Historical Note

The Congress for Cultural Freedom was founded in 1950 as an anti-communist advocacy organization whose primary intention was to influence left leaning intellectuals and cultural leaders. Based in Paris, the CCF fielded dozens of offices across the world, and supported anti-communist cultural activities through publications, conferences, seminars, and funding of researchers, authors, poets, and artists. It included famous public intellectuals and artists such as Bertrand Russell, Karl Jaspers, Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. and Tennessee Williams.

In the 1960s, it became publicly known that the Congress for Cultural Freedom received funds from the CIA and that some members were CIA operatives. In response to this controversy, the Congress for Cultural Freedom was reorganized as the International Association for Cultural Freedom. Nicolas Nabokov, president, and John C. Hunt, executive director of the CCF, both resigned and Shepard Stone was named president of the IACF.

The IACF retained the mission and organizational structure of CCF under its new leadership. However, as funding for the IACF decreased during the 1970s and the nature of the Cold War changed, the scope of the organization decreased and by 1978 the last offices of the IACF had closed.

Scope Note

The International Association for Cultural Freedom Records are divided into eight series:

Series I, Correspondence Chronological File, 1953-1968 contains general correspondence related to the CCF and IACF.

Series II, Correspondence and Subject Files, 1948-1978 contains correspondence, reports, manuscripts and clippings filed topically by the Paris Office of the CCF and IACF.

Series III, Seminars, 1950-1977 documents the IACF's programs to encourage the work of intellectuals in all parts of the world by bringing together intellectuals, from regional or national areas or internationally, to consider specific issues or problems. The issues considered in the seminars ranged from Twentieth Century Masterpieces (Paris 1952), The Future of Freedom (Milan 1955), The New Metropolis in the Arab World (Cairo 1960), The East-West Music Encounter (Tokyo 1961), Inter-University Cooperation in West Africa (Freetown 1961), The Formation of Elites in Latin America (Montevideo 1965) to The Intellectual and Power (Aspen 1973). Two seminars will be of particular interest to those researching the history of the CCF: The Founding Conference (Berlin 1950) which articulated the organization's goals and a tenth anniversary celebration, Progress in Freedom (Berlin 1960), which produced considerable documentation on the accomplishments of the CCF's first ten years and which reaffirmed its mission for the 1960's.

Series IV, Financial Files, 1951-1968, documents the routine financial transactions of the CCF. It includes bank statements, receipts, royalty notices, memoranda, airline and other travel receipts, and other minor financial records. Most of the material is dated 1951-1966.

Series V, Documentation and Ephemeral Publications, 1950-1972, documents one of the major initiatives of the CCF and IACF and contains record copies of newsletters, pamphlets, photographs, illustrations, scrapbooks and recordings produced by the organizations. The records of the journal Preuves are in Series VII. Records of Der Monat, a German language journal associated at some points in its publication history with the IACF form a separate collection.

Series VI, Latin American Institute of International Relations (ILARI), 1954-1972, contains records associated with the Instituto Latinoamericano de Relaciones Internacionales, a partner institute to the CCF, founded in Lima, Peru in 1965 under the directorship of Luis Mercier

Vega. Among ILARI's primary goals was distribution of CCF publications in Latin America, and establishment of new centers for study, primarily in South America.

Series VII, Preuves Papers, 1951-1969 includes the records of Preuves, a journal sponsored by the CCF which appeared monthly between 1951 and 1969, had a closer relationship to the CCF than other sponsored journals because it was published in Paris, the Congress' headquarters. Its editorial policy was characterized by three areas of special interest: European intellectuals in relation to emergent European community; the situation and problems of intellectuals in communist states; and colonial wars and the consequences of decolonization.

Series VIII, Edward Shils Papers, 1958-1975, contains correspondence to and from Edward Shils.

Original packing lists prepared by the Paris office in transferring the IACF Archive to the University of Chicago

Series II: Correspondence and Subject Files

Series II contains correspondence, reports, manuscripts and clippings filed topically by the Paris Office of the CCF and IACF. It is divided into two subseries: Subseries I: Correspondence and Subject Files, 1948-1967 and Subseries II: Correspondence and Subject Files, 1967-1978. Subseries I consists of the correspondence and subject files from the founding of the Congress for Cultural Freedom to the reorganization of the CCF into the International Association for Cultural Freedom in 1967. Subseries II consists of the correspondence and subject file of the International Association for Cultural Freedom. Due to the continuity between the two organizations, there is some overlap between the two subseries. Correspondence to and from Edward Shils may be found in Series VIII.

Series III: Seminars, 1950-1977

Series III comprises files documenting the regional and international seminars held by the IACF to discuss specific issues or problems. Files contain correspondence, minutes, proceedings and reports, press clippings, and other published materials.

The material is arranged chronologically by date of seminar; a small group of administrative papers not related to particular seminars is held at the end of the series. For each seminar material is approximately ordered as follows: 1) correspondence detailing seminar arrangements; 2) planning material and the statement of purpose for the seminar; 3) lists of participants considered, invited and attending each seminar; 4) programs; 5) papers presented (in both original language and translation); 6) reports; 7) press clippings; 8) transcriptions of proceedings and unpublished manuscripts. Since the size and scope of seminars varied widely not every seminar is represented by every category of materials.

This collection does not contain documentation of all seminars held by the CCF and IACF. Photographs and tape recordings relating to seminars are in Series V. (Documentation: Photographs.) Correspondence to and from Edward Shils may be found in Series VIII.

Accounting forms (blank copies), undated

Series V: Documentation and Ephemeral Publications, 1950-1972

Publication and distribution of printed matter was a major effort of the IACF. Record copies of these publications have been organized in Series V by form.

Subseries 1: Newsletters. IACF newsletters were a service to newspaper and magazine editors throughout the world. Directed to editors they contained information and suggestions on issues of concern to the Association. Some presented general background information (e.g., Informations du Congrès pour la Liberté de la Culture, which appeared in several languages) while others dealt specifically with one issue (e.g., Censure contre les arts et les pensées) or one geographic area (e.g., The Free Spirit, bulletin of the Australian Committee for Cultural Freedom. Newsletters are arranged by language, then alphabetically by title, and finally in order of appearance. Information about a particular newsletter (e.g., title changes, issue numbers, complete or incomplete runs) is recorded in the inventory when known.

Subseries 2: Pamphlets. Pamphlets were generally intended to call attention to specific problems or issues and were frequently offered in several languages. They have been sorted alphabetically by country or continent.

Subseries 3: Photographs, Illustrations, and Scrapbooks. Most of the photographs relate to seminars. They have been arranged in parallel order to Series III and are identified by the cities and dates on which the seminars were held. Some of the photographs and the scrapbooks relate to exhibitions or other IACF sponsored events and activities and are identified in the inventory. This Subseries has been cross-referenced in Series II and III. Also included in this series are several illustrations and large posters.

Subseries 4: Audio Recordings. The audio recordings relate to seminars. They have been arranged in parallel order to Series III and are identified by the cities and dates on which the seminars were held. This Subseries has been cross-referenced in Series II and III.

Series VI: Latin American Institute of International Relations (ILARI), 1954-1972

In late 1965, an organizational meeting took place in Lima, Peru to outline the Latin American Institute of International Relations (also known as ILARI, or the Instituto Latinoamericano de Relaciones Internacionales). The meeting was led by Luis Mercier Vega, the director of the institute. The separation of the Latin American department of the Congress for Cultural Freedom resulted in ILARI being established as an independent entity. ILARI continued to operate as a partner institute to the CCF. The primary goal of ILARI was to help distribution of CCF publications in Latin America and establish new centers for study, primarily in South America. ILARI was officially incorporated in Geneva, Switzerland in January of 1966. Series VI contains materials specific to ILARI, and is divided into 4 Subseries. Due to the nature of the collection, there is some overlap between Subseries.

Subseries 1: Correspondence. Letters, telegrams, postcards, memoranda, and other general correspondence is contained in Subseries 1. This Subseries is further divided into three Subsubseries. The first contains correspondence primarily concerned with the administration of ILARI and general correspondence. The second is organized by location, either by country, city, or specific seminar. The third contains correspondence specific to several publications, including Aportes and Mundo Nuevo.

Subseries 2: Manuscripts. The second Subseries contains articles for the numerous publications distributed by ILARI, as well as papers delivered at various conferences and seminars. There are both final and draft copies of these manuscripts, and are arranged alphabetically by author.

Subseries 3: Reports and Projects. Memoranda, forms, and reports exist for numerous projects and seminars. Many of these are activities reports for the countries involved in ILARI activities or on trip reports taken by members of the ILARI administration. There are also some general reports and memoranda involving publications and other aspects of ILARI.

Subseries 4: Financial Records. This Subseries specifically contains financial information about ILARI. Many of these records include budgets and expenditures, either by country or by specific publication. Subseries 1 and 3 may also contain financial information.

Series VII: Preuves Papers

Preuves, a journal sponsored by the CCF which appeared monthly between 1951 and 1959, had a closer relationship to the CCF than other sponsored journals because it was published in Paris, the Congress' headquarters. Its editorial policy was characterized by three areas of special interest: European intellectuals in relation to emergent European community; the situation and problems of intellectuals in communist states; and colonial wars and the consequences of decolonization.

The Preuves papers consist primarily of correspondence, although they also include a substantial section of manuscript material. The correspondence is arranged alphabetically by subject with folders containing other material so designated, e.g., distribution statistics, newsletters, memoranda, etc. The original order was preserved where possible; hence, some correspondence is arranged alphabetically and some chronologically.

Major correspondents include the Editorial Committee, consisting of François Bondy (political and literary director of Preuves, as well as director of publications for the Congress), Jean Bloch-Michel (literary editor and director-general of Censure, another CCF publication), and Jacques Carat (editor-in-chief and general administrator). Extensive correspondence of Louis Mercier Vega, editorial secretary, is also included. The Preuves papers also contain records of affiliate organizations such as "Amis de Preuves" (a book club), "Amis de la Liberté" (the French CCF group whose name was changed in the 1960's to "Cercles Pour la Liberté de la Culture") and the "Mardis de Preuves" (a Tuesday night debate society). These groups comprised a support network for the journal, contributing financial aid beyond revenues derived from subscriptions.

All manuscripts are arranged alphabetically by author's last name, preserving the original order of a major block of manuscripts. However, some manuscripts were originally ordered by the issue in which they appeared. These groups of manuscripts were broken up and integrated into the alphabetical sequence. Titles of manuscripts where listed indicate the presence of two or more manuscripts by a single author. Corrected galley proofs are filed with the author's manuscripts.
