Chicago, Dec. 14, 1900.

President William R. Harper,
The University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

My Dear President Harper:-

Your letter of the 12th inst., appointing me a University Marshall, was received this morning. For the honor thus conferred, you have my most sincere thanks. I believe that I appreciate to a considerable extent the responsibility of the position, and that I realize that the office is worthy of the best effort and truest dignity of any Marshall. I hope that my service as a Marshall and my character and effort as a man, and as a son of our beloved University, may be such that I shall never prove unworthy of the office. In this spirit I gratefully accept the appointment.

Very respectfully yours,

President William V. Harper,
The University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear President Harper:

Your letter of the 18th instant, appointing me a University Marshal, was received this morning. For the honor this connotes, you have my most sincere thanks.

I believe that I am worthy of a consideration of the responsibilities of the position, and I assure you that the office is worthy of the best efforts and greatest ability of any Marshal. I hope that my services as a Marshal and my character and efforts as a man, and as a son of one of your University may be such that I may never have unworthily of the office. In this spirit I especially accept the appoint.

Very respectfully yours,
March 10th, 1908.

My dear President Judson:

The plan of selecting marshals and aides has undergone many changes during the past few years. At present, so far as I know, no definite well understood plan of procedure is in force. In order to systematize the administration of this important matter, I beg to submit the following suggestion:

A. Number of marshals and aides. Experience goes to show that the size of the staff should be approximately as follows: a) 12 marshals; b) 10 aides.

B. Method of selection. While this body is maintained by appointment by the President, it should be in some sense self perpetuating, that is, nominations made by the marshals and aides in residence should have weight in determining the final selection.

C. Points to be considered in making nominations and appointments: a) Personal character, general usefulness and prominence in student activities; b) scholarship; c) number of university credits. Ideally the student should be selected at such period in their course in that they can be in the position to serve from three to five Convocations. This would mean that the largest number of appointments in a given year could best be made in the spring quarter. d) These students should be selected so as to represent as far as circumstances would permit, all phases of student activity, that is, intellectual, social, literary, athletic, religious, clubs, fraternities, etc.

D. Methods of nomination. a) College marshal will consult with marshals and aides and make list which is submitted to the Congregation marshal.

b) The congregation marshal 1) gets scholastic record from Bureau of Records, 2) consults the respective deans, 3) puts material in shape and submits to President for final consideration and action.

E. Having followed essentially the plan outlined above I wish to submit the following recommendations to you for your consideration in preparation for the coming Convocation.

There are at present in residence six aides. I wish to nominate the following six from whom four might be selected to bring the total number up to ten.

Eleanor Day
Helen Gunsaulus
Lois Kauffman
Harriet Grimm
Gertrude Greenbaum
Ethel Preston

Miss Talbot expresses herself in favor of any appointments that may be made from this list.

harmonious co-operation in the field of research work at the University.

The collaboration of scientists and educators is essential for the advancement of knowledge. It is through such collaboration that new ideas are developed and tested, leading to significant contributions to the field of education.

Collaboration is not just about sharing ideas but also about working together towards a common goal. It fosters an environment of mutual respect and understanding, which is crucial for the growth of the educational sector.

In conclusion, the importance of collaboration cannot be overstated. It is through collaborative efforts that we can achieve greater heights in the field of education, benefiting not only the students but also the educators themselves.

In closing, let us remember that collaboration is the key to success in any endeavor. It is through working together that we can accomplish great things.
III. Marshals and Aides.

A. Qualification and Appointment.

Before we proceed farther with the exercises of Convocation week an explanation of the work of marshals and aides is in order. There are faculty marshals to the number of twelve and student aides to the number of six. The number of marshals and aides in residence at any one time may fall below this. The faculty marshals including the marshals of the Congregation are appointed by the Congregation. The student marshals and aides are appointed by the President. In practice nominations are made by the Secretary to the President who confers as a rule with the Marshal of the Congregation.* In making selections for student marshals and aides the aim is to name students who have creditable records in their courses and who are leaders in some field or other. It is usually wise to appoint students with not more than twenty-seven and not less than fifteen majors of credit in order that on the one hand marshals may be upper-class-men and on the other hand serve long enough to become experienced. Summons for service in the case of both faculty marshals and of student marshals and aides are sent in the name of the President or the Secretary to the President but specific directions concerning participation in exercises are issued by the Marshal of the Congregation.

* It is the custom in the nomination of aides for the Secretary to the President to consult with Miss Talbot.

B. Duties.

The duties of marshals and aides are to direct action at public exercises, the receptions, the entertainment of guests, and Convocations. Specific assignments are made by the Marshal of the Congregation.
The office of Secretary, and whose fees to charge.

Office of Deputy Administrator, of Administrator, the other numerical figures, and combinations, spelling errors.

These are ways of the means of the construction.
C. Duties of the Head Marshal.

The duties of the Head Marshal are more definite. They include, first the direction of public exercises supreme for the occasion. The Marshal of the Congregation forms his plans in consultation with the President and the President's Secretary, but all orders issue from him at the time of execution and he is in charge. Second, as incident to the power of direction, the preparation of instructions for the exercises of Convocation week to the faculties, to candidates (these instructions prepared by the Marshal of the Congregation are printed under request and order of the Secretary to the President), marshals, the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds concerning arrangements in buildings, the Steward of the Reynolds Club concerning the disposition of the Club, the Director of the Choir, and the Director of the Band concerning music, the Manager of the Information Office concerning ushers at the Convocation, and the Deans concerning the presentation of their candidates for degrees. Typical instructions to candidates and the faculties are herewith appended.

All these instructions except those to the faculties and candidates are usually typewritten under the direction of the Congregation Marshal, but they may in an emergency be given to this office for the clerical work involved.
THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY report:

The position of the head of the Treasury is a sensitive one. The Secretary of the Treasury is an officer in the executive branch of the government, and the position requires a high degree of professionalism and political acumen. The Secretary is responsible for the management of the nation's fiscal policy, including the collection and distribution of taxes, the issuance of debt, and the regulation of financial institutions.

The Secretary serves as a member of the President's Cabinet and is often appointed by the President. The Secretary's role is critical in the formulation and implementation of economic policy, and the Secretary must work closely with other government officials and private sector stakeholders.

The position of the Secretary of the Treasury is a high-profile one, and the Secretary must be able to navigate complex political and economic landscapes. The Secretary is often called upon to make difficult decisions that have significant implications for the economy and the nation.

In conclusion, the Secretary of the Treasury is a crucial position in the government, and the individual in this role must possess a combination of technical expertise and political savvy to effectively carry out their duties.

Although specific instructions for the Band are issued by the Congregation Marshal, the Secretary to the President is accustomed, some two weeks in advance of Convocation, to give the Director of the Band a list of the occasions at which the services of the Band will be required. It may be said in this connection that the Band is always under the direction of the President through the Secretary to the President and that it is not expected to play without the approval of this office.

The division of power in the matter of arrangements for Convocation exercises is practically this: Physical arrangements within the power of regular University employees not involving additional outlay are in the main directed by the Marshal and covered by the instructions to which reference has been made. Arrangements involving outlay, as that for refreshments and otherwise, are ordered by the Secretary to the President.

My dear Miss Wallace:

I am sending you a copy of the resolution passed by the Senior College Council at a recent meeting. The President approves the resolution and has asked us to take steps toward the appointment of representative women students to act in official capacity at the coming Convocation reception or possibly the Convocation itself. It has seemed best to us, inasmuch as the matter is one which concerns the women of the University almost entirely, to make a committee of women in the Faculty to recommend a course for us to follow, and we have unanimously agreed that Miss Talbot, Miss Wallace, Miss Reynolds, and Miss Dudley should constitute that committee. May I ask you therefore if in connection with the other members of the Faculty who are named, you will consider the matter presented and give us a recommendation.

Perhaps one or two statements of our idea may help you to understand the situation. The first thought was that the women to be appointed would serve merely as a committee of representatives among the women may be represented, arrangements or entertainment at the reception, inasmuch as it has seemed to us that no number short of twelve would impress us that they could hardly act with dignity at answer. There are five or six girls clubs in the nature of sororities which ought to be represented, but we should need to guard against over representation of a numerically small agree with Mr. Jackson's expression and urge you to take steps toward Therefore twelve seems not too high a number. Finally, it will probably be thought best to make the appointment of women in the capacity suggested, at first only tentative—that is to try their participation in the coming Convocation as an experiment. If it works well, the plan may be made permanent.

In the second place (after the function of the new officers is determined) what name would you suggest? The President desires that we adopt something different from the word marshal, inasmuch as by long habit that has come to mean the men who do active work in the Convocation procession. Usher seems not distinctive enough. What would you think of the word aide? That has a feminine connotation and perhaps suggests the part which girls might play at the reception and entertainment of guests in general.

In the third place, how large a number of girls would you suggest for appointment? Who should they be? In order that the various interests among the women may be represented, it has seemed to us that no number short of twelve would answer. There are five or six girls' clubs in the nature of sororities which ought to be represented, but we should need to guard against over representation of a numerically small

My dear President Harper:

Mr. Judson, Mr. Shepardson and I took up last Thursday the resolution of the Senior College Council in favor of the appointment of women to serve at Convocation, but agreed that before making any recommendation it would be well to ascertain the sentiment of the heads of the women's halls and Miss Dudley, who are in very close touch with the women of the University. We therefore asked Miss Talbot, Miss Reynolds, Miss Wallace, and Miss Dudley to form an informal committee to advise us on the point presented.

They recommend that if women are appointed (and I take it on that point they do not commit themselves, although from a conversation with Miss Talbot, I think she approves the idea) they serve principally at the Convocation reception and possibly assist women candidates for degrees and women who are members of the Faculty in the Convocation procession. Through them, for instance, we could tactfully carry out our wish of instructing women to remove their hats at the Convocation.

In the second place the Committee approve the term "aide" which has been suggested.

To the President of the College,

I am informed that a committee is being appointed to examine the situation and recommend any necessary changes. I am glad to see that the women of the university are being recognized for their contributions to the college and that efforts are being made to improve their position.

If a regular committee is feasible and it is desired to have one or two aides at large to stand for girls who are not members of a particular organization, Miss Talbot said that the Committee would not oppose the addition of two members at large for the Senior College and one member from the Junior College. It seems to me that on the whole we can not improve very much upon the plan as the Committee has thus worked it out. I wonder if it will not be well to adopt it and proceed at once to put it into execution.

Yours very truly,

Henry Potter Chandler.

I wish to call your attention, in connection with the nominations for Aides, to the case of Frances Herrick. She has lost the sight of one eye, and is, I am told, obliged to wear colored glasses most of the time. This physical disfigurement is the principal reason for Miss Talbot's non-approval. Mr. Robertson and I both feel that, unless the physical disfigurement is particularly conspicuous, it is desirable to ignore it, everything else being equal, in making these appointments. I make this note so that you may have the matter in mind in considering these lists.

I wish to call your attention to connection with the nomination for Vice-Chancellor of the case of one student of the School of Music who has been recommended to me as a most promising candidate for the position. It has been brought to my attention that there may be some misunderstanding concerning the appointment of the student in question. I have discussed the matter with the Dean of the College and have been assured that the decision was made after careful consideration of all the facts.

I trust that you will give this matter your serious attention.

The list shows in addition to the number of majors, the number of grade points, and the any special action in a given case. The limits in majors are of course approximate. This position is regarded not merely as a honor, but as an opportunity for service.

I. Scholarship.
II. Discipline.
III. Personal qualifications.

Appointment is made by the Deans, and the Secretary to the President.

In the recent selection the following "pleases" were consulted:

Deans Angell, Marshall, Talbot, Zace, Dunn, Bolster, Looney,

The Marshal of the University then congregates individually with the marshals and aides who report from the student points of view on the basis of personal qualifications. The marshals and aides have taken high and impersonal stands with respect to prominent candidates. The records of known participation for good or ill the university are made in some twenty cases of prominent marshals and some twenty cases of prominent aides. The aides individually express their order of preference in case of these twenty or so. The marshals do the same with cases of the marshals men. The Marshal of the University summarizes these impressions in a thesis which shows the order of preference of the entire group of marshals and the entire group of aides.

The list of twenty most promising men and women most living women as they again...

The list as finally arranged is made without regard to representation of any student groups. The effort is to get the best available material for the mars hallship.

From the list of twenty men the President chooses ten, and from the list of twenty women, ten ardis.

Dear Miss Talbot:

The ushering at the Peace Meeting, December second, is a service which I think should be voluntary on the part of the aides. I have, therefore, written to Ruth Allen saying that although I do not wish to direct the aides to render this service, I think it entirely fitting that they should volunteer to represent the University on this occasion. I have also directed her to secure the co-operation of as many aides as possible, and to report to you.

President Harper, Sir:

Dear Sir:—

Your very kind letter notifying me of my appointment as a University Marshal is at hand, and is greatly appreciated. It gives me much pleasure to accept it in the spirit in which it is tendered, and to assure you that in this as in every other capacity, I shall do my utmost to promote the interests of the University.

Respectfully yours,

Curtis P. Manning.

Dear President Judson:

I was very happy to receive notice from Mr. Robertson that I was chosen as one of the University Marshals. I truly appreciate and most gladly accept the appointment, for which please accept my sincere thanks.

Yours very truly,

Fred. W. Gaarde

My dear Mr. Webb:

When you were appointed to the University Marshalship, the appointment was to extend through out your college course. Now that you have returned to the University I hope you will feel like assuming again the duties of the position.

Yours truly,
January 30, 1929.

The Secretary of War,

Office of the Secretary of War,

Are you prepared for the University of Washington?

It is important that you be prepared to accept the duties and responsibilities of college attendance. How much you have prepared for the University I hope you will feel like reporting when the semester begins.

Yours truly,

My dear Dr. Shepardson:—

In response to your letter regarding my assuming again the duties of Marshall, I wish to say that I shall be very glad to take up the responsibilities of the position once more.

I thank you very much for the courtesy of your letter, and wish to assure you that I appreciate it thoroughly.

Very truly yours,

Charles J. Webb.
My dear Miss Wallace:

Inasmuch as with the Heads of the other women's halls you were good enough to consider the plan for the appointment of "Aiden", I desire to lay before you the present status of the project. President Harper felt, in the first place, that the number of aides ought to be smaller than that originally proposed; in fact he set a limit of six. In the second place, although he appreciated the force of the suggestion that the members of the new body should represent the official organizations among the women of the University, he deemed it advisable to follow the same plan that prevails in the choice of marshals; that is, to select the six best candidates and to avoid confinement to any particular organizations. In accordance with this policy, the following persons have been named, Miss Helen A. Freeman, Miss Lillian Stephenson, Miss Clara Taylor, Miss Ethel Vaughn, Miss Anne Payne Wells, Miss Clara K. Wheeler. It is not at all likely that everybody will regard this selection as ideal, but it would be difficult if not impossible to name a group on which everybody would agree and it is thought that the persons named stand for a variety of interests and that they all have shown promise, ability, and enthusiasm for the

My dear Miss Vaughn:

On the recommendation of the Senior College Council, it has been decided to appoint a group of girls to render assistance in connection with the coming Convocation on somewhat the same order as the work of the Marshals. It is especially hoped that girls will be able to supplement in a tactful and effective way the assistance of the Marshals at the Convocation reception. Whether or not participation in the exercises of Convocation itself will be advisable, is a question not yet decided, one which it is hoped can be worked out in consultation with the newly created officials themselves. The name of these officials will be "aides", and the holders of the office will appear on the Convocation program immediately after the College Marshals.

It is President Harper's earnest wish that you will accept the appointment as a member of the first body of "Aides" which he hereby tenders you. He feels that there may be a large and important place in our University life for the

My dear Miss Talbot:-

The aides at present are
Miss Margaret E. Burton, who I think is living at home,
Miss Elizabeth M. Munger, Foster Hall,
Miss Helen N. Roney, Kelly Hall,
Miss Lillian Stephenson, 5475 Madison Avenue,
Miss Edith E. Terry, 6044 Jefferson Avenue,
Miss Clara K. Wheeler, Foster Hall.

Mr. Miller suggests that it will be well for him to direct all the girls who are contestants at the examinations and trials to report in the Woman's Union at 5:30, Friday afternoon. They will thus be assembled in one place where you can take charge of them. I appreciate very much your assistance in this matter.

Miss Miller suggests that it will be well for you to in order not to report to the Woman's Union at 3:30. When all is turned over, I will give you your assignment, the work, and what to report at 3:30.

My dear Mr. Judson:-

I conferred with Dr. Shepardson concerning the head marshalship. He agreed that Dr. Raycroft's nomination of Mr. John Fryer Moulds was a good one but thought that perhaps Mr. Harold H. Swift might be a better candidate in view of his election as president of the senior class and his general capability for such a position. I then referred the suggestion of Dr. Shepardson to Dr. Raycroft whose note appears on the accompanying letter. The difference in attitude is due to the fact that Dr. Raycroft is considering the head marshalship in its relation to the Convocation and seeking an efficient marshal without regard to the ordinary eligibility to honor. Dr. Shepardson considers the position rather as an honor to be awarded. The issue is joined in this way. Both men are eminently fitted for the position.

Yours very truly,

David Anderson
Mr. Governor:

I cordially agree with the Board's recommendation concerning the appointment of Mr. John Whitehead as a member of the Board of Trustees. In view of the Board's action on the recommendation of the Executive Committee, I do not feel that I can fulfill the responsibilities to the Board of Trustees, and the Board's action in this regard is fully covered by the recommendation of the Executive Committee.

Very truly yours,

Chicago December 1st, 1906.

My dear Dr. Raycroft:—

I suggested to Mr. Judson as candidate for the honor of Head Marshal among the undergraduates John Fryer Moulds. At his request I submitted the list of Marshals then to Dean Shepardson who was of the opinion that in view of the fact that Mr. Moulds had twenty-three majors at the end of the summer quarter and was a good man he would be certainly a candidate for the position. He suggested, however, that Mr. Harold H. Swift might be a better one. Mr. Swift, as you know, has been elected president of the senior class since our conversation concerning marshals. He is a man whose sense of form is just that which a marshal should have, and would make a desirable candidate. I think either of the men would be a good choice. Have you any further comment to make before I present the report to Mr. Judson?

Yours very truly,

Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft,
The University of Chicago.
Mr. George W. Hargrove:

I am writing to recommend to you a candidate for the post of Head Teacher of the new school we have decided to establish. His name is Mr. Johnson. He has been teaching in the public schools for many years and is well respected by his colleagues and students. He is a versatile and knowledgeable teacher who has a strong commitment to education and a passion for teaching. I believe he would be an excellent fit for the position and would bring a wealth of experience and expertise to the school. I hope you will consider him for the position as soon as possible.

Yours very truly,

Mr. Johnson, Head Teacher
My dear Mr. Judson:—

I have taken the advice of Dean Shepardson and Dean Vincent on the question of marshals for the coming year. I submitted the following list: Messrs. Buhlig, Harper, Harriman, Kramer, Gray, Hostetter, Lyon, Moulds, and Swift. Mr. Shepardson and Mr. Vincent unite in agreeing upon Hostetter, Lyon, Moulds, and Swift. Mr. Shepardson approved Mr. Gray and suggested Norman Barker. He would not appoint Harper at the present time believing it better for Paul not to be pushed ahead too rapidly. Mr. Vincent approved Kramer and Harper and suggested in addition Roney, Schlabach, Jordan, and Gunn. I do not think we can go far wrong if we appoint Messrs. Hostetter, Lyon, Moulds, Swift, Gray, Barker, Harper, Kramer, and Gunn. I append a table showing the number of majors credit of each of these men and their approximate grade in their studies. The table also indicates their fraternity.
It has been my idea, practically disregarding fraternity lines, to choose men who have shown capacity for leadership in one place of another.

I shall be glad to talk over the nominations with you at your convenience. There is no objection to any of the men whom I have named and on all of them at least two of us agree. I do not on the whole feel the force of Mr. Shepardson's suggestion regarding Paul Harper. He has fourteen majors of credit, a brilliant record in his courses, and has already been elected to office by the students: that is he is a member of the Student Council. Therefore it cannot be said that we are showing any partiality toward him. He is the kind of man who would make a good marshal no matter whose son he was.

Yours very truly,

Henry Porter Chandler

Mr. Harry Pratt Judson,
The University of Chicago.
It was easy to have Schroeder's gymnastics club certify these to release you and provide enough evidence for employment in one of these or another.

I want to hear you talk over the continuation with your or your conference. There is no objection to any of the new rules I have written and so on if or if not or if for 100, two or three. I do not see the whole of the latter part of this occupation no trouble. He has a303000e factors of another, a different reason to the conference and your theoretical need of a ticket to the exhibition. The only to have decided of the student conference these take it difficult to make clear to any other thing that the ticket ticket may make a good weapon to better space and for any other

Chicago  October 12th, 1906.

My dear Mr. Judson:

I am enclosing herewith the records I find concerning marshalships last spring. On looking over this list and working out the amount of credit and the records of the individuals most favored by Messrs. Vincent, Sheppardson, and Chandler and conferring with the Marshal of the Congregation concerning the capability of the various men the list reduces to the following:

Norman Barker, 17 majors, Record C- (6 D's, 1 E) 7 quarters

Paul Buhlig, 22 majors  "   A-

Edward Felsenthal, 20 majors, Record C+

Luther D. Fernald, 20 majors, Record C++ (1 condition at present) 1 minor E.

H. B. Henry, 18 1/2 majors in 10 quarters.

W. Henry, 4 majors

Sterling Parkinson, 24 majors.

Max Rohde, 13 majors (11 D's)

Henry Roney, 16 1/2 majors (3 D's, 2 E's)

H. H. Schlabach, 13 1/2 majors, Record C++ in 6 quarters.
Mr. Dean McVeigh:

I am enclosing here...

The records I have concerning the above-mentioned facts...
Of this list Mr. Buhlig with his 22 majors and a record of A-, Mr. Felsenthal with 20 majors and a record of C+, and Mr. Schlabach with 18 1/2 majors and a record of C++ seem to be the most desirable persons. There are three vacancies at present in the list of marshals. In looking over the complete list of marshals at present serving and those to be nominated the Marshal of the Congregation and I have come to the conclusion that Mr. Moulds would be the most efficient Head Marshal to succeed Mr. Friend. The present list of marshals is as follows:

John Fryer Moulds,
Paul Rowley Gray,
Neil Mackay Gunn,
Earl DeWitt Hostetter,
Alvin Frederick Kramer,
Sanford Avery Lyon,
Harold Higgins Swift.
Of the first I am happy with the 25 people who a family of A. A. Stillwell with 50 horses are a may reach of C.D. and my Möller at the most noticeable beacon. There is a sense of responsibility at present for the fate of memory. To look over the corner place first of memory as pleasant recalling and then communicated with the concept of the connection to be maintained the interest of the connection and I have come to the connection that the memory would be of the most obvious how necessary to one such is. Thus, the pleasant idea of memory as

as follows:

Join the other colonies.
Keep yourself clean.
Help others clean.
Don't depend upon others.
Always accentuate the positive. Look happy when life is.
Shall we announce in letters to these individuals the honor conferred on them at once? I have asked the four aides to report to Miss Talbot Monday for instructions concerning some work in connection with the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. They have as yet, however, no knowledge of the honor conferred on them. The aides named, you will remember, are Margaret Spence, Helen Sunny, Stella Anderson, and Winifred Kelso.

Dear Sir,

You no doubt remember, that at the last Convocation, in a case of emergency, the honor of the office of Head Marshall was conferred upon me. After serious reflection I cannot but feel, for many reasons, that the office does not rightfully belong to me. Mr. Walling, who was first nominated for this honor, lay claim to none of the preceding qualifications.

The part which I took in the ceremony of the last Convocation will be readily understood by all, and I shall not feel annoyed in the slightest to have Mr. Walling, or anyone else, take that which seems to me to be his own.

I believe that the office of Head Marshall should, by reason of its prominence, be filled by a regular classified student who is distinctly representative of the University in excellence as a student, an orator or an athlete. My duties in the Comptroller's office are comparatively arduous; my time and energy for other matters become consequently very limited, so that I can

VII. THE PRESIDENT'S QUARTERLY STATEMENT
The Statement will be printed in the University Record for July.

VIII. UNIVERSITY SONG—"Alma Mater"

Words by EDWIN H. LEWIS.

Music adapted and arranged for mixed voices by PAUL MANDEVILLE.

1. Today we gladly sing the praise Of her who owns us as her sons;
2. Her mighty learning we would tell, Tho' life is something more than lore;
3. The City White hath fled the earth, But where the azure waters lie,

Our loyal voices let us raise, And bless her with our beneficent sons.
She could not love her sons so well, Loved she not truth and honor more.
A nobler city hath its birth, The City Gray that never shall die.

Of all fair mothers, fairest sh
June 15, 1908.

My dear Mr. Robertson,

I received your notice stating that I had been chosen as one of University marshals, for which I thank you sincerely. I am very happy to learn that I am worthy of such an honor, one which I truly appreciate, and most gladly accept.

Yours very truly,

Fred. W. Savage.

My dear President Judson:—

It is a duty and a pleasure for me to call your attention to the admirable work done by the marshals and aides in maintaining order about the buildings and grounds on the days of registration. We registered nearly the entire under-graduate body of the colleges of Arts, Literature and Science on Friday and Saturday morning, September 29th and 30th. The ease and rapidity with which this was accomplished was in part due to the excellent conditions maintained in Cobb Hall. I have written to the Head Marshal, Mr. Hanisch, thanking him and his corps of aides and marshals on behalf of the Deans.

Very truly yours,

R.M.L.

Dear Dean Wilkins:

I am inclined at first sight to agree with you as to the request of the Aides and Marshals for exemption from examinations. It might seem a little abrupt to say no without further consideration.

How would it do to ask them to present their reasons in the case?

Vice-President J.H. Tufts
Faculty Exchange

Dear Dr. Tufts:

I inclose herewith a request from the College Aides and Marshals for exemption from final examinations as a matter of general principle.

You will perhaps remember that last June we did exempt the newly appointed Aides and Marshals from examination, on the ground, which would of course recur every June, that the duties of the newly appointed members of the staff took so very much time that it was impossible for them rightly to prepare for examinations.

I think that we might well as a matter of principle exempt Aides and Marshals from final examinations in June; but I do not feel that they have an adequate basis for exemption in the Autumn and Winter Quarters.

You will note that they do not support their request by specific arguments.

I should be glad to have and to transmit your ruling in this matter.

Very truly yours,

Ernest H. Welker

Dear Sir,

The college aides and marshalls take this means of presenting their request for exemption from the final examinations for this and the ensuing quarters. If it is too late for action to be taken upon the matter in time to have any effect upon the Autumn Quarter examinations, we wish to present our request for exemption to take effect beginning with the Winter Quarter, 1925.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Williams,

I am writing in the hope of receiving your early reply to the enclosed letter. The situation is urgent, and I believe your prompt attention is necessary to prevent further delays.

I have enclosed a copy of the original correspondence for your review. I am convinced that our interests would be best served by proceeding together.

I look forward to your early response.

Yours sincerely,

Gentlemen:

I left in your charge the other day a sample baton and asked for an estimate as to cost. Your report over the telephone I have received and wish now to order the supply of which I spoke.

Please make two (2) batons the same size as the sample with ebony shaft and gold ferrule and head. Please make also ten batons the same size as the sample with mahogany or rose-wood shaft worked up as a dark maroon color. These instead of gold should have silver ferrules and heads. The finish of the silver I am a bit uncertain about. Should it be bright or a florentine gray in order to look well with the mahogany staff? The price of the silver batons you have already given me over the telephone. Please telephone me the price of the ebony and gold ones.

The engraving on each staff will consist of the name as given hereunder. The dates I shall have to give you later. Please do not do the engraving until you have given me an estimate of the cost of engraving also the coat of arms of the University on the

I am enclosing the design which I wish to have engraved upon the head of each baton ordered some time since. You will remember that in addition to the coat of arms, which will be engraved on the flat head, a name and date is to be engraved somewhere upon the metal. I suppose this ought to be engraved on the side. I should be glad to have your suggestion as to the best arrangement of the lettering. Please telephone me the cost of this. The first estimate was not based upon any knowledge as to the design.

Honorable Governor
State of Maine

Dear Governor,

I am writing in regard to the state of Maine's higher education institutions, particularly the University of Maine. I understand that there is a need for additional funding for these institutions.

I would like to propose a solution. My proposal is to implement a state-wide education tax, which would generate additional revenue for our higher education institutions. This tax could be implemented in a way that is fair and equitable for all citizens of the state.

I believe that this proposal would be in the best interest of our state's education system and its students. I am confident that with your support, we can make this proposal a reality.

Thank you for considering my proposal.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
May 26, 1924.

My dear Mr. Amick:

I take great pleasure in informing you that the President has appointed you a College Marshal for the year 1924-25.

The President wishes to meet the new Marshals and Aides in his Office at 3:30 P.M., Thursday, May 29th. The Head Marshal will meet them in the Women's Common Room in the Classics Building immediately following their meeting with the President.

With sincere congratulations, I am,

 Truly yours,

Secretary to the President.

SELECTING MARSHALS AND AIDES

Selection of University Marshals and Aides will soon take place. Since the method of picking these high honor students is not generally understood, The Daily Maroon prints the following from Dr. E. J. Goodspeed, Secretary to the President, explaining the system:

The Marshals and Aides assist the Marshal of the University in the conduct of public functions of the University, such as Convocations, Convocation receptions, and Convocation religious services. They are chosen annually in the Spring quarter on the basis of scholarship, activity in undergraduate life, and general promise. A list of persons in the Senior college who have not more than 50 majors, and not less than 18 majors, with a scholar record, certainly not lower than "C," is first made up for the Marshal of the University.

That officer, in conference with the deans and others, checks the names of those who ought on any grounds to be considered. The Marshal of the University then takes up the list as checked with the existing body of Marshals and Aides. He hands to the Head Marshal the list of checked names, perhaps 40 or more, asking him to confer with the Marshals and to report back a list of approximately 20 of the most desirable men, with the grounds for their recommendation.

One of the Aides receives a similar list of women, with similar instructions. The Head Marshal prepares on a card the college record of each of the candidates the Marshals desire to request further. The card shows the standing in scholarship, relations to student activities, etc. At a meeting of the Marshals, each Marshal arranges the list of 20 in the order of his preference. The Aides similarly express their individual preferences as to the 20 names they report.

These lists of preferences are then tabulated by the University Marshal, and the resulting lists, arranged in the order arrived at by the vote of the Marshals and of the Aides, are again submitted to the deans principally concerned. The preferences of the candidates are recorded by the Marshal. The Marshal and the Secretary to the President then present the list to the President with the cards containing the individual records. The President then, with the full record before him of each candidate in scholarship and in college activities chooses ten Marshals and ten Aides from the names reported, designating one of the Marshals as Head Marshal.
Harold Fletcher, general chairman, yesterday, "the commission will need more cooperation in the matter of housing, rushing, providing of automobiles, and so forth. With these important matters on the calendar for the meeting, it is necessary that all members of the commission be present."

Cook County Schools Enter

The latest batch of entries received includes three Cook county schools which are expected to be among the tournament point winners: Hyde Park, University, and Oak Park high schools. Hyde Park especially enters the meet with a good reputation, as its team outpointed all city and county schools in the indoor tournament held in Bartlett gymnasium in the early spring. U. High won laurels in the Drake relays by winning two third places. Oak Park has a strong team, with Captain Crawford, all-around track star, among its representatives.

REGISTRATION FOR ADVANCED JUNIORS CONTINUES TODAY

Registration in the colleges of Arts, Literature, and Science is proceeding steadily under the new three-quarter system, inaugurated last month. Registration for members of the Junior class, or those with 24 or more majors began yesterday. Last week was given over to registering members of the Senior class.

The graphic record sheets indicating the quality and departmental distribution of the student's work will be in use when members of the Junior college begin registration Wednesday. All registration has been conducted according to the new three-quarter system, and time schedules for the Autumn, Winter, and Spring are available. Registration for the Summer quarter will take place later. Time schedules for the Summer quarter have not yet been issued.

The dates for registration are: May 16, students with 21 or more majors credited; May 17, eighteen or more; May 18, fifteen or more; May 22, twelve or more; May 23, nine or more; May 24, six or more; May 25, six or more; May 26, three or more.

FRIARS STAFF MEETS

The Staff and Board of Superiors of the Order of Blackfriars will meet today at 1:30 in the Friars office.
June 5, 1925.

My dear Mr. Brickman:

I take great pleasure in informing you that the President has appointed you a College Marshal for the year 1923-24.

The President wishes to meet the new Marshals and Aides in his Office at 4:30 P.M., Thursday, June 7th. The Head Marshal will meet them in Harper M15 immediately following their meeting with the President.

With sincere congratulations, I am,

Truly yours,

Secretary to the President.

Chicago, Illinois.
MARSALS AND AIDES

The Marshals and Aides assist the Marshal of the University in the conduct of public functions of the University, Convocations, Convocation Receptions, Convocation Religious Services—etc. They are chosen annually in the Spring Quarter on the basis of scholarship, activity in undergraduate life, and general promise. A list of persons in the Senior College who have not more than 30 majors, and not less than 18 majors, with a scholastic record certainly not lower than "C," is first made up for the Marshal of the University. One of the Aides receives a similar list of women, with similar instructions. The Head Marshal prepares on a card the college record of each of the candidates the Marshals desire to report back. The card shows the number of majors, grade points, fraternity and society membership, relations to student activities, etc. At a meeting of the Marshals, each Marshal arranges the list of 20 in the order of his preference. The Aides similarly express their individual preferences as to the 20 names they report. These lists of preferences are then tabulated by the University Marshal, and the resulting lists, arranged in the order arrived at by the vote of the Marshals or Aides, are again submitted to the deans principally concerned. The preference of these officers are recorded by the Marshal. The Marshal and the Secretary to the President then present the list to the President with the cards containing the individual records. The President then, with the full record of each candidate in scholarship and college activities before him, chooses 20 Marshals and 20 Aides from the names reported, designating one of the Marshals as Head Marshal.
