The enclosed pamphlet will, I think, explain to you fully the purpose and significance of the American University Union. I had hoped that Chicago might decide to send over a special representative to establish a bureau in the Union which would interest itself in the graduates of Chicago and of the smaller colleges of the Middle West. At the present moment Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton, Yale and the University of Michigan have their representatives in separate bureaus in our Union headquarters, which is the Royal Palace Hotel, Place du Théâtre-Francais, Paris. Harvard's representative sails on Saturday to establish a similar bureau and the University of Virginia's representative, who will, I hope, also take a special interest in men from other Southern colleges, sails in a couple of weeks. The Union opened last week Saturday with representatives from thirty colleges spending the night there. We believe that it is going to be a most important influence for maintaining morality and keeping up the morale among the American troops.

I have your letter of October 29th. Thank you for your prompt attention to the American University Union.

I would like to explain to you briefly the purpose and significance of the American University Union.

I have read that you might have expressed a special interest in the activities of the University Union and the student associations of the Middle East.

I believe that the American University Union represents a unique feature in the Union which might have interest for you. The University Union, in addition to the Office of Activities and Representation, also has a Council of College Students which meets on a regular basis to conduct a student council and report to the University administration.

I hope that you will find this information of interest.

Dear President Hutchins:

Your favor of the 6th inst. is received. Do I understand that the $30,000 raised are a final sum, or amount simply to provision for the first year, with the probability of subsequent contributions being required? I note that the Trustees wish the "West" to raise $5,000. Counting the west as beginning at Ohio, I note that there are seventeen institutions concerned. It would seem to me that an undertaking to raise one-fifth of the entire sum on the part of the University of Michigan is certainly generous. Dear Mr. Robertson:

Re The American University Union in Europe.

In reply to your letter of the 16th.

Enclosed herewith please find my check payable to Mr. Henry B. Thompson, Treasurer, in the amount of Twenty Five Dollars ($25.00). This, I think, is probably my proper proportion of the amount of $3,000, which I understand The University of Chicago is to contribute toward the budget for the year.

Sincerely yours,

Enclosure.

Dear Mr. Thompson:

I enclose a check for $25.00 which has been given to me by one of our alumni. I have written to a few friends, as you know, for subscriptions for the American University Union in Europe. I have asked them to forward the checks directly to you. In case they come to me, however, I shall promptly send them to you.

Yours very truly,

D. A. Re. -D. Secretary to the President

Dear Mr. Robertson:

At your convenience, would you be good enough to let me know how much money was recently collected through the activity of the President and yourself in reference to the American University Union in Europe?

If you consider it quite consistent, should appreciate your giving me the names and the amount subscribed, so that I may keep my records accordingly. The facts are that I agreed to underwrite $3000.00 for this section and I have already sent them my check for $1000 and thus desire to have the facts so I may handle accordingly.

Yours cordially,

Dear Mr. Swift:

To a list of persons given me by President Judson I sent the following letter:

"The University of Chicago has become an institutional member of the American University Union in Europe, and admirable enterprise described in the enclosed pamphlet. You will note that Harold H. Swift is a trustee representing the University of Chicago. The Union is in need of funds. Will you read the pamphlet and if you decide that, among your many war contributions, you could do something for university men in Europe, will you use the accompanying form, and also let me know so that I may please the other University men Chicago contributors by reporting your assistance."

The list comprised the following names:

- Harry Ford, Detroit, Michigan.
- Bernard L. Johnson, 5422 Ridgewood Court.
- Percy E. Eckhart, 38 South Dearborn Street.
- A. A. Goes, 1940 Kimbark Avenue.
- William Scott Bond, 25 N. Dearborn St.
- Scott Brown, 208 S. La Salle Street.
Replies came from the following:

Arthur A. Goss - check for $10.00 enclosed.
Scott Brown - check for $25.00 enclosed.

These checks were forwarded to Mr. Henry E. Thompson, 320 Broadway, New York City.

Is there anything more that I can do to secure assistance for an institution whose worth has already been recognized by University of Chicago men in service. Doubtless, you have seen printed in the Chicago Magazine the list of those who registered at the Union in Paris.

Yours very truly,

D. A. R. - D. Secretary to the President

Dear Sir:

The American University Union of which your institution is a member has opened the Royal Palace Hotel, corner of the Rue de Richelieu and the Place du Théâtre Français, Paris, as its European headquarters. Representatives from thirty different institutions took rooms there the first night after the headquarters were opened, and a cable received yesterday morning states that the hotel is already over-flowing with American college men and that additional accommodations are necessary.

The Director of the Union requests that you send to him the following publications:

1. A copy of your latest directory of living graduates and non-graduates.

2. A copy of last year’s university or college catalogue.

3. A copy of this year’s catalogue when published.

4. Any lists that you may have printed giving the names of your graduates, non-graduates, and students in war service.

I enclose mailing labels herewith, and assure you that your cooperation in this matter, which is in the interest of all concerned, will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Dear President Judson:

I return herewith Senator Parker's letter, which I had great pleasure in reading and of which I am taking the liberty of keeping a copy.

Referring to the matter of raising funds for the American University Union in Europe: It seems to me the following alumni might be approached on this subject:

✓ Harry Ford, Detroit, Michigan
✓ Bernard L. Johnson, 5422 Ridgewood Court
✓ Percy B. Eckhart, 38 South Dearborn St.
✓ A. A. Goes, 4940 Kimbark Avenue
✓ Horace B. Horton, Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, 105th & Throop Sts., Chicago.
✓ William Scott Bond, 25 No. Dearborn Street.
✓ Scott Brown, 208 South LaSalle Street.

Yours cordially,

H. N. Swift
