Dr. Wm. R. Harper,

Dear Sir:

When I spoke to you saying that the Maroon bills were all paid, it was without thinking of the fact that three issues printed by the University Press.

After the suspension, we practically started anew, and I had fallen into the habit of considering the life of the Maroon only from that time.

I saw Director Miller shortly after, and told him that if the paper failed that I would be responsible for the payment, although I could not pay it before July.

I regret my misstatement and hope that you did not think I made it intentionally.

Yours obediently,

Earl D. Howard

Prez. W. R. Harris,

29n Feb: As promised, I submit a statement of the financial condition of the Maroon.

I am anxious to continue the paper but the chances of a loss during the summer are so great that I am afraid of getting into difficulties if I attempt it unaided.

I will call at your office tomorrow.

of the financial condition and prospects of

THE DAILY MAROON.

The first issue of the Maroon appeared May 7th. The first, second, and third issues were printed by the University Press at an average cost of $26.20 per issue. In consequence of an unfortunate article which was published in the second number, the committee appointed by the Board of Student Organizations to supervise the paper advised its suspension. The article in question had been written by the News Editor. Later, the Committee advised us to call a meeting of the editors and Staff with a view to reorganization. This I, who was responsible for the finances of the paper, was reluctant to do until the enthusiasm of the Staff induced me to concur in a petition for permission to renew publication. This permission was granted on condition that a new Board of Editors be elected. Accordingly, Mr. Cha-lin, the News Editor, was succeeded by Mr. Young. I tried to interest several others in the business management but was not successful. The resignation of Mr. Cleveland, the advertising manager, to take a similar position on the "Interior" was responsible for the poor showing during the last two weeks. Up to the present time, twentyfour numbers have been issued at an average cost of $16.63. The following is a financial statement to date:

Cost of publishing Nos. 1 to 24, $399.31
Expenses of circulation, stationary, etc. 60.80
Total expense $460.11
Income from subscriptions, $66.60

Total income $133.05

Total deficit for the Spring Quarter, $327.31

The principal cause of this large deficit may be traced to the handicap placed on us by the suspension; those who would have given us yearly subscriptions were deterred by the uncertainty of our continuance; and advertisers were led to believe that the paper was without standing in the University.

Another cause was the season of the year. Nearly all advertising contracts are placed before May 1st. The unscrupulous methods of the Weekly have made it hard for us to approach many advertisers. They look with distrust on any University enterprise.

These disabilities will prevail during the summer quarter and in face of the already large amount sunk in the Maroon, I do not care to take the chance of a large loss during the summer.

If it would be of advantage to the University to have the Maroon continue, an arrangement might be made as was suggested by members of the Board of Student Organization when the Maroon resumed publication, by which the University would pay for a certain amount of space to be used either for advertising the official publications or for making official announcements.

Four or five members of the Board of last quarter have announced that they would return for summer work and resume their places on the Maroon and we will undoubtedly be able to fill out our number with summer students and regular students who have not hitherto done any of the work.

Dr. W. R. Harper, President,

The University of Chicago.

My dear Dr. Harper:

In behalf of the men who have been active in getting the movement for a daily under way, and in behalf of the student body generally, I wish to express our thanks and appreciation for your action in attending the meeting this morning, and for your expression of sentiments.

I am fully convinced that the fellows will keep their pledges to spend their best efforts in this cause, and that the students will give their continued support.

Enclosed you will find the original copy of the resolution as presented and adopted by the students. It is submitted as a matter of record, later, when the Commission provided for is named by the various student organizations, and the constitution is drawn up, we will petition for recognition as a student activity, if that is the proper step to take.

Yours respectfully,

Addendum:
Whereas, We, the students of the University of Chicago, believe that our university has grown to such proportions that the establishment of a daily paper is demanded in order to promote the best interests of the student body as a whole.

Resolved, by the students of the University of Chicago in mass meeting assembled at Kent Theatre, May 15, 1902, that we heartily endorse any feasible plan for the establishment of a student daily, and pledge our support to such an enterprise.

That, in order to place the publication in the hands of an unofficial organization more permanent than the shifting student body, we respectfully request the University of Chicago Alumni Association to purchase The University of Chicago Weekly, and henceforth provide for the business management of a daily newspaper and monthly literary magazine, which shall take the place of the present Weekly, the first issue to be published on Oct. 1, 1902.

That Byron G. Moon, the present owner and business manager of the Weekly, be the first business manager of the combined daily and monthly on terms to be arranged between him and the alumni association, provided the association complies with our request.

That the following students, who have given much time and energy to this movement and who have had experience in editorial work, are hereby authorized to become the first board of editors, with instructions to organize into two boards, one for the daily and one for the monthly, and to conduct the editorial work for one year.

Harry W. Ford, Oliver B. Wyman and Adelbert Stewart, who will be lower seniors; Walker G. McLaury, Charles W. Collins, Frank McNeill, Francis P. Tische and Eli P. Gale, who will be upper seniors; Robert L. Henry, who will be in the Law School;

Dear Sir:

The Daily Maroon is controlled entirely by students under the general rules of the Board of Student Publications. The business management is semi-private; that is to say, a student who had a considerable amount invested in the University of Chicago Weekly, being business manager of the Daily and the Monthly Maroon with the understanding that after he receives an amount sufficient to reimburse him for the capital invested in the previous publication, he should turn the business management of the Maroon over to the students exactly as the editorial. The editorial part had been placed in the hands of students. The nature of the organization of the students is indicated at the head of the editorial column of the paper, a copy of which I enclose.

The Delta Division is continuing its activity.

Any student under the general supervision of the Head of the Student Registration Section should make known to me a student who has a committee whose consent is issued to it in writing to the University of Chicago yearbook. We will certainly be greatly put out and disappointed if Dr. William Rainey Harper, Univ. of Chicago,

Dear Sir:

As long as I can not see you personally, I would like to take this means in bringing before you the matter of the Press' printing the Monthly Maroon.

I have been having the magazine published down town, but owing to the inconvenience of getting the copy down to the printer I would much prefer having the University Press do the work.

Mr. Miller says he is willing to undertake the printing of the Monthly Maroon provided I either pay in advance, put up a deposit, or get some guarantor.

I want him to give me thirty days credit, no more, and will live up to my end of it as I have done with my down town printers. There is hardly a press in Chicago that will not give me thirty days credit and be glad to get the business at that.

I do not feel like asking any one to be my guarantor and am willing to pay up promptly on the Monthly.

Mr. Miller says, that if you say that it will be all right for them to go ahead on the Monthly and give us thirty days credit, he will be glad to publish the Monthly Maroon, and I can assure you the Monthly Maroon will be paid in strict accordance with the understanding, namely, thirty days leeway.

We will certainly be greatly put out and disappointed if we can not get the Press to print the Monthly Maroon, as we have every thing over there for the printers to begin work and would like to get the magazine out within the next week.

Hoping I will have a favorable reply, I remain

Dear Sir:--

The following figures are respectfully called to your attention in support of the verbal request, recently made, that the University, through the Press or some other department, make up the deficit for the first year of The Daily Maroon; that is, for the year from Oct. 1, 1902 to Sept. 3, 1903:--

U. of C. Press bill for printing up to installment of linotype machine April 1, $3565.70

U. of C. Press printing bill April 1 to Sept. 3, 2076.55

Average printing bill per daily issue up to time of new rate with linotype (110 issues) 23.32

Average printing bill per issue from April 1 to Sept. 3 (113 issues) 18.37

Difference in average daily expense for printing between first 110 and second 113 issues 4.95

Total Daily Maroon deficit for the year 750.00

Saving which Daily Maroon would have made had the rate been the same for first 110 issues as for the 113 since linotype in use 554.50

Net portion of deficit not accounted for by this difference of printing rates 195.50

Average daily printing bill of The Yale News during the college year 1901-1902 10.00

Saving which Daily Maroon would have made had Yale News rate been possible — $2412.05

As the situation stands today, ten student editors who worked throughout the year (gratuitously for furthering the interests of a student activity), except for three scholarships, were given to three of them by the business manager who secured the same for value received in advertising, one alumnus, and the business manager are pledged to the student-body to pay this sum of $750.00, the deficit for the year.

The figures herewith submitted, however, seem to the student-editors sufficient proof that at least $554.50 of the deficit, resulted from the high rate printing before the linotype was installed.

Furthermore, it seems evident that the average rate for the year was higher than The Daily Maroon can expect to pay and live as a self-supporting student activity. There are several reasons why it seems to us, the University, through the Press, or otherwise should, if possible, make up not only the $554.50 but also the remaining $200.00 of the deficit.

In the first place, it is remembered that the President assured us, at the time the Press undertook the printing of The Daily Maroon, that the work would be done "at cost". On the statement of the director of the Press, himself, the work has not been done "at cost". In making this statement we are xxx taking into account a recollection of the President's suggestion last fall that "at cost" for the Press grade of composition and printing would not be the same as "at cost" in a cheap job office. But the director of the Press told me explicitly during the year that in charging "cost" rates to The Daily Maroon he included a charge for rent, interest, and as he put it, "a reasonable amount of profit on the job". It appears to us that it would have been impossible for The Press to give us the printing "at cost" and still to include a charge for "a reasonable amount of profit".

In this connection it should be pointed out that none of the student business managers or editors connected with the paper have secured any profits. Mr. Moon, the business manager responsible to the student body for the first year, according to the resolution adopted in a mass meeting June 1902, has received a commission on the gross business of the year as his salary and as salary for his advertising solicitors. This salary was fully earned by him in service as business manager. Furthermore, it should be called to your attention that Mr. Moon, has, as a result of the deficit, received no remuneration for sacrificing his interest in the old University Weekly, suspended on the sanction of the student-body for establishing The Daily Maroon. In these preliminary negotiations for the establishment of The Daily Maroon, the President constantly pointed out that Mr. Moon, as the owner of the Weekly, must be treated justly. The necessity of doing justice to Mr. Moon was urged with reason, as it appeared to the students promoting the Daily Maroon, notwithstanding the fact that the student-body should own its publications and should not have permitted private ownership to grow up.

But one of the most cogent reasons why the University, through the Press or otherwise, should make up the entire deficit, it seems to us, is that the expense of printing was so much greater than that of other university student dailies. This fact is shown in a striking manner by the above figures comparing the actual Daily Maroon printing bills with the estimated bills as they would have been at the rate of printing charged the Yale News. It must be admitted that the typographical work on The Daily Maroon, by the Press, is far superior to that of the Yale News or of any other college paper. The Daily Maroon has been willing to pay some excess over an average charge for cheap newspaper printing; but has found it a business impossibility to pay the bills as charged. The paper was printed at the Press because it was don every hand that both the University and the university daily would gain in prestige by having it come from The University of Chicago Press; and because it is necessary to have the printing of the paper done as near as possible to the editorial office, which must be on the Quadrangles.

The general argument of advantage to the University as a whole in having the daily established suggests itself.

The reason why the business of The Maroon should be straightened out at the end of the year is that the men on the board of editors— the first board sanctioned in the mass meeting and the successive boards chosen in competition open to the entire student body— are jointly responsible with the business manager in case of a deficit during their term of office, which is one year. Hence a new set of men are res-sponsible for the current year; and if the University cannot make up the deficit, the editors and business manager for the first year must do so at once.

The University need not fear that in covering the first year's deficit a dangerous precedent would be established. Now that the paper is established and has a clientele of advertisers and subscribers, it is assured that in the future it will pay for itself.
The Faculty and Academic Council

Committee on Examinations and Grading Standards

Chairman: Professor John Smith

The Committee on Examinations and Grading Standards has been established to ensure that academic examinations are conducted fairly and consistently. The committee comprises representatives from various academic departments and is responsible for the development and review of examination policies and procedures.

The Committee oversees the following:

1. The development and revision of examination policies and procedures.
2. The review of examination results and the handling of appeals.
3. The implementation of academic integrity policies.
4. The coordination of examination schedules and arrangements.

The committee meets regularly to discuss and make recommendations on matters related to examinations. It also conducts regular reviews of examination procedures to ensure they are effective and fair.

Any member of the academic community is encouraged to contact the committee if they have concerns or suggestions regarding examination procedures or policies.
In accordance with the suggestion that this matter be laid before Dr. T. W. Goodspeed, a duplicate copy of this statement has been sent to him, supplementing an oral statement of the case.

In view of the fact that an early settlement of the bills pending on account of the deficit is desirable, we trust that this petition may receive early attention.

Respectfully submitted,

Herbert E. Fleming
Managing Editor for year 1902-03.
In accordance with the arrangements made for the first portion of the Coombe Park's admission, a special order of the Department has been sent to the management, and it is understood that all visits of the season will be made.

In view of the fact that no delay will be involved in the delivery of the special order of the Secretary, the trustees have decided not to rescind any exception resubmitted.
Mr. Herbert E. Fleming,

The Daily Maroon.

My dear Mr. Fleming:

Your letter of October 28th was duly received and has been given full consideration. I am enclosing a letter of Mr. Miller dated November 5th which in general expresses my own opinion. I do not think that you have made out a good case. I appreciate the fact that you have had difficulties to labor against. The Press has never wished to do the work and would be glad to-day to be relieved of the work. It was done only as a matter of accommodation. As Mr. Miller indicates, it was done at a great loss to the Press, and is continued at a great loss to the Press. I shall be glad personally to subscribe towards the deficit, but it is a matter in which the University itself can do nothing.

Yours very truly,

W. R. Harper

My dear Mr. Moon:

I have written Mr. Fleming that the University cannot undertake to consider the question of an arrangement with the editors regarding the deficit in the running expenses of last year. I have indicated to him my own willingness to contribute a small subscription if an effort is made to secure the money. I hope that you will get matters straightened out and I am sure that you will find Mr. Miller ready to help you in every way possible.

Yours very truly,
My dear Mr. Monroe,

I have just read the letter you sent and I am very pleased to hear from you. I trust that you are well.

I have not heard from you for some time, and I hope that everything is going well for you.

I am writing to inform you that I have been appointed to a position at the University of Chicago, and I am looking forward to starting there in the near future.

I would like to express my gratitude for your kind words and your encouragement. I hope that we will be able to work together again in the future.

Mr. William Rainey Harper,

Chicago,
Illinois,
My dear Sir:

On account of expenses of the Maroon up to the first of last June, the Editorial Board is indebted to me quite a little money. I also own the office furniture which amounts to about $300.00, and have several other notes against the business end of the paper.

I do not feel that it would cause the proper impression should I ask the Editorial Board to pay me this amount for they certainly worked very diligently upon the Maroon last year.

However, your representative has called upon me regarding payment of my note to the University, and I would like very much to get this in definite form at your earliest convenience, for there is due me in different ways from the Maroon, a much larger amount than I am indebted to the University. On account of the kind of settlement I made with the Editorial Board, I assumed some $1,300 of bills due the Maroon, which were uncollectable, and which were therefore paid out of my own pocket, and because of this and many other considerations to the Maroon, I feel that I have done

TO WILLIAM REYNOLDS

Hello,

I hope this is not too long, but I wanted to mention that you may be interested in the University companions, making any arrangements with the Collège René-Rolland, the College in the University, and the subscription to Faithe Francais. I am working on getting the subscription to Faithe Francais as we are now.

Please let me know if you would be interested in subscribing as well.

I look forward to your response. I am working on getting the subscription to Faithe Francais as we are now.

Very cordially yours,

University of Chicago.—

Dear Sir.—

Your letter of the 10th. has been received and in reply I beg to say that I am doing everything in my power to have the Maroon account with the University Press settled as soon as possible. I paid them today one hundred dollars and will make payments in the future when ever possible.—

The money subscribed to help pay off this debt is coming in slowly but I think it will come in more rapidly in the future as I have recently sent out a letter to the subscribers concerning this and no doubt they will respond.—

Thanking you for the consideration you have shown in this matter, I remain

Yours very truly,

Julien L. Brode.
Dear Sir,

Your letter of the 7th of this year received and in reply I beg to say that I am going everywhere in my power to have the University of Chicago meet with the University Press Society as soon as possible. I have already spoken to one prominent colleague and will more probably in the future write to one or more others. I think it will come to more quickly in the future, and in any case will happen. I am now sending you the conference committee's report, and hope that you have returned to it.

I am very truly, yours

Mr. Frank R. Adams,

The Monthly Maroon.

My dear Mr. Adams——

I have your letter (without date) concerning the difficulty between the editors and the publishers of the Monthly Maroon. I am hoping that by this time the difficulties have been settled. It is a source of great injury to all of us to have such differences arise, and to have these differences discussed in the daily papers. If the differences have not been settled I would suggest as the best plan that you arbitrate them, and that each party select a representative and these two persons to select a third. I am myself greatly concerned that the student publications shall commend themselves in every way to the University at large.

I am sending this same letter to Mr. Flood.

Hoping to hear from both of you that matters are practically settled, I remain

Mr. Frank R. Adams,

The Waldorf Hotel,

Sir,

I have your letter without date (concerning the difficulties between the actors and the proprietors of the Metropolitan). I am sorry that this time the difficulties have been satisfactorily settled. It is a source of great pride to all of us to have such differences arise, and to have these differences disappear in a timely manner. If the difficulties have not been settled I would suggest as the first thing that you write to Mr. Adams to express a third party sense of the importance and value of your position to express a third party sense of the importance and value of your position.

To the President of the University of Chicago
From Frank R. Adams, representing the Monthly Maroon Board.

You have asked for a statement of the position of the Monthly Maroon Board in the controversy which has recently arisen between it and Mr. James D. Flood. Briefly, it is as follows:

By precedent and by every interpretation of the original agreement between the student body and Mr. Moon, it has been definitely established that the editorial board shall have full control of the make-up and style of the literary pages and that the publisher shall control the advertising section.

Early in the autumn quarter the present editorial board met and decided on the style of page for the magazine for the coming year. That page was to consist of two columns, two and a quarter inches wide. I enclose a sample page from the first issue which was published according to the wishes of the board by Mr. J.L. Brodé.

Mr. Flood assumed the publication of the Monthly for December and the board instructed him to have the type set in the same width of column as before. Notwithstanding, Mr. Flood had the type set in a column two and eleven-sixteenths in. wide, the effect of which can be seen in the page marked "December." At that time the board protested but he convinced us that the mistake had been made on account of his ignorance of the business.
THE MONTHLY MAROON

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

To the President of the University of Chicago

Mr. Governor, I have the honor to present the Monthly Maroon Board.

You have asked for a statement of the position of the Monthly Maroon Board in the controversy with the newspaper strike between

Mr. James M. Flood, Editor, as follows:

By proceeding and by every intimation of the original agreement between the Editorial and the Maroon Board may have had the correctness as affirmed that the Editorial Board said to have made contact at the make-up and style of the first issue page and that the two parties respect the Everybody section.

Early in the current paper the President elected point our coming and growth in the style of page to the maintenance for the coming year. That book would to contain of two columns, one with a chapter.

In the style of 12 point type, I propose a sample page from the first issue which was published consisting of the second page of the book by P.L.

It is time for us to recognize the importance of the President for us.

The paper and the point of view of the paper were not for the book in the same order of opinion as were the editorial-statement. The flood and the type set in a column to any decrease in importance. In the attempts to make an additional part to continue to print the same mistake that have been on account of the importance of the one-

The board knew that the magazine was losing money and therefore we allowed the Monthly to be printed but insisted that it must not occur again. For the next two issues the width of column desired by the board was used, though on each issue the number of pages was cut down at the publisher's request in order to lessen expenses.

Up to this time there had been very little friction between the two departments of the magazine. There was a slight disagreement when Mr. Flood insisted that the board elect to its membership a person of his selection who should have absolute control of the style and make-up of the paper. This the board refused to do as membership is supposed to be awarded only on competition.

From this incident, the trouble over the March issue seems to have started. The board delivered the copy for the magazine to Mr. Flood with instructions that it be set as before. The day after taking the copy to the printers Mr. Flood informed me that he had decided not to run the department which we call "Campus Verse" as the printers had lost the copy. I told him that I would furnish him with new copy and did so on the following day. Instead of having this set up he used in his edition a piece of verse which the board had decided not to use and which he had obtained from the author, Mr. E. J. Stevens by representing to him that I had told him to get it.

On Sunday, March 12, I received from the printers the body of the proof. It was set in the width of column condemned by the board. I called up Mr. Flood and asked for an explanation. He said

The Student Magazine
The University of Chicago

The board knew that the magazine was facing money and circulation problems. They were considering the possibility of merging with another magazine, but the decision was far from easy.

The main concern was the potential loss of subscribers and the difficulty in finding a suitable partner. The board was also aware of the financial strain, and they were looking for creative solutions to improve their situation.

The board was not only concerned about the financial aspect, but they were also aware of the importance of maintaining the quality of their publication. They believed that merging could help them achieve economies of scale and improve their overall performance.

In the meantime, the board was exploring various options, including partnerships with other universities or organizations. They were open to any suggestions that could help solve their current problems.

In conclusion, the board was facing a tough decision, and they were determined to find a solution that would benefit both the publication and their readership.

Up to this time there had been very little litigation pe-tween these two departments of the magazine. There was a slight increased awareness among Mc. Doody in terms that the board was to week was concerned with the selection of those who were going to lead the department. A decision on the style of the paper, that the board made, was to be contingent upon the style and format of the paper. This board increased in importance as a department of the university, in connection with its Centralized Offices. The students, who were responsible for the problems and the board's solution. This department was to be followed by the president and the board of trustees.

For instance, the work of the board is not done simply. The board is responsible for the work of the department. They have the authority to appoint the work of the department. They have the power to change the work of the department. They have the power to merge the work of the department.

"Campus Voice" as the administrator for the board. I refer to this group of people who work with the board and are in charge of the CFGE. A piece of work which the board and the department must perform, if they desire to be successful. They must prepare for the problems that face the board. They must be aware of the problems that face the board. They must be prepared to take action if and when the problems become insurmountable. If these people are not prepared to face the problems, they will fail. If these people are prepared to face the problems, they will succeed.
that it was not a mistake but that he had ordered it set that way because he thought it looked better. I told him that the board could not stand for having the same mistake occur twice and that he would have to have it reset. After some consideration, Mr. Flood promised to do this and I gave him the proof without correcting it.

On Wednesday of that week I discovered that the paper was being printed without alteration. I protested to Mr. Flood and asked him to keep his promise to have it reset. He admitted that he had merely made that promise in order to get me to give up the proof. I called a meeting of the board and we decided that in order to protect ourselves we would have to have the contents of the issue copyrighted. This was done and Mr. Flood was notified. He nevertheless issued his magazine.

We have not yet started suit for infringement of copyright because we are in hopes that the matter can be settled without it. The whole trouble has been referred to Mr. Byron C. Moon whom Mr. Flood represents.

Respectfully submitted,

Frank R. Adams
For the Editorial Board.
