Dear Dr. Seiber,

I am writing in your interests, after much thought, to protest the action of the Board against the field museum property. An article with that purpose lately appeared in one of our daily newspapers.

Dr. Seiber, some few weeks ago advised me to sit forth the claims of the properties to Dr. Rockefeller in a letter. Instead I concluded to send a type written appeal to members of the Board also. I send one to you as better able to judge of its merits than others, and as having perhaps, to confer with Judge Chaykun on the subject.

Please give the judge my sincere compliments. I ask him to read the appeal, as addressed to him personally.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. David A. Robertson,
The University of Chicago.

My dear Mr. Robertson:

I am in receipt of a letter from the President authorizing procedure on Dr. Goodspeed's History. Some time ago I sent to him certain lists prepared in the Library. I wonder if you will not be good enough to see that they are returned to this office so that we can keep the material together. May I ask you also to raise the question of the distribution of the 50 copies estimated by the President for official needs? If we could have these lists made up now, the books could go forward promptly, and I think it would be a great advantage. We are preparing a review list which I will have submitted to you in due course.

An estimate of 300 free copies has been made - 189 to libraries and other institutions, 50 for official use, and 30 for Dr. Goodspeed, which leaves 31 for review.

Yours very truly,

Memorandum to President Judson:

I cannot find that the list reviewed by you and Dr. Goodspeed has been used at all by the University Press in sending out free copies of the History. The only ones ordered on behalf of the President seem to have been those which I ordered in accordance with your instructions June 1 - a list which included the members and officers of the Board of Trustees, Mrs. D. G. Hamilton, Mrs. E. M. Barton and, in special bindings, copies for John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., F. T. Gates, and LaVerne Noyes.

On June 5 Dr. Goodspeed sent fifteen copies copies to what seems to have been a personal list. The list submitted to me today has never been sent. I have received from Mr. Newman Miller a list of the free copies sent. I have also received again the typewritten list which has been in your files apparently for some time. I cannot discover that this list was ever sent to the Press. Consequently nobody in the list has received a free copy.

I understand that orders have already been issued to cover the cost of those sent to Mrs. William R.

May I call attention to certain names not included in the list. I have had no discussion with you of the principle followed by yourself and Dr. Goodspeed in making up the lists. I should like to call attention however to these names:

Mr. Wallace Buttrick
Mr. Starr J. Murphy
Mr. Abraham Flexner

Former trustees not otherwise provided for

E. Nelson Blake
Isaac W. McRae
J. W. Midgeley
A. K. Parker
F. W. Peck
Leighton Williams

F. P. Claxton, Commissioner of Education, Washington, D.C.

F. G. Blair, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Springfield, Illinois

Henry S. Pritchett, Carnegie Foundation for the Advance, ment of Teaching, 576 Fifth Avenue, N.Y.
George E. Vincent, President, University of Minnesota
A. Lawrence Lowell, President, Harvard University
F. W. Gunsaulus
Geo. E. Machen
James Bryce
Edwin Earle Sparks
Mrs. C. R. Henderson
Mrs. Charles R. Barnes
Mrs. Paul O. Cairn
Mrs. Nott Flint
Mrs. Joseph Warren
Mrs. Howard Taylor Ricketts
Mrs. R. F. Hoxie
Mrs. Franklin Johnson
Mrs. William Vaughn Moody

I note that the memorandum concerning Morehouse written by Miss Biggins on which also appears in your handwriting the names of Mrs. W. R. Harper and Mrs. James Harper was received at the Press, September 19, 1916. Even if the main list did not get to the Press, they ought to be able to explain why no action was taken on the memorandum concerning these three names.

Memorandum for President Judson:-

I began the reading of Dr. Goodspeed's chapter on "The University and Its Benefactors" with some uncertainty and misgiving, but finished it excited and enthusiastic. My uncertainty was due chiefly to the frank admission of mistakes in early financial management. On page 5 for instance the admission of mistakes in management in the first two years clearly points to President Harper. This would only be emphasized if Dr. Goodspeed were to do what accuracy and justice demand on pages 28 to 30 he should do: call attention to the change of administration. Moreover, on page 10 appears concerning Mr. Rockefeller's relationship to the University the sentence: "He made one effort to call a halt." Those who will be seeking evidence to prove Mr. Rockefeller's undue influence in the policies of the University will seize upon that sentence, even though the main story of the chapter goes entirely against the criticism. On page 15 also occurs the phrase: "under spur of necessity", and on page 23: "He is unspeakably more interested in the tendencies, policies, and character of the management than in any present success however brilliant."

These references to the early consultations with Mr. Rockefeller made me wonder if the chapter should not be submitted to Mr. Gates for his judgment. Although the founder has separated himself from the University, only kindness should appear in any discussion of his relationship to the institution. He might be embarrassed by the publication of his business-like manipulation of the trustees.

It seems to me that the chapter breaks into two parts. If I were writing the book I should entitle one chapter: "The University and Its Founder"; another: chapter: "The University and Its Donors." In this second chapter I should treat the donors apart from Mr. Rockefeller. I should try to avoid making the chapter merely a list of the donors of large amounts. I should try to emphasize some of the smaller gifts which carry some human story with them. For example, the weekly gift of a dollar for the woman's gymnasium which came from an unknown man on the west side; Mr. Reichelt's much larger gift of the books belonging to the old University of Chicago - a gift which I understand was one of the first donations to the new University; the gifts of the classes and other student gifts; Frederick Bartlett's paintings done in memory of his brother; Mr. Shorey's gift of Judge Shorey's books to the library of Hitchcock Hall; the gift of one of the janitors of a large photograph of King Alfred the Great for the club room of Snell Hall; the Cipriani etchings, etc., etc.

Finally, may I suggest that this chapter be not the final chapter in the book? Dr. Goodspeed, of course, is most closely related to the financial foundation of the institution. Nevertheless, the University of Chicago in the public mind is so closely related to large amounts of money that emphasis on the University's use of this money for research or instruction might be better worth emphasizing.

My dear Dr. Goodspeed:

Dr. Buttrick in a visit to me yesterday, expressed surprise that I had not received a complimentary copy of your excellent history of the University of Chicago. He thinks I rendered sufficient service to the University in the early days of its re-establishment to entitle me to a copy. If you are personally the publisher of it and responsible for its financial side, I would not think of asking for a copy; but if it is at all consistent with the policy of the University, and is not likely to result in the University's impoverishment to any appreciable extent, I should be glad to be honored with a copy of the work. Dr. Buttrick speaks in high terms of your labors as editor of the volume.

Memorandum to Mr. Miller

from DONALD DOUGLASS

Oct. 20, 1916

I am handing you with this, the little memorandum from the President's office concerning Dr. Henry L. Morehouse, of New York City. So far as I can find out, the explanation is something as follows:

Miss French reports that something like a month ago you asked her to ascertain if a copy of the History had ever been delivered to Mr. James Harper. Miss French inquired of us in the Sales Dept., and in the Auditor's Office, and found that we had no record of having sent a copy to James Harper. Miss Young states that she never had his name on any of her original lists.

Miss French then in further attempt to find the information you wanted, on her own initiative, called up Miss Latham of the President's Office. Miss Latham reported that from a little slip in her files she inferred that a copy had been sent to Mr. Harper. Then Miss French asked Miss Latham if she might see that slip, and Miss Latham in turn promised to send it over by messenger, upon Miss French's promise to return it to her in the President's Office. It was sent from the President's Office by messenger without comment other than what appears to be an "F" in the upper right hand corner, marked for Miss French. The date it was received by Miss French was the date stamped on the back, September 19.

Evidently, she satisfied herself that this had no immediate bearing on the copy for James Harper and sent it back to Miss Latham, and it would appear as though it has been in Miss Latham's hands ever since, until this morning.

In the meantime, under date of October 11, we have the attached note from Mr. Robertson, sent to our Mr. Marshall, requesting a copy of the History for Dr. Morehouse. That request was sent to us in the Sales Dept. and was filled October 12.

So far as I can see, the offending slip was never sent us in the capacity of a formal order, and the only definite request from the President's Office covering any of the names in question is the letter to Mr. Marshall referred to in the preceding paragraph.

Dear Mr. Robertson:

Herewith I am returning Mr. Newman Miller's material with regard to the History. So far as the fifty copies for official use are concerned, I would make the following suggestions:

Each member of the Board of Trustees and each officer of the Board not a member should have one. That should include one for Mrs. Hamilton and one for Mrs. Barton, making twenty-one for the Board, with the officers. There should be one each for Mr. Heckman, Mr. Dickerson, and Mr. Arnett.

The following should have a copy in special binding: Mr. John D. Rockefeller, one; Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., one; Mr. F. T. Gates, one; Mr. Noyes, one. I will give a subsequent list of donors to whom it will be desirable to send copies.

Dear Mr. Scott:

On receipt of your letter of November 25th with enclosure of Mr. Plimpton's letter of November 14th, and other documents, I took up with Mr. Bean, the manager of our Publication Department, the whole question of the publication of Dr. T. W. Goodspeed's "Story of the University". We decided that it would be best to refer the matter to the Trustee Committee on the Press and this was done today.

As President Burton doubtless knows, the Committee recommended that a sum of money sufficient to finance the volume should be appropriated for the use of the Committee on the Development of the University. This settles all the problems connected with the title in a very satisfactory way, and we shall proceed at once with the manufacture of the book. I return the correspondence that you sent me.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Scott:

On receipt of your letter of November 25th with an accompanying Mr. Pilgrim's letter of November 15th and other notes, waiving the rule of Dr. W. Bean, the manager of our publications, on participation in the Colloquium on the American Joist of the "School of: the University," I am pleased to inform you that the Board of Trustees has agreed to accept your recommendation to this Board of Trustees.

I am now forwarding the Executive Committee's recommendation that a sum of money will suffice to cover the necessary expenses of the Colloquium for the University.

The Colloquium will be held in the University of Chicago at our expense. If we cannot find a satisfactory method of covering the cost of the Colloquium, I believe that the correspondence will be carried on.

Yours sincerely,

My dear President Burton:

I am returning herewith correspondence with respect to the new book entitled "A Story of the University". It appears that the Publication Department has no funds for the plates, but is willing to take 1,000 copies in an attempt to sell them, with the expectation that the proceeds will reimburse the expenses. The problem remaining, then, is to finance the cost of the plates and the additional number of copies desired. There appears to me to be no particular reason for printing 4,000 additional copies unless the Committee on Development has use for them. It seems to me that the purpose the additional copies would serve would be strictly in keeping with the use of the material put out by the Committee on Development, and logically should be a part of its program. If it is considered desirable to proceed with the enterprise, I suggest that the Committee be asked to take it over, with the understanding that if their funds are not adequate, the Board of Trustees will be asked to provide from General Reserve funds for this particular enterprise.

If the Committee on Development does not wish to proceed as indicated above, the alternative seems to be to abandon the enterprise, or to ask the Board of Trustees to provide funds for the purpose of carrying on a supplemental activity. Such appropriation could come only from General Reserve.

Yours very truly,

My dear President Hurowitz:

I am returning herewith correspondence with respect to the new poor student "A" plan of the University. In accordance with the information department and on January 1st the plan to be started, I am willing to submit 500 names to an examination committee with the expectation that the proposed student will participate in the program. The plan is to finance the cost of the tuition and fees throughout the summer or to finance the cost of the program and fees through the fall term.

It seems to me that the purpose of the summer course would be to enable students to take the course of the University but not of the Institute or the certificate program as a part of the program. If it is to be considered necessary to be taken with the insurancce I suggest that the course be held in June, if possible, in order to extend the maximum period to enable those who are not eligible for the course to take the course. If it is to be considered necessary to be taken in the spring term to be taken as an insurance clause, the insurance course to be held and the certificate program to be taken in the spring term as well is subjected to such supplementary and ancillary activities.

Yours very truly,

My dear Dr. Burton:

I return herewith letter dated October 30, from Mr. Bean to you, regarding the proposed revision in abbreviated form of the Goodspeed History of the University.

The Auditor advises that there are no funds in the plate program of the Press for the expenditure of $1,500 required. The Committee on Development is said not to have at the present time any plans for the use of 4,000 copies.

Although I understand the printing department is proceeding with the work, you may wish to consider what should now be done with the book and for the financial support necessary for it, in view of the present attitude of the Committee on Development.

Yours very truly,

Trevor Arnett

I return herewith copy of the 20th October 1934 letter from the University of Chicago:

The letter states that the $200,000 to be used for the purchase of the property at 4127-4131 South Michigan Avenue will be paid by the University. The sum is to be used in the purchase of the property. The letter also states that the University will pay for the cost of the property.

I respectfully suggest that you make the necessary arrangements with the University to have the payment made.

Yours very truly,

Dear President Burton:

You will recall my recommendation to the Administrative Committee in June that the stock of the Official History of the University be carefully safeguarded so as to avoid reissue before we were ready for a new edition, and the further recommendation that we prepare a short history to take its place for distribution in connection with development plans, alumni, and the small general sale.

At that time you instructed Mr. Laing to ask Dr. Goodspeed to make the revision this summer. At Mr. Laing’s suggestion Dr. Goodspeed spent the entire summer reducing it to approximately 25% of its former size, and has now turned over to us the attached manuscript.

We at the Press have had in mind a very attractive volume, and the inclosed suggestion represents Mr. Kittridge’s and Mr. McFarland’s combined recommendations. The volume which they suggest pleases me immensely. I think it is one of the handsomest formats I have ever seen.

My problem now is one of finance. The cost of 1,000 copies will be approximately $2100, and 5,000 copies will cost about $4,000, both figures including $1500 for composition and plates.

What plan for financing the volume do you suggest which will provide copies for all who are interested in the volume, including the Committee on Developments, the Press, and the official distribution to the President’s Office? We do not have in our plate account at the present time funds to take care of the $1500 necessary for composition and plates.

Sincerely yours,

Donald R. Bean
