Tammworth v. 31st Aug.

George Townshend - born 1723
Dear Sir succeeded his father, 1764. in his Duties & was created a Marquis Octo 5. 1789.

Since I had w. pleasure of of kindly assistance & am returned At this place we have met of our Opponents here; who have been indeed Indefatigable, but have done us Notable Harm, except in 1 case of 4 three Woodcocks. I never yet met with half so great a Scoundrel as The Barber Woodcock; he had promised faithfully upon getting his Son a Commission, &

lamented only that he could bring but one of his Relations with him, afterward in some conversation he lamented that his son was a coward & did not inherit his own spirit. upon which I wish'd him to ~~be~~ of something in a civil Way; & at the same thought of Father a hollow vile Dog to both so of his son; but he assur'd me that his son should never be anything but a Soldier & that he had no Connection or expectation from any body else; since this he has given over to Dr Weymouth & I find that he has carried over of very Prothes ^{fully} he lamented to have given over these before.

I believe they are already at 20 or 30 L. per man.

Now of favour I have to beg of you is to exert yr utmost Interest with Mr Brown to treat this ~~fact~~ Rascal as he deserves - so will Impudent & real false a wretch I never yet met with. He told me since that his Wife had done all this without his knowledge & he could not quarrel with her, which I've since

Lord Townshend

found to be another Lie. & that he cannot ^{relations} like his Brothers. From me at least he assured me of support of one and lamented of ~~separation~~ ^{separation} of other.

Can you prevail on Mr Percy to let me take his Farm at an advanced Rent?

I know nothing of Politics but heard today my Brother was in Town.
