Pres. Wm. R. Harper, University.

My Dear Sir:-

Since meeting you the other day I have been thinking of the suggestion you made concerning the introduction of the new item into the report of the Committee on Honors. I refer to the matter of awarding a scholarship to two students upon completion of the University College course, the one a woman, the other a man. There seem to be two or three difficulties connected with this matter in this form.

1. The committee have taken pains to avoid all honors which involve the singling out of one as against others; that is, we have aimed to have no honor at any stage which, if attained by one, is necessarily out of the reach of all others. Possibly there should be limitations to this principle, but as a general principle the committee believe it to be sound.

2. It seems to me that there would be almost insuperable difficulties in the way of awarding such scholarships. It seems to me there might easily be a dozen men completing the University College course in a given year, whose rank is "A". As between these twelve men who shall decide which "A" is the best? The same might be true of the young women. The standard of marking must necessarily be more or less diverse in an institution where there are so many instructors. The "A" assigned by the Latin Department can hardly be expected to mean the same thing as an "A"

Dear Mr. Hunder,

If you please,

Please permit me to take this opportunity to inform you that I have been informed of the suggestion you have concerning the information of the new fresh water report of the committee on hunches. I have not had the opportunity of examining the minutes of the meeting, but I am aware that the University College shared in the discussion on the subject of the economics of the University College through the agency of a man who, as you may have heard, has attained a certain position in the firm of the committee. I am inclined to regard the committee as the most suitable body to consider the matter.

Yours,

Sincerely,

I have been of the view of rewarding such cooperation. It seems to me there might be a reason to consider the University College course on a basis of a certain type of "A". This, of course, these facts may not be related, but I am under the impression that the committees of the Department are anxious to know their students more to some extent. If you would like to talk about this matter, I will be happy to.

assigned by the Department of Chemistry. Who shall decide between them? So long as the numbers in the University College are so small as they now are, this difficulty might not be a serious one; but next year the University College will be much larger, and it will probably increase in numbers from that time on, so that the difficulty will be a perennial one.

There is another objection as it seems to me. As I understand the matter, we grant affiliated colleges the right of nominating three candidates for scholarships. These affiliated colleges are on the whole, I suppose, very much smaller than our own undergraduate department. Why should we give them the right to nominate three scholars, while our own undergraduate department, presumably larger and presumably of higher grade, has but two?

On the other hand, I am thoroughly in sympathy with the idea which I suppose underlay the suggestion you made, namely, the encouragement of graduate work. A modification of your suggestion occurs to me. Would it be possible for each department giving courses of some length in the University College, to have the right to nominate one student for a scholarship in its own department, for the year succeeding the completion of the University College course? This plan, if carried out, would give us a very considerable number of students holding scholarships. The scholars thus appointed would probably be very largely men and women who would be here as graduate students, even if this aid were not given. This would have the effect, of course, of cutting off revenue to some extent. But it seems to me that this plan might produce results which would largely or altogether offset this reduction. My idea would be that the students' work on which the award of the scholarships is made should not go back of the University College. Would not the awarding of scholarships for graduate work, based on the excellence of University College work, have the effect of increasing the attendance in the University College? Would not bright students from other institutions be more likely to come to us for their university college course, if there was the chance that, at the end of the same, they might receive a scholarship? Might not this increase of attendance go far toward over-balancing the reduction of revenue which the large number of free scholarships would seem to involve? Furthermore, if the University College increases by this means, would not the graduate students from the University College be also increased? Might not the sum of these increases in the University College and in the graduate departments rationally be expected to equal the number of students receiving scholarships, so that there would be no real reduction of revenue? At the same time, the University would be strengthened at just those points where we are specially anxious to strengthen it, viz: in the University College and Graduate departments.

The difficulties in the way of awarding the scholarships under the plan proposed would be practically obviated. Furthermore, is it not desirable to stimulate graduate study on the part of those who have special fitness for certain lines of work, rather than on the part of those who show simply good "all around" ability, the sort of ability which sometimes finds itself recorded under an "A" in all departments? In other words, the scheme makes it possible to distinguish between ability and standing. While the two things are closely related, they sometimes depart from each other. In some other institutions at least, it is true that students

The following are the suggestions made in our interview:

1. The endowment of the Elementary work in the University of Chicago School of Education, and the erection of a building in connection with the work which should bear the donor's name, or

2. The endowment of the Secondary work of the School of Education, and the erection of a building in connection with that work.

In either case it should be noted—

b) Her name is not to be associated with the work, the general name "School of Education" being preferred by her.

c) The plans for the buildings completed will call for a total of Twelve or Thirteen Hundred Thousand Dollars, of which only

d) The Elementary work is understood to include the kindergarten teaching.

e) The whole purpose of this work is to train teachers. There have been enrolled during the last year over seven hundred different teachers. There seems no good reason why the School should not have even a larger number.

f) It is perfectly clear that a distinct piece of work and distinct building are possible inside of the general arrangement of the School of Education.

g) It is equally certain that the work possible for the University to do cannot be done unless friends rally to the help of the University and greatly increase its resources.

3. The endowment of scholarships for boys or for girls, or for both boys and girls, is one of the greatest needs of the University, and one of the most practical ways of helping humanity. Many boys and girls, especially those living in Chicago, can arrange for their board and room at home. It is the University fees together with the cost of books which deters them from going forward. This fee at present is $120. The sum of Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) would mean the tuition fee of one student for all time. Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) would pay the student's tuition fee and make a small contribution towards his living expenses. The greatest burden of a President's life is the fact that he is compelled to meet from week to week scores and scores of splendid boys and girls who have not the means to help them through college. I cannot urge too strongly on the friends of the University the desirability of establishing scholarships.

4. There is also the suggestion of Halls for living purposes, the income of which, in the experience of the University, has been three and a half to four per cent. It is quite certain that money used in this way accomplishes a triple purpose, namely, (a) reduces the cost of living, and at the same time furnish better living, (b) to contribute largely to the life of the University, and (c) to furnish a fairly good income on the amount invested. The University has plans for a quadrangle for men and a quadrangle for women in which buildings for special purposes will be needed, and in which especially living halls will be required.

I am hoping that possibly your friend would think it wise, sooner or later, to talk the matter over with me. I can assure you through you that there would be no violation of any confidence which he might see fit to repose in me on this matter.

The fact that he or coming this much to meet from week to week to meet you there and see some of the opening there and for what we have not the means to help them through college. I cannot make too strongly of the influence on the lives of people.

There is the suggestion of help for the living of the people, and the income of which, in the expenditure of the university, has been true and a part of their heart. It is during certain that much need in this way to accomplish a trip to business, money (a) to increase the cost of living (b) to contribute particularly to the life of the university, and (c) to reclaim a faith. Great income on the result increased. The university has been for a democracy for a man or a democracy, for a man in which the principles of very thing are within the means to be seen and in which often very thing affects with all society. I am trying to get a meaning from the living of the man on this event to talk for many cases with me. My Dear President Harper:

This will introduce to you Mr. Arthur G. Bovee, a graduate of the Morgan Park Academy and who desires assistance in order that he may attend the University next year. I should be greatly pleased if Mr. Bovee could receive a scholarship at the University for the coming year or some position in which he could help himself provided his scholarship and deportment at the Academy during the past year have been such as to warrant such assistance at the University.

Yours very truly,

The request that scholarships be given to the editors of the new student publications I approve provided the editors are chosen strictly on merit. It is widely believed now that the appointment of correspondents for the city papers is purely a matter of influence. I therefore beg a great contribution to make editorships carrying scholarships subjects of pull and not of merit. Why should the editors of the Monthly secure these scholarships?
Dr. W. R. Harper, President,
The University of Chicago.

Dear Sir:— In support of the request that the University grant scholarships to the editors of the proposed daily paper and monthly magazine, the following statements in reference to the situation and reasons why the business manager and editors believe such a request should be granted are made in writing according to your suggestion and respectfully submitted for your consideration.

The Responsibilities Assumed by the editors are greater probably than is thought on first consideration. They are:

1.- Getting the paper established on a firm foundation, a work which was mentioned officially at the last convocation as follows: "The founding of such a daily will unquestionably prove to be a most important addition to the existing factors of our university life."

2.- Keeping such a paper going the year around, which means the daily gathering of news and notices of interest to all in our University world, writing and editing the same and then writing editorials to aid in welding the University body together into one strong loyal group.

3.- Devoting of much time every university day in the year, estimated as follows:
Managing editor, 7 hours daily.
News editor, 5 hours daily.
Athletic editor, 5 hours daily.
Seven associate editors, 2 hours daily.
This will include the work of directing at least thirty reporters and candidates for the staff, each of whom should work at least one hour daily.
The editor and associate editor of the Monthly will be required to spend enough time to secure, read and edit contributions for from 60 to 80 pages of reading matter.

4.- Financial Obligation. Besides the responsibility for getting the editorial work done, the members of the editorial board have assumed a considerable financial responsibility, which will mean a definite cash payment with no possible return in case of a loss during the first year. If there is such a loss, the board as a whole will pay 25 per cent of the deficit and the managing editor of the daily, 12 1-2 per cent.

The primary object of every member of the board of editors in assuming these responsibilities has been, and is, to aid in the successful establishment of a student activity, and whatever arrangements are eventually made, the principal reason for any student's working on the paper will be a desire to contribute to the welfare of the University.

There are several reasons, however, why we believe that the University should give scholarships to the men assuming these responsibilities and doing this work. They are:

I. The conditions should be such that all students in the University who have ability for this kind of work will not be prevented from going into it on account of the great amount of time required for it. Unless there is some scholarship provision, many able men would not feel that they could afford the time demanded to win places on the board and then to do the work of editors. In the case of men doing active work in general student activities, the point is made that a member of the editorial board is required to give more time to this work than any student is likely to feel that he can devote, in fairness to himself, to any one student activity. And such a board is likely to be made up in large part of the students most interested in student activities and who give much of their time to other activities such as athletics, debating, etc. This is especially true of the present board, as such men are the ones needed to get the paper founded.

2. An expression of the University’s moral support will be most valuable. Scholarships would mean much to the members of the board in that: (1) The editors would feel that they had at least the moral support of the University authorities. (2) That the editors might be assured that the University authorities were anxious and willing to give such support. (3) That while the scholarships could not be considered as pay covering the allowance of time spent on the paper, they would show that the University, from its official side, does recognize the importance of such a student activity.

3. Scholarships would aid in giving balanced conservatism. In response to the possible suggestion that the University would be unduly influencing the opinions of the editors, we would suggest that in any event this could not apply to three-fourths of the daily, namely the parts containing the news and notices (that is all except the editorial page); and not at all to the monthly magazine. Furthermore, although the principle of free speech must be applied to the expressions in the editorial columns, there must, even from the same student, point of view, always be foremost the obligation of keeping the good of the University in mind as the sole basis of possible criticisms from the student body. The fact of this kind of official support would of itself develop a spirit of proper conservatism without necessarily hampering freedom of expression. And since the University is desirous of having established a medium of student expression, it does not seem unreasonable to suggest that it will not cause harm for the University to aid in getting that medium established. (In athletic-student activity, the University has altogether relieved the students of financial responsibility.) And after all, the degree of effect scholarships might have on the expressions of the editorial columns, would, it seems to us, be a question of official administration in particular cases.

4.- Business Management is Taking Risks and Deserves Support.- From the point of view of the business management, which to a certain extent includes the editorial board, it does not seem unreasonable to ask the University to aid at least in the transition from a Weekly under private ownership to a daily and monthly, owned and controlled by the student body as a whole with the responsibility resting annually on those who "make" the board in competition open to all students. (The initial board has its sanction of the student body, expressed in mass meeting.) The business manager has repeatedly said that while the editors will do a great deal of work as public spirited students, an additional incentive for what may be termed over-time work is to be desired; and with all of his financial burdens and risks at this time, he does not feel able to provide such an incentive. On this point, the editors desire to have a keen competition among the "hustlers" or candidates for the staff of reporters, so that the merit board can then choose the next board of editors from a group of men fully capable of carrying on the paper so as to make it a lasting success. To this end it is desired to make membership on the editorial board mean as much as possible.

5.- Scholarships would aid in meeting local conditions.- It may be urged that at other universities, scholarships are not given. The conditions are different at other places. First, printing expenses are less. Then, at Yale for instance, the paper is practically the only advertising medium for reaching the student body and therefore it makes an enormous annual net profit. While at Yale two prominent members of our faculty made several hundred dollars in one year, as editors. At Michigan, a stock company pays the editors regular space rates. However, even if the editors get no scholarships or remuneration of any kind, those interested in establishing the daily paper at this time would rather see it established as a student activity not owned by any individual or group of individuals as property.

6. This kind of work is meritorious. Scholarships being given by the University for excellence in mental work, it is not out of place to suggest that work on the daily newspaper will be competitive work in judging the events of our University world and in writing accounts of such events and editorials concerning them. The articles of agreement provide for a merit board on the principles of the Weekly merit board, which includes a faculty member, who acts in an advisory capacity. And the work for the monthly is to be distinctly literary.

Because of these responsibilities and these reasons, we request that full scholarships be granted to the three executive editors of the daily, and the two executive editors of the monthly, and that partial scholarships be granted to the seven associate editors of the daily. If it is suggested that the University should wait until we have done our work, we would suggest that the scholarships could be granted conditionally.

Yours respectfully,

Byron G. Moser

Dear Sir:

A line from you states that the librarian informs you that I have failed to report to him for assignment in connection with free tuition.

I reported in writing fully at once when his word came, stating that my "scholarship" was given not for scholarship but because of being a third student in the same family. A similar report made by my brother Benjamin, when he was a third student in precisely similar circumstances was at once accepted as relieving him from the service in question. I assumed that the same rule was being followed still.

Now I am not very well and was able to attend recitations Monday.
only by lying down most of the time Saturday and Sunday. If the rule of the University or the practice of precedent are changed since the time of my brother's similar situation so that I must work in the library with this explanation made, will you tactfully send me word and I will go to work at once, if I am able, as I think I shall be, bring much better this work than last.

My dear Mrs. Linn:-

I beg to inform you that Miss Helena R. Bassett has been appointed to the scholarship which you have been so kind as to give for the current year. Miss Bassett has been selected in recognition of her excellent work in scholarship. Her residence is 6931 Harvard Avenue. I have asked her at an early date to call upon you. I am confident that you will find Miss Bassett a young lady whom you will be interested to know. Her dean writes me that she may be able to graduate this coming spring, and that she is in all respects one of the most brilliant students we have had in the University.

Very truly yours,

My dear Mrs. King:

I beg to inform you that Mrs. Helen R. Pearson has been appointed to the post of Dean of Women at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Pearson has been selected for her excellent work in student affairs.

Her leadership in the Nebraska Avenue community has been recognized, and I have no doubt that you will find Mrs. Pearson a young lady whom you will be interested to know. Her keen interest in the coming year and the many efforts to graduate the class of the most promising students we have had in the University.

My dear Mr. Prescott:—

I beg to acknowledge your favor dated 31st of January with reference to a postgraduate scholarship established by the Harvard Club. About a year ago the Dean of the Graduate School of the University of Chicago at my request sent a letter to the presidents of leading universities of the country asking whether it would be agreeable to them if the University of Chicago should send notices to the members of the senior class containing facts about our graduate schools. Among the replies received was one from President Eliot indicating unmistakably his opinion that it would be indecent for us to intrude such information. Under these circumstances it would seem to me impracticable for us to bring any similar matters relating to Harvard before our students. The University of Chicago would be

Dear Sir!

I received your kind letter of December 14th, 1910 and mistransmission that the rumors that my daughter is considering the possibility of making provisions for a scholarship in the University of Chicago in memory of her late fiancé Baron Edouard de Rothschild are true. I do not understand how this leak got this information which is somewhat premature, as my daughter intends to make this provision on her return from Europe, which is still indefinite. At the proper time, I will ask in the name of my daughter for your kind advice in this matter, as I am not familiar with such provisions.

Very Respectfully Yours,

My dear Mrs. Judson:

The good news about the Newcomb Institute Scholarship was forwarded to me here and I address to thank you for the personal interest you have taken in our behalf. Nothing can be done before the first of October but I know the committee will be eager to work up the sum of $1,500.

Donald and I are here alone, having left the winter and Samuel in Mexico. We are working on the language day and might trying to make every minute count.

I hear that the Summer Registration has been larger than ever. I hope, however, that you have had some rest after those very heavy days of Convocation.

With greetings to Mrs. Judson and again thanking you for helping the Newcomb Institute Bursaries out of a sad mix-up,

Faithfully yours,

Mr. David Allan Robertson;
Secretary to the President of the University of Chicago;

My dear Mr. Robertson:

Mrs. Theodore Sheldon has given me permission to write you in regard to one of the Henry Strong scholarships for my boy Donald, who is now a sophomore in the University High School. I do not wish to be too fore-handed or to anticipate events. I am quite aware that plans are as frequently disarranged as they are fulfilled. But I hope that Donald will pass through the preparatory school with credit and in good health and that he will be able to enter your great University. If he is worthy of a scholarship, and if it is just to others that he be given one, then it would be a matter of great satisfaction to me if he could have it. Mr. Charles Hutchinson is anxious to have me address you in this matter and said he did not think this too soon, in view of all things, for me to put in an application.

Now, I am quite aware that there may be other boys who need this benefit more than Donald. And I can only say that if, at the time of his entrance, I should find it possible to pass this favor on to others—providing I had the option—I will do so. At present I am not well—have not been well for a long time—and am not sure that I shall get back to my old working capacity. This makes me anxious about Don's future. He is not an exceptional student, but he has an interesting and unusually original mind, I think. I would be glad to have you write to Mr. Johnson or Mr. Hinckley of the High School, or to Miss Seaman, principal of the Myra Bradwell Public School, or to Mr. Schoebinger of The Harvard School concerning him. Mr. Heckman or Mr. Dickerson could tell you about him. The last three issues of "The Midway", the U. High paper, have contained work of his—very boyish work, but I hope your vacation is enjoyable. I'm sorry I haven't written sooner, but I've been quite busy with school and work. I hope things are going well for you.

Regarding the shelter, I've been receiving some offers. I'm not sure if any of them are suitable, but I'm open to hearing more. Let me know if you have any recommendations.

As for my own situation, I'm feeling a bit overwhelmed right now. I appreciate your support and encouragement. I'll do my best to find a solution.

I hope you have a great vacation and that we can meet soon. If possible, I'd love to catch up in person.

Best regards,
[Your Name]
you will see, not without quality.

Mrs. Sheldon is a very good friend of mine, and she would be glad, all things being equal, if Donald could have this opportunity. Will you kindly give the matter your consideration in the proper time and place? I would be very glad if you would talk the matter over with President and Mrs. Judson.

Tell you dear lady that I'd love to see her. Can't she come out some afternoon? I've been ill for a long time, but go out every day now, and am in a deep Thanksgiving mood today, not only for my own returning strength, but much, much more, for the good sight of Roderick, here with me still, in flesh and spirit; though when I think what the day must be at the poor Owen's house, I do not feel much like rejoicing over my own good fortune.

Faithfully,

Dear Mrs Peattie:

I am very glad to know that Donald is interested in the Henry Strong Scholarships. The trustees of that fund have granted to the University four scholarships of $250.00 each. President Judson has been administering these four as grants on the basis of scholarship and a promise for usefulness. This year three seniors and one sophomore were appointed. Some of the Deans have suggested the appointment only of seniors; the President has continued, however, to appoint also those who early in college show promise, and to assist them throughout their undergraduate career, provided always that the proper scholarship standard is maintained. I should say that Donald is the kind of lad who certainly should apply for one of the Strong scholarships.

Even if during his first year in the University Donald were not accounted eligible to appointment, he would, I am sure, be considered by the President for the President's list. Such an appointment, as you know, would be worth $120.00. I shall, of course, be very happy to talk with President Judson about both methods of caring for Donald, and when the proper time comes I shall see that every consideration is given to his case. Will you ask him to write me in June for a Henry Strong Scholarship Application Form?

I wanted to express my congratulations to you and wish you all the best in your future endeavors. I have no doubt that your hard work and perseverance will continue to bring you success.

When I called up the Alpha Delta Phi house the other day to inquire about young Owen I received a real thrill of joy when I recognised Roderick's voice. We are all very happy that he is again well. He told me of your having had further illness, and I have told Mrs Robertson. She is hoping very soon to get out to see you.

With regard to Donald may I add that the few minutes at Mrs Bartlett's made it quite unnecessary to refer to Mr Johnson or Mr Hinckley concerning him. He impressed me as an extremely interesting, original, and promising lad. Out of fairness to him, of course I shall make the references you desire when the proper time comes. I merely wish to say now that I like him very much.

Dear Sir:—

The plan of the Chicago Examiner for the establishment of a series of scholarships in American colleges and universities promises to meet a real need in an admirable manner. The proposal to have these scholarships assigned by a committee of competent and disinterested persons assures the selection of candidates of high quality, who will be fitted to improve to the fullest the opportunities thus placed at their disposal.

Office

Dear Sir:

The plan of the Chicago Examiner for the establishment of a series of scholarships in America in colleges and universities promises to meet a real need in an admirable manner. The purpose to have these scholarships established by a committee of competent and experienced business men, free from the selection of candidates of high character will be especially to improve the influence and efficiency of their graduates.

Yours very truly,

Gentlemen:

From 25 to 50 boys and girls graduating from the high schools may enjoy opportunities for advanced study through four years at one or another of the large universities in the country, through the generosity of your paper and other donors. This is to my mind, one of the most inspiring offers that has ever been laid before our boys and girls in the high schools. With the plan of selection by which will be sent to the universities those students, who have been studious, diligent, and generally interested in their schools, there is guaranteed a fine representation from the Chicago high schools. This group will be known as the winners of scholarships through the Chicago Examiner.

Very truly yours,

THE PAPER OF THE HOME

Chicago, July 14, 1914.

Mr. Harry Pratt Judson, University of Chicago,
Chicago.

Dear Sir:

A number of public spirited gentlemen of Chicago, working in co-operation with the Chicago Examiner, are endeavoring to stimulate the interest of people generally in higher education.

To this end there has been issued through this newspaper an offer to defray the expenses of twenty young men and women through their first collegiate year. The twenty are to be selected from among this year's graduates of Chicago High Schools. The candidates are chosen by the High School principals. The final examinations are to be held under the direction of Miss Gertrude E. English, representing Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, Superintendent of Schools of Chicago, Dean W. E. Hotchkin, representing President A. W. Harris of Northwestern University, Walter A. Payne, representing Acting President James R. Angell of the University of Chicago and E. J. Tobin, Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

On the success of the experiment depends its extension and continuance.

You will observe that this plan is free from the commercial element ordinarily present in such newspaper offers. The Examiner has no part in choosing the candidates or in their election; there is no subscription feature connected with it; in fact the newspaper's only function apart from paying for most of the Scholarships is in arranging the plan and maintaining public interest in it. On this account we feel at liberty to make a request for your assistance.

Will you not mail to the Examiner your estimate of the value of college education or some allied expression of your views so that the institution of which you are the head may be represented among those who favor the effort to bring to college young men and women who otherwise would go from High School directly into business life?

There is the germ of a permanent institution in this, that ought to be of benefit to the whole cause of education.

Will you help make it a success?

Yours sincerely,

EDITOR, CHICAGO EXAMINER.

[Address]
Scholarships for Women of the Empire and the United States of America

A plan has been founded in order to celebrate the Imperial support of the Overseas Dominions and the co-operation of the United States of America in the Great War, and more particularly to commemorate the part taken in it by women and the work carried through by them. It has broadly for object the closer association of the English speaking peoples throughout the world, by offering facilities to women students from the Colonies and the United States for residence and University training in the United Kingdom. It is proposed to found a number of post-graduate scholarships for women students from Australia, Canada, New Zealand, South Africa and the United States of America, to be held at the women's University Colleges in this country.

The realisation of this will ensure that a continual succession of chosen women from all parts of the world where English is spoken will, year after year, at a most impressionable time of their lives, come into close touch with English life, English ideals and educational methods, and that they on their part will diffuse knowledge and understanding of their respective countries among their contemporaries in England. Nothing could be better calculated to widen and strengthen the outlook on both sides, while at the same time leading inevitably to a closer union and understanding of the English speaking nations.

It is proposed that the arrangement should be made reciprocal thus greatly enhancing its value, as British students would welcome the opportunity, if it were offered them, of working in University centres in the Overseas Dominions and the United States of America.

It is suggested that the different Countries concerned shall be asked to form Committees for making known the scheme and collecting funds, with power to nominate their own representatives on the Central Trust.

It is suggested that this Trust shall be constructed on an elastic basis whereby the arrangements of each country concerned will be made separately on its own representations and for its best possible advantage and not governed by a uniform set of regulations.

Dear Madam:

On my return from an absence of seven months in Persia and adjacent countries, I find your esteemed favor of the 24th of August, relating to the scheme for the establishment of graduate scholarships for women of the British Empire and the United States of America.

Dean Angell acknowledged your letter under date of December 11 last, and I am writing in addition to express my cordial approval of the whole plan, my confidence that it will meet with a general acceptance in this country, and that women will be found who will be glad to avail themselves of the privilege in question. The more interchange of intellectual ideas we can make for the future between the United States and the United Kingdom, I am sure the greater will be the common understanding
Dear Reader:

On my recent return to Europe and across the ocean, I find myself often in Paris and other great cities, reflecting on the events of the year and the need for some sort of establishment of graduate scholarships for women of the British Empire and the United States of America.

Dear Mr. Secretary, you have been so kind and helpful, your letter upon receipt of December 11st, and I am writing in addition to express my continued support of the whole plan. My confidence that it will meet with a general acceptance in this country and that women will be found who will be glad to assist the more immediate or practical in connection. These we can make for the future between the United States and the United Kingdom.

I am sure the gesture will be the common understanding in the two countries. It is this understanding of each other which will mean so much for the solidarity of the English-speaking nations, on which I believe much depends in the years to come.

Very truly yours,

Dear Doctor Judson:

Your letter of the 8th, replying to mine of the 3rd, which last referred to the matter of a possible scholarship for William Morgenstern, of Oak Park, was received yesterday, and I thank you very much for it. I feel almost as if it had been an imposition upon you, however, and hope you will not so regard it.

I will not write Mr. McDaniel, Principal of the High School at Oak Park, without your permission, for I do not understand your letter to be a definite promise in the matter.

May I hear from you as soon as you have reached a definite conclusion?

Mr. Harry Field Junor,
Professor, University of Chicago,

Dear Doctor Jackson:

Your letter of the 8th, reporting to me of the fact which first referred to me the matter of a possible engagement to William Motzamenter, of Our Fair, as Associate Professor, and I appreciate very much the fact you will not have to return to information upon your request, and hope you will not lose so quickly.

If I fail to write Mr. Motzamenter, Professor of the High school in Our Fair, without your permission, let me by no means allow your letter to pass a helpline home to the matter.

May I hear from you as soon as you have received a helpline connection?

Yours very truly,

Dear Judge Baldwin:-

Your favor of the 10th inst. is received. You may say to Mr. McDaniel that a scholarship will be provided for William Morgenstern covering the amount of his tuition fees for his first year in the Colleges of the University of Chicago, beginning October 1st next. You may say, further, that the scholarships are always conditional on the student's maintaining throughout the year a satisfactory grade of scholarly work.

I am providing for this provisionally from one of the ten remissions which the President is authorized to grant, and in case no other scholarship is available that of course will be continued throughout the year. I may say further that our experience with the recommendations of the Principal of the Oak Park High School has been so

Dear Dr. Judson:

I have been much impressed with the suggestion that our larger educational institutions and our normal schools as well establish scholarships for ambitious Mexican students who could go back to Mexico prepared to do their part in furnishing educated leadership. It seems to me that our educational institutions might in this way render an extremely important service both to our neighboring country and to our own.

Naturally we should expect this to be construed as a very friendly act and as a contribution to the cause of peaceful relations between the two countries. It would be easy to enumerate the many good things the Mexican students might carry back to their people but even in comparison with these the benefits of such a practice to ourselves look indeed large to me. One of our shortcomings is our lack of receptiveness to alien cultures and so, with our aggressive commercialism, we are not prepared to be the best of mentors to our Latin American neighbors. (This is merely calling attention to another form of our "unpreparedness"). We might reasonably hope that with the Mexican students in our midst, our own students and student-teachers might learn to recognize some of the virtues of Latin American civilization. This would be an excellent contribution to the beginnings of a liberal culture here at home.

Surely it would be good statesmanship to lure Mexican young people into our educational institutions for their good and that of our own. And so I write to ask you what there is feasible in the proposed plan. Have you at your disposal funds that could be set apart for one or more lucrative scholarships? Can you suggest any way we schoolmen might be able to help?

Sincerely yours,

Jesse L. Smith

Dear Mr. Smith:—

Your favor of the 1st inst. I find on my return from an absence of some weeks. We have no scholarship funds which could be set apart for a particular class of students. Of course any good students from Mexico would be welcomed here. At the same time, if there is any movement towards establishing a special fund for the benefit of Mexican students in particular it would have to be a gift from some new donor.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Smith:-

Your letter of the 1st inst. I take on my knowledge from an expense of some weeks. We have no opportunity to take which can be set apart for a particular place of attendance. Of course my cool attendance from Mexico would be welcomed here. At the same time, I have in my possession a letter of attendance to particular land for the benefit of Mexican attendance in particular.
It would have to be a gift from some new comer.

PRESIDENT: Harry Pratt Judson,

Dear Sir:—

I regret that I have to advise you, on behalf of the Trustees of the Henry Strong Educational Fund, that the amount available for appropriation to the use of Scholarships in the University of Chicago will be reduced during the year commencing October 1st., 1917, and thereafter till further notice, from the sum of $1,000 per annum, the present figure, to the sum of $400.00 per annum. I may say further that it is the hope of the Trustees that the reduction will be but temporary, and that the present figure may be restored in a few years.

Yours respectfully,

John A. Jameson
DEAR SIR:

I regret that I have to inform you that the amount available to the University of Chicago as a result of the bequest of the late R. J. K. M. has been reduced to $1,700. I am informed by the University that the bequest will be used to fund scholarships in the amount of $3,000.00 per annum. I may not have full details of this arrangement at the present time, but I believe that the decision will be to the advantage of the University.

Through Mr.

John M. Collier and

Dr. Frank Billings

you have need consulted as to the advisability of our investing in a Scholarship in the Medical College of the University of Chicago.

There are one or two matters which are not yet clear.

Mrs. Guller understood you to say that tuition is $160.00 per year and that the endowment of a scholarship would require between $24,000.00 and $50,000.00.
We are now paying $180.00 per year at Rush Medical College, and our $4000.00 which belongs to the Grace Chandler Scholarship is invested in good 5% bonds bringing $200.00 annually.

Will you please let me know the cash I am endowed scholarship?

I would greatly appreciate it if I may hear from you by Friday the 26th as our trustees have a meeting on that day.

Respectfully,

Dizzie P. Bradley,

Mrs. Thos. E. S.) Sears.

Dear Mrs. Bradley:

Your favor of the 19th inst. is received. The $160 to which I referred is the present tuition fee per annum for students in the first two years of the medical school. Of course the fee for our new medical school has not yet been fixed. That will be a part of the arrangements which will be consummated during the coming few months. I note that you have an investment of

Dear Mr. Managing:

Your letter of the July 15th is received. The

to which I refer may be the present inclusion of the name for students in the first two years of the medical school. Of course the fee for our new medical school has not yet been fixed. That will be a part of the management which will be committed during the coming few months. I hope that you have an investment of $4,000 on a five percent basis. This would return $200 annually, and of course would cover any likely fees which might be required in the future.
