Dear Sir,

The best expression of the value and importance of the work which this Association accomplished last year is to be found in the fact that the business men at Newcastle, who form the Council Armstrong College, and who sent three scholars for the tour last year, have decided unanimously to send other scholars for the coming summer.

The fact that the information the Bureau has to impart is in constant demand speaks volumes for the utility of our work to the University man or woman, who is anxious to study by practical methods some of the problems presented by various spheres of activity. A copy of the first report is enclosed herewith.

My Committee trust that the evidence of these results will induce you to make efforts to forward the establishment of the Canadian and American Section of the Movement. And we would, in this connection, direct your attention to the proposed work on behalf of Colonial and American Students.

Yours faithfully,

Henry W. Crees

Honorary Secretary.

MAR 15 1911
SUGGESTIONS FOR A SCHEME

INTERNATIONAL INTERCHANGE OF COLLEGE STUDENTS

1. The objects of the scheme are to provide opportunities for as many as possible of the educated youth of England and America, (who it is reasonable to suppose will become leaders in thought, action and civic and national government in the future) to obtain a real insight into the conditions and spirit of the educational institutions, the social life and the thought of their contemporaries, at a period when their own opinions are forming, and with a minimum of inconvenience to their academic work. At the same time, by arranging the periods of eligibility of students systematically, as large a number as possible of men who themselves do not go, may be influenced indirectly through the delegates. The scheme should provide an impetus to those who can afford to go at their own expense, to see the countries for themselves; and should promote interest in international and domestic relations, civic government, and social problems; and tend to produce peace between the Nations, through the best of motives — a mutual sympathy and understanding.

2. For (a) the foundation of a students’ traveling bureau (which might ultimately become self-supporting), (b) the foundation of twenty-eight annual traveling scholarships, and (c) the organization of the scheme, it is roughly estimates that £4,000 or $20,000 would be required annually; and if possible, for each of three consecutive years, in which the experiment can be tried.

INTERNATIONAL INTERROGATION OF COLLEGE STUDENTS

The aim of the scheme is to provide opportunities for as many as possible of the students of Europe and America, how to become leaders in their respective fields and contribute to society.

The scheme will become a model for other countries to follow. It is to be administered by the government of the country, assisted by the United Nations, and financed by international cooperation.

The scheme aims to achieve the following objectives:

1. To provide a platform for students to express their ideas and contribute to society.
2. To encourage international cooperation and promote the exchange of knowledge.
3. To create awareness about the importance of education and the role of students in society.
4. To provide financial support to students from disadvantaged backgrounds.

The scheme will be implemented as follows:

1. The selection process will be conducted by a panel of experts.
2. Students will be selected based on their academic performance, leadership qualities, and contribution to society.
3. Financial support will be provided to selected students to pursue their studies.
4. The scheme will be monitored and evaluated regularly to ensure its effectiveness.

In conclusion, the scheme aims to provide a platform for students to contribute to society and become leaders in their respective fields. It is an important step towards international cooperation and the exchange of knowledge.
3. An American secretary (resident in New York) and an English secretary (resident in London) both of whom should be college men, to be appointed to afford every facility to any students or graduates of any universities, who wish to visit England or America for the purpose of obtaining an insight into the student and national life of the countries. They would provide introductions to representative college men and staff; help visitors to see the various sides and conditions of life in the cities and the country, and generally be of any service possible.

They would keep in touch with representative universities.

4. Two students from each of seven English universities to be enabled to spend two months in America, in order to visit half a dozen of the representative universities as well as to see the life of one representative city at least, during the long vacation.

Two students from each of seven American universities to be enabled to spend two months in England, in order to visit some half-dozen of the representative universities as well as to see the life of one representative city at least, during the long vacation.

The expenses connected with these visits (roughly estimated, to be about £100 or $500 per head), to be defrayed from a fund provided for the purpose.

a. Such students to be nominated by their College authorities; four being so nominated in each case, and from these two to be selected by students' vote.

b. The American delegates to have completed their Junior (3rd) year and not to have begun the Senior year.
An American secretary (recently in New York) may as English secretary

(2) Have completed their second (2nd) year but must not have begun the third (3rd) year, in the case of men taking a three-year course, in order that one year shall remain in which the other men may profit by intercourse and discussion with the delegates on their return, and that an opportunity may be given for improvements to be instituted where possible.

Each delegate must have one year to run at his college after his journey. In universities where courses of two lengths exist, one student should be selected from a long, and one from a short course.

d. Preference to be given to men who have shown interest in their college life and who play some part or display interest in international, national, civic and social problems; these being they who will probably derive most benefit personally, and for their college and nation in after years.

e. Delegates must keep a record of their visit, together with their impressions, for future reference, and for inspection by the committee. (See paragraph 5)

f. Reports should appear in as many university and other magazines and newspapers as possible; and papers should be read before student organizations and discussions should be arranged in debating and other societies of the universities.

g. Secretaries of universities which it is proposed the delegates shall visit, shall be asked to appoint a representative student(s) to meet the visitors and entertain them informally; and to arrange meetings for them with one or two of the staff in an informal way.
h. Facilities will be provided for the visitors to see the poorer districts of London and New York and to inspect the methods obtaining (especially in the latter city, - recreation schools, public schools and the like) for their amelioration.

i. A series of lectures will be arranged dealing with the methods of Government, customs, and typical institutions of each country. These will be held in various universities and possibly other places if more convenient.

j. No student can be elected to the scholarship more than once.

k. Opportunities to be offered for the delegates to see St. Stephens, Westminster or "Washington in England or America respectively, and other places of National interest, including Cathedrals and public buildings.

5. A secretary (one of the above) to be appointed, to organize the scheme with the help of a small committee selected from among the staffs of some of the representative universities concerned. He shall arrange the programmes for the delegates and submit it to the committee on both sides of the Atlantic and do all necessary visiting of the Universities to ensure the success of the scheme. He will also arrange for the exchange of college magazines as far as possible and may arrange for some pecuniary help for this purpose.

6. The two secretaries (par. 3) will be required to act as companions and directors of travel to the visiting students while they are in the respective countries.

My dear Senator Hopkins:—

The University of Chicago is making official arrangements with the University of Rome for the mutual interchange of students and the mutual recognition of the official record of such students. It may lead, we think, to the advantage both countries in inducing students in this way to interchange and to obtain the benefit of the special advantages found for some purposes in Chicago and for other purposes in Rome. Our agent in the matter, Mr. Kennard of Tarrytown, is a gentleman who has long resided in Italy and is the author of many literary works on Italian subjects. It will greatly facilitate his mission if he can have the confidence of our Ambassador at Rome. I am therefore venturing to hope that you will kindly present the enclosed letter to the

Dear Sir,

A little over a year ago you were good enough to consider a suggestion for an International Interchange of Students, which it was my pleasure to lay before Secretary Robertson. Since then no less than eighteen American Universities have consented to take part in the plan if it can be set on foot financially, and among them are Harvard and Yale.

The British side of the plan has also received some attention, and I enclose herewith a reprint of Travel as an Educational Factor, and a copy of a letter which will indicate the progress we are making. You will notice that the list of names already in favour of the plan, here, is a strong one. Under these circumstances (and the details of the scheme have been amended to some extent) do you think it will be possible for you to give us the pleasure of including your University in the list of those in favour of the plan in your Country? Perhaps you will let me know?

Believe me,
Yours faithfully,

Henry W. Ceeb.

Hon. Sec. to the Provisional Committee in Great Britain.
Dear Sir:

A little over a year ago you wrote long enough to convey a sense of interest for an International Institute of Students' Work in the U.S.A. and my pleasure to join the Secretary's Report. I am now on leave from Columbia University and will be free to take part in the plan if it can be set on foot.

Financially, and more from the standpoint of your interest, I enclose herewith a report of the plan and also another of the possibilities of the project. You will notice that the first of these studies in front of the plan here is attached one. Under these circumstances (and the details of the scope) are being considered by the Provost in your University and you will be pleased to know of the progress in your Count’s. Perhaps you will let me know a name for the Provost in your County? Perhaps you will let me know a name for your County. Perhaps you will let me know.

ALL MESSAGES TAKEN BY THIS COMPANY ARE SUBJECT TO THE FOLLOWING TERMS:

To guard against mistakes or delays, the sender of a message should order it REPEATED; that is, telegraphed back to the originating office for comparison. For this, one-half the regular rate is charged in addition. It is agreed between the sender of the following message and this Company, that said Company shall not be liable for mistakes or delays in the transmission or delivery, or for non-delivery of any UNREPEATED message, beyond the amount received for sending the same; nor for mistakes or delays in the transmission or delivery, or for non-delivery of any REPEATED message, beyond fifty times the sum received for sending the same, unless specially insured, nor in any case for delays arising from unavoidable interruption in the working of its lines, or for errors in cipher or obscure messages. And this Company is hereby made the agent of the sender, without liability, to forward any message over the lines of any other Company when necessary to reach its destination.

Correctness in the transmission of a message to any point on the lines of this Company can be insured by contract in writing, stating agreed amount of risk, and payment of premium thereon, at the following rates, in addition to the usual charge for repeated messages, viz, one per cent. for any distance not exceeding 1,000 miles, and two per cent. for any greater distance. No employee of the Company is authorized to vary the foregoing.

No responsibility regarding messages attaches to this Company until the same are presented and accepted at one of its transmitting offices; and if a message is sent to such office by one of the Company's messengers, he acts for that purpose as the agent of the sender.

Messages will be delivered free within the established free delivery limits of the terminal office. For delivery at a greater distance, a special charge will be made to cover the cost of such delivery.

The Company will not be liable for damages or statutory penalties in any case where the claim is not presented in writing within sixty days after the message is filed with the Company for transmission.

Dear President of the General Council of the International Association,

I am writing to express my appreciation for the recent initiative to include a statement on the importance of cooperation and collaboration within the association. The idea of fostering a sense of collective responsibility and duty is commendable.

I believe that this approach will not only strengthen our bonds but also enhance our ability to achieve our common goals. It is essential that we continue to work together, recognizing the unique contributions of each member.

Thank you for considering this perspective. I look forward to your response.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 22d of February was duly received.

In answer to your questions:

1. In order to receive credit for work done in another institution it is necessary that the proper office of the University be furnished with material showing the character and extent of work done in the college in question. Credit is then given according to the standing of the institution concerned.

2. A student to receive a degree here would have to be in residence during the last year preceding the conferring of the degree in question.

3. So far as scholarships are concerned, we have a limited number. Students who come from other institutions would be considered in those cases on the same basis as any other students. We could not set aside a specific number for the benefit of migrating students to March 23, 1914

Dear Sir:

Your letter of the 22d of March was only received.

In answer to your question:

1. In order to receive credit for work done in another institution it is necessary that the proper office of the University be informed with sufficient warning of the completion and extent of the work done in the college in question. Credit is then given according to the amount of the institution concerned.

2. A student to receive a degree must have to be in residence during the last year preceding the conferring of the degree.

In conclusion:

So far as cooperation in connection we have a limited number. Students who come from other institutions may be considered in case of the same place as any other student. We cannot set aside a specific number of the penalty of migrating students to whom you refer unless there should be an arrangement in their interest made by someone who cared to contribute the funds.

4. The migration of undergraduates does not impress us as a thing which on the whole is highly desirable, unless they are preparing for some special lines of graduate study like law or medicine.

The fifth question I can hardly answer to advantage.

The sixth question has been answered in answering the third question.

7. Sociological studies can be carried on with especial advantage in Chicago.

With regard to graduate students I am sending a circular which will give the main facts especially relating to the departments in which graduate work is offered, and as to fellowships and scholarships.

As to the remission of tuition fees the same things must be said here as above in relation to undergraduate students.

Very truly yours,

H. P. Judson

Mr. Henry W. Croes,

when you refer note please supply an arrangement in that interest.

The migration of undergraduates does not improve us as a society, and to make no move to highly connected, unless they are the best. Surely for some special issue of graduate study like law or medicine.

The shift decision I can partly answer to "Methodology".

The shift decision may seem awkward in summarizing the third decision.

My dear Chief:—

Commenting upon the letter of February 22nd, signed by Henry W. Crees, my reaction is that we ought to do anything within our power to be hospitable to students who might come to us from England. I should say, however, just as I have said in reply to a note about a Japanese alliance, that I do not believe we are in a position wisely to curtail the amount of aid we can give to Americans for the sake of encouraging such migration. As to our own side of the exchange, I am very positive in my conviction that it is not desirable to encourage American students to go to England for a part of their undergraduate work. So far as I am able to judge, there are enough temptations to easy going dallying in our American undergraduate life without adding to them by the sort of influence that one would find in the English Universities. Concentration rather than scatteration is the thing we ought to secure by every means possible. I do not think, therefore, that we have anything to gain by a sort of reciprocity that would send delegations of our undergraduates abroad.

I should hardly venture to put my personal opinion in evidence on the questions on page 2 of Mr. Crees' letter. They should be answered by a representation of the different departments of the University so far as they

Dear Sir,

My Committee are desirous of doing what they can to extend the present facilities for the interchange of students for academic work between the Universities of the English speaking world, and eventually between the Universities of the English speaking world and those of other countries.

For our information, I am desired to ask you if you will kindly reply to the following questions. The answers thereto will, it is hoped, enable the Committee to draw up a definite scheme:

A. for Undergraduates
B. for Post Graduates

Section A. Undergraduates.
1. Will your Council be prepared to admit undergraduate Students to your University, and credit them with the work done at the University or University College from which they come, so that on the completion of the number of years work required by your University, they may, subject to the usual test, be admitted to the degree? Thus a man taking engineering, might spend three years in this country and one elsewhere, or vice versa.

2. Assuming that one of your students migrated from your University for one year's undergraduate academic work to another recognised Institution, would you be willing on the satisfactory completion at that Institution of the remaining amount of work required by you for a degree, to admit him to your degree?
Dear Sir,

The Committee on the nature of policy and its relationship to the existing system of educational and other work connected with the universities of the Federation of the British Empire, and any other body or committee of which they may appoint representatives, will approach in good faith the matter of higher education for the sake of its practical results and to the advantage of the countries where they may be established.

To that end, the Committee would welcome any suggestions you may have, which will be carefully considered.

Yours faithfully,

[Signature]

[Address]

P.S. For urgent delivery, please send to the Secretary, International Interchange of Students, Box 123, London.
It will be noted that in the period now covered by a degree course, assuming that it is the same in each University (let us say four years), a student will be able to obtain at least a year's experience at another University than that at which he began his studies, and will be able to obtain two degrees, without devoting more than four years to his academic training.

3. Would your University be willing, in a limited number of cases, (not exceeding ten per annum, for example) to forego the fees of migrating students, in order to encourage the interchange for one or more years work, (a) providing the arrangements can be made reciprocal? (b) otherwise?

It may be pointed out that in connection with the American Scandinavian Society, certain schools, including the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh, have made this concession to Scandinavian Students brought to the United States of America under the auspices of this Society.

4. For the study of what subjects does your Council consider an Undergraduate coming from another country would derive the greatest benefit at your University? Do they agree that, for the purposes of such an interchange, students should be encouraged to go to particular institutions for the study of particular subjects only? This will encourage specialisation by the Universities.

5. Does the prescribed course in such subjects have special reference to the requirements of the neighbourhood or country in which the schools are situated?

6. Have you at your disposal any studentships or scholarships which might be available to students coming from another University to your own for one or more years?

7. What are the subjects (outside those included in the University curriculum) which could be studied with advantage in the neighbourhood (not necessarily immediate) of your University? Such, for example, as the new methods of reform for juvenile criminals used at the National Junior Republic, Maryland, which is near the Johns Hopkins. These methods were studied practically by students under the auspices of this Association. (See Official Reports).

B. Post Graduate Students.

1. In what particular subjects does your University provide special facilities for post graduate work?

2. What research scholarships or other facilities are available to graduates of other Universities? On what conditions?

3. Would it be possible (provided a number of other Universities are willing to offer similar facilities) for your University to remit the fees ordinarily charged, in whole, or in part, to a limited number of students?
The material in this document is not legible.
The ideal which the Association has in view in making these enquiries, apart from the many facilities which it offers to all students travelling to another country for educational purposes, (information, introductions, special travel and hotel rates, and so forth: available alike to professors, lecturers, graduates and undergraduates) is that University men should be encouraged to take a part of their course either during their undergraduate or graduate years, at another University. It is of the greatest importance that they should combine with the visit to the University, a period of practical educational travel, with a view to acquiring some real personal knowledge of life and conditions existing in the country visited, on lines similar to those indicated in the reports of the Long Vacation Tours, to be found in the Official Reports for 1910.

To further these objects, the Committee hope to prepare a scheme which may commend itself to those able to make their development a financial possibility.

I am desired to add that any suggestions from you will be greatly valued. The whole subject may fittingly form a subject for discussion at the Universities Congress in 1912, as far as it affects the Imperial Universities only.

Yours faithfully,

Honorary Secretary.
The trend which the Association sees to view in making space available, either from the many faculties which it offenders, was to subscribe to a number of the county for educational purposes.

If support of information, especially in the area of research and development, the desire to broaden, encourage leadership and to support universities has become apparent. In the University, a role in the area of the University is being discussed. With the view to contributing some work on the ecological balance of life and conditions existing in the community, the University is planning to issue the report in the Autumn Term of 1970.

To further these objectives, the Committee hopes to prepare a scheme which may command the support of the Government and local authorities.

I am grateful to any that may suggest how they might be affected by the changes we anticipate. Some suggestions from outside the University, and the National Union of Students, seem relevant to the work of the University and Government in this area. They are now in the process of being examined.

The Secretary,
University of Chicago,
Chicago, Ill:

Dear Mr. Robertson,

Mr. Sidney Ball, one of the best known of lecturers and tutors of St. John's College, Oxford, is travelling through Canada and the United States. He is very anxious to obtain as accurate an insight as possible into the life and conditions of these countries, and I have ventured to give him a letter of introduction to you, of which the enclosed is a copy.

Mr. Sidney Ball's work in Sociology is widely known, and his activities have probably already attracted your attention.

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,
