Many a happy year the time,
Ours will be the will
He has traced the fair design,
So will fill the line by line,
Working patiently until
Our completed life shall shine
Glorious in the life divine.

"Our lives are songs; God writes the words,
And we set them to music, at pleasure,
And the song grows glad, or sweet, or sad
As we choose to fashion the measure.
We must write the music, whatever the song,
Whatever its rhyme or metre,
And if it is glad--we may make it sad,
Or if sweet, we may make it sweeter.

All among the friends new met,
May ye find joy in the best, and trouble
E’en earthly good be their’s, through pledges true, and promises shining
