INTERNATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS

STOCKTON, SEPT. 13-14
FRESNO, SEPT. 15-16
SACRAMENTO, SEPT. 17-18
SAN FRANCISCO, SEPT. 20

Fresno, Calif., May 12, 1915.

Hon. Harry P. Judson,
President, University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Sir:

The International Irrigation Congress will hold its 22nd Annual Meeting this year in California.
Meeting places and dates have been decided upon as follows:

Stockton  September 13-14
Fresno    "       15-16
Sacramento    "       17-18
San Francisco    "       20.

This plan permits a field study of irrigation conditions and results in California under the most favorable circumstances. Our final session will be held in the magnificent Festival Hall on the Exposition Grounds in San Francisco.

A big theme for this Congress will be the settlement of our vacant lands and the success of the settler and homebuilder. This is of great importance both for the development of our Western states and for the opening of new markets and opportunities for the manufacturer and business man of the East.

Important questions in connection with the conservation and utilization of our water resources are also to be considered and acted upon.

Your suggestions for the greater usefulness of our meetings will be welcomed by our Board of Governors.
We hope your institution will be represented and the Congress will be specially honored by the presence of yourself.

Respectfully,

Arthur Hooker
Secretary.
Chicago, May 31, 1915

Dear Mr. Goode:

I am wondering whether you are going to be in San Francisco at about the time of the meeting of the International Irrigation Congress. I believe that covers the dates September 13th to 20th inclusive. If you are to be in that vicinity perhaps you might be the representative of the University at that Congress.

Very truly yours,

R.P.J. - L.

Mr. J. Paul Goode,
The University of Chicago.
Dear Mr. Gooee:

I am wondering whether you are going to be in New Providence at about the time of the meeting of the International Association of University Professors on September 16th to 20th.

If you are to be in that vicinity perhaps you might be interested in the representation of the University of Chicago.

Very truly yours,

[Signature]

Mr. Gooee.

The University of Chicago.
President Harry Pratt Judson,
Chicago, Ill.

My dear President Judson:

The summer schedule of trains has not yet been issued, so my September itinerary is not definitely made out. The tentative program would have me in San Francisco from about the 11th to the 16th of September. This will overlap three days of the time of the International Irrigation Congress. If I can be of any service as the representative of the University at the Irrigation Congress, I shall be very glad to do so.

Sincerely yours,

JPG. HCH
Chicago, June 4, 1916

Dear Mr. Goode:

Yours of the 2d inst. is received.

I am glad to know that you are to be in San Francisco part of the time for the meeting of the National Irrigation Congress, and will ask you therefore to represent the University on that occasion. I will notify the authorities of that body, and will send you formal credentials.

Very truly yours,

H. P. J. - L.

Mr. J. Paul Goode,

NOTE THE DATES—SEPTEMBER 13-20, 1915

OFFICIAL CALL
To All the World,

Greeting:

The International Irrigation Congress will hold its twenty-second annual meeting in California, U. S. A., in 1915, as follows:

Stockton, September 13, 14
Sacramento, September 17, 18
San Francisco, September 20

The International Irrigation Congress has been in existence for the past twenty-four years. Its original purpose was to arouse public interest to the end of revising and reforming the irrigation legislation of the Western States and of inducing the Federal Government to inaugurate a national policy of arid land reclamation.

The Federal Governments have fully committed themselves to the policy of arid land reclamation, and to the extent of which sound irrigation laws and practices have been established, and important irrigation works have been constructed, the original purpose of the organization has been fulfilled. Therefore, it is proper that this organization now pass on to the more serious consideration of these problems upon the solution of which depends the success of the investor in irrigation enterprises and the happiness and welfare of the settler upon the lands.

Now that irrigation works make the water, to a considerable degree, available, we find a graver problem confronting us in successfully establishing upon the land the family which will remain there and prosper through hard working pioneer labor.

This is one of the many important questions to the solution of which the Irrigation Congress is now devoting its efforts.

Economists point to a close relationship between increase in population, phenomenal growth of cities, and increase of free agricultural lands, advancing in price of all agricultural lands and the present high cost of living. The further growth of the irrigated west depends upon the development and use of its natural agents of production—chiefly its land and water.

We invite the co-operation of all those who have the welfare of our country at heart in considering the solutions for the problems which these conditions have forced upon us. Concerning these matters our public men, nation-formers and home-builders are asked to present their views and offer suggestions before the coming International Irrigation Congress.
PROGRAM

The humanitarian side of land settlement is to receive prominent attention at this Congress. It is important that we know the conditions under which the settler on the land can succeed.

Stockton, September 13-14

"Colonization of Irrigable Land" will be the subject to receive chief consideration at the Stockton meetings. Special attention will also be given to "Reclamation Policies," and "Irrigation Districts."

Fresno, September 15-16

"Irrigation Methods and Results" is the chief topic planned for Fresno. In addition to considering this matter thoroughly, an afternoon has been set aside for two section meetings. One will be on "Problems of Irrigation Engineering" and the other on "Irrigation Laws and Legislation."

Sacramento, September 17-18

At Sacramento the chief topic is to be "Financial Factors Affecting Irrigation." The two section meetings planned for Sacramento are: one on "Rural Credits and Marketing," and the other on "Water, Soils, Crops and Farm Bureau Work."

San Francisco, September 20

September 20th has been named "International Irrigation Congress Day" at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco. The meetings of the Congress there will be held in Festival Hall on the Exposition grounds. This will also be "Governors' Day" at the Irrigation Congress, with addresses by Governors of States and Provinces, and men of national and international reputation.

EXCURSIONS

The Irrigation Congress this year is to be "on wheels." Special rates and daylight trains will be available from city to city, in addition to which a day is to be set aside in each city in which excursions to the surrounding districts are to be held. These excursions will be free to delegates.

FIELD DEMONSTRATION

Rather than a theoretical Congress, it is planned to make this a practical, field demonstration of irrigation possibilities and results in two of the most beautiful irrigated valleys, not only of California, but of the World, where practically all methods of irrigation are to be found in all stages of development —with conspicuously successful results.

After the field demonstrations in the interior valleys, the delegates will visit San Francisco where the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has brought together one of the most elaborate demonstrations of the results of irrigation ever assembled on the face of the globe.

This is a rare opportunity to study agricultural conditions in California, under the most advantageous conditions. You are invited to take advantage of this opportunity.

PERSONNEL OF THE CONGRESS

The personnel of the Congress will include the officers of the Congress; the chief executives of nations, principalities, states and provinces; members of cabinets; members of the chief legislative bodies of nations, states and provinces; officers and members of federal, states and provincial commissions having to do with regulation, conservation and utilization of water; state engineers and state commissioners of agricultural and horticultural; mayors of cities; chairmen of general and special committees; permanent delegates of the Irrigation Congress; and delegates appointed under the provisions of the constitution as follows:

DELEGATES

Fifty delegates appointed by the Governor of each state, province or territory.

Ten delegates appointed by each member of the highest legislative body of any nation.

Five delegates appointed by each member of a state legislature.

Twenty-five delegates appointed by the mayor of each city in which the Congress is to meet.

Ten delegates appointed by the mayor of each city of more than twenty-five thousand population.

Five delegates appointed by the mayor of each city of less than twenty-five thousand population.

Five delegates appointed by the chairman of the governing board of each county.

Five delegates duly accredited from each commercial body and club concerned with public interests.

Five delegates duly accredited from each regular association devoted to irrigation, agriculture, horticulture and engineering.

Five delegates duly accredited from each irrigation or canal company.

FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVES

Special invitations have been sent to the governments of other countries to appoint representatives to this Congress, and it is anticipated that many foreign representatives will be present.

VISITORS

The attendance of visitors, including ladies, is especially appreciated and their attendance is encouraged.

RAILWAY RATES

Delegates should take notice that the liberal railroad rates available to the California Expositions make this an attractive time to attend the Irrigation Congress and visit the Expositions at San Francisco and San Diego. Special rates and daylight trains have been asked from the railroads to take the delegates from city to city in connection with the meetings of the Irrigation Congress. These will be arranged for locally. Delegates should plan their California trip so they can attend the Congress meetings in the various cities advantageously.

INFORMATION

Full information regarding the Irrigation Congress plans, program, rates, hotels and other data will be furnished upon request to the Chamber of Commerce at Stockton, the Commercial Club at Fresno, the Chamber of Commerce at Sacramento, the Chamber of Commerce at San Francisco, the Bureau of Congresses at 202 Festival Hall, at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, or from the office of the Secretary of the International Irrigation Congress at Stockton, Fresno, Sacramento or San Francisco.

DO YOU REALIZE?

CALIFORNIA'S wonderful climate, soil and resources make it distinctively the greatest State in the Union.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco represents an expenditure of at least $50,000,000—while millions more have been spent on the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego.

The California Development Board reports the output of California's farms, mines, oil wells, forests and fisheries for one year at approximately $550,000,000.

Delegates to the International Irrigation Congress will study irrigation and agricultural methods in many of the most prosperous parts of California—while at the Expositions they will see the marvelous exhibits of the results thereof.

Low round trip rates from all parts of the country have been granted by the railroads. Ample hotel accommodations are available at usual reasonable rates.

INTERNATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS, CALIFORNIA, SEPT. 13-20, 1915

STOCKTON
Sept. 13-14

STOCKTON, because of its location on a channel at the head of tidewater navigation, claims for itself the title “Terminus of the Panama Canal.”

A notable irrigation project tributary to Stockton is the South San Joaquin Irrigation District. This is the latest and most carefully planned community irrigation project in the State, and indeed in the entire country. It embraces 71,050 acres, on which water is delivered to each 40 acre unit.

In the territory surrounding Stockton are to be found nearly every type of irrigation and irrigation project.

Millions of dollars in gold have gone through Stockton from the California mines. Tributary to it and still undeveloped are some of the richest mines of gold, copper, quicksilver and building-stone in the world.

FRESNO
Sept. 15-16

FRESNO has the slogan “Placed by Providence for Prosperity.”

Fresno is the exact geographical center of the State of California and of the great San Joaquin Valley. The population is close to 50,000, as compared with 12,470 in 1900.

Six commercial banks, two savings banks and a building and loan association have resources in excess of $13,000,000. The manufacturing output exceeds $12,500,000 a year.

Fresno as Seen from the Court House Tower, looking West on Mariposa Street

Fresno County is worth over $153,000,000. In 1913 the products of the land were over $52,000,000. The County is larger than Connecticut.

Fresno is a pioneer of the West in irrigation. From the Kings river is irrigated over 600,000 acres—the largest irrigated area in the United States.

SACRAMENTO
Sept. 17-18

SACRAMENTO, “The Heart of California,” with its population of 76,662, is the gateway to the matchless Sacramento Valley, with its 12,000,000 acres of fertile valley and foothill soil.

Sacramento is the center of the greatest deciduous fruit growing district in the world.

Its eight banks have total deposits of over $31,000,000 and assets of over $35,000,000.

Sacramento has four miles of water front on the fourth greatest carrying river in the United States, and on which ply the steamers of four competing transportation systems.
