Harry Pratt Judson,
President University of Chicago.

Dear Sir:-

My son, then in his Junior year at the local High School, enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps on May third of this year and immediately left school to go into training at Parris Island, South Carolina.

He is now at Quantico Virginia, with a good military record up to date.

Now I want to know what attitude your institution is taking toward cases of this nature.

Supposing the local school refuses

History.

I feel that he should be graduated with honors from the local school, as he is the first and only one from that institution to volunteer (to my knowledge).

When he returns to civil life he should not be compelled to accept a "status quo ante bellum" in respect to his education, while his class mates are allowed to profit by his sacrifice.

Please let me hear from you regarding this, and oblige,

Mrs. Geo. Nelson.

P.S. He was eighteen years of age on July 20, 1917.

to allow him full credit and graduate him with his class next June.

If he applies for admission to one of your courses next year, or the next, or any future time, will he be allowed to enter on an equal basis with ~~the~~ graduates of accredited High Schools?

I feel these boys are receiving a broader education than they could possibly obtain at home.

He has learned discipline, personal hygiene, manual of arms, all kinds of drill work, respect for his superiors and his flag; in a word, he has learned to be a man among men.

He studied radio & signaling and is now learning French and helping to make

My dear President Jessup:

President Judson asks me to reply to your inquiry of January 26th.

Our Faculty has a committee now considering the adoption of a permanent policy, and if you wish, I shall be glad after it has adopted a line of action to send you a transcript of it.

Upon the outbreak of the war last spring, we adopted for that immediate period a policy which practically amounted to our giving our diploma to any student who would have graduated in the normal course of things in June, whose standing was at the time academically satisfactory, and who presented adequate evidence of his entry into the military or naval service of the Government. Individual cases have since that time been handled in the general spirit of this arrangement.

In our committee meeting held yesterday for the discussion of this issue it became quickly apparent that we should meet a considerable body of opinion favorable to granting academic credit for certain kinds of military service. Should this view prevail, we shall at the end of the war have on our hands a rather perplexing problem of evaluating the academic equivalence of such military experience in the various branches and ranks of the army.

The President does not feel in view of the fact that your son left the University at the end of the Autumn Quarter, 1915, before we entered the war, and in view of the further fact that he was at that time under action of dismissal for unsatisfactory work, that we could with propriety consider your suggestion.

Dear Mr. Judson:

Am taking the liberty of intruding on your valuable time to lay before you a matter of great personal interest to the writer.

My son, Roy W. Williams, left the University of Chicago in 1916 with a credit of thirty-three of the thirty-six "majors" required for graduation, having failed in the last quarter to complete the necessary "majors" to secure his degree. He left the city for the South and took up the correspondence course with the university, hoping thereby to secure the balance of credits necessary to obtain his degree.

While still in this course our country entered the war. The young man promptly volunteered and sailed almost immediately for France, where he has been with the American Expeditionary Forces for about eighteen months, and is now on the ocean homeward bound.

In view of the fact that the

Am taking the liberty of laying this matter before you personally, knowing that any decision you may reach will be consistent with the highest good to the university and alumni.

My dear President Judson,

As an alumnus of the Law School of the University of Chicago, I am writing to tell you of my desire to relate myself more definitely with the great work now confronting America and other democracies of the world.

I presume there are organizations at the University or among our University men which might serve as a means of approach to the work for which I am best fitted. However, I am not informed as to what organizations of that nature are in operation and would thank you, at your office, to advise me in this matter so that I may, as speedily as possible, get in touch with the definite and specific needs of our great undertaking.

During the past ten years, since graduation from the Law School, I have had a variety of valuable experience in business, in the practice of law and in the teaching of law. Since September 1916, I have been Professor of Law in the University of Arizona and am now giving courses in

My dear President, please be an advocate of the the school of the University of Chicago. I am writing the last year of my career to visit myself and friends and the great work now being done and other circumstances of the world.

I have been thinking of you as coming our University and what might be as a means of offering to the world for which I am best fitted. However, I am not sufficient to do what I am doing in the nature of a special and want that you, as your office, to advise me in this matter so that I may be able to handle it in the best way to defend and prosper with if our point is interesting.

During the last few years, since graduation the law school, I have had a number of experience in business in the practice of law and in the teaching of law since September 1915. I have been Professor of Law in the University of Chicago and am now going down on International Law, Constitutional Law, Contracts and first year Property.

However delightful my present work is, still I feel that during the war there is probably a larger and more pressing service for me somewhere and my desire is that you may make some suggestion that may start me in the direction of that service.

I have had some experience in administrative and executive positions and should be able to qualify for work of that nature in the direct service of the government or in a private capacity related to the war.

I shall appreciate any suggestion from you or from your office or from any other organization with which you can put me in touch.

Very sincerely yours.

With reference to the attached letter from Mr. Brewer, I have arranged with Mr. Linn to call attention in the March number of the Alumni Magazine to the possibilities of service on the part of Alumni as indicated in the postscript of Mr. Brewer's letter. I am also making personal inquiries and hope that we may be able in the near future to suggest the names of Alumni qualified to render this sort of service to the Intelligence Section.

President Harry Pratt Judson
University of Chicago,
Chicago,

Dear Doctor Judson:

Captain John M. Manly, attached to the War College Division of the War Department, has handed me copies of his letter addressed to the Chairman of Committee on War Activities, University of Chicago, and your personal reply to the same, dated January 16, 1918.

In regard to the matter therein contained, which is of very great interest to the Intelligence Section of the General Staff, I have had further conference with Captain Manly this morning, and he advises me that the University of Chicago, as well as other universities of the same order, have a fund set apart for war work which may be available to pay, in part, the charges of professors or instructors called upon to render government service.

Captain Manly further notes the fact that in the University of Chicago, and in similar institutions, there are men whose connection with foreign groups and command of foreign languages qualify them to speak to masses of non-English speaking peoples.

If the University of Chicago will provide the Intelligence Section, above referred to, with a list of the individuals who are fitted to perform, and are available for, such work, and can frame some proposition through which the aforesaid Section will have assurance that if it calls upon the gentlemen named as above, the University will provide for any expense in connection therewith over and above that which the authorities are at liberty to expend - it will render a very great service.

The Intelligence Section - keeping within the limits which define its activities - is endeavoring to get into close touch with foreign speaking soldiers in camps and in armies called to the field. It is also endeavoring to cultivate such relations with the families of soldiers and groups with which the latter are in touch, as will enable it to understand the motives which control the foreign speaking part of our population. Possessed with this information, the authorities can take steps to block enemy intrigue.

The undersigned is oppressed with the feeling that something far more than is being done at present must be set on foot to block the activities of enemy agents, and will welcome any word from you, or from the executives of similar institutions, which will put him in a position, as chief of a sub-section having charge of the relations with foreign soldiers, to carry out vigorous plans for the protection of our institutions.

Very truly yours,

W. Maurice Brewer

DCB:JEL

✓ P.S. - Captain Manly makes a valuable suggestion - that the University authority can probably provide a list of alumni with foreign connections, fitted to do the same sort of work that college professors would be asked to perform. He suggests that although University funds may not be available to pay for the assistance of these men, it is probable that a loyal and interested alumni would be quick to respond to any such opportunity as is herein suggested. In this case they would probably arrange to finance any expense which the Government was not in a position to defray.

Chicago, January 26, 1918

Dear Mr. Brewer:

Your favor of the 23d inst. is received. Captain Manly doubtless misunderstands the situation as to finances. The University has no fund set apart for war work which may be available to pay in part the charges of professors or instructors called upon to render government service. However the University in such cases has continued the salaries of members of the faculty, at least to the extent representing the difference between the pay which they receive from the government and the University salary. In case the War Department should call upon members of the staff of the University for such work as is indicated, the University would doubtless cheerfully apply the same action again. It will give me great pleasure to study into this matter, and forward any information which may be of service to the War

Dear Mr. Gifford:

One phase of the work of this committee is of such a character and has developed such possibilities that it now seems to me desirable that it should be transferred to the Council of National Defense; and I therefore beg to present the matter to your consideration.

I refer to the organization of foreign born university and college students for patriotic service involving their ability to speak foreign languages.

The opportunity for such service first occurred to us here in connection with the second Liberty Loan campaign when the Chicago Liberty Loan Speakers Committee sent to me (as chairman of the University of Chicago War Service Committee on Modern Languages) an appeal to provide men to speak in Italian before Italian audiences, in German before Germans, etc. We were able to send them a few men who did good work. Later at the time of the registration for the draft there came appeals from the exemption boards for educated foreign speaking men to act as advisors to uneducated foreigners.

It then seemed clear that the opportunities for service on the part of University educated men having a natural knowledge of the foreign languages were already so great and so likely to develop that we should organize to meet them. We therefore obtained from the Recorder of the University a list of all foreign born men enrolled in the University and sent to each of them a copy of the enclosed printed letter. As a result we now have a body of some forty or fifty men representing pretty much all the main European and some Asiatic languages and ready to use that ability in patriotic service. A number of them will participate in the third Liberty Loan campaign.

Another type of similar service is illustrated by a recent call from the Board of Postal Censorship referred to me by the Committee on Public Information in Washington for persons able to serve as censors for Spanish material. This call I am glad to say was fully met through persons suggested by members of this committee.

A very important work of similar character is that being carried on by Mr. D. Chauncey Brewer, now in charge of the Foreign Speaking sub-section, Military Intelligence Bureau in War College Division, Office of the Chief of Staff, Washington, D. C. It is also endeavoring to cultivate such relations with the families of soldiers and groups with which the latter are in touch as will enable it to understand the motives which control the foreign speaking part of our population. Possessed with this information the authorities can take steps to block enemy intrigue. Mr. Brewer is seeking to utilize for this purpose foreign born college men, undergraduates or alumni, men, that is, of just the type contained in our local organization. My committee on Romance Language Instruction and the War has been able to give Mr. Brewer substantial help so far as the Romance languages are concerned. He now writes me for some assistance as regards the Austrian tongues, Russian, Syrian, etc. I am having sent to him the names of the men in our local organization who are available for such work, but I have no method of recommending to him men skilled in these languages in other universities.

All this, it seems to me, goes to show, first, that there should be in every college and university an organization of foreign born men of all nationalities willing to use their linguistic equipment in patriotic service; second, that each local organization of this character should be brought into touch with the State Council of Defense and similar local bodies who should be furnished with an exact statement of the resources of the local organization; third, that a similar statement of the resources of each local organization be given to the Council of National Defense, to Mr. Brewer and to other authorities likely to need such help.

My committee on Romance Language Instruction and the War is limited in scope to work in French, Italian and Spanish and is, therefore, not the proper body to put through a general organization of the type indicated. I therefore suggest that your Council request the president of each of the universities and leading colleges to establish an organization of foreign born students for patriotic linguistic service.

The methods of affecting such an organization would be in general, first, the mailing of a letter similar to the enclosed printed letter to each foreign born student in the institution in question; second, the publication of such a letter in the college daily or weekly paper; third special appeals at meetings of the "Cosmopolitan Club" or other clubs for foreign born students in the several universities.

I therefore suggest that your Council request the president of each of the universities and leading colleges to establish an organization of foreign born students for patriotic linguistic service.

The methods of effecting such an organization would be in general, first, the mailing of a letter similar to the enclosed printed letter to each foreign born student in the institution in question; second, the publication of such a letter in the college daily or weekly paper; third special appeals at meetings of the "Cosmopolitan Club" or other clubs for foreign born students in the several universities.

Mr. W. S. Gifford #3.

It is true that the present college year is nearly over; but I believe it would be well to establish now the machinery for such an organization. Some immediate service might be rendered and the institution would then be in a position to render efficient service when the new college year opens.

It has sometimes seemed to me that the establishment of a special bureau of linguistic service under your Council would be desirable; but I am not sure that <sup>the advantages</sup> this chance would outweigh the undesirability of a multiplication of machinery at Washington. Probably if the local organizations were established as suggested and kept in contact with the official and semi-official bodies they might serve no central organization would be necessary.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Brewer and suggesting that he confer with you about this matter.

Very sincerely yours,

EHW/M

COMMITTEE ON MODERN LANGUAGES

DEAR SIR:

There are several ways in which educated men who have a natural speaking knowledge of a foreign language can render valuable service in connection with the war.

Just now there is great and immediate need of men to help the Exemption Boards by acting as advisers to uneducated foreigners who have trouble in understanding and filling out the questionnaire.

There is constant need of educated men who are able and willing to speak in a foreign language before gatherings of persons of foreign birth. Intelligent speaking, before such audiences, upon the causes and purposes of the war and upon methods of civilian co-operation is desirable at all times; and from time to time special calls for speakers are received—as for instance during a Liberty Loan campaign.

We are often called upon to furnish translators for papers submitted in foreign languages to various official or semi-official bodies connected with the war.

Work of all these types has already been done by members of the University of Chicago in French, Italian, German, Bohemian, Polish, Russian, and other languages. The demands are increasing so fast that it now seems desirable to organize the men of the University who are willing to volunteer for such service. Like much other patriotic service, this service must be its own reward: there is no pay for it.

If you are able and willing to undertake work of this character, please fill out the following blank and send it to Professor T. A. Knott, Faculty Exchange, University of Chicago. If you drop it in the Faculty Exchange, no envelope or address is necessary. You will then in due time receive directions.

Mr. H. P. Judson, A.M.,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:

The American Defense Society is organizing a National Committee of Speakers for the purpose of carrying on an active campaign for adequate national defense.

We take the liberty of asking you to appoint a member of the Faculty of your University, eligible for membership on such a Committee.

This Society is organized as a permanent, non-partisan Society, whose platform is adequate national defense.

May we count upon you to aid us in this work in our patriotic campaign, and to favor us with an early reply!

Respectfully yours,

Chairman, Committee on Organization.

Chicago, November 22, 1915

Dear Sir:-

Your favor of the 20th inst. is received. I am greatly interested in the purposes which you set forth for the Defense Society, but am wondering as to the relationship of this organization to the National Security League, of which I am a member. I shall be interested to know whether different organizations are trying to accomplish the same purpose, and whether the result may not be to divide interest that should be united.

Very truly yours,

H.P.J. - L.

AMERICAN COUNCIL ON EDUCATION
Students' War Service Campaign

Robt. L. Kelly,
Campaign Director.

308 Munsey Building, Washington, D.C.
August 2, 1918.

My dear Sir:

In many of the states complete lists of high school graduates are already available and every student is being required to face the problem of college attendance.

In Connecticut the State Director of this campaign is sending a personal letter to every male high school graduate, urging that he enlist in the SATC. In Montana a letter has already been sent to each high school graduate and another to his parents; each student is being given at least two personal visits also. In Oregon the Governor of the State and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction have joined in a letter addressed to the students of Oregon. As a part of the same document is a letter from the Executive Secretary of the State Council of Defense, addressed to the Students of Oregon and their parents, and in the same document is the July 10th letter of Secretary Newton D. Baker. This document is being mailed to every student in the State of Oregon.

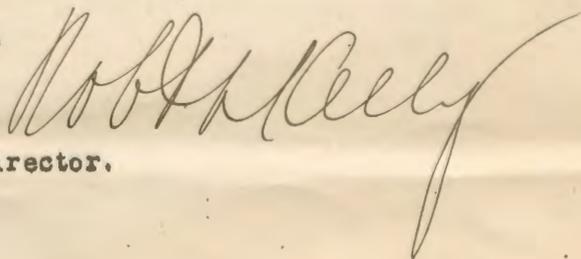

Such direct appeals to the students and their parents should be part of a wider effort to educate public opinion in general as to the enormous contributions institutions of higher learning are making to the war and will make in post-war reconstruction.

Every opportunity should be taken to impress the truth that the War Department is not making it easy for slackers, as has been foolishly suggested by a certain newspaper, but is laying the foundations in the schools for military and world leadership. A great feature of this campaign should be to get into the minds and on to the consciences of the American people the great facts that are so clear to the educational leaders and many officers of the Government, military and civil. Educate the people as well as the boys and girls.

I call your attention to the contributions which the Bureau of Education is making through the State Superintendents of Public Instruction in this campaign. The Bureau is formulating a speaking campaign which in your State, of course, should be under the general guidance of the State Director. The State Superintendent has probably received a communication already from the Bureau.

I am sending you herewith an announcement just issued on the organization of the American Council on Education. This is an impressive indication of the manner in which our educational interests are now tied together for the special emergency in which we find ourselves.

Very truly yours,

Campaign Director.

AMERICAN COUNCIL ON EDUCATION

309 MUNSEY BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

DONALD J. COWLING
PRESIDENT

P. L. CAMPBELL
SECRETARY-TREASURER

August 2, 1918

My dear Mr. President:

I hand you herewith the War Department's letter of July 10 on student enlistment and the definition of status of an enlisted student, just secured by this office from the War Department. You are at liberty to use these and succeeding letters if you like in your Bulletin.

This campaign is being conducted along broad lines. The patriotic appeal is central, of course, but it is closely identified with the general educational appeal. The Bureau of Education is making its contribution, and we expect to send you material from the Navy, The Council of National Defense and President Wilson.

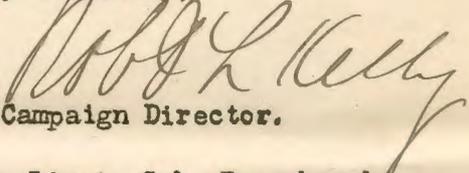

Do not allow newspaper stories about the War Department's plan to lower the draft age to disturb you. The War Department has authorized no announcements on the subject, and we are advised that when they do, the plans will not interfere with but will support the Department's educational policy. If a lower draft age is fixed we are advised it will be for purposes of registration and not for immediate service of an active type.

Note that under the present plan of enlistment a college student is removed from the jurisdiction of the local recruiting officer and is placed under the joint jurisdiction of Lieut. Col. Rees, acting through the Commanding Officer, and the President of the College.

It is scarcely likely that the War Department will be able to make definite assignments of instructors for the colleges until the middle or latter part of August.

To really appreciate the manner in which college and university men are assisting in the direction of affairs at Washington is heartening indeed.

Yours very sincerely,

Campaign Director.

P.S.

Since this letter was written, Lieut. Col. Rees has been made Colonel Rees.

SECRETARY-TREASURER

August 3, 1918

My dear Mr. President:

I had you reviewed the War Department's letter of July 30 on student activities and the definition of status of an enlisted student, that secured by this office from the War Department. You are at liberty to use these and enclosing letters to you in your Bulletin.

This campaign is being conducted along broad lines. The patriotic appeal is central, of course, but it is closely identified with the general educational appeal. The Bureau of Education is making its contribution, and we expect to send you material from the Navy, the Council of National Defense and President Wilson.

We are also newspaper stories about the War Department's plan to lower the draft age to draft you. The War Department has authorized an announcement on the subject, and we are advised that when they do the plans will not interfere with but will support the Department's educational policy. It is lower draft age is fixed we are advised it will be for purposes of registration and not for immediate service of an active type.

Note that under the present plan of withdrawal a college student is removed from the jurisdiction of the local recruiting officer and is placed under the joint jurisdiction of Lieut. Col. Boes, acting through the Commanding Officer, and the President of the College.

It is especially likely that the War Department will be able to make definite assignments of instructors for the colleges until the middle or latter part of August.

To really appreciate the manner in which college and activities are being handled in the direction of states as Washington is bestowing interest.

Yours very sincerely,

Edmund C. Beebe

AMERICAN COUNCIL ON EDUCATION

OFFICE—309 MUNSEY BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE American Council on Education was called into being, under the pressure of the War, to serve not only as a means of easy communication between the educational associations of the country and the Federal Government, but also as a clearing house of opinion and a starting point of action in the American educational world. Its first name was the "Emergency Council on Education", but since it soon became evident that most of its proposed activities were permanent in character, demanding far-sight and far-planning to bring them to satisfactory fruition, and since its programme was not only national in scope but involved coöperation in a distinctive national way with similar councils in other lands and with foreign governments, its name was changed to the one it now bears.

After prolonged discussion and continuous consultation with many competent advisors, the following committees were established to carry on work that seemed to call specially for immediate undertaking:—

I. Committee on Students' War Service, whose object will be to encourage young men and women to continue their studies from high school to college and from college to university, so as to provide for a body of trained leaders and specialists who, both during and after the War, may efficiently meet the nation's needs.

II. Committee on Education for Citizenship, whose object will be to secure more adequate instruction in the schools regarding the history of America, its principles of government and ideals of individual conduct, and to afford means of making plain to as many as possible the grave issues of the War, these aims to be achieved, amongst other ways, by the preparation or circulation of books and pamphlets by judicious authorities.

III. Committee on Educational Reconstruction, whose object will be to bring together previous studies of educational conditions in the United States, and to supplement this material by such additional studies as may be necessary to clarify the problems of American education. This general survey having been made, the Committee will call a conference to consider what alteration of our educational methods would help the schools and colleges of the country to make their work more effective to the advantage of the nation.

IV. Committee on International Educational Relations, whose object will be to coördinate, harmonize, and so far as expedient direct, present and prospective agencies for the strengthening of cultural relationships with foreign lands, especially through the interchange of students and teachers. The Committee will endeavor to establish a Bureau in New York, where educational information regarding all nations may be obtained, knowledge of American institutions disseminated, and means acquired to enable American students to go abroad as well as to encourage the coming of foreign students to the United States.

V. Committee on Opportunities for Study, whose object will be to prepare and publish lists of advanced courses of study in American institutions of learning, and to set forth the advantages of American colleges and schools in different parts of the land, so as to be able to satisfy inquiries about places for study from foreigners or Americans, and to bring about fuller utilization of the widely-distributed opportunities in the United States for research and instruction.

VI. Committee on a Department of Education, whose object will be to further the rapidly-growing demand for definite recognition of Education as a separate Department of the Federal Government, on a parity with the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor, and to consider the arrangements for such a Department when created.

VII. Committee on Coöperating Societies, whose object will be to keep in touch with, and promote the success of such other associations and councils as are or may be concerned with the better organization and equipment of educational institutions, the welfare of students and teachers, or the advancement of knowledge.

WASHINGTON, D. C.,

July 18, 1918.

Status of a Student Enlisted in the Students' Army Training Corps.

A student enlisted in the Students' Army Training Corps is in military service of the United States. Because he does not receive pay, he is classed as on inactive service but in a national emergency the President may call him at any time to active service. He is called to active service each summer when he attends camp for six weeks and receives the pay of a private.

His relation to the draft is as follows:

Any student so enlisted, though in the military service of the United States, is technically on inactive duty, and therefore must register after he has reached draft age and upon notice by the President. Upon stating on his questionnaire that he is already in the military service of the United States, he will be placed automatically by his local Draft Board in Class V-D, as provided by the Selective Service regulations. The Draft Board will not call him for induction so long as he remains a member of the Students' Army Training Corps.

In order that the college student may not even appear to enjoy special privileges, it is agreed, however, that when the day arrives on which according to his order number he would have been drafted, had he not already volunteered, the fact is reported to the president of the college, and to the Commanding Officer at the college, who in turn reports it to the Adjutant General. This is the day of reckoning for the college man. The President of the college and the Commanding Officer will then report to the Chairman of the Committee on Education and Special Training of the War Department, for what form of military service the individual is in their judgment best qualified. They will recommend either that the student should continue his studies to prepare for work in medicine engineering, chemistry, psychology, economics, etc., or that he should go at once to an officers training camp to prepare for an officer's commission in the infantry artillery, etc., or that he should be assigned to work in the ordnance, quartermaster or other Staff Corps or sent immediately to a division at one of the camps. Lieut. Col. Rees, commander of the entire Students' Corps, has authority to dispose his men in the way best suited to meet the emergencies of the military and national situation at the time. The presumption is that, for the next year, the largest proportion of the student body reaching twenty-one years will be required to supply a large part of the officers needed for the national army. It is understood that at least four or five times as many officers will be required as the total number of students who will graduate from all American colleges and universities. Enlistment in the Students' Army Training Corps, therefore, while it does not hold out any promise of an officer's commission, is at the present time the plainest road leading in that direction.

The student who shows no ability for special service in his college and military work, will be ordered into active service as a private when his day of reckoning comes. Enlistment is for the duration of the war. If, however, the student fails to improve his college opportunities, he may be dismissed from college by action of the college authorities and discharged from military service by the military authorities. He would then be subject to the operation of the draft. His enlistment may be cancelled for other sufficient causes such as sickness, lack of funds, etc., upon recommendation of the President of the college and the military officer in command at the college.

Opportunity will be given for the enlisted student, who so elects, to transfer from army to navy, and vice versa, and to be assigned to active service in one of the various corps of the army upon recommendation of the college President and the proper military authority.

Regular uniforms, including hats, shoes and overcoats, will be furnished all members of the Students' Army Training Corps by the Government.

Should Congress lower the age of liability to immediate military service, men of the new ages not already enlisted may find difficulty in entering the service otherwise than through the Draft Boards. In view of this possibility, all men expecting to enlist at all in the Students' Army Training Corps would do well to enter promptly.

July 10, 1918.

The War Department Authorizes the Following Announcement:

The details of the plan prepared by the War Department to offer to able-bodied college students over the age of 18 the opportunity to enlist in the military forces of the United States and to obtain training in the colleges which will prepare them for the more exacting forms of military service have now been completed. The plan was first announced in the letter of May 8th to the presidents of all educational institutions of collegiate grade, and the details are explained in a circular sent to the colleges under the date of June 29th.

The purpose of the plan is to provide for the very important needs of the army for highly trained men as officers, engineers, doctors, chemists and administrators of every kind. The importance of this need cannot be too strongly emphasized. The plan is an attempt to mobilize and develop the brain power of the young men of the country for these services which demand special training. Its object is to prevent the premature enlistment for active service of these men who could by extending the period of their college training multiply manifold their value to the country. If, however, the need arises for the services of these men in the fighting line, the terms of their enlistment are such that they can be called by the President on a day's notice. For the present it will be the policy of the Government to keep them in training until their draft age is reached.

The War Department Authorizes the following announcement:

The details of the plan prepared by the War Department to offer to able-bodied college students over the age of 18 the opportunity to enlist in the military forces of the United States and to obtain training in the colleges which will prepare them for the more exacting forms of military service have now been completed. The plan was first announced in the letter of May 8th to the presidents of all educational institutions of collegiate grade, and the details are explained in a circular sent to the colleges under the date of June 23rd.

The purpose of the plan is to provide for the very important needs of the Army for highly trained men as officers, engineers, doctors, chemists and administrators of every kind.

The importance of this need cannot be too strongly emphasized. The plan is an attempt to mobilize and develop the brain power of the young men of the country for those services which demand special training. Its object is to prevent the premature enlistment for active service of these men who could by extending the period of their college training multiply manifold their value to the country. It, however, the need arises for the services of these men in the fighting line, the terms of their enlistment are such that they can be called by the President on a day's notice. For the present it will be the policy of the Government to keep them in training until their draft age is reached.

This is a war in which soldiers are not only marksmen, but also engineers, chemists, physicists, geologists, doctors, and specialists in many other lines. Scientific training is indispensable. Engineering skill is needed by the officers who direct every important military operation and who control our lines of transport and communication. In the same way chemical and physical knowledge are in constant demand at the front as well as behind the lines, while the task of saving the lives and restoring the health of hundreds of thousands of wounded calls for the services of regiments of military physicians. The scientific training which prepares a man to fulfill one of these highly specialized duties and the more liberal training which helps to develop the qualities of leadership needed by the officer or administrator are essential elements of military efficiency.

For the purpose of developing men who shall have this combination of military and intellectual training a new corps has been created in the army, to be called the Student's Army Training Corps. Voluntary enlistment in this Corps is open to all able-bodied students in the institutions of collegiate grade who are not under 18 years of age. Students under 18 cannot be legally enlisted, but they may enroll and thus receive military training until they reach the age when they can legally enlist.

Students under 18 cannot be legally enlisted, but they may enroll and then receive military training until they reach the age when they can legally enlist.

The boy who enlists in the Student's Army Training Corps will be a member of the army of the United States. He will be provided by the War Department with uniform and equipment, but will be on furlough status and will not receive pay. He will undergo regular military training as a part of his course during the college year, will attend a six weeks camp for rigid and intensive military instructions with privates pay, and will be subject to the call of the President for active service at any time, should the exigencies of the military situation demand it. The policy of the Government, however, will be to keep members of this Corps in college until their draft age is reached, and the War Department will have the power to order such men to continue in college even after their draft age is reached whenever their work is such that the needs of the service, e.g., for doctors, engineers, chemists and the like, are such as to make that course advisable.

The Student's Army Training Corps will be administered by the Committee on Education and Special Training of the War Department, which will function as a section of the Training and Instruction Branch of the War Plans Division of the General Staff. Competent officers and non-commissioned officers will be assigned to the various institutions to carry on the work of military instruction. To supplement the officers assigned by the War Department three special summer training camps are being held to train a limited number of picked students and members of the faculties of the various institutions so that they will be able to assist in the work of military instruction.

These camps will be held at Plattsburg, New York, Fort Sheridan, Illinois, and Presidio, California, for sixty days beginning July 18th.

The importance of this plan for combined military and collegiate training, if we are to meet in the future the urgent needs of the army for highly trained men, is so great that the War Department earnestly requests the colleges, Councils of Defense, and other patriotic societies to co-operate in bringing it to the attention of the young men of the country and in urging them to do their part to make it a success.

Duty of Defense—Right to Peace!

THE AMERICAN PEACE AND ARBITRATION LEAGUE was founded and incorporated in 1909 for the purpose of promoting national security for the United States and peace between all nations, through the agency of arbitration and kindred means of preventing war.

The League's Charter advocates:

“Adequate armament and effective arbitration as correlative agencies for national security and for international peace and justice”

This provides a practical way of settling most of our international disputes without the dangers of militarism.

Arbitration is the best alternative for war thus far proposed.

Most of our international disputes which fail of settlement by diplomacy, or by joint commission may be disposed of by arbitration.

The fundamental obligation of adequate defense devolves upon every people as an insurance against the failure of both diplomacy and arbitration.

The League's work may be summed up in two propositions :

First : To advocate the settlement of international disputes without war, and

Second : To promote an adequate defense policy and perpetual preparedness for the United States for the purpose of securing its life and institutions under all circumstances and at all hazards.

This means that the United States must be in a position, either individually, or in combination with some other nation or nations, to protect itself, and to enforce its treaties and compel other nations to respect them. It means, also, that the United States must be in a position to protect its citizens and their interests, enforce all rights and fulfill all obligations, under the rules of international law, as they existed at the beginning of the present war, and as they may be modified after the close of the present war, by the Signatory Powers at the Third Hague Conference.

Right to Peace—Duty of Defense

The right to peaceful internal and external development is paramount for every member of the family of nations.

The correlative of this right is the obligation of defense.

Defense is one of the chief objects for which this organization exists.

Its ultimate end of peace is sought through security first and then through arbitration.

The United States has arbitration treaties with thirty foreign nations, and has taken the lead in the perfection of every method of promoting international conciliation and co-operation for the prevention of war.

World conditions, as they have developed during the past year, make it clear that no nation can live within itself alone and fulfill its obligation to its own people or to its neighbors. For that reason a definite program for dealing with the more pressing problems affecting international relations must be outlined. The attitude of The American Peace and Arbitration League is that of ascertaining the facts and using the information to accomplish definite legislation on the part of the United States, and international action of a co-operative character.

The League's Constructive Program

The American Peace and Arbitration League depends upon membership dues for funds.

It is not a beneficiary under any peace endowment.

This insures direct responsiveness of the League to the popular spirit of its supporting constituency. The membership is composed of American men and women who approve its purposes and desire to advance its work.

It is extending its individual membership to all parts of the country with an organization national in scope, non-partisan in spirit, and representative of the highest patriotism and best thought of the actual peacemakers and defenders of the United States. We are building an organization which, by reason of its strength, will command respect abroad, confidence at home, and be of real service to the President, the Congress and the people of the United States in the cause of humanity and world peace generally.

For purposes of efficiency, the League has divided its activity into four principal Departments:

- a. Membership for Moral and Financial Support.
- b. Research.
- c. Education and Publicity.
- d. Legislative.

a. The Department of Membership seeks to build up a large organization, with a nation-wide constituency among patriotic men and women, upon whose co-operation the League may depend for the accomplishment of its purposes.

b. Serious and complex questions of national and international import will require intelligent research to get at the truth, and careful investigation of conditions, so that the results may be put before the public in indisputable form for the purpose of creating a sufficiently forceful public opinion to bring about definite action upon a given proposition.

c. The Education and Publicity Department will endeavor to arouse popular opinion through the press and public forum. A periodical publication will present to the members and the public generally, the gist of the world's thought and progress on these great problems.

d. The Legislative Program seeks:

First: To secure treaties of arbitration, mediation and conciliation with all foreign countries.

Second: To promote proper legislation by the Congress for national security and defense, including the necessary appropriations to carry out the recommendations of the President of the United States, based upon scientific plans prepared by the experts of the Government in the General Staff of the Army and the General Board of the Navy, and such additional councils as may seem necessary and useful both in planning and providing an adequate national defense.

We must strengthen our Army, Navy, National Guard and our Coast Defenses, and create "a reserve citizen soldiery trained and accustomed to the use of arms."

At the close of the present world war there will be need of some co-operative action among nations to bring about a recognition of the interdependence of nations and secure a mutual guarantee to make a recurrence of the ruinous European tragedy less possible. This can be accomplished through a combination of formidable Powers, strong enough to maintain a just and reasonable regulation of international affairs. Our League is working for this result.

A Nation-Wide Campaign Necessary

Such a campaign as we plan requires the expenditure of a large sum of money, but when it is considered that we are dealing with the greatest economic, moral and patriotic question now before the world, any reasonable expenditure is justified. The accomplishment of even a fraction of our program would mean the saving of hundreds of millions of dollars, to say nothing of that nobler work of saving human life and suffering.

We need most an aroused national sentiment and a large individual membership thoroughly believing in our program and heartily advocating our cause.

We solicit the aid and co-operation of every American citizen, who believes with us that this is a personal and business matter of vital interest to

Dear Dr. Dodson:

Replying to your letter of January 5th we beg to advise you that the American Ambulance Hospital at Neuilly, near Paris, is not connected officially with the American or the French Red Cross, but they have done a very high grade of work and the American Red Cross has contributed funds to be expended by them in the maintenance of their hospital, just as it has contributed funds to other hospitals in the various countries at war. These funds have been contributed in addition to the transmission of funds that have been definitely designated and were also in addition to the money sent for the support of our own surgeons and nurses of which we have 193, distributed among the various combatants.

The question that you raise as to whether the Rush Medical College would be acting in a strictly neutral manner if they sent members of the faculty to this hospital, it seems to us, can only be answered in the negative, unless the Rush Medical College would also offer the services of a like number to all of the countries impartially and, in our judgment, if the Rush Medical College was to send, or even offer to send, members of the faculty to the Neuilly Hospital alone, that other belligerent might, and probably would, feel that it was an offer of aid that discriminated in favor of an enemy.

There is, of course, no question as to the right of the Rush Medical College to send any of its staff to the hospital named above, nor any question but what they would be able to do a considerable amount of merciful work, but this is a question apart from the interpretation of their act by any of the opposing armies.

Dear Dr. Dolan:

Replying to your letter of January 28th we beg to advise you that the American Red Cross Hospital at Seattle, near Seattle, is not connected officially with the American Red Cross but they have been a very high grade of work and the American Red Cross has contributed funds to be expended by them in the maintenance of this hospital. It has been established by the American Red Cross in the various countries at war. These funds have been contributed in addition to the transmission of funds that have been voluntarily donated and were also in addition to the money sent for the support of our own personnel and nurses of which we have 100, distributed among the various countries.

The question that you raise as to whether the Rush Medical College would be getting in a strictly neutral matter is that we can only be fair of the faculty to this hospital. It seems to us, can only be answered in the negative, unless the Rush Medical College would also have the services of a fine number of its own personnel. In our judgment, if the Rush Medical College can be used or even offer to send members of the faculty to the Seattle Hospital along, that other colleagues might, and probably would, feel that it was an offer of aid that discriminated in favor of an enemy.

There is, of course, no question as to the right of the Rush Medical College to send any of its staff to the hospital near Seattle for any question that they would be able to do a considerable amount of useful work, but this is a question that is not the subject of their act by any of the opposing parties.

The American Red Cross has been extremely careful to offer its services to all of the countries involved, responding to their acceptances of our aid in such proportions as our funds permit.

I trust that this answers the points that you have in mind and, in the event that it does not, we will be glad to go into the matter further.

Dear Sir:

I have the honor of referring to our conversation of yesterday, in reference to the American Ambulance Hospital in Paris, and the work which has been done by that most admirable and efficient institution.

As it fell to my lot to work out the organization with Dr. Crile of the surgical Unit which has just gone to Paris, as representing the Western Reserve University of Ohio, I beg to state that one of the explicit conditions was that Dr. Crile and his Unit should have serious and important surgical work to do. Before his Unit was accepted in principle by the Hospital Committee in Paris, this matter was very thoroughly gone into, and his tour of duty was offered and accepted strictly upon that basis. We have no less an authority than former Ambassador Robert Bacon, who has spent almost all of his time since the first of September in this Hospital service development, for the statement that there is a great need for this institution, and that its necessities are daily growing.

The reputation of the American Ambulance Hospital for the successful treatment of the most serious cases, gives it a favored position as regards subjects and numbers. Had it not been for this condition, and the great quantity of cases to care for, they certainly would not have installed the second base hospital 25 miles Northeast of Paris, and which has been so generously financed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

A word might be said in reference to the neutrality of this Hospital. The fact that at its very inception, the whole subject was canvassed in its fullest bearings, and when Ambassador Herrick accepted the honorary Presidency of the Hospital, it was with a complete understanding as to its neutrality, and

The more information I accumulate about this hospital the more strongly do I feel that we would lose a great opportunity if we did not send a group of the Rush faculty. Dear Dr. Dodson:

I take this opportunity of handing you copies of letters dated January 11th and January 16th, respectively, from the Department of Surgery of Harvard University. You will undoubtedly appreciate that the character of that University and its well known principles of investigation, have considered the question of neutrality of the Ambulance, and decided unanimously and favorably thereupon.

I, personally, hope that it will still be possible for Chicago to be represented in this work, by an organization which may apply for the tour of duty of three months. If I can be helpful to you, please inform me.

I also take the liberty of quoting from a letter I have just received from one of the Hospital Committee in Paris, and dated December 28th.

"I was looking over the records of the hospital yesterday, and find that we have now had over 860 admissions, most of them very bad cases, as only the most seriously injured are sent to us, those of the wounded who are able to stand transportation being sent to hospitals south of the Loire. To date we have had 65 deaths, or a death rate of 7.67% and this is remarkably good considering the fact that after the battle of the Marne and during the advance to the Aisne we received many desperately injured men who had lain for from three to four days on the battlefield, and who came to us affected with gas gangrene or tetanus. There was even one case of a man who died on the stretcher just after he had crossed our threshold. Unquestionably American generosity at home and American energy on this side, coupled with the remarkable skill of our surgical and medical staff, have saved very many lives, and have certainly alleviated an immense amount of suffering. There is no institution on the Continent which ranks as high and which has received as

I take this opportunity of sending you copies of letters dated January 17th and January 18th, respectively from the Department of Surgery of Harvard University. You will undoubtedly appreciate that the character of that University and its well known principles of investigation have considered the question of certain types of the treatment, and I am naturally and favorably interested.

I personally hope that it will still be possible for Chicago to be represented in this work by an organization which may apply for the year of duty of three months. If I can be helpful to you, please inform me.

I also take the liberty of quoting from a letter I have just received from one of the Hospital Committee in Paris, and which I enclose herewith.

"I was looking over the records of the hospital yesterday and find that we have now had over 500 admissions out of them very bad cases, as only the most seriously injured are sent to us. Those of the wounded who are able to stand transportation being sent to hospital south of the Loire. To date we have had 28 deaths, or a death rate of 7.5% and this is remarkably good considering the fact that after the battle of the Marne and during the advance to the Aisne we received very considerably injured men who had lain for from three to four days on the battlefield, and who came to us allocated with gas gangrene or tetanus. There was even one case of a man who died on the stretcher just after he had crossed the threshold. Inevitably American general staff of home and American energy on this side, coupled with the remarkable skill of our surgical and medical staff, have saved very many lives, and have certainly alleviated an immense amount of suffering. There is no indication on the Continent which tends as high and which has received as much praise as has the American Ambulance, and its activities have aided in further cementing the friendship between the two countries. I am firmly convinced that the bread we are now casting upon the waters, will be returned to us in years to come many times over."

The period covered by the statement of the writer, Mr. Lawrence V. Benet, covers that from the beginning of the second week of September to Christmas.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Drake:

We have been hoping to hear from you that we had been given the assignment for April 1st, at the American Ambulance.

Our expenses have been guaranteed to us, and Dr. Cushing, who is the head of the department, and I are engaged at present in selecting the men to go with us. Everyone wants to go, but, of course, it makes a difference whether for the period from April to July or later.

Dr. Cushing is writing to Dr. Blake and Dr. Crile again to get reports from them from time to time, which will be of help to us, and we feel from this end that everything is going well.

I shall hope to hear from you as soon as anything more definite is settled.

My dear Dr. Lewis:-

I was sorry that the plan of a Chicago unit for the American Ambulance Hospital fell through, and am wondering if I am correct in thinking that it was the failure to obtain the funds which brought about the result. Is it out of the question to renew the undertaking? I had supposed that there was an adequate undertaking for securing the small amount of money in question, and am quite sure that it would not be impossible to get that amount even now.

My dear President Judson:

Your letter of November 27th received. In reply would state that our surgical department was offered a service at the American Ambulance Hospital in Paris for three months, October, November and December. Dr. Dean Lewis was at one time especially anxious to go and Dr. Herrick had succeeded in obtaining a promise of $5000. from Madam McCormick which was half of the necessary amount to finance the unit. I endeavored to raise the other $5000., but was not able to do so and I did not feel like financing the matter myself.

As we became more familiar with the situation it was evident that our services were not needed, that there were plenty of surgeons in Paris who were not only willing, but anxious to do this work, and as Dr. Jos. Blake frankly put the matter to me, it was simply an opportunity for a number of the surgical departments of American universities to send over a group of men who might observe modern, military surgery. We found that it would be necessary to take over about fourteen people. After considering all the facts and discussing the matter with Dr. Billings, we came to the conclusion that it was not possible for us to send over this unit without crippling too much the work of the surgical department of the school and the work of the surgical service at the Presbyterian Hospital. I therefore cabled Dr. Blake who had secured us the invitation that it was not possible for us to take the service at this time. Since then Blake has resigned from the hospital and considering all the facts I am very glad that we did not go over.

With best wishes, I am,

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:-

After our conference last week I had a conference with Dean Dodson in regard to the ambulance corps. I found him very willing to cooperate in any way that should be deemed advisable. I have since then had interviews with Dr. Billings and Dr. Bevan. They all seemed pleased with the idea that an ambulance corps should be established at the University and hope that as the members are trained at the University then can, on going over to Rush, automatically enter the personnel of the base hospital. I also understand that a sum of money has been set aside by the Chicago Chapter to meet the purchase of some of the equipment. I thought it proper to advise you of these moves.

Chicago, Illinois,

Sir:-

Under date of September 11, 1916, appeared in a recent issue of the Chicago Sunday Tribune an article by Carolyn Wilson in Paris concerning the work of the American Ambulance Field Service there. In this article she states that out of the three hundred American university men who have been helping in this work there has not been one from the University of Chicago. I am taking the liberty of advising you that I received the degree of S.B. at the University of Chicago in 1904; and furthermore I expect to sail from New York for France on the 14th of this month to enlist in the work of the American Ambulance Field Service.

If you care to advise the Chicago Tribune of this fact you have my consent. Any mail addressed to me at the above address will be forwarded.

Dear Mr. Foreman:-

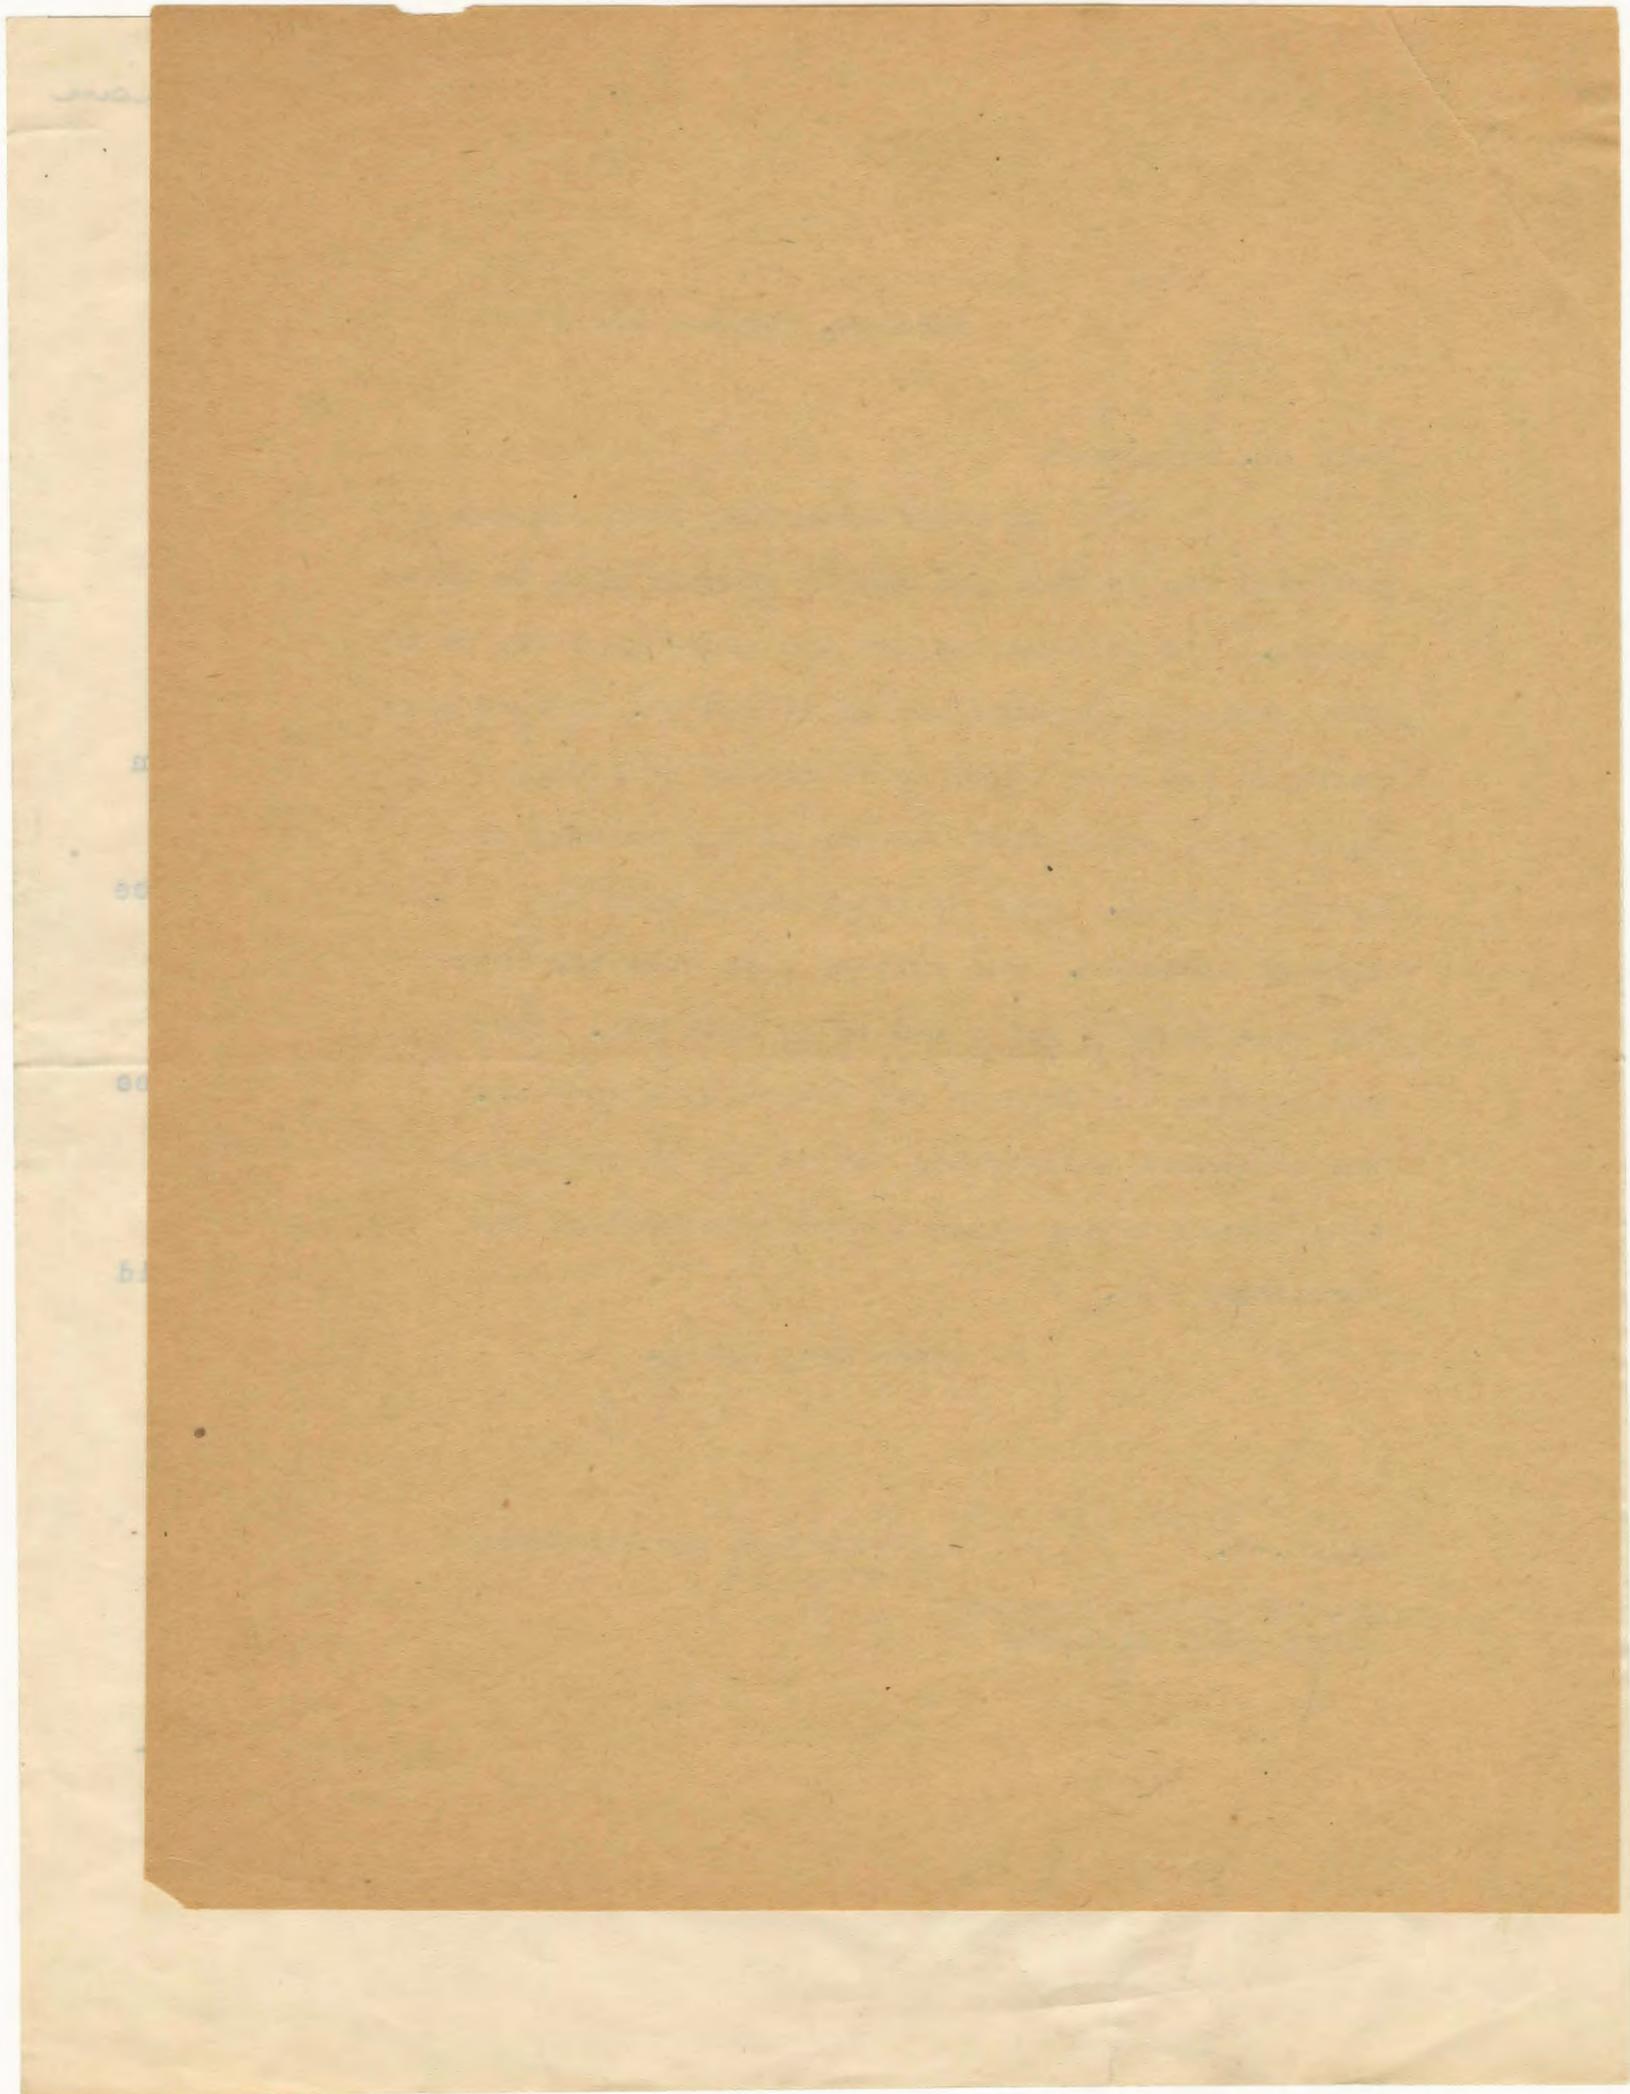

In accordance with your request I notified the Tribune and Herald of your plan to go to France. The Tribune handled the story in a way which will probably surprise you as it did me. I very much doubt if you were moved to undertake your very interesting expedition because of the remarks of Carolyn Wilson. This is practically what the Tribune asserted. The Tribune also asserted that you were looking for a man to go with you. This information the Tribune did not receive from me. The statement however has led to the accompanying (Belaney) interesting letter which I have acknowledged and forwarded to you.

Dear Sir;-

I am just in receipt of a letter from my brother Mr. Herbert S. Foreman, now with the American Ambulance Field Service in France. My brother was a member of the class of 1903 of the University and he had some correspondence with you before he left for France on October 14th. He wrote me during an interval from his work at the front and explained to me that his facilities for writing were not very good. He asked me to write you a letter as coming from him that might be used to arouse some interest in securing from those interested the donation of an automobile ambulance for service at the front. He asked me if you would insert the letter which I am sending in one of the University publications, which would most likely produce results.

In compliance with his request I am writing you a short letter, explaining briefly some things about the work, and if you will see that the letter is published in some organ, it would be very much appreciated. It occurred to me that possibly in addition to publishing it in the University paper, it might help to give it to a reporter for the Tribune.

Thanking you for my brother, as well as myself for your courtesy in the matter, I am

Dear Mr. Foreman:-

Dear T:-

At the University dinner the President abandoned all the notes which he had made for his speech and gave a spontaneous utterance of his thought and feeling. At my request he dictated for the University Record as much as he could remember of the address. I shall see that you have a copy.

A young gentleman from Harvard has arrived with a letter from President Lowell for the purpose of "awakening interest" in the American Ambulance in Paris among students of the University of Chicago. I have told President Judson that I think the cause of the American Ambulance will be better advanced if after the Allied Bazaar is out of the way we connect up the interests of the University of Chicago with one of our own alumni, Foreman. I think an address by Kel Speed for Chicago men deeply interested in the cause will be much more effective than the work of any foreign missionary.

In restraining the Harvard enterprise however I should wish to feel sure that we are ready to undertake a genuine movement. What do you think about it?

Yours very truly,

My dear Sir:

I have recently been informed by Dr. H. W. Gentles of Chicago that when organizing the American Red Cross Ambulance Company among your students you prefer to name the Captain and four Lieutenants (the officers) instead of having them selected by Dr. Gentles. This is of course perfectly satisfactory to this office as we do not wish to appoint anyone not in touch with the University. However, these appointments cannot be made until they have been approved by the Director General of Military Relief. The appointment of the officers is most important and is the first thing that should be done. Will you therefore let me have these names at your earliest convenience?

As soon as the officers have been appointed enrollment of the subordinate personnel should be commenced, and in that work it is expected that the officers themselves will take a personal interest.

As the funds have already been deposited with which to purchase the equipment of the Ambulance Company I trust you can give this matter your early attention.

It may interest you to know that a number of these companies are being organized in other universities such as Harvard, New York, etc.

Very truly yours,

Dear Pres. Judson;

In your talk before the students in Mandel on Friday at 10<sup>00</sup> am. will you kindly mention that the Ambulance Co. still needs about 15 more first class men. We want to make this a University of Chicago Medical unit and to have only college men in the company. It is a Medical Service you may be interested to know that I am assured by Washington today that the company will not be called to camp before June 15. Also that there is a movement on foot ~~and~~ among the medical faculty and students to raise money to equip a large motor truck as a first class <sup>field</sup> library and laboratory and donate it to the company. The object being to put at the students disposal opportunities to keep alive their interest in science and medicine, during the otherwise dreary hours in ~~of~~ camp.
With such equipment the officers, who are from the medical school, will be able to take advantage of any research opportunity which may present itself. If time permits definite courses will be given. Our laboratories offer their cooperation.

Organization and Drilling is going on nicely

Dear General Barry:-

Last week I sent a night letter to the Sergeant General at Washington with regard to the University of Chicago Ambulance Company Number Three suggesting that if there is no room at Allentown the University is willing to continue the use of the barracks at the University without cost to the Government provided the Government takes the company into service. If the company is to be kept together it is necessary for its morale that the long delay should be ended. I do not know whether you have heard from Washington advising to this effect and send this that you may be informed.

Pres. Harry Pratt Judson,
University of Chicago,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear President:

You, doubtless, will be interested to hear something from us. The University of Chicago Unit is now securely quartered and have drawn most of our supplies and are now on the same status as other companies that have been here for some weeks. The new organization provides for five companies to a battalion. The Chicago group has been divided into four complete companies of forty-five men each; each under the command of a first lieutenant. There will be one more company assigned to us; five companies thus constitute a battalion under command of the captain. This is the organization according to the French Army plan.

There are about five thousand men in camp here including two base hospitals. Allentown is a concentration and training point for medical organizations soon to go to France to join the French Army. We do not know whether as announced some time ago we shall ever be assigned to the American Army. Rumor has it that the French are so badly in need of physicians, it is contemplated that a certain number of men from the line will be promoted to the rank of first lieutenant and the majority of the doctors be assigned to base hospitals of the French Army. I am greatly surprised at the number of physicians one encounters here who prefer not to do technical medical work. I suppose that it is the proximity of the firing line with its activities which makes them prefer the direction of companies with ambulance work.

There is, I believe, no question but that everyone here will be sent abroad soon to join the French Army. The Chicago <sup>men</sup> seem to have given an excellent account of themselves. We are the largest ambulance unit that has ever been organized in the United States and Col. Persons took occasion to pay a high tribute to the University of Chicago group. In the matter of mechanics, musicians, cooks, and laboratory men, we seem to be better equipped and organized than any one else. The portable laboratory has attracted a great deal of attention among the medical men here. It is now being used as the Post Medical Laboratory and two of the Chicago boys are doing all the laboratory work for the entire camp. It is probable that this arrangement will obtain even after we get to France.

I am very sorry not to <sup>have been</sup> able to call on you and Mrs. Hudson before leaving Chicago. Again I wish to express on behalf of the company our heartiest thanks to you for the great assistance you have been to us and of your kindly interest in our company throughout.

Sincerely yours,

Elbert Clark

drill, instruction in ambulance construction, driving and repair, classes in anatomy, physiology, sanitation, hygiene and first aid measures. About half the company have been drilling for three months.

On May 22 Major Connor of the American Red Cross notified us he had just completed arrangements to have our company mustered into the Federal Service for encampment at Allentown, Pennsylvania, prior to early service with the French Army until the arrival of the American Army in France; when we would be assigned to the latter. Since June 4 we have held the Company together ready to move at a moment's notice. About one-third of the boys have exhausted their resources.

As indicated above the Company is in readiness to move, but for the Federal Oath which will be administered Monday July 2. If the War Department finds it impossible to move the Company to an established camp it is suggested that it recognize the University of Chicago Barracks as an official camp. The sanitary conditions and mess facilities are good. Two experienced Hospital Corps sergeants are supervising the drilling and camp discipline.

My dear Sir:

I desire to call your attention to the plan of the American Red Cross to fulfill those duties which have been placed upon it by the Congressional Act of Incorporation. By that the Red Cross is obligated to assist the Armed Forces of the United States in the care of the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors in time of war. Very definite instructions have been issued by the War and Navy Departments stating exactly the character of assistance they desire to receive from the Red Cross under the foregoing authority.

Organizations such as base hospitals, general hospitals, ambulance companies, hospital units, sanitary training detachments, etc., must be formed by the Department of Military Relief in order that the Red Cross may be ready when called upon by the Army.

It has occurred to me that it may appeal to your patriotism, and interest in the Red Cross, to suggest the formation of an Ambulance Company among the students of your University. The cost of the equipment for training an Ambulance Company in time of peace amounts to $9,753.54. You will find this described in detail in the enclosed statement marked Da-14.

The purpose of forming Red Cross Ambulance Companies is in order that they may supplement and assist similar organizations of the Regular Army in the transportation of sick and wounded from the zone of the advance ( the front ), to other hospitals along the line of communications as far back as the base. Ambulance Companies may also be used to man hospital trains, hospital ships, or when urgently needed, to man emergency hospitals. Their duties, however, are normally those of transportation, with the incidental care of patients entailed in such work. They should be trained how to man and operate "Rest Stations" along lines of communications, when such are needed.

Individuals who join such units are requested to agree to serve the Red Cross for a period not exceeding two years, and that in case of hostilities they will enter the sanitary service of the Army. As soon as the Company is organized the officers will be commissioned in the Medical Section, of the Officers' Reserve

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY SERVICE
 OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY
 WASHINGTON, D. C.

November 17, 1918

University of Chicago
 Chicago, Ill.

My dear Sir:

I desire to call your attention to the plan of the American Red Cross to fulfill those duties which have been placed upon it by the Congressional act of August 14, 1918. It is the duty of the Red Cross to assist the Armed Forces of the United States in the care of the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors in time of war. Any definite instructions have been issued by the War and Navy Departments stating exactly the character of assistance they desire to receive from the Red Cross under the foregoing authority.

Organizations such as home hospitals, general hospitals, convalescent hospitals, hospital units, auxiliary training detachments, etc., that are formed by the Department of Military Service in order that the Red Cross may be ready when called upon by the Army.

It has occurred to me that it may appeal to your patriotism, and interest in the Red Cross, to suggest the formation of an auxiliary company among the students of your University. The cost of the equipment for such a company is $100.00. You will find this amount in detail in the enclosed statement dated 10-11.

The purpose of forming Red Cross auxiliary companies is in order that they may be placed and ready to assist in the regular work in the transportation of sick and wounded from the zone of the advance (the front) to their hospitals along the line of communication as far back as the base. Auxiliary companies may also be used to run hospital trains, hospital ships, etc. when urgently needed, to run emergency hospitals. Their duties, however, are normally those of transportation, and the incidental care of patients enroute. They should be trained how to run and operate their hospitals along lines of communication, when such are needed.

Indubitably the plan which is suggested to you to carry the Red Cross for a period not exceeding two years, and that in case of mobilization they will enter the auxiliary service of the Army. As soon as the company is organized the officers will be commissioned in the Medical Section of the Officers' Reserve.

Corps. The subordinate personnel may join the Enlisted Reserve Corps at once if they wish to, or defer it until necessary to fulfill their agreement on the outbreak of hostilities. You can readily see what an advantage it will be to the Army in time of war if, through the efforts of the Red Cross a number of well trained organizations are in existence ready to give efficient service when called upon. Vacancies in the organization created when students graduate or otherwise leave the Company, or after expiration of their two years service in time of peace, can be filled from the freshman and sophomore classes. The personnel of the Company must be between 18 and 45 years of age. In special cases men above the latter age may be accepted as officers.

Red Cross Ambulance Companies consist of Five officers (One Captain and Four Lieutenants) and the following subordinate personnel:

	1 First Sergeant
	11 Sergeants
	5 Mechanics
	2 Cooks
	2 Asst. Cooks
	20 Chauffeurs
	2 Musicians
	43 Privates
Total Personnel:	91

The officers should all be medical men, and I have no doubt if you can get the subordinate personnel among your students, there will be no great difficulty in finding physicians in your vicinity to fill the commissioned grades.

An outline of the course of instruction which an Ambulance Company should cover in about two years is shown in the enclosed statement marked Da-15.

While it is desirable to have the full personnel it is not necessary to wait until the entire number has been obtained before commencing organization. It is believed that one or two hours work each week, or semi-monthly (either on an afternoon or evening) between October 1st and June 1st of each year would be sufficient to bring the Company to a fair state of proficiency.

Under the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, if the men will enter the Enlisted Reserve Corps (the officers already being in the Officers' Reserve Corps) a Company may be given 15 days training annually at a regular army maneuver camp. Under such circumstances the traveling expenses of the members while proceeding from their homes to the camp, while on duty thereat, and while returning therefrom would be at the expense of the government.

Where Red Cross chapters exist in the neighborhood in which Ambulance Companies are being formed it is customary to ask them to assist in raising the funds necessary for the purchase of equipment. In some of our chapters the entire sum of money needed has been raised in a few weeks.

It will interest you to know that the Chicago Chapter, of which Mr. A.A. Sprague is Chairman, and Mr. J.J. O'Connor is Secretary, with offices at 600 West Erie Street, has already raised $10,000.00 for the equipment of an Ambulance Company and which will be available for the one which we hope to establish at the University of Chicago, if you are willing to co-operate to the extent of

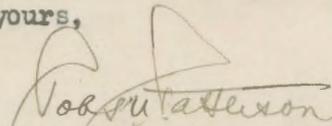

A letter will be written by the Director-General of Military Relief to the Chapter requesting them to co-operate with you.

My dear Sir:

Your favor of the 17th inst. is received. I am very much interested in the possibility which you call to my attention. We shall be delighted to have an ambulance company formed among our students. We are expecting an answer from the War Department to our application for the organization of a unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. It would seem to me advisable to proceed simultaneously with both these plans. As soon as we hear from the War Department I shall be glad to take up this other question.

With best regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Wacker:

It gives me unusual pleasure to accept your request to serve on the Citizen's Committee for the Red Cross Membership Campaign. The Red Cross membership should enroll every citizen of Chicago who can find a dollar to devote to a good cause; every citizen of Chicago who can find two dollars, especially for the permanent membership; and every citizen who can spend the larger sums which the different classes of memberships involve. It seems to me that it would be little short of a crime to send our boys into the trenches, as they are going by the hundred thousand, without every provision for their care and for the care of those dependent on them whom they leave at home. The Red Cross is the official agency of the United States Government for these purposes. The spirit of Chicago can never be shown in a finer way than by the unanimous support of this great agency. Dear Dr. Gunsaulus;

I am requested to act on the committee on behalf of the Red Cross campaign to see that all educational institutions in the city are engaged in that campaign. I have no doubt that Armour Institute is already at work. In the University we have appointed a committee to canvass each member of the faculty and the students. Of course it is entirely possible to contribute the one dollar or the two dollars for an annual membership, the latter securing the magazine, without a serious burden, and without regard to membership in other organizations.

Mrs. Chas S. Eaton has applied for service in the Canteens in Chicago and has given your name as a reference. Will you be kind enough to write a letter emphasizing particularly the following points: health, disposition, capacity for hard work, adaptability to all sorts of conditions, ability to get on with people and readiness to work amicably under orders. Is she of German descent and what can you say of her loyalty? We shall be glad too, if you would mention any other qualifications which you think would fit her for work in the Canteens in Chicago.

My dear Dr. Angell:

Although you made it clear to me in our recent conference that the University has had no direct responsibility for the hospitalization and care of the Dorchester Barracks group, you made it equally clear that all that concerns the health and welfare of this group is of vital interest to the University. I am therefore (with the permission of Major Dana) addressing to you a report concerning the cooperation of the Red Cross with the military authorities in this emergency.

Red Cross Responsibility.

May I say for the benefit of any who may see this letter and who do not have the clear understanding of the matter that you yourself have, that the Red Cross recognized and assumed responsibility from three standpoints -

1. Its official status as the agency upon which military authorities, under military regulations, rely when civilian cooperation is deemed acceptable or necessary.
2. Its disaster relief status as the agency which is uniformly called on when any disaster temporarily overstrains the normal resources of a community.
3. Its status in this epidemic of Spanish influenza, under the plan perfected between the Surgeon General of the United States and National Red Cross headquarters.
(Note: The Surgeon General's representative in Chicago, Colonel Cobb of the Marine Hospital, has an office at Chicago Chapter headquarters. The Chairman of the State Influenza Commission represents the Red Cross, and the Chairman of the Chicago Chapter is the only non-medical member of the Executive Committee of that Commission.)

The Initial Request.

This came on Saturday evening, October 19th, at about 11:00 P. M., by telephone to the home of the Chapter Chairman. A few moments later the Sergeant in charge telephoned (doubtless at the suggestion of the first inquirer) and a conference followed between the Sergeant, the Chairman and Reverend Charles W. Gilkey, who chanced to be at the Chairman's house.

The Chairman's service with the Influenza Commission aided him to recognize in the conditions reported by the Sergeant the type of emergency which it was the duty of the Red Cross to endeavor promptly to meet. Before retiring, he made plans to provide the following morning supplies from Red Cross headquarters of the type usually required in such cases; pajamas, bed shirts, convalescent gowns, etc. He asked Dr. Gilkey to assist in developing a corps of civilian aids, who would be ready to render such service as the military authorities might request the Red Cross to perform.

Sunday, October 20th.

On Sunday it developed that several articles, not purchasable on that day and not available in sufficient quantities at Red Cross headquarters, would be needed; and a temperate request was made in the neighborhood for such sheets, pillows and pillow slips as could be spared. The response was immediate and ample for the day's needs. Sunday afternoon the boys were removed to the two buildings on University Avenue, the emergency equipment for which was provided through the Red Cross. A number of needful articles were contributed as shown in the list hereafter given by individual donors.

Personnel.

It soon became evident that the zeal of the community to serve would lead to complications unless provision were made systematically to clear, through the Red Cross, all offers of assistance and equipment. It was arranged, therefore, in conference with Mr. Gilkey, that a Red Cross registry should be maintained at Mrs. Goodman's and that volunteer personnel should be recruited solely through such registry. The plan, hurriedly put into effect, was that the Red Cross representative on duty at the hospital should communicate to Mrs. Goodman requests for women to assist in the nursing, in the serving of the meals, or in other parts of the hospital work. Every request for help of the character has been met to the complete satisfaction, I am assured, of the military authorities. Long hours, and arduous service have not lessened the zeal of these volunteers. There has not been a time,

Sunday, October 30th.

On Sunday it developed that several articles, not purchasable on that day and not available in sufficient quantities at Red Cross headquarters, would be needed, and a separate request was made in the neighborhood for such sheets, pillows and pillow slips as could be spared. The response was immediate and ample for the day's needs. Sunday afternoon the boys were removed to the two buildings on University Avenue, the emergency equipment for which was provided through the Red Cross. A number of needed articles were contributed as shown in the list hereafter given by individual donors.

Every request for help of the character has been met to the complete satisfaction, I am assured, of the military authorities. Long hours, and arduous service have not lessened the zeal of these volunteers. There has not been a time day or night, since the first boy entered the emergency hospital that a Red Cross representative has not been present ready to supply, upon request, whatever might be desired by the officer in charge. A capable woman, trained to emergency service in the Transvaal, has performed the important task of sterilizing all linen before sending same to the laundry. Other women have met at the trains the anxious parents and have entertained and reassured them. Assistance in care of the sick and in the serving of food has been given to the full extent desired. These Red Cross representatives (whom I shall not name, lest by omission I do injustice) have truly personified the community will to serve.

Supplies.

For many reasons the Chairman thought it desirable to undertake personally the task of providing all needed supplies until sufficient time might elapse to enable such supplies to be furnished through regular military channels. While contributed articles were utilized to some extent, requisitions in the main were met by the Red Cross either from headquarters or by purchase. There was no delay in meeting any requisition. It is the business of the Red Cross, at home and in the field, to meet emergencies. Its service to the Army and Navy, which gives it its official status, would be inadequate if, when its assistance is required, delays were, for any reason, tolerated.

In the following list individual donations are for convenience classified separately from the other Red Cross supplies. All were delivered at the hospital or to the post quartermaster for use at the hospital.

Red Cross - general.

Working together, the military authorities, residents, physicians and nurses, the University and the Red Cross have accomplished notable results. The epidemic which broke out under such unfavorable conditions (the victims being, principally, boys who had only just reached the city, without military experience, discipline or training) has been checked within a week. There has been no direct mortality. A heart lesion caused the death of the one lad who succumbed. The boys have had an abundance of good nursing and good food. The Red Cross seeks no credit for its contribution to the happy outcome. For that, credit must be given to the military authorities on whom the responsibility rested. The Red Cross desires merely that the community and the University, whose spirit toward the men in military service it certainly reflects, shall be assured that every request for supplies or personnel has been promptly met. This was the limit of its privilege and the full measure of its duty. That the requests of the military authorities were wisely directed is amply proved by the fact that no group of men has fared better, from the standpoint of those familiar with the progress of the epidemic in this country, than the men of the Dorchester Barracks group.

Very respectfully,

Chairman, Chicago Chapter,
American Red Cross.

May I assume your interest also in the statement that the Chapter is providing in Chicago at the present time for the families of more than 12,000 enlisted men (a constituency approximating 50,000 people), which responsibility is, of course, heavily accentuated by the increased number of sick people in these families.

My dear Mr. Eaton:

I write to acknowledge your favor of October 29 with enclosure of statement regarding the relations of the Red Cross to the United States Army Vocational Unit occupying our shops.

I am sure you may congratulate yourself and the organization on the admirable way in which the needs of this unit were met in the recent crisis. I am enclosing a brief statement which went out to members of our faculty some days ago, which may conceivably have some interest for you. I am happy to say that the favorable conditions therein reflected are still continuing.

I am somewhat amused by the continued inability to secure statements from the Medical Officer in charge of this unit which comport altogether with reports coming from other sources. On page 5 of your report you say: "There has been no direct mortality; a heart lesion

My dear Mr. Judson:

This request for an expression of opinion goes only to a limited number of men and women in public life in the United States, for the purpose of getting the best thought of the country on a problem of great significance.

We want your opinion on how our country should deal with the problem of the "Conscientious Objector" to war, - men of military age who will refuse to participate in war if drafted. These men, as you know, base their opposition to military service either on religious grounds, as do the Quakers, or on humanitarian grounds, as do many socialists, holding that all men are brothers and that they will not kill.

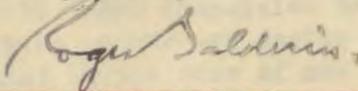

Many of these men who refuse to engage in actual military operations are willing to engage in non-combatant service under military authority, or in some other national service, either under civil authority or by voluntary agreement. Some of them will refuse to accept any kind of service under compulsion or by agreement, on the ground that any such service means helping to carry on war, to which they are opposed.

That there is a considerable body of conscientious objectors in the United States we all know. The conscription act exempts from military service only those who are members of "well-recognized religious sects or organizations opposed to war". This is a purely arbitrary distinction, indefensible in principle, and adopted only because it is easy to determine under that definition who has conscience and who has not. But conscience is individual, not corporate, and the law should be changed.

A number of organizations and individuals interested have suggested the enclosed solution which is divided into two parts: first, what the administration can do under the present law; and second, what new legislation should provide.

We should like to have your full and frank opinion on this whole problem, particularly on how the enclosed solution appeals to you.

Sincerely yours,

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR NEW LEGISLATION

These suggestions are based upon the principle of recognizing in new legislation, individual conscience rather than the "corporate" conscience of members of "well recognized religious sects opposed to war," which is the narrow provision of the present law. The first group is intended to overcome the difficulties of determining what men have real conscientious scruples against participating in war. The second group covers the proposed treatment of such men by the Government.

The suggestions embody the solution finally accepted in England after one and a half years' experience and represent the best judgment of those who have studied the problem.

I. EVIDENCE OF CONSCIENCE BEFORE THE LOCAL BOARDS

1. Members of organizations opposed to war. The difficulty in presenting evidence of conscience before local boards can be somewhat overcome by recognizing those who were members, before the draft act was passed, of an established organization whose purposes are opposed to war--such as, for instance, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Socialist Party, and other political, industrial and pacifist groups whose principles are opposed to war and to participation in it by their members.

2. Individuals. Persons not members of such organizations should be required to present legal evidence before the local boards, either by witnesses or by affidavits of trustworthy citizens of the district, to the effect that the applicant is well-known to have been opposed to war and to participation therein. Questions to be asked of such applicants by the board, which would help determine "his attitude toward participation in the war, might well be formulated and sent out to the boards by the War Department in their confidential instructions.

II. PROVISION FOR CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS

1. Non-combatant service. Men who are unwilling to engage in combatant service and to undergo military training should be assigned to non-combatant service, either at home or abroad, according as they may be willing.

2. Alternative service. Men who are unwilling to engage in either combatant or non-combatant service under military authority should be released under a written agreement to engage in some occupation essential to the national welfare, reporting periodically to the local exemption board. Such occupations should be determined and listed.

3. Treatment of "Absolutists". Men who are unwilling either to engage in combatant or non-combatant service, or to accept alternative service under agreement as outlined above, might be temporarily exempted, if engaged in occupations essential to the national welfare. If not engaged in such occupations and unwilling to change they would presumably have to be tried or courtmartialled.

4. Penalties. In connection with the latter group, men who are unwilling to accept any national service under compulsion or agreement on the ground that any such service helps in carrying on war--we desire to call attention to the English experience and to suggest that in the case of men who are to be tried or courtmartialled the following procedure be followed:

1st.- That the trial or courtmartial take place immediately after the refusal of a board to exempt a drafted man.

2nd.- That arrangements be made to place such a man either in a detention camp or prison under civil, not military, authority, and 3rd.- That the penalties for men who refuse any service under compulsion or agreement be standardized.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR NEW LEGISLATION

These suggestions are based upon the principle of recognizing in new legislation, individual conscience rather than the "collective" conscience of the State of "well recognized religious sects opposed to war," which is the narrow provision of the present law. The first group is intended to overcome the difficulty of determining what men have real conscientious scruples against participating in war. The second group covers the proposed treatment of such men by the Government.

The suggestions embody the solution finally accepted in England after one and a half years' experience and represent the best judgment of those who have studied the problem.

I. EVIDENCE OF CONSCIENTIOUS BELIEFS THE LOCAL BOARD

1. Members of organizations opposed to war. The difficulty in presenting evidence of conscientious beliefs (local boards can be somewhat overruled by the courts) those who are members, before the district and are members of an established organization whose purposes are opposed to war—such as, for instance, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Socialist Party, and other political, industrial and pacifist groups whose principles are opposed to war and to participation in it by their members.

2. Individuals. Persons not members of such organizations should be required to present local evidence before the local board, either by witnesses or by affidavits of trustworthy citizens of the district, to the effect that the applicant is well-known to have been opposed to war and to participation therein. Applications to be asked of such applicants by the board, which would help determine "well-known" persons, participation in the war, might well be formulated and sent out to the board by the War Department in their confidential instructions.

II. PROVISION FOR CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS

1. Non-combatant service. Men who are unwilling to engage in combatant service and to undergo military training should be assigned to non-combatant service, either at home or abroad, according as they may be willing.

2. Alternative service. Men who are unwilling to engage in either combatant or non-combatant service whose military service should be refused after a written statement to engage in some occupation essential to the national welfare, reporting responsibility to the local exemption board. Such occupations should be determined and listed.

3. Treatment of "Reservists." Men who are unwilling to engage in combatant or non-combatant service, or to accept alternative service, but who are willing to accept military training, should be assigned to such occupations essential to the national welfare. If not engaged in such occupations and unwilling to change, they would presumably have to be tried or court-martialed.

4. Exemption. In connection with the latter group, men who are unwilling to accept any national service under compulsion or agreement on the ground that any such service helps in carrying on war—the desire to call attention to the English experience and to suggest that in the case of men who are to be tried or court-martialed the following procedure be followed:

Dear President Judson,

Anti-Semitism
I take the liberty to enclose an article by Professor W. G. Leonard on the "Americanism of Pro-Ally and Pro-German", which I ask you to kindly read.

As one of the much "despised and rejected" German Americans I feel that this article contains an "apologia pro vita sua", and I am very curious that you should know about it.

From the standpoint of a philologist it might interest you to know that I am now 60 and left my German school at the age of 14½, and have not been to school since.

I take the liberty to enclose an article by Professor W. L. Garrison on the "Commencement of the Old and the New", which I ask you to kindly read.

On one of the pages "described and reported" "Garrison" I feel that this article contains an "old" slogan for the "new", and I am very anxious that you should know about it.

From the standpoint of a biologist it might interest you to know that of our own kind we have not been to school since.

Dear Mr. Naumann:

Your favor of the 6th inst. is received. I will read Mr. Leonard's article carefully. At the same time I think that it would have a better reception if it did not appear in the paper which includes it, a paper which in my opinion is not so much pro-German as anti-American. May I add that no one of our fellow-citizens is "despised and rejected" if in the last analysis he puts the United States of America before all other countries in the world.

My Dear Dr. Judson -

Your very kind letter of July 12, written "To whom it may concern" regarding my college career was duly received by me and was just exactly what I wanted and needed. Through its aid I was accepted in the Naval Aviation Service in which branch I had been trying to enlist with no success since last September. I am now receiving my training here at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and am most enthusiastic over the work and general military life. My brother, Huntington, is also in the training camp here, and I am able to see him frequently which

I appreciate exceedingly your kindness in writing the letter for me, and you may be sure I will make the greatest effort to bring credit to the University.

THE VISUAL REQUIREMENTS OF
MILITARY AVIATORS

CHARLES P. SMALL, M.D.
CHICAGO

The advent of the aeroplane in modern military equipment has made it necessary to modify to some extent the method of physical examination of applicants. Because of the unusual and, until within a few years, the absolutely unknown conditions which the aviator must encounter, there must be a special standard of physical fitness, quite different in some respects from that required of men in other branches of military service. In times of peace the physical standard in all branches of the service should be maintained at the highest possible point. In time of war, when the need for all available fighting forces is urgent, the physical requirement of recruits might have to be considerably lowered. To lower the standard required of aviators, however, even in time of war, would be to incur the danger of most serious risks.

Military writers on the different European battle fronts tell us that if an infantry attack is to succeed there must first be a perfect artillery preparation. There can be no such preparation unless all the targets are accurately located and the exact firing data necessary to hit them previously determined. This is done by taking large numbers of photographs of the enemy's position. The various batteries are then assigned their targets and commence their ranging fire. Trained observers in aeroplanes fly above the targets and signal back to the batteries whether they are over or short, etc.; other aeroplanes observe the progress of the attack, and from time to time report to the general in command. Such work as this necessitates a thorough and long continued reconnaissance, which can be made only by highly trained observers in aeroplanes many times a day for many days. To succeed in this work enemy aeroplanes must be destroyed or driven away by the use of a superior number of fighting aircraft. As one of our modern army men has said, "The preparation and carrying out of a modern attack are absolutely dependent on a proper aviation service. We have in the United States no fast armed machines capable of bringing down such battle machines as every European nation now possesses. We have no officers properly trained in photographic reconnaissance, in the observation of artillery fire, and in the keeping of proper communication between assaulting artillery and infantry, and between it and the general command." These facts are referred to only to emphasize the importance of having for this work men in our service endowed in the highest degree with physical fitness.

In a recent article in one of our military publications on the examination of aviators, the writer devotes over two pages to the examination of the labyrinths. It is of the utmost importance for the aviator to possess normal functions presiding over the maintenance of bodily equilibrium under a definite set of conditions. I believe, however, that it is of equal importance to know the ocular conditions present: not only the visual acuity but also the entire ocular apparatus, a phase of the examination to which the writer devoted only a single paragraph. Assuming that the applicant has successfully passed the other requirements of his physical examination, what should be his visual requirements?

Huss (Marine-Oberstabsarzt), in his recommendations for the eye examinations of flyers,<sup>1</sup> includes the history, objective examination, refraction, acuteness of vision, visual fields taken roughly by the hand, and the pupillary reaction.

Unless the subheading "objective examination" is more comprehensive than would generally be included under this term, it seems to me that there are a number of important omissions in this list for the routine examination.

Visual acuity of  $\frac{20}{20}$  in each eye is, of course, of prime necessity. This is a much higher standard than is required of recruits in most of the continental armies. In the British army, the standard for general service requires, without correction, vision of  $\frac{6}{24}$  in the better eye and  $\frac{6}{60}$  in the worse eye, which must be the left. In Germany, combatants are required to have corrected vision of at least  $\frac{6}{12}$  in one eye, while in the other the corrected vision may be minimal, and in the Landsturm the second eye may even be blind. In the armies of Germany, Austria, France and Italy, more than 6 diopters of myopia are allowed. Because of the constant demand on the eyes for absolutely clear vision, from the time the aviator begins his ascent until he has made a safe landing, a visual acuity of less than  $\frac{20}{20}$  vision in each eye might be a serious handicap. Even with normal vision in each eye, the aviator must have normal binocular vision, as otherwise his estimation of distances and of the relative locations of places and objects would be valueless, and his own safety as well as that of his machine would be in serious jeopardy when he attempted to make a landing. There should be normal muscle balance as well as good abductive and adductive power. While in the air the aviator's eyes are in constant motion and would quickly tire under the excessive strain on weak ocular muscles.

The presence of nystagmus should disqualify an applicant. Of the considerable numbers of miners who have applied for army service in England, Huss<sup>2</sup> says it is the opinion of the examining surgeons that it is a serious mistake for men who have the slightest tendency to nystagmus to be subjected to the arduous strain of military service. Attacks of giddiness may come on at any time. It can be readily understood how much more liable to such attacks the aviator would be. To attempt to measure rightly the field of vision by the confrontation method might mean the overlooking of a sector of considerable size in some part of the periphery, to say nothing of the presence of scotomas. Moreover, in any suspicious case a perimetric chart of the fields would be of great value in a subsequent examination. A cycloplegic should be used in all cases, not only for determining the absolute refraction, but also in order to see the peripheral parts of the fundus and to detect any evidences of a previously existing iritis or uveitis. The visual requirements of the aviator are somewhat similar to those of the chauffeur, and it is interesting in this connection to note that an English observer has shown concrete instances of men with serious defects of vision driving vehicles on the crowded public thoroughfares. Men with 12 diopters of myopia, with disseminated choroiditis, with nystagmus, and even with occlusio and seclusio pupillae from chronic iridocyclitis have been detected. This at once suggests the need of a law requiring a rigid eye examination for chauffeurs.

One of the most important features of the eye examination seems to have been altogether ignored, namely, the examination of the color sense. We have learned that in former years, before color blindness was known to be such a common affection, ocean disasters and railway collisions resulted in a number of instances solely because of the inability of the pilot or engineer to distinguish between the red and green signal lights. In these days no color blind man can ever hope for a position as railroad engineer or as a naval officer. The military aviator's duties require in no less degree normal color sense. At a height of a few hundred feet from the ground it would be impossible for a red-green color blind observer to distinguish red uniforms of soldiers from the surrounding green foliage, even in the most favorable atmospheric conditions. His difficulties would be multiplied in cloudy or hazy weather. It is known that among all classes of males, regardless of birth or education, about 4 per cent. have defective color sense. Of over 300 men who recently applied for examination for aviators in the officers' signal section of the Medical Reserve Corps, only eighty-six were found eligible for the examination, and of these eighty-six, only thirty-nine passed a successful physical examination. Of these thirty-nine selected men, one was rejected on account of color blindness. This would indicate a ratio of over 2 per cent. of color blindness in otherwise physically perfect men. The desire for adventure with its attendant element of danger is undoubtedly a strong inducement for young men to enter this branch of the service. Their bitter disappointment in failing to qualify is sufficient proof that tests for malingering are not necessary. The one man referred to declared that he could distinguish all colors perfectly, and it was only after proving to him by three different tests, all of which showed the same results, that he finally admitted that he did have some difficulty in seeing red lights when driving an automobile.

In our limited experience, but little has been reported on the effects of dazzling. In European countries, however, this factor has been of sufficient frequency to receive some attention. Some form of tinted lenses mounted in padded goggle frames should be worn as a protection against dazzling, as well as to shield the eyes from wind and dust. One flyer told me that, at a height of several hundred feet above a sand bank, fine particles of sand struck his face with the intensity of needle pricks.

Emergencies may arise at any minute calling for instant action. A faulty action of the engine, for instance, or the sudden appearance of anti-aircraft guns necessitates a quick change of course. In order to estimate the length of time it requires to respond after receiving a visual impression, applicants for aviation service in France are required to undergo a psychophysical examination. By means of the d'Arsonval chronometer it has been determined that a good candidate for aviation requires about  $\frac{1}{100}$  second for visual reactions.

There should be a reexamination of the eyes at least once a year. Until the beginner has had a few weeks of actual experience, he cannot know the effect on his eyes. The sensitiveness of the retina, endurance of the eye muscles, etc., can be determined only after practical trial.

SUMMARY

The successful applicant for army aviation service should have:

1. Uncorrected vision of  $\frac{20}{20}$  in each eye.
2. Binocular vision.
3. Absence of nystagmus.
4. Normal muscle balance and competent ocular muscles.
5. Normal pupillary reaction and no pupil irregularities when dilated.
6. Normal media and fundi.
7. Normal visual fields, by perimetric examination.
8. Normal color sense.
