My dear Mr. Clark:—

I am in receipt of the medals which I have properly cared for. In making the formal announcements in the Convocation programme have you any suggestions? Ordinarily we have been accustomed to give the full name of the donors. Shall we call these the "Solomon Henry Clark Medals" or the "Clark Medals"? I should be glad to have your idea regarding this.

Yours truly,

I have no desire to have my name appear in this matter although I think it adds to the effect of these things to call them so. The medals or scholarship. If you think this well to prefer my name then the Clark medals will suffice.
Dear Mr. [Name],

I am in receipt of the message you have transmitted to me. I have carefully examined the order for the provision of the services you have described.

The detailed requirements and specifications have been noted, and I am ready to proceed with the accomplishment of the task as outlined.

Thank you for your assistance. I look forward to working with you further.

- Solid Gold Medals ....................................... Special price on application.

All medals will be 2 1-2 inches in diameter and of corresponding thickness. Specially handsome diplomas and medals will be issued to the Exhibitors at the actual cost of procuring, purchasing and distributing same, and the Board of Trustees has been appointed specially, to take charge of the work connected with securing these diplomas and medals at the lowest possible cost consistent with good workmanship and handsome finish. Any amount left over after the work of distribution is completed and the bills incurred by the Board of Trustees has been paid, will be divided pro rata among the Exhibitors who have subscribed to the fund for the procuring of the diplomas and medals.

The Board of Trustees will, if it is found necessary, make an assessment on all Exhibitors applying for diplomas or medals of any kind, which assessment shall not exceed 50 per cent. of the subscription first paid by them on the basis of the prices set forth in this letter.

It is estimated that not less than 500 diplomas and 500 medals will be called for, as over 1,600 diplomas have been awarded. Unless 200 diplomas and 200 medals are called for by Exhibitors, no diplomas and no medals will be issued by the Board of Trustees. Any subscription that you may make will be made on the understanding that at least 200 diplomas and 200 medals will be called for or your subscription will be returned to you.

None of the work of procuring diplomas or medals will be begun by the Board of Trustees until receipts are on hand sufficient to cover the expense of procuring the dies, medals and the plate for engraving the diplomas.

Please let me hear from you at as early a date as possible, and oblige,

Yours truly,

Francis W. Shepardson, Secretary to the President.

Mr. W. A. Bond wrote me a letter in reference to the matter referred to in your letter. It did not seem to me that this was the best use to make of the money, and I wrote him to be used in purchasing a prize for the University of Chicago student who won the most points in the Conference Intercollegiate Meet. I should be used in this way, we would, of course, take pleasure.

Will you kindly inform me whether proper announcement in doing it. Nothing was said about a medal. I have not heard has been made of that gift and whether I am at liberty to present from him in reply to my last letter.

My dear President Harper:

Shortly before the Christmas holidays I had a letter from Mr. W.A. Bond, suggesting his desire to give a sum of money to the University, the interest of which was to be used in purchasing a prize for the University of Chicago student who won the most points in the Conference Intercollegiate Meet.

Will you kindly inform me whether proper announcement has been made of that gift and whether I am at liberty to present the matter to the students of the University interested in the matter. I do not know whether Mr. Bond said anything about what the medal should be called, but he expressed a desire to have it called the Scott Bond Medal, in honor of his son, who graduated at the University and was a former member of our University Track Team.

My dear Mr. Bond:-

I wish to express my very great appreciation of your gift to the University under date of December 16th. I can assure you that we appreciate this most thoroughly, and I am glad to know that your interest in college life has been increased because of your son.

Aside from my private interest in the University, I have had an interest in the interests of my son, and I am inclined to think that there are uses of the money which would be of greater benefit to the University, but I shall be glad to leave the matter in your hands, and unless I hear from you to the contrary we will arrange it as you suggest.

With the greatest appreciation of your kindness and courtesy, and begging to be remembered to your son, I remain,

Yours very truly,

Dear President Harper:

Enclosed I hand you our check for $250.00. I wish I felt able at this time to add another cipher or two to the check, but perhaps I may at some other time.

Aside from my pride as a citizen of Chicago in our great University, I have had an increased interest on account of the College life of my son. I have thought, possibly, this might be set aside as a fund, the interest of which would provide a prize for the U. of C. student making the greatest number of points in the annual intercollegiate track meets.

If this is not entirely feasible and convenient, kindly use the money for any University purpose you may prefer.

With assurance of great regard, I am,

STATEMENT OF

THE BOND MEDAL FUND

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees held February 3, 1903, President Harper "reported a gift from Mr. W. A. Bond of $250.00, to be set apart as a fund, the interest of which will provide a prize for the student making the largest number of points in the Inter-Collegiate track meet". The gift was received by the Board, and the Secretary was instructed to convey to Mr. Bond the thanks of the Trustees.

The amount of this fund is invested in part of the advance on the Lees Building yielding 4 1/2%. The income is included in the budget income of the University, and the amount is used in purchasing a medal which is awarded to the student of the University making the largest number of points in the track meet of the Inter-Collegiate Conference Athletic Association.

Respectfully submitted,

November 6, 1919.

Mr. Angell raises the question whether the requirement of four years may not exclude some very desirable men. As you know, a considerable number of our students enter with advanced standing. If, however, the Association has adopted that as a regulation it would hardly I suppose be practicable to change it.

It will be necessary to have some very specific plan made for carrying out the appointment. I will ask that such plans be drafted here, and will have a copy submitted to you. Mr. Angell suggests that the selection of the candidate be determined by a Committee, on which

Dear Sir,

At the Centennial celebration of the University of Berlin, a commemorative medal of Emperor William II was handed to me and later on two volumes of Leib's History of the Uni-university books were sent to me by the university authorities. As these things were at doubt not needed for use personally but for the university which I represented, I am sending you the model and the books by international parcel post. At the same time I wish to apologize for keeping them so long.

My dear Professor Bolza:—

Your favor of the 4th of February was duly received, and since then the two volumes of the history of the University of Berlin. These books possibly belong to our Library, and I have sent them there. Thank you very much for your courtesy in turning them over. The medal has also arrived, and will be placed in the University Library for preservation. I am very much indebted for your courtesy in the whole matter.

Mrs. Judson and I are expecting to start the last of next week for an absence of some six or seven months in China and Japan. We sail on the 21st inst. in the "Imperator". I wish we might see you and your good wife, but we shall be

Dear Mr. Brundage:

As soon as the plaster cast of the Conference Medal has been received at the University I shall see that Professor Stagg exhibits it somewhere in Bartlett Gymnasium.

I have received the medal to be given next June. We shall have this medal exhibited. I think it will attract most attention in the Reynolds Club.

I have also called the attention of our Alumni Magazine to the medal and have suggested to the editor the publication of a photograph of the obverse and reverse with an account of the medal. We are trying in every way to cooperate with you in giving distinction to the award.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir:

With the idea of stimulating interest in the Conference Medal, our Committee has had made nine large plaster casts of it, one of which has been sent to you for the University trophy room.

The medal for next year has been shipped to you also. Will you have this medal, with a suitable placard describing the method of its award and the purpose of its foundation, displayed in some conspicuous place in the commons, union or gymnasium where it will be seen by the greatest number of undergraduates.

We want the medal to represent one of the highest honors for which an undergraduate can strive and ask you to cooperate with us to this end.

Kindly acknowledge receipt of the medal and the cast.

By letter dated 10th May, 1924, the Executive Council of this Conference sends you the following:

The Executive Council

Dear Mr. Tuohy:

We are pleased to inform you that the Provincial Conference of Alberta Association has elected you as their representative to attend the meeting of the National Conference to be held in Ontario. This decision was made after careful consideration and consultation with the members of the Provincial Conference. We believe that your presence at the National Conference will greatly enhance our representation and strengthen our collective efforts.

We extend our warmest congratulations to you on this significant achievement. Your leadership and dedication have not gone unnoticed, and we have no doubt that your participation in the National Conference will be invaluable. We are confident that your insights and contributions will make a positive impact.

Please accept our congratulations and best wishes for a successful and productive meeting. We are looking forward to hearing about your experiences and the outcomes of the National Conference. Your report to the Provincial Conference will be eagerly awaited.

Thank you for your favor of January 30 regarding the Rosenberger matters.

I have left a memorandum for the President, calling his attention to the uncompleted arrangements for administering the original gift, and also bringing to his attention the newly proposed prizes, to be established in memory of Mrs. Rosenberger. To the Committee on the Rosenberger Prize:

Assuming that the President's office has transmitted the chief facts about the Rosenberger Foundation including the item that the income is expected to be $50.00 annually, will the members of the committee on plans for awarding the same consider, before their first meeting, the following questions:—

1. For what sort of distinction should the awards be made?

2. Instead of a definition in answer to one, would it be preferable to interpret the letter of gift from time to time as occasion might arise?

3. Should the awards be made to persons within some specified academic grade, as (a) undergraduates (b) holders of Master's degree (c) holders of Doctor's degree (d) persons not more (or less) than X years after receiving the Ph.D., etc., etc.

4. Should the awards be restricted to members of academic faculties?

5. Shall awards be restricted to our own (a) students (b) alumni (c) faculties, or shall they be made on the basis of merit irrespective of location?

6. How often should the awards be made?

7. Should the award be a medal or other symbol, or cash?

8. Should the achievement for which the award is made fall within a predetermined time limit?

9. As the decisions will depend somewhat upon the order of importance assigned to the involved considerations, which of the foregoing questions should have precedence? Although the method of award can hardly be discussed without presuming some sort of solution of the above problems, it is evident that responsibility for the award will fall upon our Faculties, and it is desirable that the members of the Committee shall consider the questions:— (Assuming that awards will have the formal authorization of the Board of Trustees)

1. Should nominations be made to the Trustees or to the Senate?

2. Should a standing committee of the Senate be charged with selection of candidates for awards?

3. Is some sort of commission, either permanent, or occasional, preferable?

4. Can the composition of a permanent or occasional recommending body be indicated?
January 30th, 1919.

My dear Mr. Angell-

In re the Rosenberger "medal or prize", a committee was appointed during the Spring Quarter, 1919, to draw up recommendations for interpreting and administering the gift. The committee consisted of Angell, T.G. Chamberlin, J.F. Hall, Jordan, Leing, Michelson, Small, Chairman.

As soon as my notification was received, I applied to the Secretary of the Board of Trustees for all the information in his possession about the terms of the gift. I also requested the President's office to transmit the same information to each member of the committee.

Thereupon I drew up and sent to each member of the committee the enclosed scheme of questions, as a basis for comparison of views. At the same time I asked the committee to meet at a date of which I have no record. You were the only member of the committee who appeared, and my memoranda had not come to your attention, so that you were not prepared to express an opinion.

It was then so close to the end of the Spring Quarter, and several of the members of the committee were so inaccessible, that I did not make a second attempt to collect them, and the matter had entirely escaped my memory.

I await your judgment as to whether the second Rosenberger gift should be acted on by this same Committee, or whether the latter should be called for the single purpose originally committed to it.

With respect to the second Rosenberger gift, my judgment is quite clear that, in accordance with the evident purpose of the letter.

1. A prize of approximately $75.00 should be offered in alternate years for a piece of work which should be defined and judged by the School of Education.

2. A prize of approximately $75.00 should be offered in alternate years for a piece of work which should be defined and administered by the "Social Science Group". For this purpose it would seem to me wise to redefine the Social Science Group, so as to include specifically the Department of Religious Education. Perhaps it would be better for the President to appoint for this purpose a permanent commission representing the Social Science Group in a quite elastic sense.

3. I suppose it would go without saying that in each case, the award would not be made without the approval of the President.

4. It would seem to me wise to put the responsibility for organizing and administering procedure in the case of the social science prize upon some individual, as quasi-permanent chairman of the commission suggested. He would correspond in function with the more obviously indicated Director of the School of Education in the case of the other prize.

I am not quite clear whether you wanted me to express my mind about the letter of gift, as to its form of expression. The English department would doubtless see room for improvement in it as a sample of composition, but its intention seems clear enough. If the writer desired help in revising its form I beg to defer to some higher authority.

Sincerely,
April 11, 1918.

Dean James R. Angell,
Faculty Exchange.

Dear Mr. Angell:

The bestowing of the Rosenberger Medal was provided for April 5, 1917, by a letter from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rosenberger in which it is stated that from the funds given either an honor medal or a cash prize to be known respectively as the "Rosenberger Medal, founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, awarded by the University of Chicago" or the "Rosenberger Prize, founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger" shall be awarded.

The medal or the prize, the one or the other, to be awarded as deemed best, shall be "in recognition of achievement through research, in authorship in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity. If at any time it is thought best, the awards may be restricted preferentially, or even wholly to persons connected with the University of Chicago and its various departments, including all the faculties and other instructors, all the students (graduate and undergraduate) and all the graduates, both of the University and of all the departments thereof. The medal may be of such material and design and contain such special inscriptions as may be changed at will."

Very truly yours,

The medal may be of such material and design and contain such special inscriptions as may be deemed best, and in such respects it may be changed at will."
Outlook, Nov. 8, 1919.

Your story excited the emotions of an entire audience. It was a story of human courage and endurance, of unflagging determination and unfruitful labor, of unceasing struggle against impossible odds. It was a story of triumph over adversity, of victory against despair. It was a story of the human spirit, of the indomitable will, of the indomitable heart.

The message of your story is one of hope, of courage, of victory. It is a message that will inspire and strengthen all who hear it. It is a message that will inspire and strengthen all who read it. It is a message that will inspire and strengthen all who live it.

Your story is a story of the human spirit, of the indomitable will, of the indomitable heart. It is a story of victory against despair, of triumph over adversity. It is a story of hope, of courage, of victory.

Thank you for sharing your story with us. It is a story that will not be forgotten.

To the Committee of the Honorable House:

A number of the members of the House of Representatives have recently pointed out that the committee on ways and means is not in a position to meet the demands of the state for a fair distribution of the taxes. They have suggested that the following measures be taken:

1. The form of taxation should be so arranged as to make it impossible for any one to escape paying the full tax.
2. The committee on ways and means should be empowered to fix the rate of taxation in such a way as to meet the demands of the state.
3. The committee on ways and means should be authorized to make such changes in the laws as may be necessary to effect the object of the committee.
4. The committee on ways and means should be empowered to fix the rate of taxation in such a way as to meet the demands of the state.

STATEMENT OF THE

SUSAN COLVER-ROSENBERGER EDUCATIONAL PRIZES

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees held February 11, 1919, the Business Manager presented the following letters from Mr. Jesse L. Rosenberger with regard to the establishment of the Susan Colver-Rosenberger Educational Prizes:

Chicago, February 10, 1919.

The Trustees of the University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

Herewith I tender to you municipal bonds of the face value of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), to endow in perpetuity what shall be known as the Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prizes, only the income of the endowment ever to be used, and such income to be used only to be awarded as such prizes in such sums as may seem best: (a) One prize to be awarded in one year, or at one time, either in connection with the School of Education or such other department of the University as may be deemed best, for a thesis that shall meet the requirements of the University and give the results of valuable original research on some important phase of sound elementary, home, kindergarten, primary, or grammar school education, its principles, needs, methods, or discipline, or pertaining to child welfare, or else, when thought best, to be awarded for the best practical essay or thesis produced in competition and treating in some original way of one or the other of said subjects; (b) the next prize to be awarded the next year or time in connection with such other department or departments of the University as may be thought best, as a reward for meritorious original research and an acceptable thesis, or competitively for the best essay or thesis, on some important phase of education or educational principles, needs, or methods in relation to, or as an essential part of religious, home or foreign mission, Sunday-school, social settlement or betterment work, or in relation to the general welfare, whichever it is believed at the time will do the most good. It is particularly desired to encourage original research of a kind to warrant and secure publication. In other words, it is desired to have the prizes awarded alternately, as stimuli for constructive study and original research to develop practical ideas for the improvement of educational aims and methods in the fields suggested and among the students in such departments of the University as it may from time to time be thought the greatest good will be done, but should it at any time be thought best to divide the income of this endowment, equally or unequally, for the purpose of making two concurrent prizes, then the STATEMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

SUGGESTED DISCUSSION TOPICS

This document discusses various topics related to the University of Chicago, including its growth, development, and research. The text highlights the importance of the university's role in education and scientific advancement, and it encourages further exploration and discussion of these themes. The document is structured to facilitate in-depth analysis and engagement with these critical issues.
prizes may both be awarded in the same year, and one without any reference to the other. Awards may be withheld at any time it is thought best, and income or portions of income may be allowed to accumulate, or may be added to the permanent principal of the endowment as desired.

This endowment is intended to be a special memorial to my late wife, Susan Colver Rosenberger (Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, nee Susan Esther Colver), and to the end that her name may distinctively continue in the cause of education to be something of the inspiration which she herself was in her lifetime, she having practically consecrated her life to that cause, as well as having taken an interest in religious, home and foreign mission work, while it was one of her special characteristics to encourage and show appreciation for the advancement of teachers and pupils. She spent nearly thirty years in the service of the public schools of Chicago, first as a teacher, and then for twenty-two years as a principal, until she broke down in health. She possessed exceptional intellectual ability, great strength of character, and boundless energy, which made her unusually successful in whatever she undertook. She also possessed a keen sense of justice and a very democratic spirit. She was a graduate of the old University of Chicago, class of 1882, and received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. She was born in South Abington, Massachusetts, November 15, 1859, and died in Chicago, November 19, 1918. Other information about her is given in the University Record for January, 1919, in an article on "Nathaniel Colver, D.D.", her grandfather, and which mentions her father, Rev. Charles Kendrick Colver, and the endowments which she and I together had the pleasure of making for the University.

(Signed) Jesse L. Rosenberger.

February 10, 1919.

The Trustees of the University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

In making the endowment gift mentioned in my letter of even date herewith, it is my intention to give, and I give, to the Trustees of the University of Chicago full power to collect, sell and dispose of the securities mentioned therein, and from time to time, to invest and re-invest the proceeds as they shall deem best for the maintenance of the principal of said endowment in perpetuity.

(Signed) Jesse L. Rosenberger.

The Board voted to accept the gift of Mr. Rosenberger for the purposes mentioned. The securities received were as follows:

Campbell Co., Tennessee, 5% Road Bonds -- -- $ 500.
Allamance Co., North Carolina, 5%
   Highway Improvement Bonds -- -- 1,000.
Total -- -- -- $1,500.
The Board of Directors of the University of Chicago,

Gentlemen,

I have the honor to submit the following report in relation to the University of Chicago for the year ending September 30, 1929.

The report of the Executive Committee is as follows:

The report of the Executive Committee for the year ending September 30, 1929, has been prepared by the Executive Committee and approved by the Board of Directors.

Respectfully submitted,

Chairman of the Board of Directors
The investments produce an annual income of $75.00, which would be the amount of the annual prize. During the years 1919-20 and 1920-21 no award of prizes was made; therefore income on hand to the amount of $187.50 is available for additional prizes or an increase in the annual amount. During the year 1921-22 the prize was awarded to Vard Laren Tanner for a dissertation on "The Comparative Opportunity of Bright and Dull Pupils during the Class Period".

Since the death of his wife, Mr. Rosenberger has written a book entitled "Through Three Centuries" which is published by the University of Chicago Press. The contract provides for payment to the University of royalties on sales, to be added to the principal of the Susan Colver-Rosenberger Educational Prizes fund. The amount accruing to the fund for sales during the year 1921-22 was $49.17.

Respectfully submitted,

November 6, 1922.

- Expenses: $380,000

The company's net income for the year ended December 31, 2020, is $120,000.
best to divide the income of this endowment, equally or unequally, for the purpose of making two concurrent prizes, then the prizes may both be awarded in the same year, and one without any reference to the other. Awards may be withheld at any time it is thought best, and income or portions of income may be allowed to accumulate, or may be added to the permanent principal of the endowment as desired.

The principal sum of this fund was raised by Mr. Rosenberger, on July 1, 1924, from $1500. to $3500. And it is definitely understood that the award $125, is to be made in the Department of Education, for the year 1924-5; and the following year, in the Divinity School; and in the year next following, in the Department of Sociology. The award is to be continued annually in this order or rotation.

This endowment is intended to be a special memorial to my late wife, Susan Colver Rosenberger (Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, née Susan Esther Colver), and to the end that her name may distinctively continue in the cause of education to be something of the inspiration which she herself was in her lifetime, she having practically consecrated her life to that cause, as well as having taken an interest in religious, home and foreign mission work, while it was one and of her special characteristics to encourage/show appreciation for the advancement of teachers and pupils. She spent nearly thirty years in the service of the public schools of Chicago, first as a teacher, and then for twenty-two years as a principal, until she broke down in health. She possessed exceptional intellectual ability, great strength of character, and boundless energy, which made her unusually successful in whatever she undertook. She also possessed a keen sense of justice and a very democratic spirit. She was a graduate of the old University of Chicago, class of 1883, and received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. She was born in South Abington, Massachusetts, November 16, 1859, and died in Chicago November 19, 1919.
THE SUSAN COLVER ROSENBERGER EDUCATIONAL PRIZE

The Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prize was established by Jesse L. Rosenberger. Only the income of the endowment may be used. It is to be awarded annually to one of the following three departments in rotation: Education, Divinity, and Sociology. The prize is to be awarded in one year or at one time for a dissertation that shall meet the requirements of the University and give the results of valuable original research on some important phase of education. It is particularly desired to encourage original research of a kind to warrant and secure publication. In other words, it is desired to have the prize awarded as a stimulus for constructive study and original research to develop practical ideas for the improvement of educational aims and methods.

The award may be withheld at any time it is thought best, and income or portions of income may be allowed to accumulate or may be added to the permanent principal of the endowment as desired. This endowment is intended to be a special memorial to Susan Colver Rosenberger (Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger), to the end that her name may distinctively continue in the cause of education to be something of the inspiration that she herself was in her lifetime.

Dear Mr. President,

The Committee on the Award of the Rosenberger Medal unanimously recommends as recipient of the medal to be given at the June Convocation this year, Dr. F. G. Banting, of the University of Toronto. The members of the Committee, after considering a great many names, are convinced that no one else has in so striking a way the qualifications which Mr. Rosenberger had in mind. The two points that Mr. Rosenberger seems to have emphasized are: First, Benefit to Humanity; and second, that the conferring of the medal should be contemporaneous with the interest aroused by the achievement.

By his discovery of insulin, and the enormous relief that it has afforded in diabetes, Dr. Banting is probably the most talked-of man in the world of medicine today.

He was born in Alliston, Ontario, in 1891; graduated from the local high school in 1912; and entered the medical school of the University of Toronto. He received the degree of M.D. in 1916 from the same institution. He was licensed as a practising physician in 1916, and practised for some time in London, Ontario. He was, however, primarily interested in research and returned to the University to carry on his study of the pancreas. After long and persistent efforts in which he was most generously supported by Professor McCleod, of the Department of Physiology of the University of Toronto (who provided him with all possible facilities in his laboratory) he succeeded in making the discovery that has caused such widespread interest. The Nobel Prize was recently conferred upon him and Professor McCleod for this discovery. The original idea was, however, undoubtedly Banting's, and I understand that Professor McCleod has never contested this. Dr. Banting now is Research Professor in the University of Toronto.

Dr. Bensley of our Department of Anatomy knows Banting, and I have no doubt would be very glad to give you any further information. Sincerely yours,
Dear Mr. President,

The Commission on the Awards of the Rockefeller Foundation is pleased to announce the receipt of the funds and the establishment of the Institute of Human Relations at the University of Toronto. The members of the Commission have been deeply impressed by the work of the Institute and the high standards of scholarship which have been achieved. The two Dr. Hummel and Dr. B. S. are to be congratulated on their fine work in the field of social science.

By the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller, the Institute is able to carry on its work of research and education in a most satisfactory manner. The University of Toronto is deeply grateful for the support of these friends.

The funds have been allocated to the Institute in the following manner: 20% for research, 25% for teaching, 25% for travel, and 20% for general administration.

We are proud to announce that the Institute is already making a significant contribution to the advancement of knowledge in the field of human relations.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

I have read with much interest your suggestions with regard to renaming "The Rosenberger Medal," and I might possibly have taken a somewhat different view of it if they had come to me at an earlier time. Against that possibility, however, stands the fact that the medal was founded by "Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger" (which the medal is required to state)--and was not founded by me alone--and Mrs. Rosenberger is no longer here to concur in any change. As I wrote, in December last, to Dr. Dickerson: "I do not wish to add to, limit, or in any way change the provisions for awarding 'The Rosenberger Medal' which were made at the time it was founded." That is just as true of any other change.

You suggest that it might be called "The University of Chicago Medal." As I recall it, one of the provisions was that it was to be specifically stated that it was "Awarded by The University of Chicago," and at several different times--during a period of several years--I made rude sketches which I gave to persons having the medal matter in charge, and in those sketches I subordinated "The Rosenberger Medal, Founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger," while I made as prominent as I could: "AWARDED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO." That was changed, without my being consulted, to the present form of legends and placing of them, and against my suggestion that at least the legend put on the reverse side should be put on the obverse, and vice versa, which may, or may not, have been a good suggestion.

Furthermore, I do not think that it will matter much in twenty-five or fifty years from now what name the medal bears, just so that it has one for its identification. Its significance ultimately, I believe, will depend entirely on the discrimination and care with which, from the very first, it is at all times awarded.

My address remains, for the present, in care of The Osburn House, 104 South Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Very truly yours,

I should like very much to have an opportunity of talking over with you some matters connected with the Rosenberger Medal. You will perhaps remember that the recommendations in regard to the award of the medal are now being considered by the committee of the University Senate. I happened to be chairman of that committee, and we have been trying to decide whether we shall accept the nomination of Professor J. H. van Arkel of Massachusetts Institute of Technology for the medal, which will be awarded at the next Convocation. Since this matter is of great importance to me, I have thought it would be best to refer it to you. In connection with our discussion of candidates and the purpose which you had in mind in the establishment of the medal, some members of the committee suggested that perhaps you should take up with us the question of the name of the medal. This suggestion arose through the somewhat similar case of the medal awarded for outstanding achievement in the field of chemistry by Professor William A. N. Converse. When Mr. Converse in his generosity first established this award the name for the medal which he and his associates had in mind was The William A. N. Converse Medal. It was pointed out to him, however, that his name might not be as significant to experts as the name of some great leader in that field of work. Accordingly, the proposal was made to him to call the medal The Willard Gibbs Medal, in honor of Professor Gibbs, of Yale University, who is regarded by most people as the greatest chemist that America ever produced. The design and inscription on this medal are now as follows:

On the obverse, the head of Gibbs. On the reverse, around the edge, the words Willard Gibbs Medal. In the central field on the top:

Founded by William A. Converse
Awarded to (with blank space for the name of the recipient)

Below: By the Chicago Section of the American Chemical Society.

I wonder if you would be willing to consider a change in the name of the medal which you have so generously donated to the University of Chicago. As your medal is not given in a special field like the Willard Gibbs medal, there is of course in this respect a difference between the two awards; but we could find some other appropriate name for it. One title that has been suggested is The University of Chicago Medal, below which of course appear the words, Founded by Jesse L. Rosenberger. The other suggestion is that it should be called The Humanity Medal, in view of the emphasis which the original terms of your Foundation placed on the idea of the recipient having conferred some benefit on humanity. We might even use some Latinized form like the Medallum Pro Humanitate. These are only suggestions but I hasten to raise them with you because I understand that the models of the medal are already in the hands of the Medallic Art Company, New York City. In case you are willing to discuss this matter, you will see of course the necessity of stopping any work that the Art Company before may have done until the decision of the name of the medal has been definitely settled. I am, therefore, enclosing this letter to you for the purpose of being informed of your views as to whether the committee would please transfer the design to your office or whether the original models must be retained. As this is a matter of very great importance, I hope that you will give it most careful consideration.

I am, very truly yours,

Dear Dean Laing:

I am inclosing a print showing the obverse and reverse of the Willard Gibbs Medal. On second thoughts, I would like to urge that the medal be given officially the Latin name Medallum Pro Humanitate with the understanding that in a colloquial way, it will be called the Humanity Medal. My reason for this recommendation is that "humanity" is, of course, a word of enormous import and value, and it might look somewhat of an extreme for the University of Chicago to use the term as a specific title for its medal. The Latinized phrase, however, is not exclusive as would be the title Humanity Medal, and therefore could not be open to the same objection.

Dean G. J. Laing,

Dear Dean Laing:

The Board of Trustees has adopted the following procedure in the matter of awarding the Rosenberger Medal:

1. That a standing committee of the University Senate on awards of the Rosenberger Medal be appointed by the President of the University to make recommendations to the President of the University from time to time, these recommendations when approved by him to be submitted to the Board of Trustees.

2. That the recipient of the medal shall be chosen in recognition of achievement of contemporaneous interest, that is, the conferring of the medal should be contemporaneous with the interest aroused by the person who has invented something, or written something, or discovered something which would be regarded as of "benefit to humanity".

3. That the medal shall be awarded once in three years at a June Convocation, but if some particularly significant discovery or achievement should be regarded as worthy of recognition, the medal could be awarded oftener than three years, permitting the income to accumulate to make good any slight overdraft which might be necessary.

4. That the medal shall be presented at a June Convocation, as above, the recipient if possible being present. The absence of the recipient, however, not to stand in the way of conferring the medal.

5. That the medal shall always be of gold.

The medal was endowed by Mr. Jesse L. Rosenberger in 1917 "to be awarded, as deemed best, in recognition of achievement through research, in authorship, in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity".

I believe the models for the medal are in the hands of the Medallie Art Company, New York City.

Yours very truly,

Assistant Secretary.

My dear Mr. Rosenberger:

I am returning herewith the memorandum sheet which you handed to me. We have made copies for the heads of each of the three departments concerned. We have added this statement:

"The principal sum of this fund was raised by Mr. Rosenberger, on July 1st, 1924, from $1500. to $2500. And it is definitely understood that the award ($125.) is to be made in the Department of Education, for the year 1924-5; and the following year, in the Divinity School; and in the year next following, in the Department of Sociology. My dear Dr. Judd:

I am sorry to keep on plaguing you about the Rosenberger award. I have no doubt you will already have seen the memorandum which I sent you yesterday, copies of which I sent also to Mathews and Paris. The President is exceedingly anxious that this award in particular should go into commission as soon as may be practicable. As you know the award has not been used for two or three years, and Mr. Rosenberger is feeling a little bit uneasy about it. We would like to have the award made first of all, as indicated in my memorandum of yesterday, in the School of Education.

Will it be practicable to nominate the beneficiary now, or would it be better to wait until the opening of the year in October? Perhaps you can answer with least inconvenience to yourself by making a memorandum on this sheet and returning it to me through the Faculty Exchange.

My dear Dr. Judd:

This is one more letter about the Susan Colver Rosenberger Prize. I recall distinctly your letter to me of December 10th which made quite clear the reason why the prize had not been used by your department.

I have just had a long interview with Mr. Rosenberger, and he has decided to increase the principal sum to $3500, and asks that we begin all over again the use of the gift. He would like to have the use of the fund rotate year by year, assigning it for the year to come to the Department of Education, and the next year perhaps the Divinity School, and the third year to the Department of Sociology. The Prize would be the income of $2500 at 5%, that is to say $125.

Will you at your convenience think this matter over and nominate someone to enjoy the benefit of the Prize for the next year.

Very truly yours,

Secretary to the President.

Dr. Charles H. Judd

My dear Mr. Rosenberger:

I am writing this as a memorandum of our conversation in our recent interview. Accordingly we understand that you have generously increased the principal sum of the Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prize Fund so that it now stands at $2500; further we understand that it is your wish that the benefit of this gift be extended in rotation to the Department of Education, Divinity, and Sociology respectively. I am proposing in accordance with your request and my promise to furnish to the chairman of each of these divisions of the University a copy in full of the provision of this gift as recited in the sheet which you handed to me and which I will return to you in due time. I think that what I have written covers the essential points of arrangement which you described to me as acceptable to you.

I hope it is quite clear to you that the University gratefully appreciates all that your generosity expresses and that we shall see to it that the benefits of the gift are extended in the spirit of the donor.

May I add my great personal pleasure in having formed your acquaintance and in the interviews which we have had, and further my grateful appreciation of the book which you were good enough to give me.

My dear Dr. Butler:

Mr. Rosenberger has made an additional gift of $500 for the purpose of bringing the Susan Colyer Rosenberger Educational Prizes Fund up to $2,500. I think it will be safe to announce that the income available for the prize or prizes for the year 1924-25 will be $125. Certainly it can be announced as the income on $2,500. I shall take pains to secure an investment, if possible, that will be sure to yield the amount indicated.

In view of the fact that the University has failed to arrange for competition for the prizes from year to year. I think it would be desirable if particular pains were taken to avoid the possibility of any such mishap in the future.

Yours very truly,

Dr. Nathaniel Butler,

My dear Mr. Butler:

Arrangements have been made whereby the Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prize Fund has been increased to the sum of $2,000. When announcement of the prize is made, I assume that it should be indicated as the income on $2,000.

Yours very truly,

My dear Dr. Judd:

I notice in checking over the list of prizes that the Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prize was not awarded during the year just closing. I wonder if this was due to the fact that the competition was not considered of sufficient grade to justify the award of the prize, or if the prize was not offered by the departments interested.

We have had several inquiries from Mr. Rosenberger concerning this prize, and we should like to have definite information as to the present status before replying to him.

Thanking you for your co-operation in this matter, I am

Very truly yours,

Secretary to Dr. Butler.

My dear President Burton:

I notice in checking over the list of prizes against the appropriations that the Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prize was not awarded during the year just closing. I wonder if this was due to the fact that the competition was not considered of sufficient grade to justify the award of a prize, or if the prize was not offered by the departments interested. You will recall that I wrote you about this under date of November 17, 1923, after the receipt of a call from Mr. Rosenberger inquiring with regard to the prize. At that time he suggested that it might be competed for in rotation, if thought desirable, in the School of Education, the Divinity School, and the Department of Sociology.

Yours very truly,

President E. D. Burton,

To: Head Personnel Officer

I have just received your letter of June 20, 1940, regarding the commence ment of the employment of personnel for the new year. It is our expectation that the new year will bring a new and more active atmosphere to our department. I am sure that you will be able to handle the personnel in such a manner that the work will be accomplished with efficiency and economy. I enclose a copy of the latest report of personnel for your information.

Yours truly,

My dear Dr. Butler:

I think that we have been very delinquent in the matter of the Rosenberger prize. Two years ago my attention was drawn to this prize very shortly before Convocation in June. We had at that time an excellent piece of work which we could recommend and an award was made to Mr. Tanner of the prize.

Last year my attention was called by some one of the officers of the University to the matter just one day before Convocation, and there was nothing that we could recommend.

You will note that the prize was given to three divisions of the University. So far as I know, no specification has been made as to the way in which the interests of these three divisions shall be adjusted. We had assumed on some authority, (I think that it was quite definitely on information which came to us at the time that the prize was awarded) that we had a right to it once every third year. I then inquired which was to be our year, with a view of giving some publicity to the prize, but I never got a ruling on this matter.

My suggestion is that we proceed to make a regular program, allotting the prize one year to one of the divisions of the University mentioned in the Deed of Gift, and on other times to other proper divisions of the University.

It seems to me desirable after this allotment has been made that the announcement of the prize should be not only published in the general circulars but should be a matter of notice on the bulletin boards of the appropriate division of the University throughout the year in which it is to be awarded.

Very truly yours,

I am filled with the hope and confidence in the future of our country. The situation of the educational system in this country is grave to the point where practical steps must be taken to ensure the future of our country. It is of great importance that we strive for excellence in all fields of study. I am confident that we are on the right path.

You will note from the foregoing that the main aim of the educational system is the promotion of knowledge and understanding. You may desire that the main aim be to raise the level of education in the country. The situation is grave to the point where practical steps must be taken to ensure the future of the country. We must rely on the educational system to provide a foundation for the future.

Trustees of the University of Chicago,

I have the honor to tender you municipal bonds in the sum of one thousand dollars, to endow in perpetuity what shall be known as the Susan Colver Rosenberger Educational Prizes, only the income of the endowment ever to be used, and such income to be used only to hand out as such prizes in such sums as may seem best: (a) One prize to be awarded in one year, or at one time, either in connection with the School of Education or other department of the University as may be deemed best, for a thesis that shall meet the requirements of the University and give the results of valuable original research on some important phase of sound elementary, home, kindergarten, primary, or grammar school education, its principles, needs, methods, or discipline, or pertaining to child welfare, or else, when thought best, to be awarded for the best practical essay or thesis produced in competition and treating in some original way of one or the other of said subjects; (b) the next prize to be awarded the next year, or time in connection with the other department of the University as may be thought best, as a reward for meritorious original research and an acceptable thesis, or competitively for the best essay or thesis, on some important phase of education or educational principles, needs, or methods in relation to, or as an essential part of, rural, urban, home or foreign mission, Sunday-school, social settlement or betterment work, or in relation to the general welfare, whichever it is believed at the time will do the most good. It is particularly desired to encourage original research of a kind warrant and secure publication. In other words, it is desired to have the prizes awarded alternately, as stimuli for constructive study and original research, to develop practical ideas for the improvement of educational aims and methods in the fields suggested and among the students in such departments of the University as it may from time to time be thought the greatest good will be done, but should it at any time be thought best to divide the income of this endowment, equally or unequally, for the purpose of making two concurrent prizes, then the prizes may both be awarded in the same year, or one without any reference to the other. Awards may be withheld at any time it is thought best, and income or portions of income may be allowed to accumulate, or added to the permanent principal of the endowment as desired.

This endowment is intended to be a special memorial to my late wife, Susan Colver Rosenberger (Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, nee Susan Esther Colvar), and to the end that her name may distinctively continue in the cause of education to be something of the inspiration which she herself was in her life-time, she having practically consecrated her life to that cause, as well as having taken an interest in various urban, home and foreign missions, while she was one of her special characteristics to encourage and show appreciation for the advancement of teachers and pupils. She spent nearly thirty years in the service of the public schools of Chicago, first as a teacher, and then for twenty-two years as a principal, until she broke down in health. She possessed exceptional intellectual ability, great strength of character, and boundless energy, which made her unusually successful in whatever she undertook. She also possessed a keen sense of justice and a very democratic spirit. She was a graduate of the old University of Chicago, class of 1882, and received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. She was born in South Abington, Massachusetts, November 15, 1859, and died in Chicago November 25, 1918. Other information about her is given in the University Record for January, 1919, in an article on "Hannahel Colver, B.D., her grandmother, and which mentions her father, Reverend Charles Kendrick Colver, and the endowments which she and I together had the pleasure of making for the University."

The Trustees of the University of Chicago,

In making the endowment gift mentioned in my letter of even date herewith, it is my intention to give, and I give, to the Trustees of the University of Chicago full power to collect, sell and dispose of the securities mentioned herein, and from time to time, to invest and re-invest the proceeds as they shall deem best for the maintenance of the principal of said endowment in perpetuity.

(Signed) Jesse L. Rosenberger
To provide, from time to time, from the income or portions of the income of such endowment, either an honor medal or a cash prize, to be known respectively as "The Rosenberger Medal, Founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, Awarded by The University of Chicago," or "The Rosenberger Prize, Founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger," such medal or such prize, the one or the other, to be awarded, as deemed best, in recognition of achievement through research, in authorship, in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity. (If at any time it is thought best, the awards may be restricted, preferentially, or even wholly, to persons connected with The University of Chicago and its various departments, including all the faculties and other instructors, all the students (graduate and undergraduate) and all the graduates, both of the University and of all the departments thereof.) The medal may be of such material and design and contain such special inscriptions as may be deemed best, and in such respects it may be changed at will.

It would appear to be desirable that a committee of the University Senate should cooperate with the committee of the Board of Trustees.

To the Board of Trustees,
University of Chicago.

In April, 1917, Mr. Jesse L. Rosenberger, who had made several contributions to the University for various purposes, gave $1,000 as an endowment to provide an honor medal or cash prize to be known as "The Rosenberger Medal Founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger" or (should a cash prize be given) the Rosenberger Prize, etc. Subsequently Mr. Rosenberger contributed another $1,000 as the endowment for the medal. With the interest accumulated and a small gift toward the payment of the design of the medal the fund will amount to approximately $2,900 by January 1, next.

The medal, in the terms of the gift, is to be awarded "in recognition of achievement through research in authorship, in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity."

As a result of a competition among sculptors of Chicago, under the direction of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds, the commission to design the medal was awarded to Mr. Fred Torrey of the Midway Studios. It is now practically completed. The design, a most excellent one, has been approved by Mr. Hutchinson, Chairman of the Committee.

The medal fund will produce sufficient income to enable the University to award a gold medal, estimated to cost $100 to $120, every three or four years. A silver medal costs about one-sixth as much as a gold medal and a bronze medal about one-tenth as much as a gold medal. The medals will measure three inches by four inches. Until the dies are completed it is impossible to make an exact estimate of the cost of the medals.

At the request of President Burton, the Secretary is asking the Board to appoint a committee to recommend plans for awarding the medal. These recommendations, it is suggested, should cover: (1) the policy for selecting the recipient of the medal; (2) the frequency of the award; (3) the metal of the medal (whether gold, silver or bronze); (4) the time and place for bestowing the medal.
To the Board of Trustees of the University of Chicago,

April 15, 1927

Mr. President, Mr. Secretary,

I am aware of the necessity of securing a larger income for the University. In view of the present financial crisis, it is imperative that steps be taken to increase the income. The proposed increase of $10,000 is an indication of the necessity for action. The president has called a meeting of the faculty to discuss the matter. It is hoped that a substantial increase can be obtained.

Sincerely yours,

STATEMENT OF THE

ROSENBERGER MEDAL FUND

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees held April 10, 1917, the Business Manager presented the following letter from Mr. Jesse L. Rosenberger and Mrs. Susan E. Rosenberger, his wife, with regard to the establishment of the Rosenberger Medal Fund:

2628 Lake View Ave., Chicago, Ill.
April 5, 1917.

The Trustees of
The University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

We hereby tender to you a long-time five per cent bond for one thousand dollars ($1,000), to found, with the principal, an endowment in perpetuity to provide, from time to time, from the income or portions of the income of such endowment, either an honor medal or a cash prize, to be known respectively as "The Rosenberger Medal, Founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, Awarded by The University of Chicago," or "The Rosenberger Prize, Founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger," such medal or such prize, the one or the other, to be awarded, as deemed best, in recognition of achievement through research, in authorship, in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity. If at any time it is thought best, the awards may be restricted, preferentially, or even wholly, to persons connected with The University of Chicago and its various departments, including all the faculties and other instructors, all the students (graduate and undergraduate) and all the graduates, both of the University and of all the departments thereof. The medal may be of such material and design and contain such special inscriptions as may be deemed best, and in such respects it may be changed at will.

Income or portions of the income from this endowment may at any time be allowed to accumulate as desired, or, when desired, may be added to the principal of the endowment. The bond now tendered may be sold at any time that it is deemed best, and the proceeds thereof reinvested as deemed best, for the purposes of this endowment.

This endowment is intended to go into immediate operation.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) Jesse L. Rosenberger
Susan E. Rosenberger

It was voted to accept the $1,000. bond from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rosenberger for the purpose of founding an endowment, the income from which is to provide for the Rosenberger Medal under the conditions stated, and to request the Secretary to express to the donors the thanks of the Board for their gift.

In April 1917 there was turned over to the University one $1,000. Road bond, Dist. #2, Victoria Co., Texas, bearing interest at the rate of five per cent, interest payable annually in April.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees held October 8, 1918, the Business Manager presented the following communication:

October 1, 1918.

The Trustees of
The University of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

We hand you herewith a liberty bond for $1,000. to be added to the principal of the endowment in perpetuity of the Rosenberger Medal and the Rosenberger Prize, founded by us in 1917.

(Signed) Jesse L. Rosenberger
Susan E. Rosenberger

It was voted to accept this additional gift from Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberger, and to express to them the thanks of the Board. Accompanying the letter was a Fourth null
Liberty Loan bond of the par value of $1000. There has been received under the terms of this gift bonds of a total par value of $2000.

Interest on the first bond given was received in April 1918, amounting to $50. Since a prize or medal has not yet been awarded, the amount of this interest was invested in a Fourth Liberty Loan bond of the par value of $50.

At the present time the investments of the fund consist of the following securities:

$1000. Rd. bond, Dist. #2, Victoria Co., Tex. 5% $1000.
1050. Fourth Liberty Loan bonds, 4 1/4% 1050.

$2050.

Respectfully submitted,

February 11, 1919.

July 1, 27: Balance 2023.44
September 28, 1922.

My dear Mr. Rosenberger:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your check for $322.79, being the amount necessary to augment the Rosenberger Medal Fund to $2,750. by October 15, 1922. I understand that the amount in excess of $2,000, the original gift, is available for a design for a medal, model and die. If it should develop that a suitable design, model and die cannot be secured for the amount available, which is $750, I understand that the income on the total sum of $2,750 may be added to the sum of $750 until a sufficient amount is accumulated to secure a suitable design, model and die.

Thanking you on behalf of the University for this additional generosity on your part, I am

Yours very sincerely,

Mr. Geo. F. Roseman:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of youropeck for $3.75, which I am pleased to enclose in payment of the purchase price of the Roseman letterpress printer to $5,270.

I beg to acknowledge that the amount received is $5,000. The difference of $20 is available for the purchase of a suitable 10x10 wood type, subject to your approval. Subject to the above, I enclose a $5,000 check in payment of the amount mentioned.

I understand that the amount of $5,270
may be credited to the same of $5,720.

I understand that the amount of $5,270
is subject to the credit of $5,720.

A suitable type and type are subject to the amount to be paid for the printer at the present rate.

The amount is subject to the credit of $5,720.

Yours very sincerely,

Mr. Axelson submitted the following report:

February 9, 1924.

The Board of Trustees,
University of Chicago.

The committee on procedure in the matter of awarding the Rosenberger Medal submits herewith its report:

The medal was endowed by Mr. Jesse L. Rosenberger in 1917 "to be awarded, as deemed best, in recognition of achievement through research, in authorship, in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity." The conditions of award are further explained by the donor: "If at any time it is thought best, the awards may be restricted, preferentially, or even wholly, to persons connected with the University of Chicago and its various departments, including all the faculties and other instructors, all the students (graduate and undergraduate) and all the graduates, both of the University and of all the departments thereof. The medal may be of such material and design and contain such special inscriptions as may be deemed best, and in such respects it may be changed at will."

In conformity to the action of the Board Professor Albion W. Small cooperated with the committee and the following recommendations of the committee are approved by him.

The committee recommends:

1. That a standing committee of the University Senate on awards of the Rosenberger Medal be appointed by the President of the University to make recommendations to the President of the University from time to time, these recommendations when approved by him to be submitted to the Board of Trustees.

2. That the recipient of the medal shall be chosen in recognition of achievement of contemporaneous interest, that is, the conferring of the medal should be contemporaneous with the interest aroused by the person who has invented something, or written something, or discovered something which would be regarded as of "benefit to humanity".

3. That the medal shall be awarded once in three years at a June Convocation, but if some particularly significant discovery or achievement should be regarded as worthy of recognition, the medal could be awarded oftener than three years, permitting the income to accumulate to make good any slight overdraft which might be necessary.

4. That the medal shall be presented at a June Convocation, as above, the recipient if possible being present. The absence of the recipient, however, not to stand in the way of conferring the medal.

5. That the medal shall always be of gold.

Incidentally the committee reports that the models for the medal are in the hands of the Medallic Art Company, New York, which company is to make the dies when satisfactory arrangements are made.

Dear Mr. President:

The Committee on the Award of the Rosenberger Medal unanimously recommends as recipient of the medal to be given at the June Convocation this year, Dr. F. C. Banting, of the University of Toronto. The members of the Committee, after considering a great many names, are convinced that no one else has in so striking a way the qualifications which Mr. Rosenberger had in mind. The two points that Mr. Rosenberger seems to have emphasized are: First, Benefit to Humanity; and second, that the conferring of the medal should be contemporaneous with the interest aroused by the achievement.

By his discovery of insulin, and the enormous relief that it has afforded in diabetes, Dr. Banting is probably the most talked-of man in the world of medicine today.

He was born in Alliston, Ontario, in 1891; graduated from the local high school in 1912; and entered the medical school of the University of Toronto. He received the degree of M.D. in 1916 from the same institution. He was licensed as a practicing physician in 1916, and practised for some time in London, Ontario. He was, however, primarily interested in research and returned to the University to carry on his study of the pancreas. After long and persistent efforts in which he was most generously supported by Professor McCleod, of the Department of Physiology of the University of Toronto (who provided him with all possible facilities in his laboratory), he succeeded in making the discovery that has caused such widespread interest. The Nobel Prize was recently conferred upon him and Professor McCleod for this discovery. The original idea was, however, undoubtedly Banting's, and I understand that Professor McCleod has never contested this. Dr. Banting now is Research Professor in the University of Toronto.

Dr. Bensley of our Department of Anatomy knows Banting, and I have no doubt would be very glad to give you any further information. Sincerely yours,

I am writing to inform you of the recent meeting of the Committee on the Organization of the Library of the University of Chicago. The Committee, composed of members of the faculty, was convened to consider the matter of the organization of the Library. The Committee, after careful consideration of the matter, has recommended the following:

1. The establishment of a central library committee to be responsible for the administration of the Library.
2. The appointment of a librarian to be responsible for the day-to-day operation of the Library.
3. The development of a comprehensive plan for the expansion of the Library.

I have attached a copy of the Committee's report for your perusal.

THE DISCOVERY OF INSULIN.

The recently much advertised treatment of diabetes by insulin is an excellent illustration of the practical results obtained, indirectly and directly, as a result of purely academic research.

As far back as 1889 von Mering and Minkowski quite accidentally discovered that complete removal of the pancreas in animals caused the same symptoms as were observed in men suffering with diabetes mellitus. That is, the animal is unable to use the sugars taken in the food or formed in the body and, as a result, the sugar is excreted in the urine. Since that time innumerable studies have been conducted by various experimenters in very many different laboratories in the hope of throwing more light upon what actually causes diabetes, and, secondly, in the hope of discovering some mode of treatment of this very serious disease. Several of these investigators from time to time obtained results showing some progress in the right direction. Among these were two studies in our laboratories, namely, by E. L. Scott in 1912 and by Landis and Garrison in 1919. Both of these studies came very near to the discovery of insulin.

The final discovery, however, and the best purification of insulin from pancreas tissue was made in 1922 by the University of Toronto group, namely, F. B. Banting, C. H. Best, J. B. Collip, and J. J. R. Macleod. These investigators perfected the mode of preparation of the active constituent from pancreas tissue and the mode of administration of this material, to such an extent that they could not only easily demonstrate its value in alleviating diabetes in experimental animals, but in relieving the human diabetic. The treatment is,
THE DISCOVERY OF IRRADIATION

The recently made remarkable improvement of diabetes by insulin

\( \text{is an excellent illustration of the practical results of treatment.} \)

By the year 1899, my reading and my work had led me to an awareness of the potential of insulin therapy. This awareness, however, was not immediately translated into practical application.

The development of insulin from the work of Banting and Best was a major breakthrough. The administration of insulin to diabetes patients led to a dramatic improvement in their condition.

In the early years of insulin therapy, there were many challenges to its widespread use. However, the results were overwhelmingly positive.

1. The introduction of insulin to the treatment of diabetes was a significant advance in the management of this disease.
of course, not a cure of diabetes, but the patient is at least able to utilize the sugars he may consume or form in his body, providing he continues the insulin treatment regularly. In other words, in the case of human diabetes, the pancreas gland is not furnishing insulin to the body and therefore insulin must be supplied in the form of the present day treatment.

It is interesting to note that insurance statistics already indicate a lowered death rate due to diabetes since the introduction of insulin treatment.

My dear Dr. Banting:

I am writing to inform you that the Committee on the Award of the Rosenberger Medal unanimously recommends you as the recipient of the Medal to be given at the approaching Convocation which occurs on June 10th. The printed description of this prize, which is known as the Rosenberger Medal, reads as follows:

"This prize, founded by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Rosenberger, is awarded in recognition of achievement through research, in authorship, in invention, for discovery, for unusual public service, or for anything deemed of great benefit to humanity. If at any time it is thought best, the awards may be restricted preferentially, or even wholly, to persons connected with the University of Chicago and its various departments, including all the faculty and other instructors, all the students, graduate and undergraduate, and all the graduates both of the University and of all the departments thereof."

From the communication of the Chairman of the Committee of Award sent to me, I quote the following sentences: "The members of the Committee, after considering a great many names, are convinced that no one else has in so striking a way the qualifications which Mr. Rosenberger had in mind. The two points that Mr. Rosenberger seems to have emphasized are: First, benefit to humanity; and second, that the conferring of the Medal should be contemporaneous with the interest aroused by the achievement." May I add that this is the first time that this Medal has been awarded?

I shall be glad if you find it agreeable and practicable to be present on the occasion of the June Convocation to receive this award in person. However, while your presence here would be highly gratifying, not only to me but to many others, there is no need of your incurring serious inconvenience for that purpose.

Cordially yours,

Dr. F. G. Banting

Dear President Burton:

I received your letter of May 12th announcing that I have been awarded the Rosenberger Medal. I appreciate the honor very greatly and regret that owing to the pressure of work it will be impossible for me to be present at the Convocation on June 10th. Please thank the Committee on my behalf for this honor.

Yours very sincerely,

FGB/DM
