My dear Dr. Harper:-

The following is a copy of a report presented to the University Council at its meeting July 27, 1901:

"To the University Council:-

The following report of the committee on your communication concerning Division lectures was approved by the Faculty of the Senior Colleges and ordered to your Body:

"To the Faculty of the Junior Colleges:

Your committee, acting with a committee from the Senior College Faculty has considered the communication of the University Council with regard to reconsidering its action adding fifteen minutes to the chapel hour on Wednesdays for Division meetings. They find that, so far as they have inquired among the members of the faculty, there is a quite general agreement that the good accomplished by this extension of time for Division lectures, is more than offset by the loss to the separate classes during the following period. The committee would therefore recommend to the Council a reconsideration of its action.

In view of the current objections held by members of the University to the division lecture system as at present conducted, the Committee would suggest to the Faculty to recommend to the Council the consideration of the whole subject, in the light of the experience gained since the system was inaugurated."

Respectfully submitted,
Marion Talbot, Chairman
A. W. Moore,
J. Westfall Thompson.

The following is a copy of a report prepared by the University Council at its meeting held on July 27, 1901.

The following report of the committee on the subject of the extension of the University of Chicago is hereby presented to the Board of Trustees.

The committee on the subject of the extension of the University of Chicago has the honor to report to the Board of Trustees that it has completed its study of the subject and has prepared the following report. The committee believes that the extension of the University of Chicago is a matter of great importance and that it should be given the highest consideration. The committee has found that the extension of the University of Chicago is necessary for the advancement of the sciences and the education of the people. The committee has also found that the extension of the University of Chicago is feasible and that it can be accomplished without any great expense. The committee therefore recommends that the Board of Trustees should approve the extension of the University of Chicago and should take the necessary steps to carry out the plan.

In view of the above, the committee on the subject of the extension of the University of Chicago has the honor to recommend that the Board of Trustees should approve the extension of the University of Chicago and should take the necessary steps to carry out the plan. The committee believes that the extension of the University of Chicago is a matter of great importance and that it should be given the highest consideration. The committee has found that the extension of the University of Chicago is necessary for the advancement of the sciences and the education of the people. The committee has also found that the extension of the University of Chicago is feasible and that it can be accomplished without any great expense. The committee therefore recommends that the Board of Trustees should approve the extension of the University of Chicago and should take the necessary steps to carry out the plan.

On motion the whole subject was referred to a committee of five to be appointed by the President and to report at the first meeting of the Council in October.

Will you kindly appoint that committee?

Yours truly,

Alonzo H. Parker

Recorder.

In motion the whole subject was referred to a committee of five to be appointed by the President and to report at
